SIXTEEN TO ONE.

The Ratio to Test the Strength of the Silver and Anti-Silver Forces.

WHAT INCREASED OF RATIO MEANS.

The Repeal Bill Expected to Pass the House by a Large Majority.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—The Daily News special from Washington says: It is now apparent in the debate in the House progresses that the test of the strength between the silver and the anti-silver men forces will be shown on the substitute for free coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1 instead of a ratio of 20 to 1, which has been the popular impression among the anti-silver men. The week ended in the house of the mine above 16 to 1 have developed gradually. Senator Stewart, Bryan and other veteran silverites are telling their followers that an increase in the ratio would be a concession to the single gold standard, for it would be an acknowledgment that the future use of silver by money must depend on its intrinsic value and not on the stamp of the government, and would be equivalent to make just as the price of bullion fluctuates. The silver leaders agree with Bryan that bimetallism does not consist in any fixed ratio and may vary as well at a ratio of 16 to 1 as at a ratio of 20 to 1. The free silver leaders are contending their followers to have their strength on a ratio higher of 16 to 1 and many of them will decline to vote at a higher ratio on the ground that it would be a degradation of the white metal as a monetary standard. The silver men admit now that the repeal bill will pass the House by a majority, possibly because of a peculiar variety of free coinage votes, but they hope that the senate will return the bill to the House with certain concessions in favor of coinage.

THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

The Silver Debate in the House Continues.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The silver debate opened promptly this morning in the House with a speech by Mr. Kelley, Dem., Penn., in favor of bimetallism, and the Johnson inter-convertible bond proposition.

THE FAIR TODAY

The Cadets Arrive—Austrians Celebrate.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—The arrival of 250 West Point cadets was the chief attraction at the Fair this morning. They were met by military escorts, militia and regulars, and greeted with great enthusiasm by the crowd as they marched to the government building, where beds had been pitched for them. While here they are to do regular camp work and engage in daily drills. On Illinois day, August 24th, the troops of the state, numbering 4000 officers and men will parade in the streets and take part in the exercises in the Illinois building.

Today is Austrian day, being the birthday of Emperor Francis Joseph. The exercises opened by the celebration of high mass in St. James's church by Archbishop Corrigan. At the conclusion of the religious services there was a parade of Austrian societies in uniform and Austrian citizens, and an informal reception was held in the Austrian section of the Manufacturers' and Liberal Arts buildings. The usual exercises were held in the Music Hall, Imperial Commissioner Johnsen, Takdfleet welcomed his countrymen to the Fair, and Mayor Harrison welcomed them to the city. Other speakers followed.

The inclement fog prevented colliers from entering their winter supply.

JOHN KEENAN'S REPLY.

He Says Cleveland Can Have His Office By Requesting Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Collector of Internal Revenue John C. Quinn, Republican, was received a request for his resignation from President Cleveland but sent the reply that the request implied a desire on the part of the administration to avoid the imputation of something improper in the administration of his office. He therefore declines to give ground for the illegitimate criticism by a resignation, which in the future might put him on an explanation. Quinn says the only charge brought against him is offensive partisanship, and that if the President wants his office he can only get it by removing him.

JOINT TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Another Day's Meeting of the Educators at Provo.

Dr. Baldwin resumed the subject of Psychology, treating on the power of self determination in an elaborate and entertaining style.

Prof. H. Cluff Jr. spoke on the Teacher's Problem. In summing up he suggested these as valuable educational laws.

First—Mental energy: (a) When any stimulus as a lesson is presented to the mind a little time must elapse before the mind is fully energized; (b) his state of fullest energy does not last long; (c) the mental current falls off to a minimum but less rapidly than it swells to a maximum; (d) any interruption of the mental current, so new facts, retards or prevents the attainment of fullest energy.

Second—Mental worthiness. There are two kinds, specific, which calls for mental test from certain kinds of mental work, and generic, which demands test from all kinds of work.

Third—Repetition: (a) The mind is strongly and permanently impressed by repetition; (b) mental habits are created by frequent repetition.

Fourth—Limitation: (a) Limitation of subjects; (b) limitation of facts presented with each subject.

Fifth—Teacher's relations to text books: (a) Do not have two text books in primary grades; (b) do not have children study text book and teacher teach differently; (c) the teacher should keep in line of ideas as presented by the book; (d) the teacher should follow the methods of the book; (e) the teacher should not present the subject in more than one way, provided he is successful in that way; (f) the end of teaching is the habit taught and the discipline attained.

Dr. J. E. Talmage continued his lecture on natural science, conducting a series of experiments illustrating the principle and uses of the barometer, and of aspiration and the fact that fire does not destroy but consumes and gathers elements.

On Thursday afternoon Dr. Baldwin continued his instructive lecture on psychology.

Prof. Lewis, by special request, selected was the determination of will. He pointed out how to cultivate this feature, and noted its necessity and success in life. It was the corner stone of character. Those who have the determination to carry out place can direct the energies of others. This quality should be especially developed in those whose calling it is to train children.

Joseph T. Kingsbury, president of the University of Utah, was introduced to the assembled teachers, and addressed them for a few moments on the subject of education.

Professor Giles played a march, and a long class of little girls filed in and were seated on the platform.

Dr. Talmage lectured on the Great Salt Lake. The gentleman gave a very entertaining presentation of the subject, and presented much valuable historical and scientific information.

NOTES.

Parallel with other features and courses of study Dr. Miller H. Harry has given a course of lectures on physiology and hygiene to a large class of the teachers. On Monday the subject was public health; Tuesday, school sanitation; Wednesday, physology in the school; Thursday, the brain, and on Friday the lecture concluded with a talk on accidents.

Dr. Baldwin lectured on Thursday evening on How to make the most of one's self and pupils.

One hundred and fifty of the teachers attending the official institute went to Salem on Wednesday. Dr. Baldwin was their chief and preached the gospel to them in most an efficient manner. The progress attained for the afternoon was not earlier on for the reason that the school already there mentioned by the Provosts.

BUSINESS AND MINES.

The members of the Real Estate exchange are comfortably excited over developments in the financial affairs of the association. The meeting on Wednesday afternoon was a rather stormy proceeding in some respects, though as to the details of what occurred the members have little to say.

That one particular feature was more prominent in the meeting is certain; that is, that there was distrust in the cash belonging to the exchange. Some of the members suggested to each other that there had been some defalcating; but others argued that there had been only some borrowing; money, perhaps, but still only borrowing, with no intention on the other hand to return the money whenever it was wanted.

Be this as it may, a committee was appointed to investigate the matter, and to report to the exchange. Whether this report will be made in open session or not is a question.

One outcome of the discussion of this business was that the secretary of the exchange, Mr. Montgomery, no longer officiates in that position, a temporary secretary having been chosen to perform his duties until the committee reports. The information is given that Mr. Montgomery is in no danger of being prosecuted.

As to the amount of deficit, it is understood that it will be made good, and that the exchange will not suffer by reason of any shortage.

LAND OFFICE.

George E. Chandler and Charles Moriarty, of Bingham canyon, have filed a mineral land entry on the Maggie lode in West Mountain district, Salt Lake county.

James Duncan filed a homestead entry on the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 29 and the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 29, township 22 south, range 5 west, 163 acres.

James Lake filed a homestead entry on lots 10 and 11, section 31, township 19 south, range 1 east, also lots 4 and 5, section 6, township 19 south, range 1 east, comprising 161 acres.

FOR THE HENRY MOUNTAINS.

There is again a considerable drift of prospectors for the Henry Mountains district. Notwithstanding the disappointment that was met by most of those who went in there last fall, there is a strong belief that the mountains are rich in gold, and the district is again likely to be the scene of something of a rush. News comes that prospectors are going in daily, and that the number of men now there exceeds that of any time since last spring.

MR. BENTON WILL RESIGN.

The resignation of Mr. I. A. Benton as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce will be filed with the board of directors tomorrow, and Mr. Benton will go back to the Rio Grande Western railway as city ticket agent—a position which he held before being appointed postmaster three years ago.

NOTES.

The Utah mine dividend of three cents a share is payable tomorrow, the 19th.

Now that final arrangements have been made for the Tabernacle choir to go to the World's Fair competition it will take some rustling to get things in shape by the day of the organization's departure from this city. The first concert east of Salt Lake will be given at Denver on the night of August 31st.

Young Raymond Out.

Harry Hammond, the youthful slayer of Billie Clyde Robertson, was to be from jail today on a reduced bond of $1,500. It will be remembered that the reduction in the amount was asked for by District Attorney Judd and granted by Chief Justice Zane last Saturday.

San Luis Stake Conference.

The quarterly conference of the San Luis Stake convened at Manassa on the 12th and 14th inst.

The meetings of both days were well attended. The bishops reported a good feeling with the Saints generally. The instructions given by the speakers were such as tend to encourage the people to be Saints.

Father Edward Dalton, who for more than two years has been confined to his room with his eyes, had a new sight to see again, was one of the speakers. He fatherly counsel and strong testimony encouraged his hearers. The local officers were sustained by a unanimous vote of the conference.

A Stake organization of the Primary Association was effected with Sisters Margaret J. Haskell as president and Celia Roberts as first and Martha H. Smith as second counselors.
