LOCAL BRIEFS.

Boy in Candland Home—Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Candland are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine baby boy, born March 27, 1909.

Readings Abandoned—The giving of the reading and song recitals announced by Miss Mary Phelps and Mrs. Beede Browning on the evenings of April 5 and 8 has been abandoned on account of the limited number attending the first series on Thursday evening.

Colonel Rides Home—Colonel Walter Scott, Fifteenth infantry, returned to Fort Douglas yesterday afternoon, after completing his ride of 100 miles in three days, as required by the war department. He was accompanied by Major Arrasmith, Captain Harker and Surgeon McDonald. The equestrians were in no wise the worse for the ride.

Prisoner Is Captured—Harry Fay, a prisoner at work on the chain gang, made an attempt to escape yesterday afternoon and undoubtedly would have succeeded in doing so had it not been for Jake Raleigh, street supervisor, who happened along in his buggy and saw the man "beating it" in the direction of Ogden. Raleigh took after the man and after a chase of nearly four miles succeeded in overhauling him.

FIGHTING BOB IS THE CITY'S GUEST

Program for Today Includes Luncheon, Review of Cadets And Lecture Tonight.

DISCUSS NAVAL AFFAIRS.

Ship for Ship, He Says, America's Navy Is the Equal of Any—The Panama Canal as a Factor.

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans reached the city about 9 o'clock last evening over the Oregon Short Line, and was met by Governor Spry, Mayor Bransford, Captain F. M. Savage of the Fifteenth infantry and representatives of the Commercial club. There was no demonstration at the depot and the distinguished visitor was taken immediately to his quarters at the Knutsford, where he rested for a while, after which he received the newspaper men of the city.

Regarding the condition of the ships of the American navy the admiral said: "Ship for ship our battleships are just as good, and, to my mind, a little better than those of any other country. Of course, the older battleships do not compare favorably with the newer ones of either our navy or the navy of the foreign powers, but they are just as good as the ships of their date belonging to other powers, and all can be depended on to give a good account of themselves if things break loose.

"The latest ships we have built are in a class by themselves, and are far superior to anything in their class at the time of their construction. The Utah and Florida, the new battleships now under construction, will be, when completed, the masters of anything designed up to the present time. Our gunners are the best in the world today. For myself, I'd vastly prefer inferior ships with superior crews such as we have, to superior ships with inferior crews. As long as our gunnery remains what it now is, I consider the question of the size of the ships to be far less important than at any time in the past. Speed is a far greater essential than size, and gun service tops them both."

Asked his opinion of the possibility of war with Japan, Admiral Evans said that while war was not likely between the two nations it was no reason why every means should not be taken to have the Pacific coast properly defended.

Speaking of what, in his opinion, is necessary to make a proper defence the admiral said:

"We must have a fleet maintained there of not less than 24 battleships, with an equal number in the Atlantic. Six could be used for drill purposes, with a reserve of eight. When we have that, you'll find nobody will want to play horse with us."

THE PANAMA CANAL.

He expressed his idea of the value of the Panama canal as a means of protection as follows:

"With no Pacific fleet to protect them, the heaviest armored and most deadly fleet in existence could not be brought out of the canal and formed into battle line without being cut to pieces, as they would have to steam out one at a time. It would be another case of Cervera's squadron coming out of Santiago.

"Not only that, but suppose dependence were placed on the canal, and some foreigner with his country's welfare at heart should take his life in one hand and a stick of dynamite in the other and blow one of the locks to kingdome come, where would our protection come from then?

"We have 31 battleships, and two more being built, making 33 in all. Forty-eight only are necessary, and we could have them all in a few years if the people would realize their necessity. The fact that we were so strong on water that no other country would dare to tackle us would have a tendency to stop panics and stock fluctuations at the time of war scares.

"Forty-eight battleships would make the United States practically invincible, when you consider that American gunners would be behind the guns. Our efficiency has increased to such an extent that if we had Santiago to do over again it would not take us five minutes also. Where we used to shoot a 12-inch gun once in three minutes, we now fire two shots in one minute. The six-inch guns were formerly fired at the rate of one shot per minute; we now fire 12 shots in the same length of time. As a rule, we miss the target now about as often as we used to hit it before."

The party of Admiral Evans consists of Mrs. Evans, Private Secy. James A. Cruikshank, and a maid.

The program today includes a luncheon at the Commercial club at 12:30 to which about 30 guests have been invited, a review of the High school cadets at 2 p. m. on the campus, and a lecture in the Tabernacle tonight. It is expected that he will leave tomorrow afternoon.

WANTED TO BE "CANDY KID."

"I say, if I just had one o' dem green hats I'de sure be de candy kid in Springville."

This statement coming from Louis Barney, barely 6 years old, of Springville, took the big policeman's breath and almost staggered him. Young Barney was gazing in a store window on Main street and was greatly admiring some green hats on display. The policeman was looking for him, as a frantic father was at police headquarters awaiting tidings of his lost son.

Thursday the elder Barney brought his little son to town that he might see the sights of a big city. The youngster was entertained by his aunty who lives on west Third South street, but yesterday the boy ran away and made his way up town. He is now on his way back to Springville.

PRIMARY CONFERENCE.

Meeting in Eighteenth Ward Chapel This Afternoon Largely Attended.

The Primary officers who are working so diligently in the interest of the young, held their conference meeting in the Eighteenth ward chapel this afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock. A large majority of the stakes of Zion had representatives in attendance and much valuable instruction was given, as well as a large amount of practical business being transacted. All visiting officers who are representatives of the Primary, from distant stakes, were urgently requested to call at the office of the Children's Friend, in the Templeton building, before leaving the city.

Admiral Evans is an orator as well as a hero. Follow the crowds tonight to the Tabernacle and hear him in his famous lecture.

STOCKHOLDERS' ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of Zion's Co-operative Mercantile Institution will be held at the Institution's office, No. 15-33 south Main street, on Monday, April 5, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of hearing the president's report, the election of officers and directors for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting.

A SUPERB CORPORATION.

Undoubtedly the richest transportation corporation in the United States, if not the world, is the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. It has for many years been blessed with able and honest management, both conservative and enterprising. The annual report to the stockholders, made by the directors March 2, shows its assets to be over $706,000,000, of which half is in road and equipment, one-third in securities, and the remainder in cash and miscellaneous property.

Its liabilities are a funded debt of about $360,000,000, the balance being in capital stock, and a profit and loss credit of $25,000,000. Its gross income for the year was $126,000,000. Its total expenses, $98,000,000, leaving $28,000,000 as net profits, out of which a dividend of 6 per cent was paid; nearly $5,000,000 was expended in improvements, and almost a million added to the profit and loss account.

These figures are hard to appreciate, and the executive ability required to handle such a business must be of the highest order. The vastness of this business can perhaps be better comprehended by a consideration of the fact that its gross receipts for the year exceed both the receipts and expenditures of the national government in 1860. In that year the government receipted and paid out only $130,000,000. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company last year received and accounted for $126,000,000.—South Bend (Ind.) Times.
