

VICTIM OF DRINK FORFEITS FUTURE

Woman, Once Well Known in Social and Business Circles, Under Arrest.

WAS FOUND IN A LOW DIVE

At Time of Her Arrest She Was With Notorious Police Court Character And May Face Serious Charge.

Well provided with this world's goods five years ago, honored and respected in business and social circles and with apparently a bright future before her, Mrs. D. L. Miller is today shunned by society, and outcast, sunk almost to the lowest depths of depravity and in jail.

The unfortunate woman, in company with Bill Gitten, a petty thief and drunkard, was arrested this morning by Patrolman Carey at a west side dive called a saloon. The pair are now simply booked for drunkenness, but it is not at all improbable that they will be charged with a more serious offense.

A few days ago the Miller woman was arrested for drunkenness but the case was continued until Monday afternoon. She was released on her own recognizance and ordered by Judge Diehl to appear yesterday afternoon for trial. When her name was called she failed to respond and Judge Diehl dismissed the case, hoping that by giving the woman "just one more chance" she would make an effort to conduct herself more decently. Now she is in jail again.

HAD A FORTUNE.

Several years ago her husband died, it is said by the police, and left her a small fortune. She was engaged for several years in the real estate business and then started a printing plant which proved most successful. At that time Mrs. Miller moved in good circles and had scores of personal and business friends. The printing establishment burned down and that incident seemed to mark the downfall of the woman. She was seen intoxicated on the streets numerous times, but her friends came to her assistance and managed time after time to take care of her. But her repeated offenses had the effect of driving her friends from her until now she has become a common police court character.

While not a handsome woman, Mrs. Miller is educated, formerly dressed well and made a fine appearance. Three or four years ago she began drinking and kept it up until the habit gained the mastery over her and made such inroads upon her mind and body that now she is hardly recognized as a once prosperous and respected business woman. Her friends came to her assistance and did all in their power to save her from the terrible results of such a life until they were forced, for self protection, to cease their efforts in her behalf.

It was said at police headquarters today by an officer who has known Mrs. Miller for several years, that the woman's affair shortly after her place of business was destroyed by fire, was the principal cause of her taking to drink.

According to the story of the officer, Mrs. Miller was engaged to marry a well known business man of this city and she advanced him considerable money for the purpose of investment. The man lost the money and then refused to carry out his promise to marry her. This affair so preyed upon her mind that the woman became despondent, desperate and then careless as to her future.

IN COAL LAND CASES.

W. G. Williams, auditor of the Utah Fuel company; Theron Geddes, a former auditor of the Rio Grande Western and allied companies; Charles Gurley, and a number of women were witnesses in the coal land hearing before S. H. Lewis, master in chancery, this morning. F. H. Maynard, for the government, sought to add to the evidence already secured by the government on coal land affairs. Gurley said he sold the land he took up for $50, but did not know who sent him the money.

MRS. VAN DAM BRINGS SUIT.

Lydia Mary Baker Van Dam, wife of Herbert Van Dam, Jr., has filed suit in the Third district court for divorce from her husband, alleging desertion. Herbert Van Dam recently withdrew an action for divorce from his wife and it was thought the difficulty had been amicably settled, but the wife now comes in with a suit asking for a decree of divorce, custody of their one boy for her mother, a reasonable alimony and costs of suit and attorneys fees. Powers and Marioneaux are the attorneys for Mrs. Van Dam.

SUES FORMER SECRETARY.

The Pioneer Nurseries company has filed suit in the Third district court to recover the sum of $1141.25, alleged to be due and owing from John Watson, formerly secretary of the Nurseries company. The complaint alleges that during the time between December 1, 1902, and Aug. 31, 1905, when Watson was acting as secretary for the company, he collected money to the amount named and has failed to turn the same over to the company, in consequence of which the suit is brought, in which interests and costs are also prayed for by plaintiff.

LYNCH CASE CONTINUED.

The case of the state vs. George W. Lynch, charged with embezzling $3,375 from the Elk Coal company, was called before Judge C. B. Diehl of the criminal division of the city court this morning for a decision on motion to discharge the defendant. Owing to the fact that Judge Diehl had not had time to go over the evidence, however, the case was continued until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

TWO GARFIELD CASES.

Two cases originating at Garfield were heard by Justice P. M. Bishop yesterday. Joe Diana, who was charged with stealing six pieces of lumber from the Utah Copper company's premises at Garfield, pleaded guilty to petit larceny and was fined $10, which he paid.

The other case was that of J. A. Slater, who pleaded guilty to battery upon B. B. Owens, assistant superintendent of the Garfield smelter on May 23. On the date named, Slater, with an unidentified man, met Owens coming out of a barn and set upon him and beat him into insensibility. Slater was fined $25, which he paid.

CRIMINAL COURT.

David Benson, charged with exhibiting a deadly weapon in an angry and threatening manner to one P. W. Adamson, pleaded not guilty in the criminal division of the city court this morning. The case was set for June 23 for hearing, and Benson went back to jail in default of $250 bonds.

W. J. Bradley, arrested several days ago for operating a policy game at 41 Commercial street, pleaded guilty this morning by his counsel, Atty. William Newton, and a stay of judgment was granted until next Monday morning.

JUVENILE GAMBLERS.

Growing Practice of Pitching Pennies Is to Receive Some Attention.

Officials of the juvenile court, are now beginning to take notice of the practice of a number of boys and young men who make a point of congregating in secluded spots behind barns and indulging in the ancient game of pitching pennies. This alleged pastime is reported to be taking a great hold of the youngsters, who are cultivating the gambling spirit, and in its train follow petty thieving. Several complaints are being registered in this connection and organized raids on the boys are due on Sunday, which seems to be the favorite day of the week for this juvenile dissipation.

IN HANDS OF THE SHERIFF.

South Temple Produce Firm Accused Of Queer Business Methods.

The premises of the produce firm of Christensen, Johnson & Bullock, 175 west South Temple street, are in the hands of the sheriff under attachment. It is said the firm's liabilities amount to $5,000, although it has not been in business over six months. The firm, it is claimed, has been selling hay at $3 under the market price, and flour 10 to 20 cents under competitors. Heavy shipments of flour were bought in Cache valley.

It was stated this morning, by responsible parties, and the statement was verified later by the deputy sheriff in charge, that Christensen & Johnson had been paying for goods in checks on banks where they had no funds. As for instance, a check for $1,000 was alleged to have been given to Cache valley flour men for flour, when there was no money to back the check. Also, that a check for $25 was given in payment for rent Monday, and presented at McCord's bank where the check was not honored as there were no funds. The deputy sheriff said the firm had got away with the safe, the horses and wagons, and some of the goods, none of which had at that moment been located by the sheriff. He stated the members of the firm were about town trying to settle things up.

AMUSEMENTS.

Orpheum—The Orpheum management made a somewhat daring venture last night in increasing their prices and introducing a traveling dramatic organization. That the management knew what it was doing, however, was well evidenced before the night was through. One of the cleverest companies and most charming delineations our theater-going folk have witnessed during the season were presented by Katherine Grey and her excellent organization, in Clyde Fitch's society comedy entitled "The Truth." The play, while constructed out of somewhat slender fabric, is full of intense interest, that goes on doubling until the strong dramatic climax is reached. The story revolves about a pretty society wife who has imbibed from a profligate father's habit of telling lies—white lies at first, but lies which soon increase in importance, and threaten to engulf both her happiness and that of her sterling husband. The plot of the play is portrayed by Miss Grey, a handsome woman, a charming actress and an all-round mistress of her profession. She thoroughly captivated her audience last night by her rendition. Very elegantly done, also, was the part of the husband, by Robert Warwick, and his rich voice, commanding presence, and natural methods of acting, were refreshing to see. The character work was in the hands of Miss Ina Hammer as the socially ambitious landlady, and her work was so fine and true to nature that it enticed her to a very high level of art. Equally strong was the delineation of the secondarily father, by Harrison Hunter, a creation which stamped him as an undoubted artist. The lesser roles were happily played by Katherine Emmett as Mrs. Lifford, and Marion Barney as Laura Frazer. The piece was handsomely gowned, and the staging and scenery excellent throughout.

There was a fine audience in attendance, and though the house was not crowded, it was a better turnout than Monday night's bill. Usually drawn at the house, the bill goes up till Friday with a change to "The Doll's House," Saturday afternoon and evening.

Theater—Renewed interest was shown yesterday when the Salt Lake theater box office opened for the Walter Damrosch festival of music, which occurs twice a year. The festival, prominent people secured stalls and several parties were arranged for. Salt Lake's music lovers have evidently awakened to the fact that they are going to hear something new and good. The festival, by one of our greatest musicians.

Grand—"The House of Mystery." The bill at the Grand is the first bit of this week's melodrama of the most startling kind and is one of the most interesting plays that the Earl Browder company has put upon the boards. Last evening's audience was stirred up to a high pitch of excitement, especially in the third act, where a scene depicting the kingdom of the scarlet fire, a veritable devil in embryo, was as lurid as certain chapters of Marie Corelli's "Sorrow of Satan." As usual, the leading roles were in the hands of Mr. Noble, Miss Marke, Mr. Earle and Miss Lorraine, and were sustained in a very clever manner. Mr. Scott also gave a good account of himself. While there was not a large turnout, there was marked appreciation on the part of those present. Thursday evening, there will be a change of bill. "In the Heart of the Storm" finishing out the week.

Lyric—A complete change of bill was inaugurated last night, and the "moving pictures that talk" are among the sensations of the hour.

LATE LOCALS.

Local Bank Clearings—Today's local bank clearings amounted to $982,737.18, as against $1,189,245.25 for the same day last year.

Board of Education Meeting—The committee on buildings and grounds of the city board of education will hold a meeting at 3 o'clock this afternoon, while the regular meeting of the board will take place this evening, at the office of the board in the City and County building.

Approves Council Acts—Mayor Bransford has affixed his signature to all the acts of the city council of last night, including the resolution to appropriate the sum of $2,500 for extra lighting throughout the city on the occasion of the Commercial Travelers' "doings" on June 15, 19 and 20.

Engineer Kelsey Returns—L. C. Kelsey, city engineer, has returned from an extended tour of the east. While absent he attended a convention of all the municipal engineers of the country held at Washington, D. C., and returns full of new ideas for the improvement of the department over which he presides.

University Scholarships—The schools of Salt Lake City are entitled to nine normal scholarships in the University of Utah the coming year, and it is likely that the school authorities will go to the High school graduates for those intending to take the normal course in the university next year to fill out the number to which the city is entitled.

Another Utah Boy Heard From—The prospectus of the George Washington university, college of the political sciences, at Washington, D. C., is forth in its roster of the faculty, the name of Joshua Ruben Clark, Jr., B. S., LL. B., assistant professor of claims. Mr. Clark is a son of J. Reuben Clark, postmaster at Grantsville. He is a graduate of Columbia university for whom his friends predict a promising future.

Judge Armstrong as Umpire—Judge Armstrong is holding a session of the Third district court in Tooele county. The judge, who is an Odd Fellow and, moreover, a devoted baseball "fan," has been prevailed upon, after the adjournment of today's court session, to go up to Ono with the boys and umpire a game of ball between the Odd Fellow teams of Ohphr and Tooele. The Odd Fellows are holding high jinks in general over in Tooele county today.

At L. D. S. U. Summer School—The second week of the summer school of the L. D. S. university commercial department opened with an increased enrollment over last week. The attendance is largely that of the previous year, many students preferring to take advantage of the opportunity for study during the summer months rather than to spend the time in idleness or "recreation." Tenured in banking, bookkeeping, office work, shorthand, typewriting and penmanship are offered, and each department is receiving liberal patronage.

Throw Away Official Billie Clubs To Amuse Themselves at Ball Game

What is predicted to be the greatest baseball struggle in the history of the national game is on at Walker's field this afternoon between the Salt Lake and Ogden policemen. The game was started at 1:30 so there is a chance that five or six innings will be played before it is time for the 11 p.m. shift to go on duty tonight. It is considered that no "ring" will be introduced by either team, but it is extremely doubtful if either side will comply with the articles of agreement. It is understood that the Ogden "cops" have four men belonging to Dad Glinn's Lobsters, which they are to place in the game if they get in a tight pinch. But if this is done it will not take the local sleuths by surprise as they have three professionals engaged to say nothing of charming little Stains, the lightweight of the department—267 pounds stripped—and said to be a one time star under Clark Griffith.

Stains was out all morning, in a automobile, attired in a gaudy costume boosting for the big game. He has a body guard of officers Kast and Betz. Stains, whose girth measurement is something like 97 inches, except during the roller skating season, has a position in the outfield, and it is expected that the opposing players will be so overcome at the sight of his costume they will be unable to hit the ball.

The game means much to the local police because already there is a challenge to play the winning team. Officers Kast and Harris, who have charge of the chain gang, have issued a challenge to play the winning team and will put a nine in the field composed entirely of chain gang members. Of course Kast and Harris will have an advantage inasmuch as they will be armed and the prisoners will not dare to lose.

The Ogden police were greeted at the depot this morning, shortly before noon by a delegation of Salt Lake club owners who went to the station in two patrol wagons and escorted the visiting nine and their suit cases to headquarters.

HENRY MILLER IN TOWN.

Noted Actor Comes on for a Two Days' Rest in Salt Lake.

Henry Miller and his company, who present "The Great Divide" at the theater Thursday evening, are in Salt Lake quietly resting two days in advance of their performance. Mr. Miller, his manager, Walter Collier, and the veteran actors, Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, are at the Knutsford, and most of the remainder of the company are at the Wilson.

Mr. Miller stated to a "News" representative this morning, who found him in his room, that he had cancelled his engagements in two small Colorado towns for the privilege of getting two days' rest in the bracing climate of Salt Lake. He carries his automobile with him wherever he goes, and will spend his leisure time here visiting the points of interest adjacent to the valley. Mr. Miller, however, is a very busy man, even when he is not playing. He receives daily from New York reports of the run of "The Servant in the House," the famous drama which is still being presented by the "Henry Miller Associate Players" at the Savoy theater. Mr. Miller had just received a telegram telling him that in spite of the sweltering weather, the Saturday matinee had counted up $600. The play will run all through the summer in Chicago, when its wonderful New York record is expected to be duplicated. Mr. Miller had also just received a cable message from Miss Margaret Anglin, who touched yesterday at the Fiji islands, on her way to Australia.
