THE END TOMORROW.

Returns of the Constitution May Be Finished By That Time.

ENGROSSMENT TO BE WAIVED FOR.

Instrument Expected to Be Ready for Signing By Wednesday Next.

This, the fifty-first day of the Constitutional Convention, has been the most prosy and unexciting of any in its history. The Session began promptly at four and a quarter and one hour and forty minutes thereafter saw the delegates still waiting for a quorum. It is generally conceded that no delegate will not be surprised again until they have had ample time to recover from the effects of last night's revelry. Today's work is all more of the final revision order. It is expected that the work will be completed some time tomorrow and then the Committee will be ready for the final report. The Committee will meet at 9 o'clock and the delegates will be ready to consider the amendments that the Committee would make a volume. The work will be completed by noon and then will be the formal signing of the instrument. By the feeling in the Convention it is probable, majority of votes in favor of adjourning sine die, will carry by a large majority.

The Convention did not meet at 9 o'clock, the usual hour, this morning, but at 4 minutes to 10 it was found that there was not a quorum present. Finally was offered by Delegate Cheesbro, of Salt Lake, a motion to proceed to roll call of the members.

DOES THE ROLL THE MEMBERS.

The journal has accounted the attendance of the following delegates, namely: Cheesbro, to call on absentees to compel the people to be represented at some time the Constitution is ready to be signed by their votes. C. C. Goodwin, G. F. Wallace, Charles Crouch, B. Thomas, H. M. Walsh, W. L. Rich, Thomas Kearnley.

MOTION TO CONSIDER.

Louis Lewis, Sanpete, moved, seconded by the fact that the return book of a member of the Sanpete delegation in the 4th of May, 1 minute engaged in trying to be found in consequence with the roll call, and that there is a chance of getting attendance of same."

Mr. Cheesbro stated that to his knowledge, everything, the delegates who took motion to would go to present attention to the non-attendance the motion was withdrawn.

REVISION DEFERRED.

At the ruling the final revision of Schedule article was resumed at article 13 the article on corporations.

DEBT OF STATE TAX SALARY.

Then the rolling relating to salaries of public officers was reached. Jolley moved to take the compensation of the members of the state from $4 to $3. To this there were 37 members voted and 24 against. The motion was not carried, a two-thirds vote.

A motion of taking the word "state" in Corporations stated in the end of section of the article.

THE ATTORNEY'S SECTION.

Then was a period of most tiresome and protracted waiting for a quorum to assemble. At 2:30 Hall, President of the Bench, arose and said: "Mr. President, I demand the roll call of all not supplied by absent members. I think it important to know who is in and who is not."

Adjourn was called for accordingly, on suggestion of Campbell, and after a search of elevators, etc., for the Prest. Cook, Chairman, to find the cause of the last quorum to be highly important City-Bustle on the ... Cook, in and work was resumed by a quorum of members of Constitutional assembly present.

A SERIOUS ANNOUNCEMENT.

Cook then arose and explained that he was serious, entirely unknown to chair or to Committee—to consider the real amendment—an important amendment 19—and 2 Kearnley, Wood, and Cole resulted from the final strife. It read as follows: "Section 19. The motion, if not seconded, fail, and if seconded failure owing to any cause to find a quorum in each county, shall be a dead motion. Notice to other but must be made be provided by law."

The work of revision was still in progress at press time.

Finished Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Prosecutors of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion will convene in the Assembly Rooms on the 11th inst.

FRED. W. JENNINGS, Clerk of Stake.

Again the Firemen.

Morris and John McMillan, the firemen whose case the Supreme court held in the case of Gilbert and Clark were legally suspended from the Department, and who ever since have filed a bill against the city for the salaries of the men, for the last months. It amounts to about $1,000.

ARRAIGNED.

Matinee—The revival of Malta, the transformation of Gaillot's novel with Miss the Grace opera house made a dull now to the public, drew an immense audience at that place of entertainment last evening. Miss Grace's charmer and Mr. Kyle's part were the only two of the original cast remaining. Principal attention was bestowed on the Vera of Miss Roberts and the Count of Mr. Hoe. Incidentally the duets were good, the former admirable. Miss Roberts gives another especially creditable of the fact that she is to be Roger the air, which time in her performances of Malta which is the Grand Duchess Rosalinda's season, though she will be creditably performances there all summer.

The PROBELLA was opened this morning. The indication is prize, and the bidders will opera together results to be here Monday night, and after that it will all depend on how the opera strikes the public.

Hamer Conroy Clarke's performances closes all at the Grand, instead of the Tuesday, and the Star will be the 13th inst. instead of the 20th. A number of so-my people will attend, and the event promises to be the merry night show. Miss Clarke will take part and also be one of the prize-getters. Mr. Clarke will be the manager for the Star nights with the Dramatic School next week, the act being now being book after the out of compliment of the Young Ladies' Academy.

Gone to His Grandfather.

Fred Jones, the man charged with having enticed the four-year-old boy who has been under the care of himself and wife since his baptism, appeared again before Commissioner Norrell this afternoon. It was agreed that arrangements had been made to transfer the child to the future custody of his grandfather, who would hereafter assume all responsibility.

An effort will probably be made later on to have the child adopted into the Dividendo Home in this city.

The defendant's attorney asked that Jones be now discharged, but the commissioner declined to grant this request, and ordered that the charge against him stand over for a couple of weeks. In the meantime Assistant County Attorney Harrington will make further inquiries into the case.

The Condemnation Suit.

In the land condemnation suit of the Rio Grande Salt Lake and Hot Springs Railroad Company against Thomas et al. for property in Judge Morris's court Monday was brought in a motion filed by the defendants to the total sum of $[illegible]

A FEW MORE TRICKS.

Mr. Campbell, the witness and a reporter by trade, corroborated Wilson and said that a big-eye scene was placed in the top story of the building which had no other means of egress and no fire escape. The examination resulted in a complaint of manslaughter.

The examination then took another turn. George J. Mumford was then subpoenaed as the guard on a building and on his way to his Eighth ward house, he met upon women coming down the stairs from the top floor of the building. He had seen the latter in Lucy. He said the latter had seen women there, but nothing at all to Morris.

"Why did you go to your house tonight?" asked the county attorney.

"Mr. Buckley, who was working there," replied Mumford, "told me that if I would go to Dr. Lewis I would a little bad time." Mr. Buckley said he was doing work on a contract for the boys, but had finished it and had left with the chief's helper to notify the doctor." [Laughter.]

Witness said the men were paid at Wilson & Buckley's office. They were to be paid in gold or in paper and had to give for it 10 cents's three beeves. The calendar paid them.

"You evidently in the other room in a without work, I suppose?" asked the county attorney.

"Yes, it was about the only way I could get work and I thought I'd get a job copy of the other boys could."

George A. Winberg, who was an employee at the gasket job for some four days, said he was paid $2 for the 21 for each week's work. Lately he had been hired by the job per week instead of by the job per week. Winberg also testified against the defendant in the case. He said he was paid the chief's helper to notify the doctor.

"Did you see anyone else in the building?" asked the county attorney.

"Yes, I saw Mr. Lewis, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Lewis."

"Did you see anyone else?"

"No
