FOR MONDAY NEXT.

Gathering of National Guardsmen at Saltair.

COMING FROM NORTH AND SOUTH.

Street Parades to be Held—Reunion of Many of Utah's Citizen Soldiery.

Prospects are bright for a big attendance at Saltair on Monday next—National Guard day. From north and south the boys will come in uniform, presenting a handsome appearance, to engage in a pleasurable reunion with their comrades in arms. And the city members of the Guard will be happy to greet their fellow soldiers and mingle in the interesting exercise of the day.

The Morgan county members of the National Guard will arrive over the Union Pacific at 4:20 p.m. on Sunday next, preparatory to the exercises of National Guardsmen's day at Saltair on Monday.

From Ogden comes the cheering news that the cavalry troop and second battery will be down in force to compliment accompanied by the famous Lancers, city band of twenty pieces, and Weber county representatives. Both of these national guard organizations and the band will take part in the parade in this city.

Captain Bean and his Richfield boys will make a good showing. Captain Braby of Mt. Pleasant and his company will be well represented. The latter will arrive Saturday night and will be accompanied by their ladies. So far as heard from all the companies in the Territory will be represented with the probable exception of the one stationed at Cheesenville, Piute county, which is one hundred miles from the railroad. Tomorrow night there will be a gathering of all the companies at the H. Y. Trust company on Commercial street, after which there will be a street parade. In the procession on Monday the Sixth Ward U. S. S. Infantry band will participate and it is expected that Hole's First Regiment band will do the same.

From Farmington comes word that Captain Sanders and his crack company will be on hand in full uniform. Ogden's cavalry and artillery companies also will send a big delegation, accompanied by a finely equipped band of twenty pieces.

The south as well as the north will be on hand, even from far Rockfield, in Sevier county, whence a goodly number will be mustered in.

Preparations are also being made for street parades, one of the local boys for Saturday, Saturday evening, and another a grand parade of the combined companies on Monday. The route of march through the principal streets will be announced later.

Killed at Butterville.

Word was received in here to day to the effect that James Jeffs, of Butterville, this county, died at his home yesterday from the results of an accident of which he was the victim on Wednesday. It appears that he was either stacking or baling hay when a guy pole broke falling him on the head and inflicting the injuries which resulted in his death twenty-four hours later. He was about forty years of age and leaves a wife and large family of children.

DONOVAN IS VICTORIOUS.

Fire Commissioner Orders the Immediate Reinstatement of Assistant Chief Donovan.

The fire and police board met this afternoon to inquire into the charges filed against Assistant Chief Donovan, but the case was soon brought to a sudden termination.

Attorney McCallum moved that the case be dismissed on the ground of the chief not having jurisdiction in the matter, and calling attention to section 19 of the rules governing the department wherein it states that the chief and assistant chief of the department shall be subject to suspension from office for cause, by the Mayor at any time.

Assistant City Attorney Van Horne argued that in the nature of things, it would be but just to infer that those having the jurisdiction of appointing an assistant, would also have the right to suspend that person. He failed to put much stress on his argument, however, knowing perhaps that it was not well taken.

In view of the circumstances connected with the case, he board (Commissioner Richmond and the assistant was entitled to state) forthwith.

Thus terminated the cases of Donovan and Sullivan who were suspended by the chief on charges of incompetency and violations of rules of the department—charges which he who inserted them was unable to substantiate.

The case of Donovan, however, has caused general surprise, in view of the fact that the chief went beyond his jurisdiction, not being familiar enough with the rules of the department to know that the right of the suspension of the assistant chief was vested solely in the board—perfecting charges against that official.

The board then ordered the appropriation of money to pay the bills incurred by the department and adjourned until Monday night.

HABEAS CORPUS WRIT.

A Question of Jurisdiction of U. S. Commissioners.

In the case of W. K. Perkins, bound over yesterday afternoon by U. S. Commissioner Sommers, to keep the peace toward Wm. Cederlaff, Judge Zane sued out a writ of habeas corpus this afternoon, and the case is to come before Judge Bartch at 3 o'clock. The petitioner sets forth that he is unlawfully held because the U. S. Commissioner has not power to bind over to keep the peace or to cause costs against a defendant. The determination of this legal point is of some importance, especially if it should be adverse to the commissioner.
