Coming to Utah.

Piute Minert Many citizens of Montana are thinking of attending the Utah Semi-centennial Jubilee in order that they may see and hear William J. Bryan, as they have been led to believe he will attend. It is definitely stated that Mr. Bryan will not be at Salt Lake during the Jubilee, but he will be there during the Transmississippi congress of which he is president. The congress meets on the 14th of July and inquiries indicate the greatest demonstration of the year in the Utah metropolis will be during Bryan's visit. Mr. Minert has been requested to make this statement in order that those who desire to see and hear Bryan may not be disappointed through errors. Many Montanans have their vacations in July and it has been suggested that those who have the time would do well to attend the Transmississippi congress and will for the Jubilee which will follow almost immediately after the adjournment of congress. It will be a lively season in Salt Lake.

CITY OF THE DEAD.

Numerous Improvements Made This Season.

THE COST OF CARING FOR LOTS.

Practical and Systematic Men in Charge—A New Complete Map of the Cemetery.

Respect for the dead is best impressed on the present generation by example. The beautiful national custom of reverently decorating, each year, the graves of departed dear ones, has its origin after the civil war, and receives the approbation of the people throughout this great land. The tribute of reverential memory on the dead adds honor to them if they who pay it. The French people pay marked deference to their dead. Even in the busy streets of Paris the Frenchman uncovers his head when a funeral procession passes him.

Monday is Decoration Day, when the records of people will visit the cemeteries and strew lovely flowers upon the graves of those who sleep their last sleep in the silent city of the dead.

A few evenings ago a NEWS reporter made another visit to the city cemetery, and was pleased to note the many improvements observable this season. He met Chairman H. J. Hayward, Esq., of the Council Cemetery Committee, Sexton Carter, and head gardener James Williams. The grounds surrounding the sexton's house are now beautifully and tastefully laid out, and admired by all who pass them by. Mr. Williams' skill as a gardener is well known, and it may be said that the city is to be congratulated in securing the services of such a competent man.

During this spring 2,500 feet of turnout pipe has been laid, and now every lot in the cemetery can be watered, including the northeast part, where so much difficulty has been had heretofore in reaching the question. On each first and avenue, from 75 to 100 feet apart, are to be seen hydrants having a strong pressure of water. Fertilizing of 50 a year each 1 will be cared for and kept in good condition so far as regards watering, lawn cutting, etc. Sexton Carter says that if more people were to give him the care of their lots he could reduce the present figure.

Seventeen men are at work on the grounds. Each man has his own particular section to attend to. Every day in the week the lots are visited by the man in charge, who gives it the necessary care and attention to keep it in excellent order. The lawn is cut, wherever needed, and the lot is watered every evening.

A noticeable general improvement is the number of shade trees planted. Upwards of sixty were planted on Centre street alone, the effect being very beautiful. Like the other departments of the municipality, the cemetery committee has been hampered for means. To lay the water mains was a big undertaking, of itself. Sexton Carter had received bids for the doing of the work, the lowest of which was $1,000. When the amount was named by the committee to the Council that body felt constrained to refuse to consider the proposition, of making the appropriation, regarding it as altogether too high for the work. The cemetery committee and the sexton realized that something had to be done; so by putting the cemetery hands to work, the whole job—including the cost of the pipe—was completed for the small sum of $350. That the people appreciate this boon it very evident, for the amount laid out has been paid back to the city already by parties who have since given the care of their lots to the sexton.

The cemetery is now self-sustaining in the cost of caring for it. The receipts for the year ending December 31st, 1896, were $6,767.16, and the disbursements $5,767.16, leaving a balance to the city's credit of five cents.

Mr. Carter is a believer in system and everything connected with the cemetery is run in methodical shape. In the office he has a large map of the cemetery ground, the work and division of the church, Mr. O. M. Baker. This map is 7 by 5 feet, and gives the number of each lot, as well as the name of the owner, with other valuable data and information. Mr. Baker was at work on this map for two months. He has been highly complimented on the work.

The system of keeping records is thorough and complete in every particular, and if adhered to will prove valuable to the years to come. The burial record is kept the number of burial, number of permit, name of deceased, age, cause of death, sex, residence, date of burial—month, day and year; location of lot, plat, block and number; owner of lot, undertaker and remarks.

In the greenhouse, which has been extended 12x20 feet, are to be found the finest collection and variety of flowers in the state, and consists of the ephiphyllum cactus, the South American cactus, dracena and the specimen plant of the trend fruit kind. There are in all about 400 plants in the greenhouse and around the borders of the conservatory.

Mr. Williams exhibited an Egyptian plant, that is regarded as a curiosity—known in English as the "Crown of thorns." This is supposed to be of the same kind as places upon the head of our Savior.

Mr. Williams also showed the reporter a large variety of British and American ferns, some of which are very rare in Utah.

The city has every reason to feel proud of its cemetery and the manner in which everything pertaining to it is kept.

Normal Society Meeting.

The Normal society of the University of Utah held its final regular meeting of the school year last week. An election of officers for the coming year resulted in Mr. D. C. Dimbell's choice for president, Miss Dottie Gray, vice president, Miss Maud Driggs, secretary, Miss M. Christine Sorenson treasurer. At the meeting Mr. Claud Lewis gave a select reading and Prof. Stephens responded with a short but very interesting address on Spain. The society voted to hold a social meeting in the art room of the University building on Thursday evening next, commencing at 8 p. m. The program for that occasion will be: Instrumental selections, lady, Martha Burton; song, Lucia Ferris; science, Prof. William M. Stephens; Normal; gleaning, recitation, Miss Thomas. The society is in good condition and has a membership of 112.

City School Text Books.

The city board of education met last night in committee of the whole and considered the question of the selection of text books for use in the city schools on the two subjects—music and drawing. The former was first disposed of by the adoption of the Natural Music course published by the American Book company. The question of drawing was discussed until a late hour. When the committee arose it was to report the rejection of all the drawing systems together with the bids thereon, including the Auxiliary system now in use in the public schools.

Suit for Theater Company.

Jane T. Piper, has entered suit against the Salt Lake Amusement company to recover $1,104.35 alleged to be due for work and labor performed during the last thirteen months by Brigham T. Piper, who, it is said, assigned his claim to the plaintiff.

Salvatore Maltese, a minor, by his guardian ad litem, Julia S. Maltese, is also suing the same defendant to recover $1,210 for work and labor done during the same period.

Divorce Suit Filed.

Mary E. Crooks has begun divorce proceedings, by filing a suit in the Third district against her husband Ebner E. Crooks, a well known mining man. Mrs. Crooks alleges cruelty and claims that defendant is worth $50,000, which she prays for an equitable division of.

AMERICANS AS A RULE

Are Not Favorably Disposed Towards Counterfeits.

Either counter of money or counterfeit goods of any kind. The U. S. Court, sitting at Rochester, N. Y., has issued an injunction against the sale of Grain-O in packages made to imitate the original Postum Cereal Food Coffee packages.

The counterfeit in this case was put out in packages having the red seals and music of the wording of Postum, and the good-scrimmating public have been given this or a mo one of the various imitations when calling at the stores for the original Postum Cereal Food Coffee.

These makers of articles to trick the grocers with which to "substitute" for some original article have little idea of hygiene or food value in Cereal Coffee. Some counterfeits are offered in place of Postum because the package weighs two pounds, while the genuine package weighs but ½ lb. One manufacturer (we-mean people) is probably because it is probably harmless enough but a piece of food value is there. Postum is made by skillful food experts, 70 per cent being secured from the parts of the cereals containing the albumen and phosphates required by the human body to rebuild the gray matter in the nerve cells. This part also produces the distinct which digests starch. That's why Postum "makes red blood" and why thoughtful people use it regularly. Buyers should look for the red seals and the registered U. S. trade mark.

Grocers sell the original and genuine Postum at 15 and 25 cents a package.
