NO. 184. FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1893. SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVI.

AN AWFUL CALAMITY

The Cyclone That Swept a Portion of Iowa Yesterday.

REPORTS FROM SEVERAL PLACES.

Entire Towns Blown Away and Hundreds of Inhabitants Killed and Injured.

PONCA, Iowa, July 7.—One of the most dreadful calamities in the history of the state visited this city last evening. Owing to the demoralized condition of the telegraph wires it is impossible as yet to get all the details, but it can be learned that the cyclone started southwest of here about 7:30 o'clock last evening and swept almost due east, leveling everything in its path for a width of a thousand yards, killing or maiming the inhabitants in the lowest and thickly populated farming district. The loss of life is known to be heavy, though the actual details are far from full and the loss of property beyond calculation. As far as heard from the calamity took a frightful form at the village of Pomeroy, a town with about 800 population. Its city is reported to have suffered most, the effect that the entire town, except thirty houses, was swept from the face of the earth. Hundreds of people were killed, two hundred were injured. As soon as the news of the disaster was received a special train with physicians and nurses went from here and Fort Dodge, and every able-bodied man in the vicinity and a helping hand to the wounded and dying. A number were found about the street, bemoaning their loss.

It was several hours before the condition of affairs was known. The town was in total darkness and the streets filled with wrecks of houses and business houses. The stores were piling up men with bandages, wind stems to the debris. In some instances entire families were swept out. Remains were found in the ruins of the houses and the work of rescuing by a train load of helpers made only little headway. The south part of the town was razed. A church just outside the track of the storm was turned into a hospital. Here surgeons worked by the aid of lanterns and lamps. Those with broken bones were stretched upon pews, while those less severely injured were compelled to lie on the floor and await their turns. The dead were laid out upon the ground in a vacant lot at the edge of the devastated district. Through the aisles between the bodies survivors passed, looking for their loved ones.

At the approach of the storm, which came on a crescent that followed by darkness and what appeared to be a column of smoke, many sought shelter in cellars, others mounted their horses to flee from the path of destruction. The relief party worked under the direction of Vice President Harriman, of the Illinois Central railroad, who, with a party of officials, narrowly escaped the cyclone, reaching here a few minutes after it had passed. The tornado passed west and south of the place demolishing buildings and groves, killing and injuring many persons.

A LIST OF DEAD.

The following are known to be dead: John Detwiler,
Mrs. Alice H. Gates and child,
The entire family of Sam Hearson,
D. E. Miller and two members of his family,
Ed Sargent and entire family.

Two children of Mrs Jarlan,
O. E. Moseley and wife,
Two children of Sam Hearson,
Several members of the family of A. W. Eaz.

Two women killed and several injured, six miles south of Cherokee.

Ten killed and several injured south of Aurelia.

One killed and several injured near Storm Lake.

The names of the injured near Cherokee are Mrs. Lessler and Mrs. Monyeak. Mrs. Merriam, south of this, lies was in the throes of confinement at the time and was blown away.

It is reported that four of the Burgess family, near Aurelia, were killed.

It is believed that several homes wrecked are yet unheard from. The cyclone was followed by a heavy rain storm. It passed very near the city of Cherokee which, however, experienced a heavy rain and hail storm. Some hailstones were as large as turkey eggs. To show the velocity of the wind, a man cyclone in a threshing machine was torn out and carried nearly rate.

AN EARTHQUAKE VALLEY.

LYMAN, Iowa, July 7.—Advices from the storm stricken district continue to confirm the reports already sent to the Associated Press from Ponca and elsewhere. At Pomeroy the number reported up to 7 o'clock numbered 35 and over 100 are known to be injured. Coffins and help have been ordered from Cherokee and the towns west. The storm started in the south part of Cherokee county, crossed Sioux branch of the Illinois Central at Quimby. Where several were killed and 30 or 40 times killed. From Quimby it passed through the county region until it crossed the main line at Pomeroy. Crops and farm houses were swept away along the course.

Sioux Valley has been unfortunate, being swept nearly every year by flood, cyclone or a hard storm. Last night's cyclone was the worst of the lot.

FOUNDS AND HELPLESS.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., July 7.—A special train bearing coffins and helpers left here this morning for Pomeroy. A passenger in from there this morning says that seventy were killed and the nearly every house in town is demolished.

TWO CYCLONES.

FORT DODGE, Ia., July 7.—Two cyclones struck Pomeroy last evening destroying the residence portion and part of the business houses. The first came between 4 and 5 p.m., the second between 7 and 8. Twenty-two were killed. Many were taken out of the ruins, and fifty severely injured. The wires are down and particular hard to get.

THE MINNEAPOLIS SUFFERED.

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 7.—Governor Boies received the following from Vice President Harriman of the Illinois Central railroad this afternoon and will leave for Pomeroy at noon with necessary supplies:

"The Iowa & Pomeroy on this company's road was visited by a severe cyclone last night between 7 and 8 o'clock. The number of dead at the time is known to be 27. It is impossible yet to determine how many are fatally injured. Two-thirds of the town was swept away, and there is great distress amongst the people. The Illinois Central has sent relief trains from Fort Dodge, Moines, Ponca and Cherokee with physicians and nurses to assist in taking care of the people. They are doing noble work. Tony will send undertakers and coffins right away. I am not authorized to say so but I think they would send anything and all this company can do of further assistance please command me."

TWO VICTIMS.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, July 7.—A violent storm passed over Wright county last night. In Forest City and a number of buildings were demolished. An old man named Lemon and a girl named Schmidt were killed and a number seriously hurt.

THE CARAVELS ARRIVE.

The Strange Vessels Welcomed to the World's Fair.

Representatives of the Nations of the Earth Honor the Memory of Columbus.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The arrival of the Spanish caravels at the World's Fair today attracted an immense crowd to the park. To the accompaniment of steam whistles and the cheering of the throngs, the queer looking craft built in imitation of the vessels in which Columbus made his adventurous voyage, conveyed by a United States vessel, private yachts and a fleet of excursion steamers, drew up to the pier at the east entrance to the grand court. Captain Cuevas and officers were transferred to the steam launches, and passed under the pergola, where they were joined by a procession of the military and navy seen in a single place. South sea islanders, Vancouver Indians, Esquimaux and other outlandish people, each in their characteristic water craft, accompanied the Spaniards to the building in front of the Agricultural building, where an speaking reception awaited them. Drawn up on the terrace were the strange people from Midway Plaisance, representing every part of the world, in native costume, Buffalo Bill's cowboys, Indians, Cossacks, Bedouins, English soldiers from the military tournament, Uncle Sam's soldiers, and military representatives of other nations. The procession moved around the grand court to the stand on the plaza, where the visitors were received by Director General Davis amid wild cheering. This was followed by an address of welcome by Senator John Sherman and by of addresses by Secretary of the Navy Herbert and others, Capitals Cuevas responding to the welcome.

Senator Sherman's address was an eloquent effort, chiefly historical, dealing with the conditions under which Columbus discovered America; the momentous results which have followed, not only in this country but throughout the world, pointing to the Exposition as the final fruits thereof and in the name of the Exposition and the people of the United States welcoming the caravels and officers in charge of them as representatives of the country of Columbus.

THE NEW ARMY BILL.

Chancellor Caprivi Presents His Ultimatum to the Reichstag.

BERLIN, July 7.—The new reichstag assembled this morning. Chancellor Von Caprivi in a long address introduced the amended army bill. He said it represented the minimum the government would accept in either men or money; they were the lowest possible, consistent with the safety of the empire.

Bicyclists Meet.

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 7.—The wheelmen from all parts of the country are here attending the bicycle meeting of the Toledo club this afternoon. The track is fine and fast, Conger and Johnscutter here and will try to break the world's record. Zimmerman will not be here.

Black Coal Bead.

Special Dispatch to the News.

LARAMIE, Wyo., July 7.—Black Coal, the aged chief of the Arapahoe Indians on the Wind river reservation, is dead. It was the opposition of this old chieftain that caused the failure of the proposition to cede a portion of this reservation to the government. He bitterly opposed every offer made by the commissioners who went at the agency last March, and prevented his people from accepting any of the numerous propositions made.

ARAB SLAVE TRADERS.

Engagement Reported in the Interior of Africa.

BRUSSELS, July 7.—Advices from the Congo free state report defeats over Arab slave traders. The Arabs recently attacked the forces at the state stationed at Stanley Falls, but were repulsed with heavy loss. Lieutenant Dhanis, of the Belgian Anti-Slavery Society, operating in East Africa, under the command of Captain Jacques, also reported an engagement with Arab slave traders, in which the latter were put to rout.

Injured by a Runaway.

Special Dispatch to the News.

LARAMIE, Wyo., July 7.—James Scales was badly injured in a runaway the other night. He and three companions were on their way in a buggy when the team ran away. In coming to a sudden halt the occupants were thrown out. Scales's ear was torn nearly off and he received several other serious injuries. His companions were all considerably bruised.

A NAUGHTY GIRL.

Arrested on Charges of Theft and Assault.

Special Dispatch to the News.

LAMANTE, Wyo., July 7.—Annie May, a sixteen-year old girl has been arrested on the charge of having stolen a parasol, a number of dresses and other articles of wearing apparel from the residence of Mrs. Sophia Sarenfeldt. A second warrant was also issued charging the girl with assault upon Mary Cook, a girl about her age.

Cadets Appointed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 7.—The following named cadets, among others, have been appointed to the West Point Military Academy:

California—W. C. Kelley, Washington; R. C. Dunn, Oakland.

Oregon—A. A. Fries, Medford; T. L. Fullmer, Hermiston, Yamhill.

Utah—W. C. Cole, Willard.

The terms of these cadets begin on June 15, 1894.

ON THE DEVIL'S TOWER.

The Stars and Stripes on the Top of It.

Special Dispatch to the News.

SUNDANCE, Wyo., June 7.—The feature of the 4th of July celebration at this place was the planting of the stars and stripes on the top of the "Devil's Tower," a rock nearly 600 feet in height on the top of Sundance mountain. The rock is almost perpendicular and has heretofore been considered inaccessible. A. R. Rogers, who made the ascent, performed the task by driving wedges into the crevices of the rocks. He says the top of the tower is level and its area is about three-quarters of an acre.

THE PARIS TROUBLE.

A Quiet Proceeding the Outbreak of a Storm.

PARIS, July 7.—The city was quiet today but in a troubling quietness that excites fear of some when the carmagnole sets in. The situation promises to become critical. Only the administration of the law with a strong hand will prevent general trouble, but it can be said that the government is fully alive to the situation that confronts it and is prepared for almost any contingency. The workingmen have now become incensed against the police and propose to show their indignation against them and their disapproval of the government, by inaugurating a general strike. An appeal signed by the delegates of 137 trades syndicates was issued today in Paris and the provinces requesting workingmen to quit work.

The tension between the Paris municipal council, some of whose members are avowedly socialists, and the government shows no sign of lessening. The council held a meeting today at which several members made speeches in which they violently denounced the government for supporting the police in what was termed a highhanded and reckless disregard of law. This action adds strength to the report that the government intends to dissolve that body. Fifty-five of the rioters have been held for prosecution. All other persons arrested have been released.

Adored by His Mother.

Special Dispatch to the News.

BUFFALO, Wyo., July 7.—Five years ago Mrs. Frank Losey left her young son with Mr. Mattie Brown who promised to adopt him. Mrs. Losey returned a few days ago and found Mrs. Brown had not adopted the boy according to law. She asked Mrs. Brown to give up the child but she refused to do so. Last night the mother abducted her son and did him in the country.

CLEVELAND'S CONDITION.

Fears that His Illness is More Serious than Admitted.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., July 7.—The President was able to get on the piazza for a short time during the afternoon yesterday. Many telegrams were received inquiring as to the seriousness of his illness. Surgeon General Bryan says the President must have absolute rest and quiet. A representative of the Associated Press had the following interview with Dr. Bryant:

"Doctor, you would confer a great favor by making some sort of an official statement regarding the President's condition."

"The President is all right," said the doctor emphatically.

"From what he he suffering?"

"He is suffering from the malaise just as reported this afternoon. Those reports are correct."

"Then, doctor, the report that he is suffering from a malignant or cancerous growth in the tonsils, and that an operation was necessary and has been performed to relieve him, is not correct?"

"He is suffering from his teeth; that's all," answered the doctor.

"Has an operation been performed?"

"That's all," said the doctor again.

KANSAS CITY, July 7.—A special from Omaha, says: The departure of Mrs. Hoyt of Omaha for Buzzard's Bay to see her brother, President Cleveland, has caused fears that his illness is more serious than admitted by the physicians. She had just returned home and had no intention of going east until called by a dispatch from Mrs. Cleveland.

BOSTON, July 7.—A message from Buzzard's Bay this afternoon says President Cleveland is slightly better.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The members of the cabinet and friends of the President in this city are unwilling to believe that there is anything serious or alarming in his condition. Private Secretary Thurber says that beyond being overwarned he was in his usual good health when he left the city. As to the rumor of cancerous growth in the President's mouth, the fact was that the President had a bad tooth and suffered some from facial neuralgia, caused by exposure on inauguration day.

CHINAMAN KILLED.

He Dies On Plum Alley From the Effects of a Blow From a Stick.

A VICTIM OF HOODLUMDOM.

Charles E. Avery in Jail Charged With the Responsibility of the Boughlan's Death.

An aged Chinese gardener who has lived in Salt Lake for more than a score of years, died in Plum alley under rather peculiar and sensational circumstances, between five and six o'clock last evening. His demise was due, it is claimed, to an injury received in the eastern part of the city on Monday evening last. The Mongolian—whose name was Wah Yen Hoo—was driving along Ninth East street. As he approached the corner of Third South street a crowd of young hoodlums commenced throwing rocks at him, also shouting jeering remarks at him. It is stated that the Chinaman was not hit but he became so exasperated that he alighted and advanced towards the boys with a drawn knife. As he drew close to the youthful lawbreakers, one of them, Charles E. Avery, raised a stone and struck the Chinaman on the head over the left ear, knocking him down and rendering him unconscious. Seeing that he was badly hurt the boys got away as quickly as they could. When Hoo recovered he came down town, secured an interpreter and went to the police station, intending to swear to a complaint against his assailants. The justice was not present, and as the case did not appear to be a particularly aggravated one no great amount of attention was given to it. The Chinaman went, however, expected to call on Wednesday, Tuesday being the fourth.

The injured man was then taken to Dr. Benedict's office where Dr. Smith dressed the wound, after which he was taken to his old shack in the southwestern part of the city. He began to show symptoms of a serious character and continued to get worse and yesterday morning was removed to the Chinese quarters in Plum alley where he died last night.

The deceased's body was terribly swollen and black about the neck and breast indicating that there had been an internal rupture of a blood vessel from which the life fluid gradually oozed until death ensued.

Coroner Taylor held an inquest this morning over the remains which were taken to Undertaker Joseph Wm. Taylor's morgue on West Temple street. The jury returned the following verdict: "We find that the deceased came to his death from a blow of a stick by the hand of Charles Avery."

Some of the eye witnesses to the affair in which the Chinaman was mortally wounded declare that the story about him having drawn a knife is absolutely false, that the boys only took that stand to justify themselves. Young Avery is in the city jail pending further action in the case.

RESULTED FATALLY.

Little Stella Wilcken Dies from Injuries Received on the Fourth.

At 5 o'clock this morning death called from mortality Stella Louise Wilcken, the little daughter of Charles H. Wilcken, who was burned on the Fourth through her clothing being caught by some firecrackers in the possession of other children. As stated in the NEWS account of the accident, it was thought that the injuries were not of a fatal character, though the burns were quite severe. The most serious one was a deep wound in the back, over the right kidney. The child received every attention that could be given, and for a time seemed to be progressing favorably towards recovery. Yesterday afternoon, however, she sank into unconsciousness, remaining in that condition the greater part of the time until her death this morning. The attending physician states that the fatal effects were due to the shock received at the time of the accident rather than to the burns inflicted.

The deceased was born October 8, 1886. The funeral will take place at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow, Saturday, from the family residence, 605 Seventh East street. The bereaved family have the sympathy of a host of friends in this time of sad affliction.

RECORDER, NOT MAYOR.

Charles Stanton Denies that He Has the Majority Tick—Recordership Good Enough.

Charlie Stanton was seen on the streets by a NEWS reporter today, and calling the newspaper man aside he said with characteristic emphasis: "I wish you would tell the dear public for me that the statement published in an irresponsible morning paper to the effect that the majority ticket is boiling in my bonnet is wholly without foundation. I have accomplished my desire in be mayor of Salt Lake City; I would not accept the office under any consideration; I am too poor. No, sir, I couldn't afford to take it. In the first place it would cost me too much, and secondly I am not in the habit of being off more than I can chew. Why it takes a fortune to keep that office going.

"You can say this, however," added Charlie, voluntarily, that I am a candidate for recorder on the Liberal ticket. It will give me the utmost satisfaction to succeed myself."

Having thus frankly expressed himself Charlie went on his way as merry as a marriage bell.

SUICIDE OR MURDER?

Percy Anderson Found Dead in a Pool of Blood.

IT IS A VERY STRANGE CASE.

The Coroner Will Make An Attempt to Unravel the Mystery.—The Deadly Knife.

A ghastly discovery was made at the rear of the Sullivan House near the Rio Grande Western depot about 6 o'clock last night. "Percy" Anderson a familiar character was found lying in a pool of blood the spark of life having all but fled.

He was carried into the house and a doctor immediately summoned but he arrived too late to be of any service. When the body was examined a large and deep gash in the region of the heart was disclosed. There was no weapon about with which the man could have committed the dreadful deed himself and the suspicion was aroused that he had been foully dealt with. Later an ugly and dangerous looking stock-handled knife was found in the kitchen by one of the female servants who claims she saw the deceased with it in his possession sometime before.

The idea was then advanced that the man had deliberately stabbed himself in the kitchen and walked out to die. There were, however, no visible evidences leading out this conclusion and Coroner Taylor among others, took but little stock in the statement.

Anderson was about forty-five or fifty years of age and was employed about the Sullivan House as general roustabout. So far as known he had no relatives in this Territory.

The body was removed to Evans's undertaking establishment where an inquest will be held either tonight or sometime tomorrow.

Notary Public.

Territorial Secretary Richards this morning commissioned Ernest E. Stevens a notary public for Weber county.

THE CITY STRANDED.

Unable to Pay a Bill of Less Than $2,000 Today.—It Creates a Sensation.—Possible Complications.

That which conservative business men have predicted for the last three years and a half in regard to the city's finances has come. It is a condition so unpleasant and dangerous as to threaten serious complications. Councilmen ask each other with bated breath where and what the end will be, and the only response is a significant shake of the head followed by an ominous silence. It was known that the financial status of the city was deplorable, but the public will hardly be prepared to believe that when a claim for $1,000.00 was presented by Hookano, O'Griffith & Morris today—it having been duly approved on Wednesday night last—the response was: "No funds in the treasury; can't pay you today."

It should be understood, however, that the city treasurer is in no way responsible for the barren condition of the municipal coffers as he has in time and out repeatedly called the attention of the council to the dangerous gait at which it was reeling blindly along.

The gentlemen to whom the appropriation was made have a schedule that for erecting the joint city and county building and a member of the firm positively declare that unless payments are promptly made hereafter they will stop all work on the structure. At least he is so reported.

The Bond Reduced.

In Judge Bartch's court this afternoon, in the case of the United States vs Rube Watts, held to the grand jury on a charge of adultery, the bond of the defendant on motion of District Attorney Judd was reduced to $[illegible].

The Henley Regatta.

Magdalen college defeated the Thames Rowing club for Stewart's cup; the Leander club beat the London Rowing club for the grand challenge cup; G. H. Kennedy of the Kingston club beat F. Boddington of the Thames Rowing club, for the diamond sculls.

WIRE UNDERGROUND.

Illustrations of How the System is Operated in the Large Cities.

PHOTOGRAPHS AND BLUE PRINTS.

Councilman Rich Received a Number of Them from the East by Mail Today.

Councilmen Hardy and Rich have long advocated the underground wiring system for the principal business streets of the city. Both have introduced resolutions into the Council making it incumbent upon the municipality to require telephone, telegraph and electric light companies to put their wires under ground. Twice did the Council put itself on record favoring the scheme as a matter of public policy, and it was expected that something would be done in the premises before paving the central thoroughfares. The failure to carry the resolution into effect, however, does not mean the abandonment of the proposition.

Councilman Rich, while in the east recently, made a study of the matter, and today he received a large number of fine photographs and blue print illustrations, showing the city wires in scores of metropolitan and in model operation in New York, Chicago, Boston, Portland (Maine), Atlanta, Omaha and other cities.

The illustrations are beautiful ones and prove the system to be anything but the intricate arrangement some many imagine. With the same mail came a letter, of which the following is a copy:

NEW YORK, July 5, 1893.

Hon. E. Rich, Member City Council, Salt Lake City, Utah:

Dear Sir—Replying to your inquiry made in this office a few days ago, we enclose you a circular letter which will tell you the different plans where our system is in use. We also forward you under another cover a series of photographs which will show the method of wiring. We regret we have no literature on the subject of underground conduits, but it has always been our method to personally interview companies contemplating underground construction which we always have made satisfactory, both to us and to them. We would say in relation to subways in Salt Lake City that we build the complete system in Omaha, Nebraska last summer and from the writer's knowledge of your city, would say that the one would be about the same in both places, that is you could estimate safely that the conduit system complete including manholes, would cost about 35 cents per foot, per duct. This means that if we would lay 10 one inches ten pieces or ducts, the cost would be $3.50 per running foot of subways.

We possess the telephone company in your city and probably build their own system as they have done in all the cities of the United States. This is one to be the most satisfactory way on account of the telephone wires being of a very small gauge and the electric current being very delicate, they give better service when they have a sub-way system of their own. It is customary to build sub-ways systems for low tension wires, the telephone and telegraph on one side of the street and for high tension, that is electric light and power wires on the other side of the street. This is the method that is adopted in this city, also in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago.

If your city committee building a sub-way system the writer would be pleased to make a journey to your city, as he thinks it would be both advantageous to this company as well as to yourself.

We would be pleased to hear from you on the subject of your communication.

Very truly yours,

THE NATIONAL CONDUIT M'F'G CO.
LEO. P. MCGRATH, Sec'y.

ARRESTED TWO MORE.

Lawyer Thaxton and Deputy Sheriff Scott in Custody.

The deputy marshals who stopped off at Spanish Fork yesterday, with the object of arresting Attorney Thaxton for his connection with the official dispute over the Utah Milling company's mill at Tintic, did not go in vain. The attorney was taken into custody and was brought to Salt Lake.

W. L. Scott, deputy sheriff of Juab county, who was sent to be found at the mill on Wednesday night, was met in Eureka yesterday, and is now in this city, awaiting with others the outcome of the proceedings on Saturday, to determine which party, the sheriff's or the Marshal's, is in the right.

John Jones, the employe of the mine who is accused of drawing a gun on the marshals, has not been arrested. It is said that, as he realized that he had no justification for his act, and is afraid of a long term in the penitentiary if taken, he has left the Territory. It is also stated that he was seen in Salt Lake today.

Warrants, issued by a justice of the peace in Juab county, are out for Deputy Marshals Cannon and Rudy, but they have not been served yet. When the time arrives for their appearance in court they are likely to be on hand.
