CRUSHED BY ROCK.

An Accident Resulting in the Loss of Many Lives.

SIXTEEN KILLED BY A CAVE-IN.

The Work of Rescue Interrupted by Darkness—Bodies Terribly Disfigured.

TACOMA, N. Y., Nov. 29.—An accident resulting in the loss of thirteen or fourteen lives occurred at the Tillicum Point mines a little after 3 o'clock this afternoon. Foreman Patrick was descending into the pit to take the time of the gang of laborers, numbering about thirty-five men, who were working at the bottom, when a vast weight of earth and rock slid with the force of an avalanche from the mouth of the pit to the bottom, a distance of 300 feet, and crushed over the men with resistless force. Out of the gang of men, only five came out alive, and one of the men employed in another gang were taken out dead.

Among those known to be dead are Michael Gleason (foreman); Patrick H. Rollin, Sherman; John Eagan, bridgeman; Thomas Dennis; James Smith; an Austrian, name unknown. An Italian, whose name is unknown, received a fracture of the skull, also will probably die.

The names of the others killed are at present unknown. Several of the workmen were severely injured.

The force to extend the greatest exertions, and gangs of men were soon at work to remove the bodies of those under the mass of earth. Superintendent Tompkins and Foreman Bryant took charge of the work, and up to a whole five dead bodies had been brought to the surface. Martin was taken out alive, but he died five minutes after he was taken from the hole.

Darkness prevented the continuance of the work of rescue, and it will not be until tomorrow that further efforts will be made to clear away the ruins. It is thought all the others in the pit are Italians and Austrians.

There was some difficulty experienced in identifying several of the bodies, owing to the terrible disfigurement they had undergone.

SECRETARY LAMONT'S REPORT.

Suggestions for the Betterment of the Military Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Secretary of War Daniel S. Lamont, in his annual report, just submitted to the President, makes many valuable suggestions for the betterment of the service, and, speaking of the coast defenses, lays particular stress upon the success with which Congress's desires in that regard are being executed.

The expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, have been $62,678,776. The appropriation for the year ending June 30, 1896, was $45,405,517, and the estimates for the following year are placed at $51,945,649.

The reports of the officers in command of the several geographical departments show that the year has been tranquil and undisturbed by Indian outbreaks, domestic violence or troubles on the border. Steady and general effort to improve the service has caught the troops throughout more in a highly satisfactory condition as to discipline, efficiency in military exercises and soldierly, patriotic spirit. Insubordination is better, and clothed and housed than ever before, and the policy seriously pursued of promoting the personal comfort of the officers and men has resulted in a devotion to the service which is everywhere apparent. It can be said with confidence that never in its history has the present condition of the army been surpassed.

The number of enlisted men present on October 31st was 25,988. Excluding those on the sick list, etc., the effective list is placed at 25,264 of all arms.

Changes established in the method of recruiting during the past two years have considerably reduced the cost of that service, while perceptibly increasing the efficient strength of the army.

As the most essential need of our army today is the adoption of three-battalion formation. The reason for this change, and a way to effect it, were given in the report of the department for 1894. Secretary Lamont goes on to a considerable length to discuss these lines, and says: "The formation noted admits of rapid and great expansion to meet the exigencies of actual warfare, and is especially adaptable to the small force constituting the peace establishment of the United States. Resolving the effect of these changes into money, it appears that for pay, rations and clothing of the increased number of enlisted men required, an increase of $1,294,000 in annual appropriations will be required.

Coming down to the question of seacoast defenses, Secretary Lamont makes mention of the appropriations made therefor by Congress, and continues:

"The original plan contemplated an expenditure of $27,782,800 by the end of the present year. The actual expenditures and appropriations for armament and emplacements, have, however, been but $10,031,000. The average annual appropriations for these objects have been less than $1,500,000. The work has therefore been completed at about one-seventh the rate proposed.

"If future appropriations for the manufacture of guns, mortars and carriages, be no larger than the average indicated for this purpose since 1890, it will require twenty-two years more to supply the armament of the eighteen coast ports for which congress has thus far appropriated.

"If the appropriations for the engineer work are to continue at the rate of the annual appropriations since 1890, it will require seventy years to complete the emplacements and platforms for the armament for in ports related to.

"To cope with Congress to determine the appropriations the period which would elapse before our coasts shall be put in a satisfactory condition of defense. The amount required for the fifteen ports is about $62,000,000, and the entire work can be completed within a few years.

"The distribution of duty and responsibility under existing laws, whereby authority to formulate plans and execute operations is lodged with separate and distinct bureaus, as well as in a board established by statute, all without any harmonizing or central supervision, is, in my judgment, a mistake that should be speedily corrected. To that end I recommend the appointment of a board of officers of the army, to be selected by the President, without restriction as to rank or corps, and without extra pay or emolument, subject to confirmation by the Senate, if that be deemed wise, who should be relieved of all other service and charged solely with the task of directing and supervising the work in its entirety."

Secretary Lamont tells in detail of the work being done at the different Arsenals and refers to many general subjects, several tables of statistics being given.

It is earnestly recommended that Congress authorize the marking of remaining important battlefields in the manner adopted at Antietam, which can be completed in a few years at a moderate cost, while the project of more national military parks at thousands of acres, bought by the government, involves the expenditure of millions of dollars and an indefinite lapse of time before completion.

WHISKY FROM BEETS.

Peculiar Violation of the Revenue Laws in Nebraska.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 29.—The vast yield of sugar beets in Nebraska and the inability of the farmers to dispose of the enormous quantity as rapidly as movement has been some peculiar violations of the revenue laws. A still has been captured in Sherman county, from which whisky was being manufactured from beets. It was owned by Charles Heisel, a farmer. The quality was good, and tests are entertained by revenue officers that others will escape in the business.

Sherman county is one of the twenty-four in the fifth division of the state over which Deputy Eastham has supervision. He became aware some months ago that such a still was in operation in that county, from tenderfeet there by men in that neighborhood. He became very anxious to locate it, but was handicapped from the start by the fact that those who knew anything about it were inclines to shield the operator and protect him from the officers. After some time he was informed that the information that the operator used sugar beets from which to manufacture the spirits. Eastham then made inquiries as to who raised sugar beets, and in this way formed a very good idea. Heisel claimed to have had the property for fifteen years, but had only been manufacturing spirits for a year, and then only for his own use. There was sufficient evidence on all sides, however, to disprove both of these statements. The outfit was all made of copper, of approved pattern, and was in good condition. The still had a capacity of fifty gallons a day. An old cook-stove and a vacated old house completed the establishment. Heisel had hidden the various portions of his still, and was slow in surrendering them until he was threatened with the law.

Cullom is Not a Candidate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—United States Senator Cullom of Illinois was in the city today. He said he came to the city on private business. "I am not here in the interest of any presidential boom, nor even my own. Some people out my way have been kind enough to mention my name for the presidency; I wish to state that I am not a candidate, and that goes for its face value."

ILLIBUSTERING EXPEDITION.

Officers of a Danish Steamer Arrested and Placed Under Bonds.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—Captain Wiberg of the Danish steamer Horne, the suspected Cuban filibuster, his chief mate, Jens P. Pedersen, and second mate, A. J. Johansen, were held in $1,000 bail each today by United States Commissioner Bell. Half a dozen witnesses, all of whom had been on the vessel during the voyage, swore positively that neither arms or ammunition had been taken aboard after she left this port on November 8th. Then Fireman Anesen swore that thirty-eight cases of ammunition were taken on board and landed later in Cuba. He asserted that all the crew had been offered $25 apiece to keep still tongues. John D. Hart, the agent of the steamer, he said, was to get $12,000 for furnishing the vessel for the expedition.

Taken From Jail and Lynched.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 29.—At 8 o'clock this evening Allen and Ollie McCabey, both negroes, were taken from the jail at Fayetteville by a mob composed of people from Lincoln and Marshall counties and hanged.

The negroes had been taken from Nashville to Lewisburg, Marshall county, this morning, tried for attempted rape, convicted and sentenced to the full penalty of the law, and a train had been held to take them to Tracey City. En route, at Fayetteville, in the adjoining county, symptoms of the Marshall county mob, at the request of the mob, held up the train and forced a sidetracking of the car containing the sheriff, deputies and prisoners, despite the protests of the leading citizens. The sheriff then placed the prisoners in jail, from which they were taken.

At 7:30 tonight Governor Turney received a telegram from the sheriff calling for troops. One hundred of the state guard were speedily under arms and at the station ready to leave at 9 o'clock. At 8:15 a telephone message was received stating the jail had been stormed and the prisoners lynched. Fayetteville is 136 miles by rail from this city.

THE SULTAN POOR AND INSANE.

Enormous Expenses Must Necessitate Less Support Him on the Throne.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 29. — The unyielding attitude of the sultan on the question of the extra guardships is commented upon by the members of the diplomatic corps here, especially as the powers are asking only for the rights to which they are entitled under the treaties with Turkey. They hold that an increase in the number of guardships is absolutely indispensable, as the danger to foreigners has not by any means passed, as the Turkish government would try to make the powers believe. It is believed that steps have been taken to give protection to foreigners, but the constant receipt of news telling of fresh massacres in Christians causes the utmost uneasiness, not only among the foreigners here, but among the Mussulmans, who are naturally excited by such events and whose hostilities is being stimulated by reports secretly circulated, probably at the instance of the palace officers of the sultan, that the powers are desirous of making a naval demonstration in these waters, and so insulting the sultan by ignoring his authority and assuming to look with contempt upon his efforts to maintain order. It will be thus seen that the Mussulmans may be stirred to make a demonstration when the extra warships enter the Bosphorus. In order to avoid this the extra guardships will come in singly and at intervals, if necessary.

The ambassadors hold that further humiliation to the empire of the palace would be a serious mistake upon the part of the powers, and as the dispatch is sent they are anxiously awaiting final instructions from their governments to proceed to reinforce the foreign warships here without the sultan's consent, which would mean that foreign fleets would be called upon to escort the extra gunboats through the straits of the Dardanelles, even if a bombardment of the forts should be necessary.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The Chronicle's Constantinople correspondent says: Palace friends report that the sultan is drinking heavily during the past few days, which does not tend to improve his mental condition.

The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says an acute financial crisis has arisen in Turkey owing to the paralysis of trade, industry and husbandry and to the outlawry caused by the mobilization of troops, and the sources of income are so completely exhausted that an issue of paper currency is under discussion.

CRIPPLE CREEK BOOM.

Warning Against Mining Swindling by H. V. Denniston.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—D. V. Denniston, secretary of the Colorado Springs mining exchange, is in New York and has his headquarters at Kennett & Hopkin's office. Mr. Denniston said in an interview:

"The boom in Cripple Creek properties is finding some semblance of doubtful value. We want to put people on their guard against mining swindles and at the same time to point out properties which have value of legitimately good prospects. Perhaps the best evidence of the permanent stability of the camp is afforded by the fact that another railroad from Colorado Springs to Cripple Creek is projected and stands a chance of being built. All experience has gone to show improvement in the mines as depth was obtained and also that the ore territory is much larger than first estimates indicated.

"The output of the district for November will be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000."

At a recent mass meeting held in the Mineral building Mr. H. B. Pattibrook, a lawyer in the Mills building, was asked to occupy the chair. Mr. Pattibrook said in an interview:

"It is true that a movement is being made by several gentlemen to establish a mining exchange in this city. If such an exchange is established it will be on a solid business basis and only mining stocks of the very highest classes will be listed."

"Have the projectors any idea of being Raffles?"

"I think they are sifted and are first class perhaps they may be listed."

Defaulter Gives Up the Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—John W. Finch, the defaulting cashier of the Donohoe-Kelly bank, has given up the fight and will serve his sentence of seven years in prison. Accordingly his appeal for a new trial has been withdrawn from the supreme court. Fined misappropriated $140,000 of the funds of the bank of which he was cashier and has been fighting for his freedom for four years. He is convinced that even if he escapes punishment for the crime for which he was convicted that he would be prosecuted on other charges.

Funeral of Aucram Livingstone.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The funeral occurred today at Cheverack, N. Y., of Aucram Livingstone, grandson of the late Governor Van Ness, and at one time reputed to be one of the richest men in New York state. He was 71 years old. Livingstone was the son of Henry Livingstone, once a prominent New Yorker. He was born in the Livingstone mansion at Cheverack. He was named after a coal mine owned by his ancestors. Aucram's father died when the former was but 23 years old. The young man seemed to care little for the enormous wealth he controlled.
