The three-year-old boy of J. A. Johnson, of Lynn Center, Ill., is subject to attacks of croup. Mr. Johnson says he is satisfied that the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, during a severe attack, saved his little boy's life. He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros. of that place, and they handle a great many patent medicines for throat and lung diseases. He had all these to choose from, and, skilled physicians ready to respond to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own family at a time when his child's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other, and famous the country over for its cures of croup. Mr. Johnson says this is the best selling cough medicine they handle, and that it gives splendid satisfaction in all cases. Sold by Druggists.

VALUABLE FRUIT BULLETIN.

Addressed to the Orchardists of the Northern Half of Utah—A Guide to the Farmer.

The State board of horticulture, through its secretary, J. A. Wright, has issued the following bulletin of information for the orchardists of the northern half of the state.

In reference to professional Reports, the following list of fruits is presented as suitable for the northern horticultural district of Utah, which includes Salt Lake county and all that portion of the State lying north thereof. The varieties are not set down in absolute order of merit, but in the order, generally best, since some of the somewhat good things it would be difficult to rate just which one are "best." The club is to furnish a guide to the farmer by presenting a list of marketable fruits that have proved profitable in the market.

No list short of the entire catalogue could embrace all the desirable varieties for Utah. The writer has tried to make a selection from the choicest fruit of every class and to be guided by the best judgment of those who have made it a study to produce the most profitable varieties. It is the intention eventually to add a list of fruits to a second orchard to grow for the purpose of testing varieties for this purpose. The most pleasant fruits are, hardiness of tree, productivity of bearing, long keeping, ease of handling and care of fruit, the time in the season of fruit and because no one of the above points may outweigh everything, so that the fruit which possesses most of the above points may rank first, although it may not be the most profitable fruits to grow on a large scale.

The list herewith is made up after consultation with growers and dealers throughout northern Utah and is based upon actual experience.

APPLES.

Jonathan, Winter Sap, Ben Davis, Baldwin, Rome Beauty, Black Ithode Island Greening, White Winter Pearmain.

PEARS.

Bartlett, Bosc, Howell, Flemish, Anjou, Easter Beurre, Winter Nelis.

CHERRIES.

Sour—Early Richmond, English Morello, May Duke, Late Duke.
Sweet—Napoleon, Black Republican, Windsor.

PRUNES.

German, Robins, Bonaparte.

PEACHES.

Alexander, Hale, Amsden, Foster, Grit Champion, Elberta, Wheatland, Bost, Crawford, Mary, Greer, Smock, Cling, Lemon Cling.

APRICOTS.

Royal, Moor Park.

GRAPES.

Hardy—Concord, Worden, Agawam, Moore's Early, Niagara.
Foreign—Black Prince, Black Hamburg, Flame Tokay, Muscat, Muscat of Alexandria, Rotton.

SMALL FRUITS.

In the berry fruits, the principal demand being for home market and family use, the range of choice is more extensive. Persons contemplating planting may usually obtain from catalogues plants and vines of suitable varieties that have been well tested.

In addition to the above fruits there are new candidates for public favor, many of which are quite promising, as, for instance, the Gaven apple, the Bonner pear, Giant prune and numerous fruit novelties that will undoubtedly prove of great merit.

Other lists might be made, since there is great diversity of taste in the selection of fruits, but the above is probably as near the general average of the profitable producing orchards as could be compiled. Trees of the above fruits are planted in number sufficient to produce enough for home use, but not trees of a kind will not probably prove satisfactory if well cared for.

Any special information desired will be cheerfully given on receipt of application.

J. A. WRIGHT,
Secretary Utah State Board of Horticulture.
Ogden, Utah, Nov. 20, 1897.

Doing a Land Office Business.

Harper N. McGree, Byron Groo's successor, has been duly installed in the duties of the new position and is now doing a land office business. Whether Mr. McGree's appointment will be confirmed by the Senate is still an open question among the politicians of Utah.

An Indigent Couple.

Mrs. Jennie Brown Tennant appeared before the board of county commissioners yesterday afternoon to show cause why she should not contribute to the support of her aged and indigent parents. According to Mrs. Tennant's statement, it appears that she is possessed of considerable property, but it is so heavily incumbered that she is unable to render anyone financial aid. The old couple have been a charge upon the county for some time past. A week ago took place between the father and daughter at the meeting. The board after listening to both sides took the case under advisement.

Electricity for Bingham.

Bingham Bulletin: The electric company desiring power from Big Cottonwood is moving in the matter of putting electricity into Bingham. County Commissioner Armstrong interested in the project, while here this week stated that if the citizens and mills of Bingham will contract for light and power the company will at once commence the work of stringing the wires. We understand that a thorough canvass is to be made to ascertain what can be expended upon a contract for light and power, and if it be done by our mining and mill men.
