OUR OWN STATE.

OGDEN.

Special to the "News."

Ogden, Jan. 3.—Yesterday the old county offices changed hands, and out and the new county officials took their places. The outgoing officials are Democrats, the new incumbents are Republicans, as follows: Sheriff, C. E. Lane; recorder, J. F. Henderson; assessor, John Gibson; clerk, Charles Hollenworth; surveyor, William Burtenshaw; treasurer, Alex Chaudoir; attorney, George Halverson; commissioners, L. B. Adams, Lyman Shaw, William G. Barth.

County clerk's deputies—L. J. Holden and Hyrum Lewis; Cahoon and Hinks Child.

Recorder's deputies—Mrs. Emeline H. West and David Madsen.

Assessor Gibson appoints Don W. Ellis his chief clerk. Mr. Ellis was the Parish candidate for county assessor and was the only candidate of the Parishites elected to a county office. He did not quality for surveyor. The new board of commissioners appointed Will Hansen janitor, and he is the only county official who is not a straight Republican.

Yesterday was not a good day for here. The city was very quiet. The banks and business houses were closed and public business was transacted by the new county officials.

The Rev. E. B. Sutton, an old G. A. R. man, and a national grand army preacher evangelist, is blind to make two addresses in Ogden, tonight at the Baptist church and Wednesday night at the Presbyterian church.

Ice enough has not yet become sufficient in Ogden yet a large number of people have it in a solid form and new cases are constantly arriving.

Yesterday at Marriott's hall, which furnishes a portion of Ogden proper, there was given a ball dance and entertainment for the benefit of the old guard who are past seventy years old. This is an annual event in the ward and much joy is given to the residents of the place. There are only about one dozen who come within the honored list, yet the citizens of the ward, regardless of age, sex or religious conditions, all join in making the occasion a happy one. Yesterday the exercises were enlivened by songs, music and recitations, and the entire time was devoted to making the aged feel that their whitened locks and weathered features are still dear to their friends and relatives.

A brisk snowstorm set in about 8 o'clock this morning, which lasted long enough to make the sleighing good. The county auditor's annual report submitted yesterday to the old board of county commissioners shows the county owed about $20,000 in taxes over $100,000.

Charles Phase, the brakeman whose leg was broken several days ago by falling from a box-car, had his leg amputated yesterday.

Mrs. A. B. Harper, wife of the Tribune, Ogden, correspondent, is confined to her home by an aggravated case of grippe.

John F. Lovridge, secretary of the Weber County Sportsmen's association, has called a meeting of local sportsmen for Wednesday evening to consider matters relating to the game protection to fish and game through legislative channels.

A Sunday school dance was held in the Fifth Institute yesterday afternoon, which was attended by between 200 and 300 children. Ward dances were held in all the ecclesiastical wards of the city except the Fifth last night.

The county business is going along as usual today. All the new officials and their deputies put in an early appearance this morning. The only changes noticeable are in the offices about the county court house. Senator L. W. Shurtliff and Representatives G. W. Brassell and T. D. Johnson, visited Salt Lake City yesterday and returned to Ogden in the late train last night.

The Columbia club entertained at about 10 of Ogden's young society gentlemen, kept open house yesterday, and received calls from a large number of ladies and gentlemen.

George Casey, a 12-year-old boy residing in the southern part of the city, accidentally shot himself with an air-gun yesterday morning. The attending physician reports that the wound is serious but not necessarily fatal.

Sheriff Layton has appointed as his deputies Marcus Hinks, Jr., and Joe Dunbar, the latter a brother of ex-Sheriff Gilbert Dunbar.

The people of North Ogden turned out to a ward reunion yesterday. There was a lunch at noon in the meeting house and a dance in the evening.

Senator Frank J. Cannon still lingers at the capital. He has not been in Ogden since last Friday, although both of the Salt Lake morning dailies have had him here every day since Sunday.

The senatorial question is the only political question now absorbing the attention of the people of Ogden. The interest in the question is not confined to group points, even the children talk "politics" in the streets, a subject which are continually going on in public opinion in this city and county have strongly in one particular direction and great will be the disappointment of many should Dave Dwyer fail to come home the wire ahead of all others.

Patrons generally was better in the city than in 1891, the resources for 1892 exceeded, and the people are happy and hearty.

Assistant Chief McCarty and Will Cahoon of the fire department are at home in bed in the city of the deadly grippe cabon. Part of the same department were slow showed in the morning after a long night's work at fires, several of the other officers are also suffering with their pocket-handkerchiefs and manfully sticking to their posts.

LOGAN.

Special to the "News."

Logan, Jan. 3.—The people of Logan and Cache county have farewell to 1892, with kindest regret, for to them it has been one of marked prosperity and material progress. The most bountiful harvest that was ever garnered in Cache is now safely away in the strong boxes of our farmers.

Forty new houses have sprung up, where were raised to schools, and the population of Logan, City, eye and heart and soul. Charity owing to the energetic efforts of Bishop Preston and the kindness of the farmers who inhabit the country, to expand to larger proportions than ever before. Thousands of yards of fuel were donated to the poor of the city, and plans for various business enterprises are being matured.

The old year leaves us with the new year in a very good condition. Danger to the various waters and a few private contracts, which will be sure to cause trouble, have been given a the dismissed and determined for the benefit of the ward who are past seventy years old. This is an annual event in the ward and much joy is given to the residents of the place. There are only about one dozen who come within the honored list, yet the citizens of the ward, regardless of age, sex or religious conditions, all join in making the occasion a happy one. Yesterday the exercises were enlivened by songs, music and recitations, and the entire time was devoted to making the aged feel that their whitened locks and weathered features are still dear to their friends and relatives.

A brisk snowstorm set in about 8 o'clock this morning, which lasted long enough to make the sleighing good. The county auditor's annual report submitted yesterday to the old board of county commissioners shows the county owed about $20,000 in taxes over $100,000.

Charles Phase, the brakeman whose leg was broken several days ago by falling from a box-car, had his leg amputated yesterday.

Mrs. A. B. Harper, wife of the Tribune, Ogden, correspondent, is confined to her home by an aggravated case of grippe.

John F. Lovridge, secretary of the Weber County Sportsmen's association, has called a meeting of local sportsmen for Wednesday evening to consider matters relating to the game protection to fish and game through legislative channels.

A Sunday school dance was held in the Fifth Institute yesterday afternoon, which was attended by between 200 and 300 children. Ward dances were held in all the ecclesiastical wards of the city except the Fifth last night.

The county business is going along as usual today. All the new officials and their deputies put in an early appearance this morning. The only changes noticeable are in the offices about the county court house. Senator L. W. Shurtliff and Representatives G. W. Brassell and T. D. Johnson, visited Salt Lake City yesterday and returned to Ogden in the late train last night.

The Columbia club entertained at about 10 of Ogden's young society gentlemen, kept open house yesterday, and received calls from a large number of ladies and gentlemen.

George Casey, a 12-year-old boy residing in the southern part of the city, accidentally shot himself with an air-gun yesterday morning. The attending physician reports that the wound is serious but not necessarily fatal.

Sheriff Layton has appointed as his deputies Marcus Hinks, Jr., and Joe Dunbar, the latter a brother of ex-Sheriff Gilbert Dunbar.

The people of North Ogden turned out to a ward reunion yesterday. There was a lunch at noon in the meeting house and a dance in the evening.

Senator Frank J. Cannon still lingers at the capital. He has not been in Ogden since last Friday, although both of the Salt Lake morning dailies have had him here every day since Sunday.

The senatorial question is the only political question now absorbing the attention of the people of Ogden. The interest in the question is not confined to group points, even the children talk "politics" in the streets, a subject which are continually going on in public opinion in this city and county have strongly in one particular direction and great will be the disappointment of many should Dave Dwyer fail to come home the wire ahead of all others.

Patrons generally was better in 1892 than in 1891, the resources for 1892 exceeded, and the people are happy and hearty.

Assistant Chief McCarty and Will Cahoon of the fire department are at home in bed in the city of the deadly grippe cabon. Part of the same department were slow showed in the morning after a long night's work at fires, several of the other officers are also suffering with their pocket-handkerchiefs and manfully sticking to their posts.

LOGAN.

Special to the "News."

Logan, Jan. 3.—The people of Logan and Cache county bade