THE ELECTION AFTERMATH

The Defeated Wonder How It Was—Talk of Contest in Fifth Ward.

Both of H. J. Hill's Probate and Will Cases Stand in Court—Happy Newlyweds.

The city continued excited during the entire week the result of the election was the topic of the conversation of the people on the street, in the stores, and the great mills, the various factories were visited, the various political headquarters were thronged with people who were anxious to hear the latest election news. Telegrams were received in great numbers from all parts of the state, and the results were published in the morning papers. The defeated candidates were all in good spirits, and they all claimed that they had made a good fight. But Lake Republicans showed with 12 majority instead of the 1500 majority they had claimed it would reach. The Democrats claimed to the last minute of the election that they would carry the city by a majority of 300 to 500. Now they are at a loss to know how they were deceived so badly. The Democrats claim that the Republicans made a great mistake in not putting up a ticket in the fifth ward, where the contest was close, and where it was thought by the Democrats that they could elect a Democrat if a good one was put up against Mr. Abbott, who was the Republican candidate. Mr. Abbott is a gentleman of ability, of high standing in the community, and he was a strong man. Mr. Dickson, who was elected, is also a gentleman of ability and standing, and he was put up against Mr. Abbott because it was thought that he would be a strong man, and he was nominated before Mr. Abbott was nominated. Mr. Dickson is a Democrat, and he was elected by a majority of 15. It appears that the Republicans made a great mistake in not putting up a ticket against Mr. Dickson, and he was elected. Mr. Abbott was not elected, and he is a Republican. It appears that the Republicans had not any idea that Mr. Dickson would be elected, and they did not put up a ticket against him, and that the result was that he was elected and Mr. Abbott was left. The voting difficulty has yet to be settled.

DEATH OF H. J. HILL.

Another news conflict occurred upon the death of Hiram J. Hill, of Ogden, Nov. 1. H. J. Hill died in Chicago, Oct. 31, after a long illness, and his body was brought to Ogden and buried on the following Tuesday. The deceased left a will and a codicil, and he left his property to his wife and children. The will was filed for probate in Twenty-fifth district court, and the codicil was filed in chancery from chambers.

In the district court there were two cases before Judge Lewis, probate and contest, and both were heard.

Application of the estate of Andrew Christensen, deceased, for the probate of a will, and for letters of administration, testimony taken and argument heard. Judge Lewis said he did not see any reason why the will should not be probated. He said it appeared to be Christensen's property to do with as he pleased, and he would probate the will and issue letters of administration to the executor, Lorenzo Snow, without bond.

In the matter of the estate of Thomas Ball, notice of petition of Mary Ann Ball for letters testamentary of J. H. Ball, deceased, taken under advisement until Nov. 8, 1899.

PERSONAL PERMIT.

A marriage license was yesterday issued to Emanuel Hansen, of West Weber, and Miss Elizabeth Moyes, of West Weber.

PROVO.

Bankruptcy Case Against Notable County Officers Filed Yesterday.

Special Correspondence.

PROVO, Nov. 4.—The election over here was the hottest ever known. Not only did the local issues and politics rage fiercely, but the personalities of public men in the county, and even of those who were not candidates, this year was more of the kind of a contest than of party.

COURT BUSINESS.

In Judge Lewis' department of the district court, Saturday, Nov. 4, the following proceedings were entered:

In the matter of the Kyrene Mining and Smelting company, petition for dissolution; order to show cause why receiver should not be appointed, returnable Nov. 20, 1899, at 10 a.m. The clerk was directed to issue as follows: Three copies, one certified, for Utah county; one for Salt Lake county.

The appointment of S. E. Cassity as receiver in the Kyrene Mining Company's case was approved by the court.
