The above represents the completed ticket of Salt Lake county Republican convention which commenced its deliberations early yesterday morning, but which did not finish them until dawn today. In point of time consumed it was a record smasher. It was likewise the most laborious gathering of its kind in the history of local politics. At times, too, it was entirely beyond the control of the combined efforts of the chairman, clerks and sergeants-at-arms. Caucusing went on constantly in the aisles and foyer though the chairman rapped vigorously and called for order throughout the day and night—particularly at night.

Despite these disadvantages—and they were disadvantages of no inconsiderable consequence, the delegates centered their efforts upon the work before them, and time and again voted motions down that contemplated recess or adjournment until today. Altogether the determination to finish the task in hand was most pronounced and plainly displayed the earnest purpose of the gathering. Hours before the last man had been named some of the delegates, with and without the long story, quit the building. In some instances only one man was left to cast the vote of the district delegation. In others not a single representative remained to voice the sentiment of his constituents. But that made no difference to those whose primary object was the completion of the labor outlined in the call.

The work of the convention began to drag heavily and almost interminably at four o'clock in the afternoon, the time at which the delegates got up and left the convention hall, while the results were, one by one, being announced by districts, of which there were eighty-eight. It was after seven o'clock when the count was completed—this on account of the great number of candidates—30—who were voted for. Those chosen on the first ballot were:

ADJOURNED.
The lightning rays of dawn had dimmed over the Wasatch range and was creeping the city and valley showing Chairman Nye, well nigh exhausted, rose from his chair, dropped his gavel upon the table and said: "The convention stands adjourned." The announcement was the occasion of three cheers by the delegates, then in the hall, but quickly fled out into the fresh air, extremely thankful for the fact of the curtain having dropped upon the last act of convention labor.

Conventions Echoes.
Hon. James Ivers made a strong showing in the convention for a legislative nomination until a lady delegate circulated the statement with much inaccuracy, "He's a Greenwald, a Cannon man, and must be defeated." Whether or not the statement was true, it had a marked effect on the delegations quickly visited by the lady, as the next ballot showed a decided fall-off in Mr. Ivers' vote. The slump continued until a delegate arose and withdrew his name.

There was an animated scene on the stage between Jack Greenwald, a member of the Fifth precinct delegation, and Mrs. Pease, who was a member of the same delegation, and one of the assistant secretaries. It was during the vote for candidates to the lower house of the Legislature, Mr. Greenwald, the announcer of the district, gave the six votes to Nicholson, when one of the number, it seems, should have been announced for McMillan. This vote was cast by Mrs. Pease, who declared that Mr. Greenwald had taken a very grave responsibility on himself to change it to Nicholson, and a sharp colloquy between this gentleman and the lady occurred at long range.

Presently the former came to the stage where Mrs. Pease was sitting and explained that he had made the change on the strength of a statement coming from Mr. McGurkin, whom he said had authority to do that. This aroused Mrs. Pease's anger, and with rising color, she exclaimed, "If Mr. McGurkin says that, he lies." Mr. Greenwald then beat a hasty retreat and the incident was over.

In two or three instances a wordy warfare came near being settled by physical argument. In each case, however, discretion prevailed and more serious trouble was averted.

Whenever a candidate was named by acclamation a great sigh of relief went up from the weary workers of the convention.

The long drawn out deliberations of the convention made mighty hard work for the newspaper men.

The "News" issued a 4:20 a. m. edition of its Semi-Weekly, containing a complete account of the all-night work of the delegates. This was the first press half an hour in advance of either the Tribune or Herald.

Mrs. Newland Dead.
Peoria, Ill., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Alice Maud Newland, formerly of Forest, Ill., shot herself through the heart last evening at the Newland residence at Galesburg, having previously been arrested with her husband, Dr. Frederick M. Newland, charged with violating the United States postal laws by sending through the mails circulars advocating the criminal use of drugs manufactured by them under the name of the De Foline Company, which had quarters at Buffalo, Galesburg and other cities. United States Commissioner Humphrey of Chicago issued a warrant against them for accumulating evidence for months. A few minutes before the time to take the train for Canton, for the preliminary examination, Mrs. Newland asked to go to her room. Hearing the shot fired her husband and United States Marshall Tripp broke open the door and found the woman dead. The husband was held in $1,200 for a hearing and will be committed to the Peoria jail today.

Butchers' Strike Spreads.
Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 14.—The strike of butchers which originated in the packing house of the Jacob Dold Packing Company, has spread to the establishment of Sahlem Brothers, Michael Danahy, Christian Klinck, Kinick Brothers and the Buffalo Packing Company.

The aggregate number of men out is variously estimated at between 800 and 1,500. A large meeting of the strikers was held last night and it was intimated at its conclusion that the engineers, coopers, carpenters and other employees of the packing houses might go out today as an act of sympathy for the butchers. The cause of the strike is said to be a refusal of the Dold company to discharge two men who failed to pay their dues to the union.

BRITISH POLICY.
Much Gossip but No Certainty as to What Salisbury Will Do.

New York, Sept. 14.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says:

Lord Salisbury's return is awaited by politicians and leader writers as the signal for the dissolution of parliament and the revival of activity in diplomacy. The prime minister may have a holiday journey, but he can never shirk the responsibilities of office. Lord Salisbury has been in daily communication with the foreign office while in the Vosges. If he had been too ill to conduct foreign relations, Mr. Balfour would have been in Downing street instead of playing golf at North Berwick.

Lord Salisbury has been holding over China and South Africa in his retirement, just as he does when he is at his home in Hatfield, and if he has seemed sluggish in dealing with either question it has probably been because he has not believed that the time for effective action has come. His return will not alter the situation unless he is prepared either to dissolve parliament or to take more active interest in the China question than he has displayed hitherto. In case he will not share his secrets with either his colleagues or the British press, current belief points to British support of the German emperor in China, which has committed himself to any policy, much less to the four conditions of peace which Li Hung Chang has been informed Germany has imposed. The more probable explanation of his course is that he has preferred to remain in the background and allow Russia and Germany to make the first moves in the most difficult problem to play and that he will now take a more active part and attempt to bring those powers together and prevent the occupation of Manchuria by the czar's troops.

The excitement over the approach of the elections is increasing daily. Liberals in touch with the American forces are expecting dissolution at the end of a fortnight. Unionists are more reticent, but the lists of candidates on their side are nearly complete and the party is fully prepared for an immediate contest.

The country President Kruger's flight has facilitated this policy. It is still an open question whether he will sail for Europe or remain at Lourenço Marques. But in either event he will leave his followers to give up their hopeless struggle and disband.

Butchers' Strike.
Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Eight hundred butchers employed in the packing houses of the Jacob Dold Packing Company and Klincks and Danahy's packing houses are on strike today. The refusal of the Dolds to discharge two men who refused to pay their dues to their union. Dold claims to have 150 men at work today.

The Sherman has on board one battalion each of the Second, Fifth and Eighth infantry. Major Borden, of the Fifteenth infantry, in command, reports the condition of the troops good. The Sherman sailed from San Francisco on August 21. She will proceed to Manila.

No Trace of Lost Steamer.
Conneaut, O., Sept. 13.—The tug Day went to the supposed scene of the steamer Lyons disaster at daylight today and struck about four hours without finding any trace of the vessel or her crew. Eleven persons are believed to have gone down with the steamer, which foundered in the storm of Tuesday night. Five survivors, two women and three men, drifted ashore yesterday afternoon near here, lashed to a mast. They had been in the water fifteen hours. The Lyons carried a crew of sixteen.

Manchester, Eng., Sept. 13.—The general committee of the Master Spinners' association has issued a circular advising members of the local associations to cease work for at least twelve days in October. Answers are requested to be sent before the adjourned meeting of the federation takes place September 22. The answers are to be sent to be practically unanimous in the affirmative.

GOVERNMENT WILL HELP.
$4,000,000 to be Expended in Improvements at Galveston.

New York, Sept. 13.—The corps of engineers comprising the chiefs of department met in the army building today to make plans for the repairs to be made in and about Galveston.

The army department has been making many improvements in Galveston bay, which were in a half finished condition when the hurricane struck, and most of these were destroyed by the storm.

Though the arms were not completed it was said that work would be pushed at once. The projected improvements will include concrete piers with Houston. The department proposes to build a channel 100 feet wide and 25 feet deep through Galveston bay from the present ship channel to the mouth of Buffalo bayou, where another channel will be dug 80 feet wide and 17 1/2 feet deep up to the bayou to Houston. The expected cost of this work will be $4,000,000.

The army department will also give all possible aid in repairing the bridges to mainland and the water front so that the shipping to the fullest extent.

Window Glass Makers.
Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 13.—President C. P. Cole, of the Window Glass Manufacturers' Association of the United States, has completed arrangements for starting almost all of the independent window glass factories within ten days. Most of the plants have signed the scale of the blowers and glassers opposed to President Simon Burns of the Window Glass Workers' association, and President Cole is assured of a large majority of the $20 per ton in the associations will be started with practically full crews. The trouble between the combine and workers has not yet been settled.

Hair to $25,000.
New York, Sept. 14.—Just after a city marshal had served Miss Georgiana Simonson, a dress-maker of this city, with a subpoena for her appearance, an attorney who had been seeking her for several days, called on her and notified her that she was to be paid $25,000. The money was bequeathed to Miss Simonson by Frank Stevens, an American, who died a few months ago in St. Petersburg. He left it in appreciation of her former kindness in his wife, who died a few months before Mr. Stevens.

BRITISH ARE NOW IN HOT PURSUIT

Pressing Boers Close to the Portuguese Frontier.

OOM PAUL HAS RESIGNED.

Gen. Botha Does Likewise, Charging Boers With Cowardice—Kruger to Go to Mozambique.

New York, Sept. 14.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says:

News from the seat of war in South Africa is indecisive, but it is clear that Lord Roberts is making a concentrated movement upon Komatipoort, and has left Pretoria in order to direct it personally. Jan Hamilton is returning to the railway from Lydenburg; Pole-Carew is pushing east towards Nelspruit; French is making for Barberton, and Buller has divided both his forces, and cut off a portion of them from communication with the commandos between Nelspruit and Komatipoort. Lydenburg apparently has been abandoned as soon as it was captured, and the British forces are in hot pursuit of the remnants of the Boer army, and driving it eastward to the Portuguese frontier.

These tactics are bold, but in accordance with Lord Roberts' strategy since February. Komatipoort is the new objective point, and when it is captured Lord Roberts will be credited with having taken possession of the last Dutch railway line and closed the door into neutral territory. The work of pacification will not have been thoroughly worked out, but the main object will have been secured as was done when Bloemfontein and Pretoria were occupied.

STORMING OF TIEN TSIN.
Incidents of Heroism Told by Col. Meade, Who Was There.

San Francisco, Sept. 14.—Colonel Robert L. Meade of the Marine corps, who commanded the American forces at Tien Tsin, and was involved home on the Solace, adds several incidents of heroism to the story already told by the allies.

"Captain Davis, of my regiment, was standing between Dr. Norton and myself when he was shot," said Colonel Meade. "He was struck by a Jingo ball, and died almost instantly. A heart and died almost instantly. A Jingo bullet is about three inches in length by one and a quarter inches in diameter.

"First Lieutenant Butler was shot while carrying one of his men back to the trenches who had fallen outside. Lieutenant Leonard rushed to Butler's assistance and was shot in the arm while carrying his brother officer, Leonard refused to have his arm amputated and blood-poison afterward set in and at one time he was in a very precarious condition. Sergeant Clarence E. Sutton, my clerk, helped to carry Leonard and Butler into the trenches.

"In the maneuvers about Tien Tsin, Naval Cadet Charles H. Courtney, now with the Newark, leading twelve men, undertook to capture an arsenal nine miles from Tien Tsin. When they had advanced within two miles on the north side of the arsenal a force of 500 Chinese troops advanced to meet them and the little band was compelled to retreat. Only two of the men escaped unscathed. In retreating William E. Molyoke, boatswain's mate, was shot through the neck and groin, falling to the ground, and the young naval cadet, who is a stalwart fellow, took him on his back and carried him to a place of safety on the river bank. Then, meeting reinforcements from Commodore Seymour, Cadet Courtney and the few of his men able to fight returned to the attack on the fort, capturing it at 3 o'clock in the morning, after fighting all night. Martin Ferguson, runner's mate, and Harry Orndorff and Harry Kern, marines, who were with Courtney's twelve, are among the wounded on the Solace. E. Rasmussen and Naval Cadet J. K. Hausel, a son of the well known naval commander, were too seriously wounded to be brought home, and had to be left at Yokohama. Lieutenant Jolly, of the marine corps, who was taken ill on the voyage, was also left at Yokohama."

Assistant Surgeon J. Storie says that all the wounded are rapidly recovering. The returning men give numerous instances of the barbarous way the Russians had of exterminating the Chinese.

Horses for China.
San Francisco, Sept. 14.—Almost a record trip from the eastern coast was made by the large steamer Lusitania, which has arrived 47 days and 12 hours from Philadelphia. She belongs to the Hamburg-American line, and has been chartered by the German government. The Lusitania is the largest steamship that ever came to this port. She will take from here over 1,100 animals for the German cavalry in China, in addition to all the fodder they will require on the voyage.

San Francisco, Sept. 14.—The finance committee of the proposed Pacific Commercial Museum has secured subscriptions that will give the institution an income of $23,496 for its first year, and its establishment is now assured. It will be patterned after the Commercial Museum in Philadelphia.

HAVANA POINTS.
Politics is Having the Swing in Cuba.—Yellow Fever.

Havana, Sept. 14.—There has been considerable talk among the conservative and fusionist leagues about not going to the polls in the election for delegates to the forthcoming constitutional convention. Today, however, they say they have decided to vote. The reason originally given against such a course was the threat of violence alleged to have been made by the revolutionary element in several towns of Havana province—threats likely to frighten their constituents into remaining at home on election day.

The conservatives now claim that the national party has secured an unfair advantage from the fact that the principal members of the government belong in its ranks and from the further fact that the election law, though excellent in itself, is unfairly administered by the nationalists. Among other things the conservatives assert that many names on the list of voters for the municipality of Havana have been deliberately changed. They point out that these lists, which are handled by the various registration boards for duplication, are being falsified and that when, on election day, the lists are handed to the voting boards, the names mutilated will be found to be those of members of the conservative party. As the municipality is controlled entirely by the nationalists, the conservatives say that this manipulation for the purpose of preventing the legal identification of voters will be practiced to a great extent. They also declare that the civil government is privy to the falsification, though the military government is not aware of it, and they demand an investigation under the direction of Governor General Wood and the protection of their rights.

The mayors of Marianao, Santiago de las Vegas and San Jose de los Gatos, where the fusionists were recently mobbed, still continue in office and the conservatives publicly denounce the officials who were sent there to inquire into the cause of the riots as guilty of whitewashing the ring-leaders.

A mass meeting of the unionists, of whom the conservatives are an important faction, was held at the Tacon theater last evening.

Governor General Wood returned to Havana last evening from the island of Pines, having been absent since Sunday. He reports that he found the island politically quiet and, in fact, indifferent. He was much impressed with the large undeveloped mineral resources of the district.

Five new cases of yellow fever were reported yesterday, 75 being now under supervision. The mortality report for August including deaths from all causes, shows a lower total than for any previous August in ten years—the figures being 230 as against 520 in 1894, and 1,378 in 1896. The death rate for August was 2.76, yellow fever furnishing 47 victims and tuberculosis 45.

He Owe His Life to the Forethought of a Companion.
While on a camping trip in Webster county, Mr. S. I. Stump, of Norman, W. Va., had a severe attack of bloody flux. He says, "I firmly believe that I owe my life to the forethought of one of the company who had taken along a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Moral—procure a bottle of this remedy before
