All of the above propositions were referred to appropriate committees.

OFFICERS' SALARIES.

On motion of Farrer of Salt Lake the question of the salaries of officers of the Convention when salaries are not specified by law, was referred to the committee on accounts and expenses.

TO SAFELY KEEP PAPERS.

Roberts of Davis moved that the committee on accounts and expenses be instructed to provide drawers, lockers or some other conliivance to be placed in or under the desks for the preservation of books and papers of members. Adopted.

A CHIEF COMMITTEE CLERK.

Roberts of Salt Lake moved to employ a chief committee clerk whose duty it shall be to take from committee reports from chairmen and propositions from members in chairmans and transcribe the same into language fit to expedite business and make reading easier for the chief secretary. Carried.

TWO LADIES EMPLOYED.

Miss Betty McMasters and Miss Hesketh Clark were employed after a parliamentary, or rather unparliamentary wrangle lasting fully an hour.

An amendment was then taken up and which was afterwards.

TODAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Spirits Confused By a Very Interesting Record—Rules for the Government of the Convention.

Promptly at two o'clock this afternoon President Smith called the convention to order and the Right Reverend Leonard of the Episcopal church offered prayer. Bell had viewed Stonegate in attendance.

ADDITIONS TO THE MINUTES.

Twenty minutes were consumed in reading the record of the previous session of almost as many more in adopting the minutes. The reason was due to the fact that the public printer had mistakenly followed the copy furnished by Secretary Christensen. The minutes lately printed with reference to committees which do not exist, sentiment sentiment, sentiment and nothing else! which name bear resembling the patronym of the oldest experienced delegate in the convention.

SPECIAL ORDER TAKEN UP.

Taylor called for the special order which was for the consideration of the rules introduced at the first session and adopted for two days. These were read and passed upon, one section at a time.

PHOTOGRAPHER MUST WAIT.

At three o'clock President Smith announced that Mr. Sorenson had arrived, when the delegates had agreed to meet the photographer at the foot of the stairs for the purpose of having a picture taken.

Varian—Let the photographer wait. We cannot adjourn in the midst of a question such as we are now on, to gratify a vain whim. I have yet to be present to the further consideration of the rules. Carried.

TO REPEAT A RULE.

Roberts moved to modify that portion of Rule 3 which provides that "while a question is pending a question of a second is being had, no member shall rise or leave his place; and while a member is speaking no member or other person shall entertain any private discourse or pass between the members speaking and the chair." Into the gentleman said was altogether too troubled and too broke offensive of most of the delegates.

The rule, however, was adopted notwithstanding Mr. Roberts's objection.

STENTORS AND MANACLES.

The rule with reference to newspaper men says the President "shall assign seats to the authorized reporters at the desk, who shall have the right to pass to and fro from such seats in attending and leaving the convention. No reporter shall appear before any of the committees in advocacy of or in opposition to anything under discussion before such committee." (A member of this rule will be sufficient reason for the removal of such reporter. Rule 7 is the choice shall be vested in the President."

PERMANENTLY ADOPTED.

At 4 o'clock about two-thirds of the rules had been passed upon. A few minutes later and all of them, with amendments, had been adopted. The minutes of even time were that the Convention would not adjourn until a late hour this afternoon.

Convention Song Sheet.

The delegates have been urging for a bulletin board for days but they haven't got it yet.

Miss Thatcher has exhibited an astonished amount of energy and activity in committee work.

Hart of Cache has shown himself to be one of the best parliamentarians, if not the very best in the Convention.

Colonel Squires makes an excellent and accommodating clerk of the committee on revenue, public taxation and debt.

Miss Clark, one of the lady stenographers, is a practical and experienced woman stenographer. She used to write in Kansas and Jasper is now in Utah.

The convention permitted itself with a quick relish. The members are now rapidly becoming acquainted and help each of the time consumed by the "fellows on the other side."

Time enough was spent in making two "independent" committee appointments. Measures for the speed rules or convention procedure is not more or slowly employ those persons than it will to pay for their services.

Clerical figures is something more than a good secretary. When such a temporarily chairman of the Convention had evidence he was demonstrated that he was familiar with parliamentary usages. He showed President Smith's level with commendable skill.

Varian will do an immense amount of work before the day of adjournment arrives. Although he has been a prominent member from the commencement, he is often asked by delegates who have very age enough to be his mother, "is your judgment upon of double delicate problems."

The Convention telephone has a slit attachment for long distance talking. Before the machine will operate the proper bills must be dropped into the operation case. Short range (city) talking, however, can be insufficiently managed by the delegates without a slit attachment.

Miss McMasters and Miss Clark are extremely jubilant over their employment as committee clerks by the Convention. Besides the monetary consideration involved they regard it as a good omen for the fair sex whom they believe will receive all the recognition they ask from the Convention.

Miss McMasters looking to the future, has determined to record in a private memorandum book the names of all the delegates who voted against her appointment in order, as she says, to show her lady friends at the first election of equal suffrage in the Territory, that the men who did not—if candidates—should not receive their votes. "Ah, ha," with emphasis accompanying the conclusion, "I'll see that they don't get them, either."

Elders' Labors in Indian Territory.

MAHAKO, I. T.,
March 7, 1895.

Editor Deseret News

The warm and lovely spring is at our door in this land of the Lamanites, and as I thought a few lines regarding the work of the Elders in this part of God's vineyard would be of interest to you, as well as to those who are interested in the work of salvation, I cannot ask a small place in your ever-welcome columns.

The Elders (which I am convinced I believe) are enjoying good health and are preparing for a long and arduous work this coming year. We are enjoying the spirit of our calling, although we are met with opposition at every hand, it only makes us stronger in the cause for which we are laboring, and we, as the servants of the living God, begin to know what trust is spirits, for we feel to say to the ungodly as did Saint, "Forgive them, father, for they know not what they do." We are satisfied that we are touching a division against which our Savior prayed, "Father, they are in the world, and that is an incentive to union, and we are pushing to the front, and expect under the guidance of our Heavenly Father, to overcome all opposition arrayed against us.

The people generally who embrace us, are still give us a chance to reason and to pay something for our hospitality, and wonder at the patience displayed upon us for preaching a principle which is plainly, positive and Scriptural, but, dear sister, we have a great amount to contend with in the shape of tobacco, consuming so largely of our means, which, if wisely employed, may be made to do much more good in the world. Brother Hunter, of Ft. Gibson, and myself are contemplating a trip to the Cherokee Nation, which is about 100 miles from here, and we will be making many friends. But wherever I have had a chance to put my testimony against these slanderous publications I have left a favorable impression, and, I trust, a desire on the part of the people to learn more of our people, which information I am able and willing to give. Knowing, as I do, that they are used against us to further their unprincipled schemes in retarding the work of the people, and to us the servants of God, I love with increased power, and the Church to which I have consecrated my life; I believe with every epitaph of the martyrs, I aspire to every feature of the gospel, and I realize in almost every member of her well-high unexhaustible blessings and the Elders who are out in the different parts of the world should be broad-minded and liberal men, and of a warm, loving and sympathetic nature, always ready to explain in the most simple and interesting manner the principles we are advocating.

Myself and Brother Owen visited the interesting town of Muskogee, which contains about 5,000 inhabitants, where we met with many friends who seemed very much to be pleased that we we could not procure a house, and so the weather is too cold for our tents, so meeting, we contented to defer the present until some future time. I think the Lord is our shepherd, when the Lamanite Elder Elders will have an opportunity of holding meetings in all of the towns located in this territory. All I can do is perseverance and a firm conviction of the divine mission of the Elders, and sustaining with intro in the promises that God has made to His servants in all ages of the world, who are trying to serve Him in spirit and in truth. He (Heavenly) His Gospel must be preached to all nations, and then shall the end come. We are certainly having been divinely called to carry the message of truth and salvation to all parts of the world, should seize the responsibility, and who the position we hold in this great calling, and endeavor to fill the trust reposed in us, not varying or returning a hair's breadth from the line of our duty, though met with opposition, trials and the tribulations which have characterized the work of our fathers of old; for in the words of our history, "Ye have not shown me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that you should go and bring forth fruits, and that your fruit should remain, that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you." With this conviction stamped upon the tablets of our minds and hearts, we shall be able to a good and angel's work, and that God will help us to this end, and asking that we may have the prayers of our friends and a share in the blessings of Thus, I remain, your brother in the Gospel of Christ,

P. H. MAGNUSON.

IMPERFECT VISION

is caused by the length and shape of the eyeball. When the proper dimensions of the eye are accurately established it is easy to prescribe the proper glasses.

But by the methods commonly in vogue, glasses are fitted by the guesses, trying successive glasses until the patient selects a combination which he thinks improves his vision. This is a process which, on the part of both, leaves given under such conditions rarely give perfect satisfaction, owing to the eye becoming easily confused when being tested.

By Dr. Shoemaker's original methods on accurate measurement of irregularities of the cornea, and of length of the eyeball, is taken by scientific instruments, which record results that do not vary a fraction of an inch. One instrument moves another, thus making a mistake absolutely impossible.

He has fitted many hundreds and given universal satisfaction.

Every pair of glasses are especially ground to the peculiarities of each case, and guaranteed.

As all examinations are free it will cost you nothing to find out whether your vision can be benefited or not.

HE DOES NOT TREAT DISEASES OF THE EYE.

My views had been considerably increased in the glasses I got Dr. Shoemaker procured. Though quite yet young I can read clearer and more distant than ever. Thanks for what work they are worth.

GEORGE SAYNISH,
Secretary of the Presidency, Mormon Church.

I never knew glasses before that have given me such perfect satisfaction, owing to their being so well adapted to my eyes.

THOMAS MCINTYRE,
Assistant Superintendent C. C. R. R.

I can say very good by the professional interest I received in selecting the proper of Dr. Shoemaker, and will gladly refer to the dealer, customer or anybody I have yet attended.

JOHN MCGOWAN.

I have been wearing glasses for 25 years and have consulted many eye specialists and yet never saw my sight improved. But since I have had my eyes fitted by Dr. Shoemaker I can read fine print at a distance I could not before. I cheerfully recommend any one who has lost the power of their eyes, pain, weakness, and distorted vision, if adjusted by Dr. Shoemaker, to make their visit.

C. S. RYWATER,
Supt. Southern Utah Lake Theatre.

WHAT THE C. C. HEARD.

The Cathedral in Salt Lake, Bishop of the Episcopal church, called for the doctor's night.

Four weeks ago I could not read one inch, then I by the aid of Dr. Shoemaker. Now I can read fine print at a distance I could not before. I cheerfully recommend the doctor.
