DEMOCRATIC CREED.

Cleveland Does Not Believe Free Coinage Belongs to It.

ADVICE TO THE CONVENTION.

The President Advises that no Mistake on the Money Question Should be Made.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—In reply to a request from the New York Herald for a statement concerning the Democratic situation, President Cleveland tonight sent the following to that newspaper:

"I have read the figures as the probable action of delegates already chosen or to be chosen to the Democratic national convention, but I refuse to believe that when the time arrives for deliberate action there will be imposed upon our Democratic creed a demand for free, unlimited and independent coinage of silver. I cannot believe this, because I know that the Democratic party is neither unintelligent nor foolish, nor because it seems to me to be that such a course will inflict very great injury upon every interest of our country, which it has been the mission of the Democracy to advance, and will result in leaving our party in utter disorganization. There is little hope that as a means of success for free silver proposition, after its thorough discussion during a political campaign, will attract a majority of the votes of the country.

"It must be that many of the citizens is flowing from now relying upon the slender pretexts for their use, will be disposed before the time comes for them to cast their ballots, which will express their silver creed though the acceptance by the Democracy of this proposition would, I believe, give to our opponents an advantage both in the present and the future which they do not deserve.

"My attachment to true Democracy is so strong that I cannot be content to see it identified with the promotion of our country's good. The result sufficiently to account for the anxiety that we should be to leave to our party the direction. To my opinion, no effort should be spared to secure such action of delegates as will avert party demoralization. Those Democrats who believe in the cause of sound money should be united and be ready to act in advance. A color worth fighting for is worth fighting for to the end. If sound money Democrats waver in their support, there is danger of mortal being made. Such danger should stimulate their action in avoiding it instead of creating discouragement.

"I am very far from arrogating to myself a controlling influence upon the policy of my party, but as an unflinching Democrat, who has been honored by his party, and who desires hereafter no greater political privilege than to occupy the place of a private in the ranks, I hope I may not be blamed for saying this much at this time in the interest of the grand old organization, so rich in honorable traditions, so proud of its achievements, and which so intimately and bravely in its battles for the people's welfare."

BIMETALLISM.

The Time Ripe for International Agreement on the Matter.

PARIS, June 16.—Senator Hoar of Massachusetts has issued the following statement to the press: "I am confident that the time is ripe for a settlement of the silver question and re-establishment of bimetalism by international agreement, and with the large combination of England the best Republicans would rejoice to leave the honor of this if the convention does not commit itself to an extreme statement in favor of gold monometallism and the leaders are prudent in their action. In answer to M. Meline says if it depended on Senator Hoar alone we need not wait long and his declaration is supported by 161 out of 360 members of the Chamber of Deputies and many leading statesmen.

Indianing M. Leonet, I have conversed with Mr. Balfour, first lord of the British treasury and conservative leader in the House of Commons, and several members of his government, and I can assure upon the highest authority that Mr. Balfour's recent speech represented the opinion of the government. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, speaking at the exchequer, on March 17th last made a speech in which he said the government was willing and anxious to enter into an international conference or upon negotiations, but it was not expected to overcome the difficulties which under world's great British issues of having raised the singularly prosperous."

Cretcomen's Silver Resolution.

At the request of Senator Perkins, James Cretcomen, a newspaper correspondent, prepared the following resolution to be introduced in the Michigan legislature:

"The government of Spain having lost its entire Cuba, and being unable to protect the property of lives of citizens in Cuba, it is proper for Congress to take immediate steps, we demand that so great loss of the United States shall be promptly interposed to restore peace in the island. We hold it to be necessary to our safety, peace and prosperity that the peoples of Cuba shall secure perfect independence, and we pledge to them our sympathy in their noble struggle against a cruel and barbarous Spanish misgoverning."

The Fight on Morton.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—Despite the special boiling that the votes will be McKinley and Morton, as now, Morton's name will not go on the ticket without the most vehement protest of the anti-Platt leaders in New York state. Headed by Warner Miller, they are sending their energies to prevent Morton's nomination for Vice-President. The march to the New York delegation has taken the Platt and Miller factions into battle today when the telegram from Morton to Platt was received stating he would explained to the Vice-Presidential nomination if he failed to the Presidential race.

ON CREDENTIALS.

The Committee Establishing a Precedent Favorable.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The committee on credentials organized today, and by its decision to refer the judgments of the national committee on credentials, probably materially shortened the duration of the convention. The contests which were made in Texas and Texas and were referred to the credentials committee by the national committee, and these were taken up at once. The decision rendered between the Hogan and Adolphus forces in Texas in favor of the former. The resolution to seat J. Edward Addicks and his Free colleagues was defeated by a vote of 23 to 51, and one to seat the delegation headed by Senator Jim Henry Higgins was then carried by 41 to 17. Senator Allison of Iowa gave notice he would make a minority report to the convention recommending the seating of the Addicks men.

The McKinley men organized the committee by electing Mr. Franklin Fort of New Jersey chairman, then defeating by a vote of 29 to 17 a resolution to call for papers in all of the contests. When the resolution to follow the action of the national committee was postponed until Texas and Delaware and been disposed of, the adopting in certain.

Congressman Allen of Utah spoke warmly: "Gentlemen, you are establishing a precedent that will some day come to plague us." He intimated that the report of the committee might be fought on the floor of the convention.

and so much delay was caused to that as in cases brought before the committee, it is declared that the decisions of the national committee were being adopted by a majority of the committee little work, been, and that so far was expectation the course followed by our one in the matter of credentials would be brought forward the established usage. In case contests the national committee might select a Presidential candidate.

California Democrats.

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—The California state Democratic convention next date little attention. The main business of the opening session was the fight for recognition between opposing delegations from San Francisco, one representing the so-called Jacks, the other supporting the old regime of Christopher Buckley, the boss of boss of San Francisco. The Buckley men force into the convention hall before the doors were opened and compel the San Francisco seats. When the convention was called to order there was a long and lively fight between candidates from the opposing factions. Franklin Fred H. Good of Stockton, representing the Jacks, was elected.

It is conceded that the convention will declare for the free coinage of silver.

R. J. Meadon of Modesto was nominated for Congress from the Seventh district.

FAMINE IN CHINA.

The Harvest a Failure and the People Dying of Pestilence.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 17.—A serious famine, which threatens to place the most populous country of Tonkin, China, into the direst misery for many years, is devastating the country.

From the mail advices received by the steamer Coptic it seems that last year the rainfall was meager, and in consequence the harvest for food was taken. The native throughout the whole of the country are in the most miserable condition. It is reported that mothers are selling their children for sale for a few cents. In Hanoi, the other day, a mother offered to sell her three infants for eighteen, intending to hand them over to a Europeans rather than see them perish from hunger in her arms. In the towns everywhere the streets are crowded by Alives who have come in from the northern to beg for food. It is not so bad in the Lower Tonkin, but the state of affairs is awful. The inhabitants emigrate from districts in vast. In the province of Hanoy, in the north, the Sinh and Hung Yen the famine is more serious. Thousands of the people death are dying in the outskirts, while many cases are going about pilaging and perpetrating acts of the grossest violence. Here the assessed the famine price of $3.20 a piecul. Small dealers are commencing or any similar epidemic, which is not at all impossible, then it will be a veritable calamity. Already several cases of the terrible scourge have been reported from the province where the famine has been felt most severely. If the cholera gets a firm foothold it will have a disastrous effect upon the miserable native population.

Latest reports regarding the plague seem to indicate that while it continues there is no marked increase.

Spain's Regard for Cleveland.

NEW YORK, June 17.—A dispatch to the World from Madrid says:

Premier Canovas is anxious to avoid anything that might further strain the relations between America and Spain while Cleveland remains President.

An appeal will be made to the president of the opposing factions in the Cortes to stop the anti-American demonstrations in parliament, at least, in the first part of the session, which is in August.

Mulvey is Not a Candidate.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The Press this morning says: William G. Whitney has prepared a statement which may be issued for publication before he sails for Europe today. He will say he is not to be considered a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President and that he will not accept under any conditions. He will declare in favor of a gold standard plank at Chicago, but will submit no name within the party at all hazards.

Pleased With the Platform.

PORTLAND, ORE., June 17.—The Oregonian says of the financial plank: "The financial plank agreed upon is such an improvement upon the Minneapolis utterances of four years ago that it seems hypocritical to look for its sincerity.

"Politicians drafted it and it aims at sightness and persuasion. But its arguments are sound. The implication that the silver candidate or some impossible standard will come in when an international agreement for the coinage is secured, is not fraudulent and is the honest result of the effort to parley with "friends of silver." It is a good platform, on which "we go before the people" and it will be endorsed at the polls in November.

THE PRESENT CAMPAIGN.

Largely a Struggle for Offices, Says Mr. Wallerson.

LONDON, June 17.—The Chronicle this morning has a well written interview with Hon. Henry Wallerson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal. In the prepared answers he said he did not regard the pending issue in America as more or less of a fiasco. "If the Republicans come in," said he, "they will find themselves as little able to settle questions as the Democrats have been in the past three years."

"For the moment," Mr. Wallerson continues, "the Democrats seem to have gone to pieces, for while the silver men disorganized last year by the bolts and resolutions, there was no Republicans to go to pieces, but there will be a complete reorganization of party lines and there will be a great and conclusive contest in 1896 between sound and unsound Democrats, silverites and Bankers. The result for general election will be largely a struggle for offices."

IN TURKEY.

Prohibition Against Dressing Are Mention Children.

LONDON, June 17.—The Daily News has a dispatch from Constantinople which says: Miss Shattuck, the American Missionary, who conducted the Orphanage at Marash, has been forbidden to send orphans from Marash for fear that the people of Orfa are going to massacre.

Mrs. Ives, the wife of the American missionary at Marash, was not allowed to leave there with her children unless Mr. Ives charge d'affaires, Mr.

John W. Riddle, was imprisoned. He was prompt only upon demands being made by American minister.

A MUSIC LOVING RABBIT.

HE CHARMED ALL THE FERRET WHICH A LITTLE GIRL WHISTLED.

St. Nicholas: Alice was arguing a point of whistling while working in the pantry for the edification of her mother. She could whistle very sweetly, too, which was something of an advantage for her point.

"Now, Mamsie, listen to me for one minute and I will show you that I can whistle while I work and not make a single mistake. Now, I'm going to whistle and pretend that I am a little rabbit, and I'm going to make a mistake, and you shall see how it will make me stop whistling and peeping up anxious, like a rabbit
