A TRAIN HELD UP.

Robbers in Villains Attack a Central Illinois Express.

VIGOROUS DEFENSE OF THE CREW.

One of the Robbers Caught and in prison—The Others Escape Securing Nothing.

CENTRALIA, Ills., Sept. 21.—A daring attempt was made by three masked men to rob the Illinois Central through express train No. 3, which left Chicago for New Orleans at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and arrives here at midnight, two and a half hours late, with Engineer John Young in the cab and Eli McDougle as fireman. The train stopped at Coal Chute, south of the city, for fuel, when the robbers, who rose on top of the baggage car swung down in the tender and fired three shots at the engineer and fireman, one shot striking the engineer in the shoulder and cutting out at the elbow. The robber hit him in the back, leaping to the left leg. The fireman was shot in the chin and in the forehead, one bullet lodging in the neck. He then, with the robber striking him all the trick and leaving him senseless. One robber has entered the baggage car, at the moment and ordered the express messenger at the point of the revolver to throw up his hands and open the safe. The reply was that the safe was already open and when the robber was at work there, the brakeman went to the passenger car and asked that every body with guns should come on. The robbers were in the express car. As the time brakeman, John Sanders, of Dupont, was just returning from a trip and at work down to the car opening fire. He just entered the car in which the bandit was at work. In trying to reach over Conductor Odum to shoot, he caught the conductor in the right hand, inflicting a slight wound. The robber got the ball over the left eye. The man captured is a wounded robber, who passes under the name of Daniel L. Joseph, and carries a traveling card from the Chicago Under-ground Railway Tribunal, issued August 24, also a switchman's card issued by the Santa Fe route at Kansas City. After being shot he jumped from the car and was caught by the train, his hat being crushed. The train was in charge of Conductor Odum with Ben Young as engineer and McDougle as fireman. When the trainman went back and gave the alarm, the passengers commenced hiding their valuables and the lamps in the entire train were turned down. There was some talk of hanging the robber caught, but wiser counsel prevailed and he is now in city jail under guard. The train carries valuable express matter between Chicago and the south and there is little doubt that the intention was to blow up the safe.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

Centralia, Ills., goes on record for almost a well planned train robbery that failed of success. At midnight last night the New Orleans limited from Chicago reached here. Three men secreted themselves on top of the express car and when the train stopped at the coal chute, a short distance further on to take coal, the robbers climbed down and went into the cabin, calling on the engineer and fireman to throw up their hands. Instead of doing so they made for the robbers who fired, wounding both severely. The robbers then attacked the express car, firing numerous shots through the doors. The express messenger and conductor, who happened to be in the car, replying in kind till the door was shot into of holes. The robbers finally broke open the door with a sledge hammer and letting themselves down over the top of the car with grappling irons renewed the fight. With the messenger and conductor, who in the meantime barricaded themselves behind boxes and hampers. While this was going on a brakeman warned the passengers, who proceeded to conceal their valuables. Among the passengers was an old-time trakeman, Jake Sanders of Dupont, who had a shotgun. He went at once to the express car and succeeded in bringing down one of the robbers with a well aimed shot. Seeing the game up the other two robbers fled, having secured nothing. It is understood that a large amount of money was in the express safe. It is thought the wounded robber will die. His name is believed to be Daniel L. Joseph, evidently a railroad man, as he carries a card from the Underground Railway Tribunal, issued at Chicago, and a switchman's card from the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe at Kansas City. In the melee Engineer John Young received a bullet in his shoulder, coming out at the elbow, and another in the back lodging in the hip. Fireman McDougal was also twice wounded, once in the leg and once in the neck. Conductor Odum was also wounded slightly in the hand. Alarm was at once given here and a large posse turned out to hunt for the robbers.

THE WOUNDED ROBBER.

It now appears that the name of the wounded robber is D. L. Jones of Oxford Mills, Iowa. He was hit with a monkey-wrench by the fireman and was so badly hurt that he could not get exhausted. The robber who was shot by Sanders escaped with the others. It also appears that there were four robbers instead of three.

THE GANG.

After the robbers had fled, the train backed up to the station and a new train crew was put on board and proceeded. The whole city was aroused by the firing of Marshall, and the entire town turnout was threatened with lynching unless no more a full confession. He said the other members of the gang were Charles Charlie O. Dwyer, this city, James Harding, Danville, Ill., and a man named Nicholson, and he also implicated a man named Martin of Dupont in the plot though he took no part in the robbery. Dwyer's home was immediately surrounded and surrender demanded. He another refused to surrender and a party watched till daylight, when Dwyer gave himself up and is now in jail with Jones. Searching parties are scouring the country for the other two. Dwyer made a full confession. Jones and the morning he an Associated Press reporter that Dwyer had twenty-three weeks planning the job up, making arrangements and arrangements were made to meet at Dwyer's after the robbery and divide the swag. Jones was to have most of it to give his mother, who is poor. Jones, the wounded man came from St. Louis and Monday with the other members of the gang.

The court ordered the issuance of $5,000,000 certificates to be known as series A and $1,000,000 series B, all to be taken at once.

ROANOKE, Va., Sept. 21.—The negro Tom Smith, who assaulted Mrs. Henry Bishop last night was lynched this morning. After last night's fatal disposition he fell. The militia the mob continued to search for the negro and found the place where he was secreted. A later account says the mob took Smith from a policeman and hanged and shot him in the residence part of the city. At one time the mob threatened to bury the negro in Mayor Trout's yard, owing to the bitter feeling and the threats against the mayor and Captain Bird of the militia when they left town. Excitement is running high. Trouble is feared. Only nine were killed last night. They are as follows:

Trouble in Brazil.

Why Rio Has Not Been Bombarded Already.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Private advices from Rio Janeiro say that a serious bombardment is expected hourly. The city became the bombardment was not commenced yesterday is that negotiations between the rebels and government were undertaken at the instance of the foreign powers, and the foreign warships, who wished to save the city from destruction. It is not believed that there will amount to anything. It is also believed that the government is merely prolonging them to allow non-combatants to get away and the merchants to save their goods. The statements of yesterday are confirmed from several sources and the attempt of the Brazilian minister to belittle the rebellion is not accepted with any credence in London.

The people of Rio admit that the rebellion has continued to rage and will last long. It is now in full swing and the city is in a state of siege. The insurgents are in communication with the rebels in the south, and are acting in unison. After the success at Santos they made a strong attack on the city of Nictheroy and strategemes were made to meet at Dwyer's after the robbery and divide the swag. Jones was to have most of it to give his mother, who is poor. Jones, the wounded man came from St. Louis and Monday with the other members of the gang.

Report That Liberals Will Endeavor to "Pack" the Citizens' Primaries.

GREAT INTEREST BEING MANIFEST

County Registrar Walden Announces the "Tribune's" Liberal Registration Call.

The report was freely circulated on the streets today among politicians and business men that the Liberals would make a desperate attempt to capture the citizens' primaries tonight by rushing on the ground early, packing the various halls, electing their chairmen and running the gathering generally. This rumor only provoked passing interest on the part of the gentlemen engaged in preparing and advancing the interests of the citizens' movement. They state that the call is to all citizens irrespective of party and that no political organization will be allowed to run the meeting. The people themselves, they say, must act as their judgment shall direct. They, however, advise all good citizens to be on hand early in the evening to avoid any attempt at packing as far as possible.

Believing that all good citizens who have at court the welfare of the city are anything but those should be a further establishment such municipal misconduct, we the undersigned are expected to call an independent citizen's convention to place in nomination a citizens' municipal ticket for this precinct, to be held on the same place as will assemble for the election of a citizens' administration. CRY OF THE LIBERALS.

The following announcement was made today in the members of the Liberal party:

"Many names of voters have been dropped from the registration lists or changed your residence or have any reason to believe that you are not properly registered, you will please call at the office of Liberal Committee, room 5, O'Neill block, 43 W. Second South street, and of possible. Office open until 9 p. m. Liberal city committee. J. Moritz, chairman. S. P. Armstrong, secretary."

When Registrar J. E. Walden saw this he could not have been surprised, for he knows the cool impudence of Liberal methods, but he was wroth. He denounced the assertion that names had been dropped or stricken from the lists as a baseless fabrication. He also said: "As regards the statement, I want to say that not a single name has been stricken from the registration lists, and further there will not be until after the 20th of this month. The registration books will be open from the 15th to the 20th, inclusive, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on the last day, the 20th, they will be open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Any person can have his name placed on
