THE SPANIARDS BEATEN.

Account of the Uprising on the Caroline Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—A private letter from the Caroline Islands gives an account of further fighting between the natives and the Spaniards, in which the latter were worsted. Last November, the Spanish governor sent an expedition consisting of three gunboats and one transport against the village of Malalanies. The sailors and troops were landed and after a loss of sixty men made the natives retreat. The Spaniards were reinforced and, six days later, attacked the natives. The latter were behind a barricade and were armed with muskets and two small cannon. The Spaniards were repulsed with a loss of 120 men. It is expected that a general uprising of natives will occur. The governor has dispatched ships to Manilla for troops.

SARAH BERNHARDT.

She Eats a Dinner that Does Not Agree With Her.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Sarah Bernhardt was poisoned last Sunday by eating canned mushrooms for dinner, at the Hoffman House. She was taken ill soon after, and until midnight considerable anxiety was felt as to the result. All yesterday afternoon the actress was confined to her bed with a physician in constant attendance. Last night she appeared at the opening performance "Cleopatra," though still suffering from the effect of the attack. Dr. Gibier said all danger was averted and there was no cause for alarm.

EXCITEMENT IN NICARAGUA.

The Finding of Large Chunks of Gold the Cause of It.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 17.—Frank Yuiltede formerly of New Orleans, now of Greytown, Nicaragua, arrived on the steamship Morgan last night. He said that there was a sensation in Nicaragua at the present success of several gold mines in Princapolka. He saw chunks as large as his finger. He is positive the Aztecs obtained the gold from these mines, especially as stone hatchets and stone basins had been found.

Rains and Floods.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 17.—At 11 this morning both rivers were twenty-six feet and rising at the rate of seven inches an hour. All morning, families have been moving from the houses of the lower part of the Allegheny. Travel on the Pittsburg and Western Railroad in this city has stopped, and many mills along the river have been forced to close. Reports from headwaters show that there are steady rains with the rivers still rising and the lower towns flooded. Bridges are being carried away in every direction and the loss is great.

AT JOHNSTOWN.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 17.—The water receded some during the night but came again within six inches of the highest point, yesterday. All Cambria and the lower part of this city from Windsor Hotel are under water.

THE CHILIAN REVOLUTION.

The Rebel Forces Increasing in Numbers.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—A dispatch from Buenos Ayres announces that the government troops have been defeated at Coquimbo and Guilleta. The insurgent forces are rapidly increasing in numbers and advancing upon the capital Santiago. Only a few towns remain loyal. The destruction of the railways by the insurgents hampers the movements of the government troops. President Balmaceda is well supported in the capital, and is said to be hopeful of being able to repel the rebels. It is feared that the effect of the rebellion will be disastrous to the finances and commerce of the country. During the battle at Tarapaca, 140 miles southeast of Ilo, the mines were set on fire and afterwards flooded to extinguish the flames. The German miners have fled into the interior. The coal deposits at Coronel have been pillaged by the insurgent sailors to obtain coal for the rebel vessels.

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

The mayor of Chicago gets a salary of $7000 a year.

Twenty-nine States have penal enactments against cigarette smoking, but the tobacco trade still flourishes.

The socialists of Germany number 1,400,000, and those of France 1,000,000. They have 101 newspapers, with 600,000 subscribers.

Another revolution is expected soon in Hayti. Legitime is an exile in Jamaica, and Hippolyte is ruler. He holds his place by the aid of the army.

American politicians are said to be taking part in the Canadian elections. It is supposed they are acting in the interest of the Wiman reciprocity scheme.

In the Idaho Senate, the question, What shall constitute a lawful fence? is being considered. The question was raised in the form of an amendment to the fence law.

The United States produced in 1890, 10,307,028 tons of iron, that is 1,250,000 tons more than did England. We are now the greatest iron producing country in the world.

Robert Lind, a mine boss, near Great Falls, Montana, was killed on the 16th inst., by the caving in of a tunnel. Thomas Fox, a track foreman, was killed near Helena, Montana, on the 16th inst., by a Montana Central snow plow.

William Freed, aged 63, died at Glenn's Ferry, Idaho, on the 15th inst. The man suffered intense agony before death. His daughter states that on the 13th inst. he tried to drink a dose of strychnine but she prevented. On the same day he drank soup and was taken sick an hour after. Foul play is suspected.

In a prohibition town in Kansas, a number of persons were found almost habitually intoxicated. It was seen that these persons after an interview with a wooden legged man in the town, smelled of alcohol stronger than usual. The wooden leg was examined and found to be hollow inside, but filled with whisky.

After Congress adjourns President Harrison, Secretary Tracy, Secretary Proctor and others will make a trip to the Pacific Coast. They will visit San Diego, where a site for a military post will be selected, and also Puget Sound, where a dry dock will be constructed. The matter of sea coast defences on the Pacific will be considered.

News from Germany is alarming. Bismarck is threatened with a State prosecution. He is much too garrulous to suit the young Emperor. Caprivi, the Minister, says Bismarck must be moved where his utterances cannot tend to destroy Germany. Russia is interfering in German internal politics. Trouble will soon follow.

The Prince of Wales is likely to have a gambling escapade of his made a subject of parliamentary inquiry. Gladstone, however, will help the Prince. Both entertain a high esteem for each other. The Prince is a field marshal, and holds a colonelcy in several regiments. He will be tried for gambling for money contrary to the army regulations.

Jay Gould's new railroad scheme will embrace $500,000,000 worth of railroad property. In a word it comprises railroad property from the lakes to Mexico City. The railroad mileage of the United States is 151,000 miles. Gould will control and own fully one-fifth of the total. The Santa Fe is included in his new deal, and possibly the Rio Grande Western. Look out for cyclones now.

Sir Edwin Arnold's new poem "The Light of the World" is finished. He has already placed copies of it in the newspaper offices. It is a companion poem to his "Light of Asia." In that, he told the story of Buddhism, in this he tells the story of Christianity. Pontius Pilate is made to play an important part in this poem. On his way from Jerusalem to Rome, he stays one night in Mary Magdalene's home on Lake Galilee, and is stricken with remorse.

In the Idaho Legislature Gray, Branstetter and White opposed the section of the new Election bill which disfranchises "Mormons." Shoup, Weller, Wing and Wells favored this section, and spoke for its adoption. The part relating to "Mormons" is a rehash of the old Idaho law relating to bigamy, etc. This bill provides for the Australian ballot system. A bill is also under consideration providing that employers be held liable for injuries to employees.

Albert Garvin was recently appointed warden of the Minnesota penitentiary. His first work was the examination of the cells. He found a double-bladed axe, a broad axe, two sling shots, a ten-inch jack-screw, twenty-six fine steel saws, seven monkey wrenches, thirty-four hammers, fifty-one razors, sixty-seven knives, one twenty-five inch steel jimmy and a steel hatchet with a set of drills. There are 420 convicts in the prison. It is supposed that a concerted outbreak would take place in a short time, and that these weapons would be used for breaking doors and windows and murdering guards and others. The old warden, Randall by name, is censured for his loose discipline.

Some newspaper was started a story that Mrs. Stanley was going to publish a book entitled: "How I Found Stanley." Now the lady is receiving bushels of letters asking her when the book will be published, and enclosing drafts and checks for autograph copies. Mrs. Stanley intends publishing a card stating that she will not disclose to the world how she found her husband, or by what peculiar strategy she captured the famous traveler.

The little town of Economy, on the Ohio River, seventeen miles from Pittsburgh is well known as a purely socialistic community. It was established in 1825 by German Colonists. The 16th inst. the anniversary of the founding of the settlement was celebrated. The community owns nearly 4,000 acres, and the value of the whole property is $15,000,000. In 1879 the population was about 2,000, now it is only fifty persons. Six new members were taken in last year. Should the community disband, lawyers will have a harvest.

New York City has a murder committed for five cents. The 16th inst. John Stoddard borrowed five cents from Tom Sullivan to get shaved. He went to Frank Lamorte's shop, where a shave without bay rum costs a nickel. After shaving Stoddard, the barber began to apply bay rum. The other objected saying he could not afford the luxury. The barber said it would cost ten cents anyway. Stoddard denounced this attempt at cheating him. The barber drew his razor, cut Stoddard's throat and gave double import to his name of Lamorte. Stoddard died a short time after.

General Miles is in shallow water at present. He has received some hard knocks for his conduct during the Indian ghost dance. Now Mrs. Jefferson Davis charges him with brutality to her husband while a prisoner in his (Miles') charge. A G. A. R. man has turned up who threatens a coat of whitewash for the general. He says Davis was supplied with champagne, quilted silk dressing-gowns, meerschaum pipes, amber tipped and silver mounted, and so on. This G. A. R. veteran ought to draw it mild. His evidence will bring General Miles to the rank of "Miles na Coppaleen" in Boucicault's play.

A prominent Salt Lake undertaker tells a story, which shows that though his trade is a grave and sombre one, yet it has its humorous episodes. A man called and engaged a casket for his mother-in-law who was at the point of death. He paid $5 on account, but of course did not take the casket until death would step in to his mother-in-law's bedroom. Death did not come. The woman recovered, and after two days was again agile and vigorous. The man went to draw his five dollars. The undertaker would not listen to it. The man took sick, died, and was buried in the same coffin he ordered for his mother-in-law.

A member of the British Parliament cannot resign his seat, but he can accept the stewardship of the Chiltern Hundreds, which is equivalent to resignation. This is one of those poetic parodies on reason by which England maintains her conservatism and yet keeps in the van of progress. Two centuries ago there were three districts between the Counties of Bedford and Hertford in England known as the Chiltern Hundreds. They were infested by robbers. With the consent of Parliament an officer was appointed to suppress the outlaws. The title of this officer was Steward of the Chiltern Hundreds. He was selected from the members of Parliament, and his connection with that body ceased on his appointment. There is no longer any need for an officer of that character in that district, but the office exists in name. Out of the original appointment grew the notion or legal fiction that a member of Parliament could not resign, and that he could retire from his parliamentary duties only by appointment to the Stewardship of the Chiltern Hundreds or some other nominal office bestowed by the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Nells S. Ellas vs. Henry F. Daniels et al.; motion to retax costs overruled.

J. B. Milner vs. Provo City; motion to retax costs; case referred to M. M. Kellog to collect evidence.

Frances M. Wilson vs. George Ercanbrack et al.; motion to retax and motion for new trial; each party was required to pay their own costs; attorney's fee of $25 disallowed; motion for new trial overruled.

Mary E. Westfall vs. Walter K. Barton; demurrer to complaint overruled.

Thomas Woolley pleaded guilty to unlawful cohabitation, promised to obey the law in the future. He was sentenced to two months' imprisonment and to pay $100 and costs.

The name of Lydia Fordonski was changed to Mary Jane Fordonski by order of the court.

At 2 p. m. the empanneling of the grand jury was proceeded with, George Sutherland representing the government, and it stands as follows:

J. C. Gray, H. C. Edwards, George W. Williams, Thomas Burt, Hall F. Gear, James Mendenhall, M. Keigu, Hans Poulson, Ben R. Eldredge, C. Fairbanks, Henry Coats, Gideon Wilson, H. H. Noyes, P. C. Neilson and Ole Madsen.

John A. Mower was arraigned on a charge of adultery and entered a plea of not guilty.

B. F. Milner vs. George Needham; demurrer overruled and ten days' time granted.

The following bailiffs were sworn in: J. L. Chambers, John Saxey and Felix Bachman.

Judge Blackburn charged the jury to inquire into the various crimes that would be brought before them by the district attorney. Crimes against the United States, the violation of postoffice laws, selling liquor to Indians, laws in relation to timber lands, and also to inquire into the violations of the laws against polygamy, adultery, fornication, unlawful cohabitation. Prosecution of these offenses is not persecution, and they are a disgrace to the territory. They were instructed to investigate the offenses against the laws of the territory, such as theft, burglary, assault with intent to do bodily harm, the liquor violations. Those who violate the liquor laws should be punished severely. "Bring gamblers before you," said his honor, "and make them tell who gamble and where they gamble. This is a very demoralizing practice for young men and you are urged to indict those who are guilty of practicing it."

Pneumonia and Bronchitis Carry off One third of the Human Race.

It is not generally known that Pneumonia and Bronchitis carry off one third of the human race, but such are the facts, and what is more surprising, 80% of the above diseases result from neglecting a common ordinary cold. A cough should never be neglected. If it is, every time you catch cold you cough harder, and it sticks by you longer.
