A Woman's Strong Constitution Wrecked. Effects of a Treacherous Disease. A Wonderful Case.

From the Bulletin, Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Stephen Robbins is the wife of a prominent farmer living on a large and well-kept plantation just at the edge of Memphis, Tenn. They have resided in this community for two years, having moved over from Illinois. The change was made on the benefit of Mrs. Robbins' health, her physicians having advised her that it was the only hope of her ever regaining her lost health.

"Three years ago this fall, I was," said Mrs. Robbins, "I was very sick with that most treacherous disease, the grippe. I had a very severe time with it, but was able to get out after being confined to my house several weeks. I think I took cold the first time I ventured out, and had a relapse, which left a cough and pain in my side. For several years I was confined to the house and after this I did not fully recover until recently. I was able to get out again, but I was quite a different woman.

"My former strong constitution was wrecked, and I was a shattered wreck of nerves and bones. My blood was little and I had grown pale and sallow. My lungs were affected and I thought I was going into consumption. During my illness I had lost thirty pounds in weight. I tried to regain my strength and health by taking all the various different medicines and physicians, but nothing seemed to help me. My appetite was gone, and when I ate the food it would not stay on my stomach.

"The only thing my physician could for me to do, was to take a change of climate, and on his advice I came here. At first I seemed benefited, but to my sorrow it proved to be only temporary, and in a few months I was in my former condition. The color had left my cheeks, I had no energy, and life was a misery. I had become a burden to myself and finally. Finally I happened to read in a newspaper of how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People had effected a miraculous cure with the same disease which a neighbor of mine had suffered from.

"I felt the strength of the testimonial, decided to come to a conclusion, and accordingly sent for a box at Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I did not take quite a thousand miles, I felt the need for a change, but I had taken the medicine but a few days, before I felt the benefit of it. The first box, I feel, has brought me back to health, and I am now able to do a good day's work. I attribute my cure to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I feel that I can recommend them to everybody who is in need of a good medicine."

Mrs. Robbins is well known in this city, and her statement is accepted as true by her many acquaintances.

"Mrs. Stephen Robbins."

CHILD MANGLED BY A PET CAT.

Mexican Pete and Jim Jeffries to Fight—State Government Finance—Old Man Killed Mysteriously.

The citizens of Carson City, Nev., have a little Arabian cat, which they have kept for some time. The animal has been very gentle and quiet, and the children have been in the habit of playing with it, and it would allow them to handle it without scratching them. Last Tuesday morning the little girl of Mr. Dodge, the United States marshal, was playing with the cat, and it scratched her slightly on the face. The child was taken to the house and washed, and the cat was put out of the house. The child was playing with the cat again in the afternoon, and it scratched her again, and she was taken to the house and washed. The child was playing with the cat for the third time, and it scratched her again, and she was taken to the house and washed. The child was playing with the cat for the fourth time, and it scratched her again, and she was taken to the house and washed. The child was playing with the cat for the fifth time, and it scratched her again, and she was taken to the house and washed. The child was playing with the cat for the sixth time, and it scratched her again, and she was taken to the house and washed. The child was playing with the cat for the seventh time, and it scratched her again, and she was taken to the house and washed. The child was playing with the cat for the eighth time, and it scratched her again, and she was taken to the house and washed. The child was playing with the cat for the ninth time, and it scratched her again, and she was taken to the house and washed. The child was playing with the cat for the tenth time, and it scratched her again, and she was taken to the house and washed. The child was playing with the cat for the eleventh time, and it scratched her again, and she was taken to the house and washed.
