SALT LAKE ROUTE NEW TICKET OFFICE

New Quarters on East Temple Street Are to be Decidedly Handsome.

TO BE OPENED ON DECEMBER 1

Will be Furnished in Black Oak in the Old Spanish Mission Style Throughout.

Prior to leaving for Los Angeles tomorrow the visiting Salt Lake Route officials will in all probability let the contract for the furnishing of the handsome new ticket offices for the road which are to be located on the ground floor of the Herald building in the south section.

It has been decided to furnish the office in black oak, old mission style, including the counters, office partitions, tables for the traveling public and other furniture. A feature of the furnishing will be the inlaid tile floor, which will consist of a centerpiece of the broad arrow, trade mark of the road. The office is to be finished and occupied by the first week of December, although the lease of the company on the present ticket office, at 17 west Second South, does not expire until next April.

A local fixture and furnishing house has already put in a bid for the work, which represents several thousand dollars.

WESTERN PACIFIC.

Utah Firms Secure Sub-Contracts and Get Ready for Work.

Among the sub-contractors who are making arrangements to move their outfits and commence construction on the Western Pacific at this end of the line are Deal Bros & Mendenhall of Springville, the Springville Construction company and Hendricks & Lumison, three Utah concerns, in fact all of the work will as far as possible be done by home talent. The labor agents are beginning to get busy, but men are reported to be scarce locally.

HILL VS HARRIMAN.

Interesting Developments on Columbia River Center at Vancouver.

Vancouver, Wash., Sept. 13.—Vancouver is the center of more railroad activity than any other locality in the northwest, for it happens to be the strategic vantage ground from which the field can be most advantageously directed in the determination of the Hill railroads to find a water grade route into Portland, and at the same time afford an outlet on easy grades for the Transpacific freight entered through ports of Puget Sound.

In the judgment of the best informed the activity that has revealed to the public the advanced condition of affairs in plans for building the road and bridging two great waterways does not mean that grading of the entire line is to be prosecuted with the rapidity suggested by this preliminary movement.

Right of way has been secured practically all of the way from White Salmon to Vancouver in the name of the Portland & Seattle Railroad company, the right of way work having been chiefly done by A. R. Upright, formerly of the Northern Pacific. Papers of incorporation have not yet been filed, although it is understood all is in readiness to do so. Mr. Upright arrived at Vancouver Monday and is now working in the territory between the right of way already secured at that point and Washougal.

A. G. Avery, formerly of Seattle, who has been generally understood to be a Northern Pacific attorney, is general counsel, and W. W. Bethel, also a former Northern Pacific employe, is chief engineer of the Portland & Seattle company. The officials directly identified with the work in progress are extremely reticent concerning their labors or the plans.

Messrs. Avery and Bethel have concluded the lease at Vancouver of the entire second floor of the new Packard building, which is being hurried to completion by a large force of carpenters and subdivided to meet requirements of the engineers and legal department as headquarters.

In all these developments what stands out most prominently is that the Portland & Seattle Railroad company proposes to have a railroad line down the north bank of the Columbia as soon as it can be built, but the grade will not be thrown up this winter for a considerable portion of the mileage where the right of way has already been obtained there is no possibility of a rival conflicting in acquiring the only available strip on which the roadway can be established. It is known positively that the plan is for the track to follow down the stream all the way from Wallula to Vancouver. It is said that two points will be the battleground of the two great systems of Hill and Harriman, in this new construction. One will be the old Portage railroad on the Washington side at Cascade, which has been receiving attention within a few months past for the first time in years from the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company and which it is reported is being operated as a means of holding the right of way; the other will be on the Peninsula between Portland and Vancouver. Construction equipment that has gone to the new line up to this time is all that the Northern Pacific company, according to those who have observed its transfer.

George H. Young of St. Paul is engaged in a supervising capacity over the other engineers engaged in the active field work, thus relieving W. W. Bethel of that feature of the work and leaving him free to work on mapping out the engineering problems that must be solved.

Yesterday information was received in Vancouver that the first gang of workmen to begin on the Columbia river bridge will arrive in Vancouver the latter part of the present week. This could not be confirmed.

A. Beamer, division superintendent of the Northern Pacific at Spokane, and who bears the reputation of being one of the strong men of the operating department of that company, with experience in construction affairs, was among the officials who visited Vancouver yesterday.

HEALTHY INCREASE.

County Schools Have Nearly 1,000 More Pupils Than Last Year.

County Supt. of Schools Smith has received reports from nearly all of the schools of the county showing the total enrollment on the opening day to be 6,211 pupils, as against 5,242 for the opening day last year, a gain this year of 969. A few of the schools have not sent in their reports yet, but their enrollment was estimated by Supt. Smith at a very conservative figure. The enrollment is divided among the districts as follows: Granite district, 2,755; Jordan district, 2,630; Murray district, 826.

From the reports received it is evident that the new ninth grade, or high school course, which was added this year, will be very successful as the enrollment in that grade is indeed gratifying to the school officials. In the Bingham district alone 14 pupils have enrolled in the ninth grade. The eighth grade classes have been consolidated this year, so that there are about 10 schools in which that grade is taught. The smallest eighth grade class has 34 pupils.

Supt. Smith is in need of four experienced teachers for the county schools at salaries ranging from $50 to $75 per month.

THE WAGES OF SIN.

Lena Williams Ends Her Life in a Commercial Street Resort.

Lena Williams, a woman of the town who conducted a resort at 50 Commercial street, ended her unhappy life yesterday by taking morphine.

"My troubles are more than I can stand, for this life is worse than hell itself." Thus she wrote before taking the poison.

The body was not discovered until yesterday afternoon when the police and Justice Dana T. Smith were notified. The body was removed to Evans' undertaking parlors. No inquest will be held as one is not deemed necessary.

The unfortunate woman had been married and was the mother of two children, a girl 9 years of age and a boy of 11 years. The children live with the dead woman's mother, who is a widow. The Williams' woman had a hard struggle to support her children and her mother, and finally sank into a life of shame in order to get money for the support of those dependent upon her. She got heavily in debt during the last few months and saw no way out of it except the sleep of death.

Definite arrangements for the funeral have not been made as yet.

COCHRANE UNDER ARREST.

Former Salt Lake Newspaper Reporter Is Jailed at Butte.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 12.—Robert Cochrane, formerly a newspaper man of Salt Lake, was arrested here tonight, charged with passing spurious checks at a well known resort in the red-light district. Cochrane said his name was Cowan when taken to the station, but afterwards admitted his identity and confessed that a warrant had recently been issued for his arrest at Salt Lake on a charge of forgery. He arrived here several days ago and applied at several newspaper offices for employment.

This is the fellow who was associated with "Dick" Richards in the publication of "The Sporting World." After the first issue Cochrane collected nearly all the money coming, forged several names for various amounts, borrowed all he could get, then deserted his young wife and skipped for Butte.

PE-RU-NA FOR THE CHILDREN.

BLANCHE KING

Cramps, Colic, Summer Complaint, Cholera Infantum, Are All Phases of Summer Catarrh.

Pe-ru-na, a Family Remedy For Eight Years.

Mrs. Mattie King, 1827 Polk street, San Francisco, Cal., writes:

"I have used Peruna myself and in my family for the past eight years and it has proven itself to be a most decided household blessing.

One Dose Cures Cramps and Pains.

"I find it of special value for my little daughter, as one dose cures cramps and pains, and colds are soon driven from the system.

"I consider it of special value in keeping the body in such healthy condition that it throws off disease, thus saving doctor bills and the annoyances incident to sickness in the home."

Stomach Disorders of Children.

The colic, cramps, pains and stomach disorders of children are a few of the symptoms of summer catarrh.

Children are more subject to this phase of catarrh than grown people.

Peruna is a reliable remedy in all such cases. Hence its popularity.

The majority of cases of cholera infantum are a direct result of a catarrhal derangement of the stomach and bowels.

Keep the stomach and bowels free from catarrh and the children are in no danger of having any of the summer diseases so common in this country.

HOWARD R FELLER

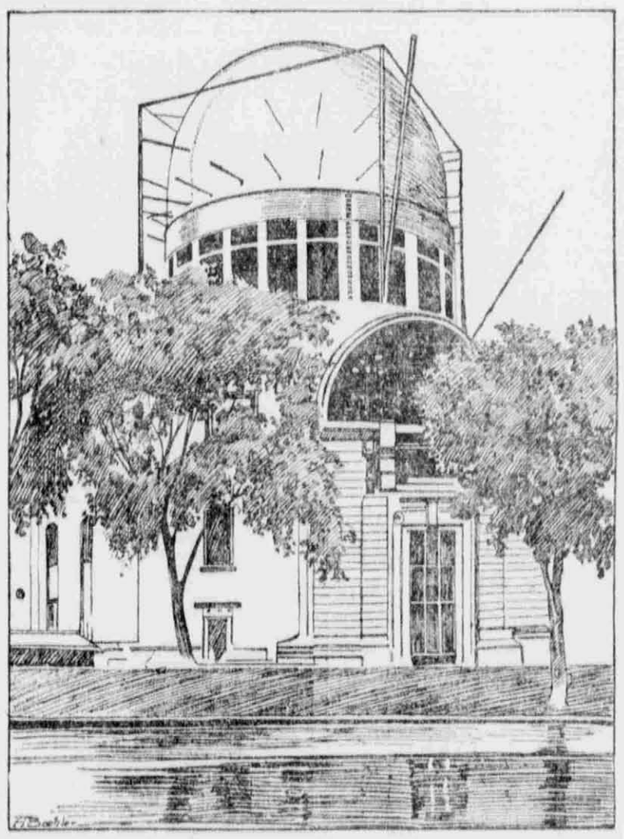
Pe-ru-na, the Family Doctor.

Mr. William F. Feller, 322½ E. Burnside street, Portland, Ore., writes: "Our son, Howard, caught cold and suffered with catarrh of the nose, had a very bad breath and frequent colic and stomach disorders, but a few doses of Peruna cured him.

A Few Doses of Pe-ru-na Cured Him.

"We never have a doctor any more and no other medicine than Peruna."

LAST RESTING PLACE OF ADMIRAL JOHN PAUL JONES.



The incomplete structure shown in the cut is the magnificent new chapel at the Annapolis Naval academy. It is the central figure of the reconstructed Naval academy group of buildings ordered recently by congress at a cost of several millions of dollars. It rises superbly from the water front and has a massive dome for its chief attraction, very much resembling that of the Hotel d'Invalides, at Paris, in which rest the remains of Napoleon. The crypt of the chapel is intended by the government as a final resting place of the nation's naval heroes. The body of Admiral John Paul Jones was placed in this crypt with appropriate ceremonies on its arrival in America.

EQUESTRIAN STATUE OF GENERAL JOHN B. GORDON.

The Gorden Memorial association of Atlanta, Ga., has commissioned Solon H. Borglum, a New York sculptor, to make the fine equestrian statue shown in the cut. It will be larger than life size and will be paid for by popular subscriptions of Confederate veterans. It is to be placed on a hill facing the capitol at Atlanta and will cost $25,000. The statue is to be of bronze, and it will require about two years for completion.

JAPANESE HOBNOBBING WITH RUSSIAN PRISONERS.

The picture is a forceful illustration of the truth of the old saying, "One touch of nature makes the whole world kin." The scene is within the lines of the Japanese army in Manchuria. Some recently captured Russian prisoners are being entertained in the most fraternal and unreserved manner by their Japanese guards, who seem to be doing their best to make them forget that they are captives. The humaneness shown by the Japanese in countless instances is one of the surprises of this surprising war. All the ancient theories of oriental cruelty and double dealing have suffered an almost total extinction, at least as far as the Japanese are concerned.
