OGDEN, UTAH, - JUNE 24.

THE THREATENED SUIT.

How the Twenty-fifth Street Railway Was Torn Up for Paving.

Crowds of people watched the activity of the men employed in tearing up Twenty-fifth street yesterday. The possibility of a restraining order being served on the city gave the work its attractive feature. Wilkinson, the contractor, rushed the men along, and when the got to the street car company's rails in the center of the street, these were torn up and thrown aside without ceremony. This morning Judge Miner gave a hearing to the arguments of defendants, who will endeavor to show cause why a restraining order should not be issued.

Fourth District Court.

Judge Miner returned last night from Salt Lake and is today holding court at the new quarters, Utah Loan and Trust building. During the recess much business has accumulated which will now be disposed of. This morning the members of the bar association met before the court convened and passed suitable resolutions on the death of Judges Hunsaker and Snelling, both of whom were members of the bar of the Supreme and district courts.

Two suits were filed yesterday for divorce, the first of which was Nicholas Tand, who asks for divorce from his wife, Johanna Tand, on the grounds of cruelty and adultery. The parties were married in 1874. The complaint charges that since February last the defendant has been away from home associating with disreputable men. One Baker is named with whom she has upon more than one occasion committed adultery.

Ida C. Sandberg is the other applicant for separation from her husband Peter Sandberg, on the ground of failure to provide and habitual drunkenness. One child was born to the parties. Plaintiff asks for its custody and that property situated in plat C, Ogden city survey, now in her husband's name, be deeded to her.

Opened the Wrong Letter.

A resident of Pleasant View, whose name is withheld, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Marshal Gill, on the complaint of a young lady, named Sophia Love, charged with having opened a letter sent by Miss Love to a young man in the employ of defendant. It was admitted by the defendant that he opened the letter, but that it was in a mistake. He supposed it was for him, as the clerk at the postoffice handed it to him when he asked for his mail. He had no idea it was a love letter, or he would not have opened it. The defendant will be given a hearing before Commissioner Hulaniski. His bond was fixed at $500.

SAID TO BE A HOAX.

The Claim that it Was Not a Genuine Letter from Taylor.

Members of the Taylor family denied yesterday that the letter supposed to have been written by the missing man to his wife, from Omaha, had been received. They claim that the credulity of the county officials and reporters had been played with, and that the whole thing was a hoax. Sheriff Belnap says that the receipt of letter No. 1 from Denver was denied in the same way, but he never would have called his men down from the mountains unless he had been satisfied beyond question that the communication was from Taylor. Some interesting developments may be looked for within the next few days.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Teachers Not Yet Appointed.—Forty Applicants.

A special meeting of the board of education, called for the fourth time to consider applications for the position of school teachers, was held last evening. All the members were present.

The names of forty persons were read and after considerable discussion the appointments again went over until Monday night. Emerson moved the reconsideration of the resolution providing for a training class. Much talk was indulged in and finally the matter went over until Monday night.

Notes and Funerals.

The machinery for the new soap factory is expected here today.

Mark Murphy's O'Dowd's Neighbors is the next attraction at the Grand. They appear on the night of the 28th.

Webb Moore, the young man who got crushed to death between the cars on Monday, was buried yesterday at the city cemetery.

The city council will meet tonight and it is expected will pass resolutions of respect to the memory of Senator Stanford.

David J. Wells, who has been in Ogden for the past week canvassing Whitney's History of Utah, returned to the capital today.

The concert and festival at the Fourth Ward Amusement hall, complimentary to John V. Bluth, was a huge success.

A small blaze at Stone's cigar store yesterday morning brought out the fire department. Damage $500 covered by insurance.

About noon yesterday an electric car ran into a young colt, the property of Mr. Pickup, injuring it so badly that it was necessary for Officer Hanson to put a bullet through its head to put an end to its sufferings. The animal is said to have been a valuable one.

PARK CITY.

PARK CITY, - JUNE 24, 1893.

IN THE PARK.

A Week of Dullness.—Wind and Dust.—Buried by the County.—Other Items.

The past week has been one of unusual quietness in Park City and the general opinion coincides with that of the rest of the western country, that something must be quickly done on the silver question. A mining town depends almost entirely upon the prices of the metals, and as the farming districts depend greatly upon the mining towns, in this case all are interested. It is feared that if silver reaches the 80 cent notch, some of our best mines will have to close down. As lead is going lower every day, this adds weight to the general despondency.

Wind and dust, and consequently disagreeable weather, have been the rule during the past week. Something should be done immediately to relieve the residents of the lower part of the city from the great amount of dust, as the air teams create so much, that one small sprinkling cart, which is used sparingly, does not near fill the bill. A petition is now being circulated to have the streets better watered, and until such is done there will be a great kick on hand all the time.

We have been honored with a visit from several men of national reputation during the past week. It is gratifying to note that all who visit our camp go away with a kindly feeling and admiration of the mines and mills and the system by which they are carried on. Visitors from the East are always interested in a mining town, and go away with a good supply of specimens. One interested visitor during the week was admiring a fine lot of Crescent concentrated ore. He had never seen ore in that shape before, and when told what it was he said he had often heard of "concentrated" ore, but had never before seen any. He was welcome to take a sample.

The committee on Fourth of July arrangements have completed their program, and it is said that as far, amusements have been decided upon which, when fully carried out, will be an "eye-opener" for so called more enterprising cities. Everybody is invited to remain at home and help celebrate, and the majority likely will be on hand to enjoy the fun.

Nothing of importance has been learned in regard to the man found dead in a Utah Central car last Monday night. His name was Rowan, and he had been employed during the last week of May as brakeman on the Utah Central, but farther than that nothing is known of him. He was buried at the county's expense in the cemetery north of town.

R. C. Chambers, general superintendent of the Ontario and Daly mines, arrived in the city Thursday evening, and is making glad the hearts of the many men employed by him. Usually about $75,000 is paid out by these two companies per month, and this amount of money put in circulation gives a better appearance to the town. Other mining companies are getting ready to pay off their men during the early part of next week, and Fourth of July money will be plentiful.

A reported rich strike of the vein in Lucky Bill mine reached town yesterday, and the stockholders are feeling jubilant over the report. The vein has been struck at the 500 level, and being near the Ontario mine where many millions have been taken out, there is no reason why the Bill should not be a paying mine. The owners have been faithful in development work, and it is hoped that at last they will be paid for their labor and faith in the property.

Ore shipments during the past week will continue lively, although the Archer has not been doing much on account of surface water in their shaft. The Crescent appears to be increasing its shipments, and indications point to a prosperous year for it. During the past week the Crescent has shipped 450,000 pounds of first-class and about 150,000 pounds of concentrates. The Daly West is making regular shipments to Omaha, and the Silver King to Mingo at Sandy.

Work is progressing rapidly upon the excavation for the Ontario leaching plant, and next week active work will be commenced upon the rock work. A large force of men are employed on the job. The carpenters are preparing the timbers for the framing, so that when the foundation is in the building will be rushed.

Last Monday John J. Daly brought to the city for a day's visit General J. S. Clarkson, Isaac Trumbo and H. B. Clawson, and the day was well spent in looking over the various mining properties. He went back to Salt Lake the same evening over the Utah Central. WILL.
