Christmas Carols in Prose.

CHRISTMAS LIGHTS.

(By Augusta Prescott.)

"Well, isn't this a merry Christmas, Bill?"

"Merry?—Well, I should say—Coffee, condensed milk, bacon, tin tablet crackers and a dug-out hut on a siding to eat it all up in—God bless our home!—What are you staring at?"

"I'—Oh, I'm looking at that light over there, across the swamp ground."

"Well, if you want to know what it is, it's a house."

[illegible]

"SHE HAD MANAGED TO EARN A LIVING."

A CHRISTMAS BARGAIN.

(By Hoen Macpherson.)

[illegible]

"WHEN THE 'ROMANZA' WAS WELL UNDER WAY."

The Youngest Member of the Family.

AN ACROSTIC.

[illegible]

EDNA'S CHRISTMAS.

(By Viola Alvord.)

[illegible]

"FILLED BY GOOD OLD SANTY"

"TOO LARGE TO BE PUT INTO THE STOCKINGS."

PUZZLE.

A HIDDEN CHRISTMAS FEAST.

[illegible]

THE TURKEY'S COMPLAINT.

(By Briar Buck.)

[illegible]