

FLUORATING FRAGMENTS.

Brother P. M. Lyman reached from the South this morning. He has been to Beaver.

Brother P. Romney met with a serious mishap about ten miles from that town, on the 7th of August. He had been working on some buildings in Nutria, for the erection of which he had a contract. He had been to St. John on a visit to his family, and on his way back to resume his work at Nutria, he was subsequently stated, he was suddenly approached by a man who struck him a violent blow on the side of the head, knocking him out of the vehicle, from which he fell to the road and became insensible.

He was accompanied by two of his children, one of whom, a ten-year-old girl, spoke to him and tried to arouse him, but he lay under the buggy as if dead. The girl took her little brother by the hand and started back toward St. John. At a point about a mile and a half from that place she was overtaken by a young man named James T. Berry, to whom she narrated what had occurred.

Brother Berry at once started with all possible haste for the place where the affair occurred. When he reached Brother Romney he found him still lying upon the ground insensible, face downward, the lines being in one hand and twisted around one leg. They were also over the axle, between the wheels of the wagon and the box. The horses were facing toward St. John. A small sum of money was lying on the ground close by.

It was some time before Brother Berry was successful in bringing him to his senses, but he finally regained consciousness. While he was being assisted into the buggy he again became insensible, and swooned four times subsequently in traveling five miles.

As soon as the news of the affair reached St. John, a party of four men and Mrs. Romney started out to meet Brother Berry, which they did five miles from town. Brother Romney was taken to his home, where, at last accounts, he was lying in a precarious condition, but it was thought he would recover. His system was badly shaken by the fall, and although a powerful narcotic had been administered to him, he was unable to obtain any sleep. The little girl states that she did not see any man ride up and strike her father, but he has a bad bruise over the left eye, apparently the effect of a heavy blow. It also transpires that a couple of Mexicans rode up to him a short time previous to the occurrence, as if to see who he was.

On the morning of August 8th Brother Romney was very low. A few weeks ago he suffered from a severe attack of bronchitis, was afflicted with an incessant cough, and he seems to be badly broken down. Brother Robert Holmes, from whom we have obtained these particulars, will be in Spanish Fork about the middle of the present month, where Brother Romney's friends can obtain any further particulars regarding him that he may be in a position to impart.

A ROMANTIC INCIDENT.
ANDREW LOVEY ROGERS FINDS OVER SIX THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD AND RETURNS IT TO THE OWNERS, WHO WERE ROBBED OF IT SIX YEARS AGO.

We have been enabled to peruse a letter from Brother Andrew L. Rogers, of Sunset, Apache County, Arizona, to his brother, Orson Rogers, of this city. We make the following interesting extracts:

I will explain how I found a mass of gold and what came of it. You remember of yourself finding some money once in an old book, and for your honesty was rewarded with part of it. Mine was a somewhat similar circumstance only on a larger scale.

Six years ago, Moses Casner and brother had over six thousand dollars stolen from them, all in twenty dollar gold pieces. The thief, in his hurry to get away, lost the money of the blind part of his saddle in passing through the timber. He was soon taken prisoner, and in trying to make him tell where the money was the Casners hung him to a tree until he was nearly dead. In order to save his life the thief told them he had lost the money, and would tell them all he knew of it, and want to help them find it. They piled up rocks where the money was supposed to be lost, and although many men had hunted days for it it never could be found, so that they gave up all hopes and stopped searching.

On the 24th of July, 1882, six years after the loss of the money, as I was following on the track of a sheep, I saw something that I thought consisted of curious looking yellow oak leaves, but a second glance showed it was a pile of gold. I commenced putting it in my pocket, but they would not hold it, so I took off my coat, tied one sleeve with a string and put it in. I hastily picked up all I could find, and hurried on alone, for I was afraid they were out of sight. Before I got back to camp I had to keep changing from one shoulder to the other. I knew who were the owners of the lost money, as I had heard of the circumstance of the stolen gold. Not being able to leave my sheep, I told Hube Burk to go and tell the Casners, as they live a number of miles away from me, and when they saw their lost treasure they could hardly contain themselves for joy.

They wanted to know what I charged; I told them nothing. But this would not do for them. Almost any amount would have been given me had I named it, but I did not choose to do this, knowing that I had no more right to their money than if I had never seen it. They said the Lord had a hand in it, for he had not been found, and the right had come along, for I said they, person almost any one else had found it we never would have seen it again. They said it was like a gift to them.

As I had made of them quickly picked up a pile of money and threw it over to me, and a smaller pile to Bro. Burk. Mine was $200 and Bro. Burk's $80. The Casners then made us a heartful good day and rode for home.

The circumstance of my finding the money was a little singular, for in their search for it the Casners had piled up rocks within ten feet of where it was lying. Thus ended a matter that had caused a good deal of interest and wonder.

MILES P. ROMNEY MEETS WITH A MISHAP AND IS IN A PRECARIOUS CONDITION.

From information received from St. John, Arizona, it appears that Brother Miles P. Romney met with a serious mishap about ten miles from that town, on the 7th of August. He had been to St. John on a visit to his family, and on his way back to resume his work at Nutria, he was subsequently stated, he was suddenly approached by a man who struck him a violent blow on the side of the head, knocking him out of the vehicle, from which he fell to the road and became insensible.

We may add that $100 has been forwarded by this honest, noble-hearted young man to his parents, and the remaining $80 to others who are near and dear to him. There is evidently not only an entire absence of a shade of dishonesty in his composition, but he displays a most refreshing unselfishness. Brother Rogers is a native of Farmington, Davis County, is the son of Thomas and Aurelia Rogers. The late Apostle Orson Spencer was his grandfather, and he is cousin to Mr. Spencer Clawson of this city. He was born and reared in the Church.

The circumstance of his brother Orson finding a sum of money, alluded to in the letter, occurred in Z. C. M. I. When he handed it over to Gen. Eldredge, who was superintendent at the time, that gentleman gave him half of the amount back, as a reward of honesty.

Registration Notice.—Notice is hereby given that I will be at the Sixteenth Ward Schoolhouse on Monday, Sept. 11th, 1882, and each succeeding day thereafter to and including Sept. 16th, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m., and from 2 to 6 p.m., for the purpose of registering all persons entitled to vote in the Third Precinct of Salt Lake City, Utah.

JOHN S. LINDSAY,
Deputy Registrar.

Spring City Bishopric.—Last Sunday President Canute Peterson, Elder Henry Beal and Bishop Arnold, of Ephraim, paid a visit to Spring City and reorganized the Bishopric of that Ward, rendered necessary by the removal of Bishop Olsen to another settlement. James A. Alfred was ordained and set apart as Bishop of Spring City, and John Frantzen and Lauritz Larsen as his Counselors.

Back from Beaver.—Sister E. B. Wells, editor of the Woman's Exponent, arrived home from Beaver County this morning, whither she had been in company with Sister M. I. Horne. These two ladies visited all the settlements of Beaver County and held twelve association meetings. The chief gathering was the ladies' conference at Beaver City. They were everywhere well received. Sister Wells brought with her a number of contributions to the Deseret Hospital, donated by different people of Beaver County.

Sister Horne stopped over at Deseret, Millard County, in order to visit her daughter.

An Excellent Institution.—The Provo Manufacturing Co's factory is an institution of which the whole Territory has reason to feel proud. It not only utilizes the wool raised here, and furnishes employment for a throng of workmen, but manufactures many other articles used in the various departments, from the crude materials manipulated successfully by its employees. The extent of its operations may be partially appreciated, when we mention that the one item of soap used in cleansing the woolen goods, is manufactured and consumed on their premises to the amount of about four thousand pounds per week. Its wares are in active demand, and have preference with all those having a bona fide interest in the prosperity of Utah.

Punching a Porcupine.—There was an exciting time yesterday morning in the Meeting House grove. An enormous porcupine put in an appearance there early, and when a few gentlemen who had the preparations in hand for the reception of the Salt Lake choir entered the grove for the purpose of arranging the seats, etc., the porcupine at first manifested a disposition to hold the fort. Soon after there was an army of pitchforks shovels and other weapons of a similar description on the spot, but Mr. porcupine would not budge an inch. By a united effort, however, the pitchforks overcame resistance, and the fretful porcupine took refuge in a locust tree, out of each of the pitchforks. At the stage of the fight, Captain Strong's reserve forces was drawn up and a Colt's gun charged the enemy which had the desired effect of bringing the leader to terms. There was a funeral, and Mr. Porcupine was laid away.—Terr. (Proto) Enquirer.

FROM "THE TIMES."
Editors Times:—The veterinary department in your valuable paper is always read by me with great interest and I value the information received from it a hundred fold more than the small amount paid for the paper. One year ago you published a letter from Dr. John Bates, relating the wonderful success he had had in curing spasms and epilepsy with Kendall's Spavin Cure, and his allusion to using it now in his practice for several human ailments on account of the success he has always had with it. The above statements from so prominent a Physician gave me great faith in its efficacy, and as I had been afflicted for years with rheumatism and hip-joint lameness, so bad that I could hardly walk at times, I procured a bottle and as it has completely cured me I wish to proclaim it to all the world as the most wonderful discovery ever made for the benefit of afflicted men as well as for the poor horse, for which it was first used. As this remedy must be of incalculable value to the world, I write this letter to express my thankfulness to you for ever mentioning it in your columns and to ask another favor in behalf of my fellow men who are afflicted in body, that you continue to make known to the world the great value of Kendall's Spavin Cure for both man as well as beast. Respectfully yours,
ARNOLD PARKER,

READ THE FOLLOWING TESTIMONIALS—
SALT LAKE CITY,
June 29th, 1882.
This is to certify that we had Messrs. Simmons & Co. repair and paint our stables at the railroad, in this city, which leaked badly. A few hours after the roof was painted there came a very hard rain storm, and we are pleased to say our roof did not leak a drop. We cheerfully recommend this paint as being both fire and water proof, and as a preserver of roofs it seems to us to be the very thing needed in this section of the country.
