[illegible]

A CALL!

County Central Committee and Club Officers.

The County Central Committee, the several precinct committees and the officers of the various Clubs of the People's Party in Salt Lake County are hereby requested to meet at the Social Hall, in Salt Lake City, on Friday evening, May 29th, 1891, at 8 o'clock, to consider whether in view of the present political situation it will not be for the best interests of the people to cease the maintenance of the People's Party, so that each citizen may unite with one or the other of the great national parties, according to his individual convictions and preferences.

F. S. RICHARDS,
Chairman.

A CALL.

Territorial Central Committee of the People's Party.

A meeting of the Territorial Central Committee of the People's Party of Utah is hereby called to convene at the Social Hall, Salt Lake City, on Wednesday, June 10th 1891, at 2 p. m., to consider the present political situation.

F. S. RICHARDS, Chairman.

FRAGMENTS.

MAGNUTT BROS., booksellers and stationers, Main street, have Scribner's Magazine and Harper's Illustrated Weekly for June.

In the Third district court yesterday afternoon, William Hunt and John Brown, both natives of England, were admitted to citizenship.

THERE are messages at the Western Union Telegraph office for Barlow, Wiley Jones, William Carlson, W. J. Johnson, Rufus Smith, Mike Sheridan and Charles Gillmore.

A QUARTETTE of confidence men made several unsuccessful attempts to work the "Violin swindle" yesterday. The public is hereby warned to avoid any transaction with them.

PROF. J. E. CALDWELL, M. D., of Healdsburg College, California, will lecture on "Temperance and Hygiene" in the Fifteenth Ward meetinghouse on Thursday evening, May 28th, beginning at 7:30. All are cordially invited. Admission free.

THE "Liberal" City Committee, "Liberal" County Committee, and the Citizens' Committee appointed by the "Liberal" Territorial Committee last Saturday evening, to arrange for a grand "Liberal" rally, will meet at the Walker House this evening at 8 o'clock.

THE finance committee met yesterday and opened the bids for the purchase of city bonds to the amount of $225,000. Four bids were received, the Anderson Bailey Spitzer & Co., of Toledo, O.; Sutter Investment Company of Denver; Parson, Leavitt & Co., of Chicago, and Blair & Co., of New York. None of the bids were satisfactory, and the findings of the committee will be presented to the City Council tonight.

IN the Third district court yesterday afternoon in the case of Jno. H. Houghton vs. Lia Houghton, the court allowed $100 attorney fee and $20 per month alimony for the support of the defendant and child. The case of John Gibson, indicted for grand larceny, for having, it is alleged, stolen some cattle in Juab county, was continued for the term on account of the indisposition of Judge Anderson, who was to have tried the matter. In the case of Sol M. Blumenkron vs. Myer S. Anderson, a jury was sworn trying were waived and judgment for the plaintiff taken in the sum of $95.

Hymeneal.

Mr. Robert Shelton, Jr., and Miss Sara Gee, of Tooele, returned from Logan yesterday, where they were married on Wednesday, the 20th inst. The groom is an energetic and respected young man, and the bride is an accomplished lady who, for several years, has been a popular and eminently successful school teacher.

The newly wedded couple will make their home in Brigham City, "Garden City" of Utah. A host of friends offer hearty congratulations and trust that they may glide peacefully over the ocean of life, with nothing to mar their journey other than that which is inevitable, by the decree of Providence, thereto.

Amusements.

Those who attended the entertainment given by Mrs. Louise Bayden and her pupils at the Salt Lake theatre last night were well repaid. It was a pleasant, agreeable and quite enjoyable performance, and showed that Mrs. Bayden is an accomplished reciter. The pupils exhibited great aptness and careful training. "The Minuet" by Little Miss Josie Morris was very effective and drew forth an encore. The Ladies' Mandolin Club did not appear but the orchestra under Mr. Hedger's direction, rendered a finely executed overture instead.

Tonight Miss Lillian Lewis opens at the Theatre in "Frou Frou Lorraine." Tomorrow evening "As in a Looking Glass" will be given. The press opinions of Miss Lewis are varied and extensive, but all more or less complimentary of her. By the New York World she is styled "a beautiful, a brilliant, a fascinating woman." The New York Sun characterizes her as "an actress of ability, fervor, feeling, force and natural." The Star says she is a woman "with a world of dramatic fire and intensity."

A REPUBLICAN CLUB

Organized in the Stock Exchange Last Night.

SYNOPSIS OF THE SPEECHES.

Any Person Over 18 Years of Age Eligible, Irrespective of Previous Affiliations.

A large gathering of prominent Republicans met in the Stock Exchange last evening, in response to a call, for the purpose of organizing a Republican club, to be composed of persons who are ready to join in the work of republican education, irrespective of previous party affiliations.

The meeting was called to order by Nicholas Trowell, who stated that the time was now ripe for the local politicians to dissolve and rear ganize on national party lines. The meeting had been called for that purpose, and the election of a secretary was now in order. Hoyt Sherman, Jr., was chosen, and unanimously sustained.

Fred. Simon then read the constitution and by-laws of the organization, which provide that the club shall be known as the Republican Central Club of Salt Lake City.

Any person over eighteen years of age who makes application to become a member of the club can do so, by consent of three-fourth of the members present.

Article fourteen prohibits the club as an organization from furthering the interests of any candidate for nomination for any county, town or municipal office, nor shall it endorse any candidate for nomination for any congressional or state office.

Section 10 of the by-laws states: The secretary shall during the month of each year cause to be made a correct poll of all the voters in Salt Lake City. This poll shall contain the names, postoffice address and politics of each elector, and also the number of the ward, election district, school district, etc., in which he resides. A committee of five shall be appointed by the president to revise this poll and report the same to the executive committee of this club at least thirty days before a city or territorial election.

The declaration required of applicants for membership was as follows: "I, the undersigned, desirous of becoming a member of the Central Republican club of Salt Lake City, do declare that I am a Republican from honest conviction and in principle, and that I intend actually to cooperate with the Republican party in National affairs, and that if I am elected a member of this club I will carefully and honestly discharge the duties incident to such membership."

Arthur Brown—I should like to ask a question. Are the constitution and by-laws so read an exact copy of the principles of the National Republican league club?

Mr. Simon replied in the affirmative, with the exception of the word "local," which had been omitted for obvious reasons.

Mr. Brown—What are they?

Mr. Simon—The chief reason is, that there are many republicans who will gladly join our ranks on national issues but will be unwilling to do so in local affairs. Therefore the word "local" has been omitted.

Mr. Brown—I am decidedly opposed to the omission of the word. A few weeks ago it might have been all right, but what was true then is not true now. Events of great importance are taking us up the hand and leading us rapidly on. To declare ourselves differently from what the National league club, after which we are patterning, have done is rank sandy. We should fear no man (applause). This club must sit down on that church question and take a firmness as it does on church domination. (Renewed applause). I therefore move to strike out the word "local" and thus give it a general application.

Judge Barich—Originally, I too, was only in favor of dividing on national issues, but after reading the editorials of some of the papers closely for the last few days, and seeing the decided stand that they have taken in favor of national divisions on the questions, and the putting in the field, by the Democrats, of a party organ and the further call by the People's party for their territorial and county Central committees to meet in joint conference, to consider whether it will not be best to cease the maintenance of their party, has made me believe that it is best for us to include local as well as national affairs.

Judge Bennett—The object of the club is to be educate and unite its members, but it is not our intention to divide on local issues alone is unwisely and inconsistent and would produce that which is the very opposite of the enlightened object that we desire. I am, therefore, in favor of the motion to strike out "local."

E. R. Critchlow—The question is is it politic for us at this time to adopt such a course as this time; would it not be better for us to draw in all the Republicans, that we can educate them to the way of thinking?

William Balderson—With all due respect to Mr. Critchlow and the stand he is taking, I differ materially from him. Republicans who were opposed to national party organization a few days ago are opposed now.

James Sharp—The committee report that they have submitted to us a copy of the national league platform, excepting the endorse mentioned. Seeing that we will be to become like other organizations of the Republican party, there is, in my opinion, but one thing to do, and that is to copy entire, without the slightest change, the constitution and by-laws of other clubs. I am here as a Republican, with the avowed intention of assisting in sweeping from Utah the conditions that have ruled in the past (applause). As Republicans we must accept of each other in good faith. I therefore move that we insert the language used in the principle so set forth by the National Republican League which unites the party on local and national issues alike.

Calvin Reeves—The question has come up in Utah in different phases from year to year, but never as now. The Mormons are American citizens and should be privileged to become Republicans on national issues. After a while they will do so in local matters.

James Dexter—If we impose other restrictions than the National League has done, then the whole thing becomes a howling farce. I do not believe there is a genuine Republican in this city who is not willing to divide on all issues.

B. F. Cummings, Jr.—As a member of the new disturbing People's party and an applicant for membership in the Republican club I maintain that the principles of this organization should be so definitely defined as to leave no room for hesitation or doubt as to who we are and what we are. (Applause.) Ten few days the People's party will, in all probability, cease to exist as an organization. When that is done 24,000 to 25,000 voters will be left like sheep without a shepherd, and if the nature of our association is not clearly and definitely defined I think we will not get our proportion of this host of voters. During my lifetime I have been largely surrounded by Democratic influences, and since I came to consort with the Republican principles I became a Republican, and now, in associating with men who have heretofore been my political enemies, I can state plainly that it is not impossible that many others of the party to which I formerly belonged will join our ranks if our position is made plain and clear.

Mr. Varian said he did not understand how this club could be called to organize the Republican party, outside of legislative authority imparted to a territorial convention, or from territorial and county Republican committees. Let them meet and act according to discipline. He would not recognize any attempt to set up the Republican banner here or to define the policy outside of the regularly constituted committees. The call should read in the light of last week's meeting, and should call for a Republican club only. It would be best to form this club as an educating social medium.

Mr. Brown—The club is but an adjunct to the party and does not assume to dictate, but it does say that the party is organized and that national affairs should be brought home to Utah.

After more further discussion, pro and con, the word "contrary" was stricken out and the following persons signed the roll: G. W. Barich, Arthur Trail, Fred. Bossett, H. P. Cummings, A. F. Phillips, George M. Cannon, L. M. Earl, Harrison Pratt, James Sharp, Wm. C. Higgins, Charles S. Varian, W. S. McCornick, Frank D. Hobbs, James F. Bradley, Calvin Reeves, E. H. Parsons, Adam T. Lynch, M. S. Hanover, J. W. Donnellan, S. H. Peabody, M. Shaughnessy, Joseph A. Black, H. G. Barton, J. C. Barlow, W. L. Rawlins, J. J. Hagan, E. R. Critchlow, Wm. Balderson, James Dexter, John G. Rothmen, G. W. Walton, Joseph Geoghean, E. R. Eldridge, E. R. Parsons, Adam Lynch, F. E. Stephens, W. H. Rowe, W. S. Hodges, John M. Zane, H. G. McMillan, Wm. Glassman, J. J. Harvey, A. Hanover, Jas. A. W. Bennett, N. Trowell, Arthur Brown, Fred Simon, H. E. Watrous.

AND YET ANOTHER.

John Clancy Attempts to Cut His Throat with a Razor.

John Clancy, an insane Irishman, made a desperate and unsuccessful attempt at self-destruction last evening between five and six o'clock, on Market Row, with a razor. The would-be suicide was passing the store of D. Rosenblatt, when he stepped up to a stand, on the sidewalk, on which was displayed a large assortment of cutlery. Picking up a razor and examining it minutely, he inquired of the proprietor how much the blade was worth. Before the latter was able to reply Clancy drew the razor (something across his throat. Mr. Rosenblatt, grabbing the fellow by the arm, wrenched the weapon from his grasp. The cut, although not deep or particularly serious, bled profusely. The cut was bound up and a telephone message sent to the City hall for a police van, which soon arrived on the scene.

Clancy was locked up for the night but allowed to go this morning. He says that he will yet complete the job and expressed the regret at being foiled last night.

He has often been arraigned in the Police court for drunkenness. Of late he has haunted the neighborhood of Sixth Minnie street, and on Saturday last was taken before the Probate court and examined as to his sanity, but discharged.

A PLAN ACCEPTED.

The Contract for the Proposed Joint Building Let.

The Joint City and County Building committee have at last completed the inspection of the plans submitted to them for the proposed joint public building. The contract for the erection of the structure was let to Monheim, Bird & Pratt. The architects guarantee the cost to be not over $225,000, and get 5 1-2 per cent. for the plans and 14 per cent. for the superintendency.

Announcement is all indispensable Home Dramatic Margolin performances at "Our Home" at the Tabernacle, Decoration Day. Going to be big bigger than ever, and witnessed by the Thousands. The event takes place on a holiday, another big factor in its favor.

THE "LIBERAL DEMOCRATS"

A Disgusting Exhibition of Anti-"Mormon" Fanaticism.

EXPIRING THROES OF A MONSTER.

The Meeting of Irreconcilables at the Federal Courtroom Last Night.

About 7:15 last evening the lower part of Main street presented a rather lively aspect. The principals of the Salvation Army occupied a position about midway and executed the harmony peculiar to their services. A little further down was a brass band advertising the variety theatre and in quasi-attached performances. Still farther down was another band advertising a theatrical affair of another kind, the chief actors in which formed a fitting culmination to the musical triangle. They called themselves "Liberal Democrats," and they had a brass band to drum up a meeting for the purpose of protesting and perpetuating the old strife in this Territory.

A few minutes after 8 o'clock, a minter of people assembled in the Federal court room. G. W. Peters, chairman of the Liberal Territorial committee called the meeting to order. Mr. N. Barlow was appointed chairman. The question of his occupying the chair was put to the meeting in a unanimous kind of way. Mr. Peters declined to take the chair, though there were some vigorous noes.

Mr. Barlow occupied the hall with a speech, so chaotic, so muddy, so antique that his audience began to think he had recently been managing the exposure of Noah in the pyramids of Egypt. And, in truth his disjointed brit and antediluvian witticisms indicated that he had come from a place where jokes and barbs were unknown. He told his audience that he was a Democrat, but that he wanted the "Liberal" party still maintained. He did not want the Mormons disenfranchised. In a word, what he wanted was that Utah be kept out of the United States, that the citizens of Utah should not study Spencer, Herbert, Ingersoll or Bradlaugh, or, in fact, any infidel, or infidel-ridiculing author. Barlow's discourse was evidently growing stormier and many of those present, he had calls for "cowers were heard.

Mr. Powers came forward. He smiled first. It was such a smile as Mephistopheles would carry. He commenced by referring to the great achievements of the "Liberal" party. He then addressed himself to his "fellow Democrats." A person down in the rear of the hall objected to being classed as one of Mr. Powers' "fellow Democrats," and cries of "put him out!" were heard. But the Democrat in the rear persisted in his opinions, and held that Powers, if a Democrat, was a disgrace to his party.

Mr. Powers said this meeting was called to show the Democrats of the Territory that there were members of their party still in Salt Lake, not swallowed up by the "Mormon" Church. He held that there was no disposition on the part of the "Mormons" to divide except where the Gentile element predominated. He contended that there was no sincerity in either the "Mormons" or Gentiles who have started the organization of party clubs; that the one was working in the interests of his religion, and the other looking for office, provided statehood should be obtained in the near future.

At this point the "Liberal" drum corps entered the hall. Mr. Powers left the chair of the fire department, who is also the leader of that drum corps, to the top of the table, when Mr. Stratton pointed to the "Liberal" drum corps flag, and said that organization should be made initiated in order to preserve the liberty of Americans in Utah. He said he was a Democrat, but that he would not be driven out of his party. This provoked uproarious laughter. The speaker meant to say Dyer, but the coupling of Judd and Powers was so ridiculous that the audience roared, and Stratton jumped from the table saying that he could not make a speech, but he was for keeping up the old party.

Mr. Powers resumed, but his harangue was little more than personal abuse of Frank Dyer, Hon. John T. Caine, Fred Simon, Richard W. Young and others. He indulged in abuse of the "Mormon" people, declaimed against "Cards House" dictation, and "priestly rule," and then commended the Liberal movements in the city, attributing them all to "false rule." A voice in the hall here announced that unless it was minimized he would be no more $10,000 for Orlando.

Mr. Powers read a letter from Fred. Simons to Mr. E. D. Thompson, calling on the latter to make a meeting at the Stock Exchange for the purpose of organizing a Republican club. It appears that Mr. Thompson turned the letter over to Mr. Powers, saying he was not prepared to endorse a division on party lines.

An old gentleman known as E. D. Hoge arose and came forward. He opened by levelling a denunciation on the chairman, saying the latter was one of Utah's literaturs. He then turned to Mr. Powers, and styling that gentleman "child of all evil," placed his hand on the arm, and both embraced in front of the audience. His speech was almost a repetition of what Mr. Powers had already said. It consisted of personal abuse of leading Democrats and Republicans, with a satirical allusion to John Henry Smith, John T. Caine and others.

Most of his speech was unfit for reproduction. The language was too indecent even for one of the Commercial street harpies. In alluding to Judge Judd, the speaker became quite vehement, and in his rage he most have loosened his teeth, for when he ended down he was perfectly unintelligible owing to defective articulation.

At this point Mr. Powers came forward with the following:

Resolved, By the Democrats of Salt Lake City in mass convention assembled, firmly convinced that it is the sense of the Democrats of Salt Lake City are true to the Liberal party and are all loyal citizens to stand by the party shoulder to shoulder for American principles.

The resolution was put by the chair, and a clamor followed. It was decided carried, though there was considerable opposition in the body of the hall.

Theodore Burmeister next came forward. His face was expansive and florid. It was the opinion of many that he had but recently toppled himself off the Statue of Barabbas. He commenced by calling Mr. Stratton, John the Baptist of Utah, and Mr. Powers the Nazarene. In this way he indulged in a burlesque of sacred subjects to amuse the people, then branched off to Sugar House Ward, and commenced a tirade of personal abuse on Frank Dyer, Judge Judd and others. He went on to counsel to the "Mormons" to consider, spelling out the word. There was no mark of approval at this. A dead silence prevailed. But the speaker reiterated the words but there was no applause. He found he was touching on dangerous ground and then he preached, off on what he called "Mormon Treachery". He told a story about treachery, and then method of pitching cowboy-bad riders. He said he was sixteen years among the "Mormons," and he knew them to be false, treacherous, unreliable and cowardly. He wanted the "Liberal" party maintained in order to preserve the peace in Utah.

The next speaker was Mr. C. M. Jackson. This gentleman appeared in his shirt sleeves. He looked as if he were about to enter the ring with Commissioner Peter Jackson. He stated he was a Democrat, but he wanted to maintain the "Liberal" party, so that Democrats could find a place to which they should be maintained. Here he indulged in a little bit of theatrical display that was both ridiculous and sensible. He held up in his arms a little boy about four years of age, and said it was in the interest of this boy's future he wanted "Mormonism" broken down. He then presented his father, who, he said, was a Democrat and Indian, who might in have been home in bed. This old man said he voted for Martin Van Buren, and for every Democratic candidate for the Presidency since.

Mr. Hank Hawes then came forward. He attempted to speak, but all he could say was to shout the "Liberal party. He did not appear able to tell why he was a "Liberal" nor why he wanted that party maintained. The chairman then announced:

It was a fitting exhibition of Utah "Liberalism," and one of the strongest arguments that could be made against the principles of the party with such arms using such tongues, and represented by such individuals.

Lynch on Trial.

In Commissioner Green man's court this morning, John Lynch, the alleged defaulting contractor for the new Whitmore hotel, near the U. P. depot, came up for examination. The prosecution was conducted by Attorney Bowman; Judge Powers and Attorney Ogden Hines defended. The testimony showed that the accused promised to let the work within days ago, having in his possession a check for the sum of $1000, which he had received, on account, from Mr. Whittemore, in trust for the sub-contractor, Mr. Dewsnep, who was responsible for the payment of the men working on the new hotel premises. It is claimed by the defense that Lynch had done nothing wrong, and that the whole matter turns upon a dispute in regard to a business transaction.

The case was in progress when the court adjourned for the noon recess.

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

Civil and Criminal Business Transacted Before Judge Zane.

Judge Zane delivered a brief opinion this morning in the case of the Great Salt Lake & Hot Springs railroad, vs. the Salt Lake Mill & Elevator Company, the trial of which occupied the greater portion of yesterday. It involved the taking of a small strip of land from the property of the defendant company for the purpose of operating the plaintiff's road. The court, honor and the evidence went to show that the plaintiffs were disposed to purchase the portion of land required, the taking of which it seemed was necessary for the public use. He found for the plaintiffs, and awarded the sum of $200 to the otherside as compensation. An exception was taken.

GENERAL ORDERS.

Parker et al. vs. Reynolds et al.; demurrer submitted and thirty days allowed to answer.

In the case of the people vs. Albert Kern, robbery, the defendant was allowed to file a plea of former acquittal.

E. R. Kinny vs. Charles T. Nelson; order staying payment of money in the hands of the clerk ($1000) for three days.

In the case of John Buckley vs. the Bankers' Life Association, defendant's time was extended until June 8th to answer.

In the matter of Robert Moore, indicted for adultery, witnesses for the defense were ordered to be subpoenaed at the cost of the prosecution.

CONTINUED FOR THE TERM.

Judge Powers presented an affidavit in the case of David Fitzpatrick, indicted for rape, praying for a continuance of the case for the present term, owing to the absence of a material witness named John Boyle. Counsel said the case, from the prosecution's point of view, was one of a very aggravated character, and if was most necessary that the defendant, so far as the defendant was concerned, should be thoroughly investigated. He would be able to throw considerable light upon the matter if in favor of the accused, who had been kept in custody, awaiting trial, since February last. The defense was not a waste until quite recently from the last left the Territory. He was somewhere in California, and could not be reached in time for trial.

United States District Attorney Stephens said the only objection he had to the case being continued was that the woman alleged to have been seduced was of very advanced age, upwards of seventy years.

Judge Zane, after hearing the affidavit read, agreed to the continuance asked for.

A CASE FALLS THROUGH.

W. J. Jones and Thomas French were charged under an indictment with having in their city, on March 20th, in the present year, assaulted William T. Stratford with a knife, with intent to do him bodily harm.

United States District Attorney Stephens conducted the case for the prosecution and Judge Powers defended.

The parties belong to the colored community, and it would appear that the trouble arose in consequence of French's indiscreet attention to Stratford's wife, to whom, it was alleged, he was constantly writing letters, besides once and again walking out with her. On several occasions Stratford expostulated with him, but without effect. On the day in question the two defendants accidentally met and were walking along in the vicinity of Second South and Commercial streets when they came across Stratford. Jones, it was said, knew nothing of the ill-feeling existing between Stratford and French. When the two last named encountered each other Stratford asked, "What did you write that note to my wife for?" to which French replied with a very unsophisticated remark that he did not. It was asserted by the defense that Stratford then struck at French as he was an open knife, cutting his necktie, and thereupon the other man, with his knife, struck at Stratford, cutting him slightly.

The prosecutor had given his testimony on the stand, and another witness named Daniels was called. The latter, however, seemed the whole business by stating that the prosecutor told him to say he had no knife in his hand, and making other admissions quite unexpected by the prosecution. The prosecutor was then asked if he dropped the case and instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty. This they did, and

Court then took a recess until two o'clock.

PROBATE COURT.

The McKibben Will Contest an Important One.

One of the most important cases which has come up in the Probate court before Judge Hatch is that of the contesting of the will of Sarah E. McKibben, widow of Judge Lawrence, and George E. McKibben, being made by the latter. The property involved is valued at considerably over $1,000,000. Shortly after the death of Mr. Lawrence, Mrs. McKibben made a will leaving all property, except a few legacies, to her daughter, by a former husband, Miss Amelia C. Fox, son of Moyam C. Fox, who was with Mr. Jacobs, a wealthy New Yorker, was named as an executor. Some time after making the will Mrs. Lawrence married George E. McKibben and about two years later died at the Cullen house. The heirs at once took possession, but Mr. McKibben entered proceedings to contest the will on the grounds that under the laws of Utah a widow marrying invalidates all wills she may have already made. This being the case the contestant would get half the property.

The arguments were made yesterday afternoon. Judge Powers and his partner, Ogden Hines, represented Mr. Kitken and Bennett, Marshal & Bradley and Mr. Dickson appeared for the defendant, Mrs. Fox. The court took the matter under advisement and may render a decision today. The case turns on the laws of Utah regarding wills and estates.

In the matter of the estate of Wm. H. Waterson, deceased, order made concerning sale of real estate.

In the matter of the estate of Hugh McKinnon, deceased, the petition to correct described error made in the decree of plaintiff came on without notice. An order was made to correct.

In the matter of the estate of John Henderson, deceased, the petition for letters of administration came on for hearing. Order made appointing Helen A. Henderson administratrix on filing bond of $800.

In the matter of the estate of William C. Miller, deceased, the petition for the probate of will came on for hearing. Several witnesses examined. Order made admitting the will to probate and appointing Martha Miller administratrix without bonds under the terms of the will. Order made appointing appraisers.

In the matter of the estate of Charlotte Curtis, deceased, final account and petition for distribution of property came on for hearing. The account was allowed and order of distribution made.

A New Stage Line.

The Union Pacific has commenced selling tickets from Salt Lake to Albion, Idaho, via Minidoka, at rate of $12.60. Persons going into Cache County via this route will avoid the long stage ride of sixty miles via Kelton, as the distance via stage from Minidoka to Albion is only thirty miles. Parties may leave Salt Lake in the evening of one day and arrive at Minidoka the afternoon of the second day without difficulty. d&w

LAND.—Many persons have received their patents for land through the valuable assistance of Judge Stayner, at Washington. His card appears in this advertisement appears in today's paper. And in all departments of the Government he has acquired reputation as a consultation and capable lawyer. d&w

Allow me to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh, and was indicated to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. G. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co. d&w
