ON THE WRONG PATH

The Story of an Artist who Aimed High, but Sadly Failed.

HE DIES INSANE IN A POORHOUSE.

His Disappointment in Life Having Undermined His Health and Deprived Him of Reason.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7.—Behind the mere announcement of the death of Alexander McDonald, artist, in the insane ward at the poor house last Saturday night, there is a story of more than usual pathos. It is a tale of blasted hopes of a man whose ambition aspired to the skies and whose awakening to his own incapacity drove him to the madhouse. Alexander McDonald was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, 40 years ago, and was a graduate of the famous old college of St. Marks. His father, himself a minister of the church of England, had designed his son for jolly orders also, and to that end the young man took a course in theology. But it soon became evident that his heart was not in his studies. He preferred reading studies of art to memorizing the articles of faith. He had aside for churchly times and for three years worked under the tutelage of a London artist. At the end of that period he had become fairly proficient, and aware of the struggles of an unknown painter among so many of acknowledged ability he determined to betake his naive self and remove to America, thoroughly discouraged by the lack of interest he created in New York, he determined to come West. About that time a party of gentlemen interested in transcontinental railroads then being considered were about to go across the country to San Francisco, and young McDonald was employed to go with them in his artistic capacity. McDonald stayed a few years on the Pacific coast, where he developed and disposed of a number of the sketches he had made on the overland journey, and then he again turned his face toward the East. But he never got any farther than Illinois, where his funds having become exhausted he was forced to paint pictures for the art exhibit of a country fair. About this time he married and got down to painting signs and doing such other work with his brush as would gain him a living. He cherished the desire to go to Paris and take a few years' course in some art schools. To raise sufficient money for the trip, he invented a combined pack and narrow which he found no sale for. This left him in a realization that there was nothing for him to do but to plod on as before. He lost his reason as a result, and was incarcerated in an asylum from which he was released after some years, cured as was supposed. After a struggle for existence his means returned, he and his family in the meantime having removed to St. Louis. Being without funds and ill, he was placed in the insane ward of the poorhouse, where he died.

His family was penniless at the time of his demise and the body of Alexander McDonald, artist, inventor and dreamer of great dreams lies today in potter's field.

A CAMP MEETING.

It Ends in a Fight Between the Preacher and the Chief.

MUNCIE, Ind., Aug. 7.—The colored camp meeting which has held the boards at the tabernacle in the fair grounds for a week had an exciting finish last night. The Rev. Jason Binney, colored, was in charge of the meeting. He had arranged for the Sisters of Mercy, a colored quartette of Indianapolis for the week for $50. The singers were paid $25, but when they demanded the rest, Binney refused to settle. The meeting adjourned in an abusive manner and the congregation flocked around the quartette and preacher. In the argument that followed, the Rev. Binney became very much excited, and called Professor Shelton bad names and struck at him. At the same time Mrs. Adams, a sister of the preacher, struck a member of the quartette across the face with an umbrella. "Wick" Adams, a pugilistic young man, and other friends of the preacher closed in on the Indianapolians with instruments of war ready to do battle to a finish, but the strangers wisely concluded that they were outnumbered and had no chance in a pugilistic encounter with the crowd. Police in arrived in time to prevent serious trouble.

THE JAPS NOSE TO WIN.

This is the Opinion of Captain Bridgman, of the Cruiser Baltimore.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 7.—Captain W. H. Bridgman, U. S. A. who has commanded the cruiser Baltimore for the last two years, has returned here on a two months' leave of absence, having left the Baltimore at Chemulpo, Corea, July 12th. He regards the Oriental war as an unequal contest with odds largely in favor of Japan, which, he says, has a splendid navy and an army as well organized as that of any European country. Japan, he thinks, is sure to win, unless China is given time to make war preparations on a gigantic scale. In his opinion the Japanese government has been endeavoring to drive the war in order to detract attention from internal political dissensions.

THE VIGILANT AND BRITANNIA.

Statement of Captain Hall in Regard to the Race.

DUNDEE, Isle of Wight, Aug. 6.—To an Associated Press reporter, after the race, Captain Hall of the Vigilant said:

"It is quite true, the Britannia tried to foul us at the start, evidently in order to allow the Galatea to get ahead. In fact, that was their tactics throughout. When one got slightly ahead, the other tried to hold us, and this led to our running into the shore twice than once. The Galatea only led us on the run to Hempridge. Directly we turned the point and started the race for St. Catherine point, we began to gain. The Britannia also came up and began to commence a series of duffing matches. The Britannia was in Windward and prevented us from passing, continually bearing down on us and keeping us in shore. Ultimately, when we had just passed Venior, we tried to pass the Britannia on the leeward, but failed. Then we decided to pass her to windward, whatever the risk might be. We succeeded, and the Britannia was pressed to shore and her bottom rubbed. Later on the Britannia tried the same game when we were close together. We were determined not to be foiled in this fashion, and as both were going it was simply a case of which would go the farthest to shore. As the Britannia draws three feet more water than the Vigilant, she went on the rocks. The Vigilant also touched, being nearer the shore, but I do not think she suffered serious injury.

Captain Hall concluded: "Of the numerous continuous tricks there will be a yacht or two less to race these regattas."

An Imperial Wedding.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 6.—The marriage of the Grand Duke Alexis to Princess Alexandra and Grand Duchess Xenia, daughter of the Czar, was celebrated to day at the imperial palace at Peterhof, in the presence of the imperial family, the queen of Greece, Prince Christian of Denmark, the Princess of Wales and numerous other members of the royal families and distinguished personages.

READY TO GO TO WORK.

Two Thousand Men at the Chicago Stockyards Anxious to Vote.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The train yards of the Lake Shore and Wabash companies at East street were filled today with switchmen and engineers ready to return to work. Five of them were reinstated, their places having been taken during the strike by new men. Considerable surprise was shown by the men at the delay of the company in accepting their services.

About 2,000 men who applied for work at the stockyards were sent away. The switchmen's association took charge of the switch engines in one of the yards and the old men were placed over the new ones, to give them instructions.

The repair shops opened at Pullman with 150 additional men at work. This increase makes the force now employed number 800 in all, and it is expected by the company that by tomorrow at least 1,000 will be at work.

The New Japanese Minister.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Immediately after the announcement of the recall of Mr. Gozo Tateno as Japanese minister to this country it was stated that Mr. Kentaro Kaneko had been appointed to the position. This was an error, due, it is supposed, to a mistake in the transmission of the name.

A telegram was received at the Japanese legation today announcing the appointment of Mr. Shinsuke Kurino, chief of the diplomatic bureau of the department of foreign affairs, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the United States. Mr. Kurino was one of the students sent to this country by the Japanese government as soon as that government decided on the policy of sending young men abroad to pursue the course of study in colleges and universities of Europe and America, some twenty years ago. When Mr. Kurino had thoroughly mastered the English language he devoted himself to the study of law in the Cambridge law school at Harvard. Subsequently on his return to Japan, he received an appointment in the department of foreign affairs, where he especially dealt with matters involving legal questions.

The Tarsney Case.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 6.—Late this afternoon a number of important arrests in the Tarsney case were made. The warrants were sworn out in Justice McCoach's court by Detective Peter Kane of Denver, and Deputy Brisbine. The men arrested were William Bancroft, William Seaman, Bob Mullin, Tom Moellenbringer, Walter Skehan and S. Crumley.

The latter is the owner of the hack drivers on the night, and Crumley also drove one. The men will have a hearing before Justice McCoach.

The Alabama Election.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The editor of the Mobile (Ala.) Register telegraphs the general manager of the Associated Press that Oates's election is assured by a majority ranging anywhere from 30,000 to 35,000.

The returns show Democratic gains, with a probable Democratic majority of ten in the legislature. The majority in northern Alabama is probably 15,000 to 18,000, which will be offset by Oates's majority of 15,000 to 20,000 in southern and middle Alabama.

Senator Morgan's return to the Senate is assured.

In the First Degree.

BOISE, Ida., Aug. 6.—The first verdict of murder in the first degree recorded in Idaho in many years was found early Sunday morning at Pocatello against Charles Perry. He murdered Patrick McNamara at Lava, June 25th.

Trapping the Counterfeiters.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—United States secret service officers employed in the big counterfeiting case are filing the offices of the secret service bureau in this city with the paraphernalia with which the band were producing their spurious wealth.

The plant of the counterfeiters is situated on a small farm in Bethel, Conn. Today Chief William P. Hazen of the secret service department at Washington and Chief Forsythe of the New York division gave an outline of the work which has been done in the case. It appears the detectives have been working on the case since June 15th. They made an important point when they arrested Samuel A. Mazey, a restaurant-keeper in the city. An advertisement in a New York paper was answered by a person whose name is withheld. The letter, believing there was something wrong, took the letter received in the secret service bureau. It was answered by Chief Forsythe, who managed to bring the advertiser and the man who first replied to the advertisement together. The advertisement proved to be Mazey. He promised to sell the other party $1,000 worth of counterfeit money for $100. Chief Forsythe was introduced. He produced $100 marked money and the deal was completed. Mazey was arrested with the marked money in his possession.

An Attack of Hiccoughs Causes Death.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 6.—Rev. J. J. Pierce died today after a prolonged attack of hiccoughs. On July 15th he was taken with a cold, and vomited his meals for seven days. He began to sink a few days ago from gastritis, and his hiccoughing did not stop until he was at death's door.

DESTITUTION IN NEBRASKA.

An Appeal in Behalf of the Drouth-Stricken Portions.

Thousands of Families Said to be at the Verge of Starvation and Will Need Public Aid.

OMAHA, Aug. 6.—An appeal for the drouth-stricken portions of Nebraska, signed by a committee claiming to represent large interests, was today sent to the governor. It states that the committee has just returned from an extensive visit through the section through which the hot winds destroyed crops. The committee explains that it has reason to believe from what has been told that thousands of families will either starve, emigrate or be fed by country unless the people as a whole provide for them.

The committee suggests as a solution of the problem that a special session of the legislature be called immediately to devise a state system of irrigation, and that those in the drouth districts be given employment in the ditches. They locate land in the Dismal river country, in the Sandhills and in Holt county, where there is water in abundance, but the land is so sandy that it requires at least one-third more rain or water than any other farming land in the adjacent counties.

ANTI-ANARCHIST BILL.

The Measure has been Passed by the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The anti-anarchist bill passed by the Senate today was sent to Congress with a favorable recommendation by Secretary Carlisle, and was a substitute for the House bill passed by the House. The first section provides that no alien anarchist shall be permitted to land at any port in the United States, but this provision shall not be construed so as to exclude political refugees. The bill provides for hearings in the case of landing of reported anarchists, and in case the charges be proved the secretary is authorized to send the accused back to the country from where he came. The bill also provides for the exportation of any unnaturalized foreign born person, who, upon a trial in any court, shall appear to the judge of the court to be an anarchist. It also provides a system of inspection of other emigrants by authorizing the secretary of the treasury to appoint at such ports as he may deem necessary so immigrant inspectors whose duty it shall be to inspect passengers embarking for the United States, to erase from the passenger manifest the name of any immigrant who, he is satisfied, should not be permitted to land in this country, and he is also to forbid any person belonging to the excluded classes in the first or second cabin or in any part of the vessel. He is also to give information as to any suspected persons and to admonish the master of the vessel of the character of any immigrant, if objectionable, who is to be required to pay a penalty of $100 in case he transports such a person after receiving the warning. It provides that the fact that an immigrant should give notice of intention to become a citizen shall not constitute a bar to proceedings against him.

WILL NOT TOUCH SHANGHAI.

Japan Will Respect the Neutrality of the Treaty Ports.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—In the House of Commons today Sir Edwin Gray in reply to a question from Mr. Gourley, a prominent ship owner, said that Japan had promised that no warlike operations should be undertaken against Shanghai and the approaches on the condition that China does not obstruct the approaches to Shanghai. Japan contends that the powers have no right to interfere with neutral vessels except in the event of a blockade, due notice of which should be given, or in case of contraband of war. It would be dangerous for Great Britain to define by a general statement what is not contraband of war. Coal has been held not to be contraband of war, as a rule, but it was possible in some cases that it might become so. Great Britain must adhere to the doctrine that it is not for fighters to decide what is and what is not contraband of war, regardless of the well established rights of neutral people.
