SATURDAY'S RESULTS.

Saturday's coursing events were disappointing to the nearly 2,000 spectators on hand. There were only one or two races that could be called good. This was because of the poor lot of rabbits sent out ahead of the dogs. Only on two or three occasions did the rabbit give the dogs any kind of a chase. The hares had just been shipped in and did not know the course or the escapes which are at the east end of the course.

One of the features was the finish of the Cullen stakes, which was won by Walla Walla from Harpoon, the runner up, by a score of 5 to 1.

The final in the Utah championship was an interesting event. It was captured by Lady Athlete against Free Agent. The winner received a purse of $200 and a handsome silver cup given by H. R. Elliott. The results follow:

ELLSWORTH TO QUIT.

School of Mines Coach Has Had Enough of Game.

Golden, Colo., Oct. 20.—This will be A. C. Ellsworth's last season as football coach for the School of Mines or for any other college. "Shorty" made this announcement at a mass meeting held in Guggenheim hall at 11 o'clock this morning. At the close of the present school year he will have finished the work he has been taking and will enter the mining field.

Although "Shorty's" heart will always be in athletics, the big fellow stated he did not care to make it a life business. However, if within a thousand miles of Golden on Thanksgiving day, Elsworth says he can always be counted on to come to see the game with Boulder. He expects to wind up his career at this institution by turning out another championship team, as he has done for three years as director of athletics here. He appealed to the student body to turn out each evening of football practise, and asked that every man who could get into the scrub team and give the regulars work to do.

The mass meeting today was a regular old-fashioned football rally, with a larger attendance and more enthusiasm than ever before seen at this school. Practically every faculty member and student was present, and there were several cheerful speches.

TWO GOOD MATCHES.

Johnnie Summers to Fight Tommy Murphy—O'Keefe vs Burke.

New York, Oct. 20.—Two interesting battles were arranged today. Johnny Summers, the English lightweight, who made such a good showing against Tommy Murphy in their fight at Philadelphia, was matched with the Philadelphia lightweight, Bert Keyes, for a 12-round session before the Edgewood A. C. of New Haven, on Nov. 1.

The principals in the other match made are Pat O'Keefe, the Irish middleweight champion, and Sailor Burke, the Brooklyn middleweight. This pair was matched for a struggle at catch weights and bids for the fight will be received until Oct. 24.

CHUG WAGON FOR GANS.

Dusky Champion Purchass Big Auto For Business.

New York, Oct. 20.—Joe Gans, lightweight champion, arrived in New York last night. He purchased a touring car this morning, paying $5,985 for it, and it is his intention to use it to carry guests between the station and his hotel in Baltimore.

Gans said the greatest fight he ever witnessed was the Thomas-Ketchel bout, and that it was an even thing up to the time Thomas was knocked out in the thirty-second round. If Joe ever returns to the ring it will be to fight a lightweight, as he expects to stay in that class and leave the welters alone.

NO MORE GAMES FOR THREE WEEKS

Football Interest Shifts for a Time To Localities Other Than Salt Lake.

"HAS BEENS" IN STIFF GAME.

Coach Walker of Logan Shows Remarkable Skill in Breaking Up Opposing Plays.

After a spirited game between the "has-beens" of Utah and the University squad Saturday afternoon at Cummings field, the football map has almost ceased to offer a forecast of promise.

Next week there is no game at all. The week after the team will be away on a visit, and on Nov. 9 the Agricultural College at Logan will be the opposing force. The Aggies will come down to Salt Lake under Coach Walker and if his playing Saturday is any promise for the kind he will put into his team, Utah will have her hands full to make victory easy.

With the Colorado season getting down to cases, it appears that the intermountain championship will lie between Boulder, the School of Mines, Colorado College and Utah. All of these teams are as yet undefeated, while Denver is down and out along with the Colorado Aggies, through the receipt of a series of stinging defeats.

While Utah was fighting against the collection of "has-beens" Saturday Denver was going down to her third consecutive defeat—this time at the hands of St. Vincents. In Colorado the Aggies were being defeated by the Boulder aggregation by a score of 17 to 13, and Wyoming was going down and out to the tune of 75 to 0, at the hand of the School of Mines team.

AGGIES GAME HERE.

The Aggie game for Nov. 9, at Salt Lake, was decided upon late Saturday afternoon. Coach Tetzel of the B. Y. U., Elwood Brown of the Y. M. C. A., and Coach Padenoch of the B. Y. C., were selected as officials, so that this question might not raise up to haunt the final hours of practise.

Today there are at most of the Utah schools, coaches who are rather more sore than happy, but they remember a great day in their career since football laurels were fresh, and they also remember, that "has-beens" as they are, they can still brush up their laurels to fighting trim and score against the best huskies of the present University generation.

VARSITY SAVES ITSELF.

Saturday's game resulted in a score of 11 to 7, with the eleven on the University's side, but the winning scores were only piled up in the last half, and for a long time the "has-beens" felt the thirst for victory, and the taste of scoring. Walker of Chicago, and Logan made the present team look sickly for the first half. The heroes of this season would get the ball. There would be an echo of snappy signals. The interference would shoot at the line. The man with the ball would gallantly plunge after them—right into the waiting arms of Walker, who stopped play after play behind Utah's line, and for a promising championship team to allow this in mid-season, does not augur well for an overwhelming Boulder defeat on the 16th.

MADDOCK A STAR.

The game opened with Mayor Bransoff for the "U." The "Old-Timers" scored in about 12 minutes, waking the undergraduates to the fact that they were up against steam, skill, and their own coach who knew where he could get through and how to do it. Seventy yards of bucking through tackles sent Maddock over for a score of 5 points, and it failed to become six, through the inability of Teetzel to boot the sphere over for a goal.

After that the exhibition was a good teams doing their utmost and the galloping of fierce, hard football with both lerles getting much more than their money's worth of fun. Harker, Pitt, Brown, Teetzel, Maddock, Walker, each playing to remarkable form, held the University time after time, forcing them to resort to punts, and finally bringing the half to an end without being scored against.

In the second half two touchdowns, and one goal helped matters and left the varsity with a clear record. The lineup was as follows:

BIG BALLOON RACE ON THIS AFTERNOON.

St. Louis, Oct. 20.—Arrangements have all been completed for the second international aeronautic contests which will begin at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Nine balloons have been entered, representing America, Germany, France and England.

The first international contest was held last year at Paris, at which Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm of the United States cavalry, by a flight of 402 miles, won the James Gordon Bennett cup, the trophy of the contest. The cup is an object of art in massive silver, valued at $2,500, and was offered by James Gordon Bennett to the aeronaut covering the longest distance in a single flight. If the cup is won three times in succession by an aeronaut it then becomes the property of the aeronautic club of which he is a member. The winner of the cup in each international contest, by the terms of the donor, will receive in addition a prize of $2,500 in cash, together with one-half of the entry fees and forfeits. The contestant finishing second will receive one-third and the contestant finishing third the remainder of the entry fees and forfeits. This second competition for the Bennett cup was organized by the Aero club of America under the rules of the International Aeronautic federation, and will be conducted under the auspices of the Aero club of St. Louis.

The first five days of the week will be devoted to aeronautics. On Monday the principal feature of the entire aeronautic meet will open the program, when the nine balloons will ascend in the international long distance race for the Bennett cup. Tuesday there will be a contest for aeroplanes or flying machines of the heavier-than-air type, with total cash prices of $2,500. Wednesday there will be a contest for airships and vehicles of the lighter-than-air types, with total prizes of $2,500. Thursday the contest of flying machines for the Scientific American cup will be held. Friday will be "free-for-all" day, in which any kind of air craft that will get above the ground may participate in the contest to win the Lahm cup, which has just been won by Aeronauts McCoy and Chandler in their long balloon flight from St. Louis to West Virginia.

Aeronautic interest centers chiefly on the international balloon race. According to the announcement of the Aero club the first balloon, the Pommern, will be sent up at 4 p. m. Monday, and the others will follow at not less than five-minute intervals. The balloons entered in the race, their pilots and the companion who will accompany each pilot, the country represented, and the cubic feet of gas capacity of each balloon, are as follows, given in the order in which they will start:

THOSE WHO WILL START.

Pommern, Germany, Oscar Erbsloch, A. Lawrence, 77,500; United States, America, Maj. H. B. Hersby, A. T. Ather, 85,236; L'Isle de France, France, Alfred Leblanc, E. W. Mix, 77,000; Duesseldorf, Germany, Captain Hugo von Abercron, H. Heidemann, 77,000; Lotus II, England, G. Brewer, Lieutenant Brabazon, 75,250; America, America, J. C. McCoy, Captain Chandler, 77,000; Anjou, France, Rene Gaanier, Charles Leeve, 79,500; Abercron, Germany, Paul Meckel, Herr Polantiz, 50,000; St. Louis, America, Alan R. Hawley, August Post, 77,000.

All the details of the race are in charge of a committee appointed by the Aero club of America.

Next in importance in the features of the program is the competition by aerial vehicles of every kind, which are divided into classes as follows:

Dirigible or airships which are lighter than air, being made so the bag or envelope contains a gas lighter than air; machines heavier than air, which are designed to be lifted from the ground and propelled by the pressure of planes or extensive surfaces of some lighter material against the air. All the air crafts have reached St. Louis and are being assembled on the plot of ground in Forest Park where the ascensions will be made.

The ballooning ground proper is about 10 yards wide by 170 yards long and is inclosed by a fence of wire netting. Through the center of the inner court runs a 12-inch gas pipe, 100 yards long, with alternating offshoots of smaller pipes, with which the cup contenders will be inflated. The main pipe runs from a gasometer with a capacity of 4,000,000 cubic feet, one of the largest in the world.

On three sides of the outer enclosure and gaily decorated with red, white and blue bunting, are stands that will seat 25,000 people. On the south sides are the tents in which the airships and flying machines are being assembled to await the departure of their larger but clumsier sisters, the delicates, skeleton-like framework being scattered in profusion among the big drums of generators which are to provide the special gas for the dirigible balloons.

On the fourth side also are the tents of the two provisional battalions of United States soldiers from Jefferson barracks, placed there at the request of President Roosevelt to guard the grounds and assist the special detail of police.

Today all the balloons were taken to the grounds and final arrangements were completed for the contest.

MEETING OF PILOTS.

A meeting of the pilots of the nine balloons which will start tomorrow was held tonight at the headquarters of the Aero club, and the final instructions were handed out by the contestants. Pilots are required to be stationed at their balloons with their aides no later than 2 p. m., or two hours before the start. Passage reports are to be thrown out from the balloons at least every two hours. These reports are expected to be telegraphed to New York and St. Louis, and thus it is hoped to keep in close touch with each contestant at every stage of the journey.

Great crowds visited the ballooning grounds today. A test balloon sent up at sunset was whirled away on a 25-mile wind in a direction just west of south. This is the first balloon in months which has taken this course, the aeronauts tonight are predicting that Mexico will be the goal if prevailing atmospheric conditions continue. The latest word from the weather bureau, however, is a prediction of variable winds—the most discouraging weather a balloonist has to deal with.

Capt. Charles de F. Chandler and his aide, J. C. McCoy, who made the sensational flight last week in signal corps balloon No. 1, reached St. Louis today and were warmly welcomed. The Lahm trophy of the Aero club of America, will be awarded to Capt. Chandler as soon as the official measurement of the distance traveled by No. 10 is received from Washington. Capt. Chandler will hold the cup until some other balloonist exceeds his record of 475 miles. The flight in the international contest will not be considered in connection with the Lahm competition.

PACIFIC COAST.

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—The Portland players went down twice before the local team today. The morning contest was one-sided from the start. Hartman went on the pitching slab for the visitors and in the opening inning his delivery was given a heavy drubbing. Six hits for San Francisco were scored before the inning ended and nine men had scampered over the home plate. Hartman was taken out at the end of the third inning and Johnson pitched effectively the balance of the game. In the afternoon the contest was close enough to satisfy the most exacting "fan." The only tally scored was a home run hit rapped out by Meldrim in the fourth inning. It was a pitcher's battle, with both teams playing an errorless fielding game.

FINISHES 1,000 MILE WALK.

Cincinnati, Oct. 20.—Dan O'Leary, the world famous long distance walker, finished his 1,000-mile walk at Norwood inn in this city at 7 o'clock this morning. He walked one mile during each hour for 1,000 consecutive hours, and although he is nearly 65 years old, he at no time during this test of his strength has shown any signs of faltering.

This is one of the most remarkable tests ever witnessed in America and the medical world has been mightily interested as to the outcome. It is said that the International Tuberculosis association persuaded O'Leary to attempt the walk and that he is to receive $5,000 for accomplishing the feat.

Accidents will happen, but the best-regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the hurts.
