Narrowing Down the Income Tax System.

CONFLICTING STRIKE REPORTS.

Secretary Herbert of the Navy Makes His Annual Report.—Other Telegraphic Items.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—It has been definitely determined that the income tax system to be reported by the ways and means committee will be confined to a tax on the net incomes of all corporations and on successions and legacies.

Bryan, McMillin, Whiting and others made a strong fight for a plan broad enough to exclude all incomes of individuals in excess of $5000, but have been forced to acquiesce in the will of the majority and abandon the graduated income tax to level of one applying only to corporations and successions. It can be confidently announced that the tax system will be narrowed down to these specific limits unless the recommendations of the committee are upset in the House. The tax on successions and legacies applies only to personality and monies. The Democratic committee has also decided to increase the rates radically on cigarettes and impose a tax on playing cards. Both these points have been definitely decided. The internal revenue tax on whisky is still an open question. The committee is maintaining a studious reticence on this subject for fear of manipulations on the stock exchange.

Trouble Brewing at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 30.—The situation at the mines of the Pittsburg & Chicago Coal Gas company, at Sharpsburg and Guinsville, is critical. All the mines of the district are closed on account of the refusal of the men to accept 12 cents per ton reduction.

Yesterday the Pittsburg & Chicago Coal Gas company will make an effort to start with non-union miners. The strikers appear determined not to allow the mines to resume unless at their terms.

An appeal to the sheriff of Allegheny and Washington counties from the operators resulted in the dispatching of fourteen deputies to the scene. At a late hour tonight it is reported that hundreds of strikers are assembled at Finleyville, and on the way to the troubled district.

Habeas corpus proceedings will be begun tomorrow and the real facts in the case will probably be brought out.

BUFFALO, Nov. 30.—F. P. Sargent, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, arrived today and attended a meeting of the strikers. He declared that the Lehigh men would win the struggle, but declined to say if the men of other roads would be called out to assist. He is in course persistence with other leaders in Philadelphia. The men are as firm as ever, but the Lehigh officials say they are running trains as usual.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Nov. 30.—A disorderly crowd assembled at the Lehigh freight yards this afternoon. The police arrested a partially intoxicated man who tried to pull a conductor off a freight train. Powderly Gone Home.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—General master workman, Powderly, of the Knights of Labor arrived tonight. Powderly declined to say anything further than that he would assume his duties at once, as he has been instructed so to do and as the laws of the order require.

Powderly did not wait to meet him, but left for home to Scranton this afternoon.

Partial Naval Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The annual report of Secretary of the Navy Herbert shows that the United States ranks seventh as a naval power.

Surveying the whole field we find much to be proud of in the knowledge that we can furnish the material for our bold modern ships of war as quickly and without any doubt as well as any country in the world. I feel confident that some of our ship yards rival the best in Europe.

If we experiment in the future let us have naval strength enough to command the peace and be in condition to "enforce the terms dictated by decrees of right and justice?" It is not to be more battle ships and coal build a reasonable number of torpedo boats.

For the defense of ports, torpedo boats are perhaps more effective according to cost than any other class of vessels. The knowledge of their existence alone will make an enemy stay about approaching within tenable distance. The value of the boat is recognized by all naval powers, and they are being built around in great numbers. Their usefulness was emphasized last summer during English naval maneuvers under war conditions where service operations with torpedoes boats were used. In these maneuvers one of the contending squadrons was without these boats, but was furnished with battle-ships and a number of fast cruisers and gun vessels; the other had twenty-four torpedo boats stationed at six of the ports to be defended.

During the progress of the maneuvers (seven days) frequent attacks were made by these boats in groups, and the official decisions of the umpires declared that they had destroyed one battle ship and six cruisers. The vessels decided to have been destroyed were actually struck by torpedoes with dummy heads and no other claims were allowed. During this period eighteen torpedo boats were decided to have been destroyed by the enemy.

With the increase of ships I have outlined, our navy will still be one for defense rather than offense. We would, however, with this policy enforced, have our ports adequately protected and at the same time have sufficient power on the high seas and in foreign ports to maintain the rights and interests of our people, and to uphold the honor and dignity of our flag among the nations of the earth, without unduly burdening our people or entering into any rivalry with those great nations maintained by nations who believe their existence depends on their naval strength.

The Sultan's hand first to be touched, which was to have struck the cap, was by this time seriously weakened, and the box was opened without danger. The sending of the infernal machines to the emperor and chancellor is believed to be the work of anarchists, who were aware the boxes would not leave the people to whom they were addressed, and who were indifferent as to who was killed, provided they caused a scare in official circles.

Tells an Interesting Story—Fifteen Years of Suffering, His Relief Was Found at Last—Words of Public Great for Relief.

A score of years ago I was troubled with a lame back and kidney complaint to such an extent that I was obliged to stop work. I was under the care of several physicians during the time I was in Salt Lake City, but I received no benefit from their treatment. I was finally induced to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I am glad to say they cured me in a very short time. I have had no return of the trouble since, and I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to any person suffering from a disorder of the kidneys.
