MONEY AND TARIFF.

The Comparative Planks in the Democratic and Republican Platforms.

The tariff and money planks in the Republican national platform, adopted at St. Louis, are as follows:

THE TARIFF.

We renew and emphasize our allegiance to the policy of protection as the bulwark of an American industrial independence and the foundation of American development and prosperity. This true American policy lessens foreign products and encourages home industry and it puts the burden of revenue on foreign goods; it secures the American market for the American producer; it upholds the American standard of wages for the American workingman; it puts the factory at the side of the farm and makes the American farmer less dependent on foreign demand and price; it diffuses general thrift, and founds the strength of all on the strength of each. In its reasonable application it is just, fair and impartial, equally opposed to foreign control and domestic monopoly, to sectional discrimination and individual favoritism.

We denounce the present Democratic tariff as sectional, injurious to the public credit and destructive to business enterprise. We demand such an equitable tariff on foreign imports which come into competition with American products as will not only furnish adequate revenue for the necessary expenses of the government but will protect American labor from degradation to the wage level of foreign lands. We are not pledged to any particular schedules. The question of rates is a practical question, to be governed by the conditions of the time and of production; the ruling and accompanying purpose is the protection and development of American labor and industry. The country demands a slight settlement and then it wants rest.

We believe the repeal of the reciprocity arrangements negotiated by the last Republican administration was a national calamity and we demand their renewal and extension on such terms as will equalize our trade with other nations, secure the reciprocity which now obtains the sale of American products in the ports of other countries and secure enlarged markets for the products of our farms, forests and factories.

Protection and reciprocity are twin measures of Republican policy and go hand in hand. Democratic rule has recklessly struck down both and both must be re-established. Protection for what we produce; free admission for the necessaries of life which we do not produce; reciprocal agreements of mutual interest which gain open markets in return for our open markets to others. Protection builds up domestic industry and trade, and secures our own market for ourselves; reciprocity builds up foreign trade and finds an outlet for our surplus.

We condemn the present administration for not keeping faith with the sugar producers of this country. The Republican party favors such reciprocal treaties as will lead to the production on American soil of all the sugar which the American people use and for which they pay other countries more than $100,000,000 annually.

To all our products—to those of the mine and field as well as those of the shop and the factory—to hemp, to wool, the product of the great industry of sheep husbandry as well as to the finished woolens of the mill—we promise the most ample protection.

We favor recasting the early American policy of discriminating duties for the upbuilding of our merchant marine and the protection of our shipping interests in the foreign carrying trade to American ships—the product of American labor, supplied in American ship yards, sailing under the Stars and Stripes, and manned, officered and owned by Americans—may regain the carrying of our foreign commerce.

SILVER.

The Republican party is unreservedly for sound money. It insists that the enactment of the law providing for the resumption of specie payments in 1879, since then every dollar has been as good as gold. We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country. We are therefore, opposed to the free coinage of silver except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, which we pledge ourselves to promote, and until such an agreement can be obtained, the existing gold standard must be preserved. All our silver and paper currency must be maintained at parity with gold, and we favor all measures designed to maintain inviolably the obligations of the United States and all our money, whether coin or paper, at the present standard, the standard of the most enlightened nations of the earth.

In the Democratic national platform adopted at Chicago the following financial and tariff planks are incorporated:

FINANCE.

Recognizing that the money question is paramount to all others at this time, we invite attention to the fact that the Federal Constitution names silver and gold together as the standard metals of the United States, and that the first coinage law passed by Congress under the Constitution made the silver dollar the standard unit and admitted gold to free coinage at a ratio based upon the silver dollar unit. We declare that the act of 1873 demonetizing silver without the knowledge or approval of the American people has resulted in the appreciation of gold and a corresponding fall in the price of commodities produced by the people, a heavy increase in the burden of taxation and of all debts, public and private, the enrichment of the money lending class, the impoverishment of the producing classes. We demand the restoration of industry by legislation that will restore to the people the money of the Constitution, which has always been the money of the people and by which industry was prosperous and the country was free. We demand that the standard silver dollar shall be full legal tender equally with gold for all debts, public and private, and we favor such legislation as will prevent for the future the demonetization of any kind of legal tender money by private contract.

We are opposed to the policy and practice of contracting in the bonds of the people of the United States the debts created by law to the government of interesting gold obligations in silver or in coin only. We are opposed to the issue of interest-bearing bonds of the United States in the time of peace and condemn the inflation with banking securities which is extending the bonds at an enormous profit to themselves, equal in present income, with gold as collateral, for notes payable in gold on demand. We are opposed to the issue of gold bonds under the act of January, 1894, and President Jackson declared that this power could not be exercised in time of peace without dishonor. We therefore, condemn the issuance of bonds as money lenders without issue as in duplicate I. B. C. and denounce the contract made with the syndicate which is more legal tender for public and private debts, if, when it receives, for its loan to the United States gold coin at the rate of $20 per ounce, the United States and then redeems in coin.

TARIFF.

We hold that the tariff duties should be levied for purpose of raising revenue, duties to be so adjusted as to operate equally throughout the country, and not discriminate between classes or sections, and that taxes should be levied by the boards of government merely and economically administered. We find within a decade of years, that the Republicans, claiming to believe the Republican theory to relate the McKinley law, which has been twice condemned by the people in national contests, and which, enacted under the false pretense of protection to home industry, proved a gigantic traveler of trusts and monopolies, enriched the few at the expense of the many, paralyzed industry, and gave the producers of the great American staples of access to their natural markets.

Until the tariff question is settled we are opposed to any legislation or further changes in our tariff laws except such as are necessary to meet the deficit in revenue caused by the adverse decisions of the Supreme Court on the income tax. But for this decision by the Supreme Court there would no deficit in the revenue under the law passed by a Democratic Congress, in strict pursuance of the unalterable declaration of our party for twenty one consecutive years, that such taxes should be levied upon the principle of equitable distribution of the burden of taxation among the people, and that no other form of tax could be constitutionally imposed. We believe that such a tax should be imposed upon the people of the United States as may be needed to pay the ordinary expenses of the government economically administered, and that the money required for such purpose should be raised by a tax upon incomes.

We believe that the revenue so raised should be kept sacredly for the payment of the expenses of the government and not squandered in the payment of pensions, which have been increased by the present Congress to an amount equal to the entire revenue of the government when Democratic hands took it in charge. We believe that such a system of taxation would be in harmony with the spirit of our institutions, and we believe that it would be productive of more good than any other form of taxation that could be devised.

We believe that the money question is settled. We are opposed to any legislation or further changes in our tariff laws except such as are necessary to meet the deficit in revenue caused by the adverse decisions of the Supreme Court on the income tax.
