THE SEMI-WEEKLY NEWS

The Great Country Paper of the West.

Issued Mondays and Thursdays and Contains All the Cream of the Daily and Saturday News.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Miss Quairrough to Speak—Miss Quairrough, principal of the Oquirrh school, will address the parents' classes of the Eighth and Ninth wards in the Ninth ward chapel tomorrow.

Sheepmen Become Alarmed—The sheepmen are beginning to realize the danger from necrobacillosis and State Veterinarian Young is being assured by them that he will have their financial and moral support in his efforts to stamp out the disease.

St. Paul's Men's Meeting—A men's conference will be held next Monday night in St. Paul's Episcopal rectory to arouse interest in parish work and further actively the influence of the church. There is to be a series of these meetings with socials following.

Vitosophy Club Election—The Vitosophy club met Friday evening, when the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: Dr. K. Stringham, president; G. T. Ingersall, vice-president; G. A. Gamble, secretary and librarian; G. B. Jones, treasurer. The club, with a membership of forty, has outlined a course of study for the coming season.

To Discuss Flax Growing—A meeting will be held in the Sixteenth ward meetinghouse on Wednesday evening, Oct. 20, when lectures on the flax industry will be given. The meeting is called especially to interest the people in the flax industry with the object of building a factory for the manufacture of linseed oil, oilcloth, linoleums and other products.

Inspecting Southern Foodstuff—Deputy State Food Inspector Heber C. Smith has gone on a six weeks' inspecting trip through southern Utah. Sanitary conditions generally will be looked into, and the co-operation of local health authorities is solicited. State Inspector Hansen says there is a new era at hand in the matter of food products, when adulteration and fraud will be relegated to the rear, and the public given the straight, genuine article.

Engineers Hold a Session—Section Director A. H. Thiessen of the weather bureau gave an interesting talk last evening before the Utah Society of Engineers on weather bureau work, and Wilton Powell, secretary of the local Aero club, discussed "The Principles and Development of Aerial Navigation," illustrating by references to the more notable types of aeroplanes. Five new members joined the club, A. G. McGregor, Joseph Ulmer, Henry D. Randall, Marham Cheever and W. A. Scott.

Mrs. Kincaid Will Recover—It is believed that Mrs. Eugene F. Kincaid, of 1180 Princeton avenue, who sustained a severe wound in the head when she stepped off backwards from a Sugar House streetcar on Eleventh East street near Harvard avenue last night at 7:15 o'clock, will recover in a short time. Mrs. Kincaid was carried after the accident into the home of Dr. A. Burrows, who dressed her injuries, after which she was taken to her home in a carriage.

To Build Long Tunnel—Aurin T. Sheldon, John H. Reader, W. J. Meagher and James S. Wildey of Vernal filed application Friday afternoon with the state engineer for 30 second feet of water from Big and Little Brush creeks in Uintah county to irrigate a large tract of hitherto arid land. The work involves construction of a tunnel 42,000 feet or a trifle over seven miles long, with a large dam at Little Brush creek. At present most of this water disappears in underground channels.

Series of Notable Sermons—A feature of special note in Evangelical church circles is the series of sermons on the Book of Revelation to be preached by Rev. L. S. Bowerman in the Baptist church, beginning Sunday evening next. The theme of the first sermon will be "The Church in the Field of History, or the Letters to the Seven Churches." As Mr. Bowerman has for some years made the Book of Revelation a special study, what he has to say will be listened to with much interest.

Payment of County Taxes—It will not be necessary for the residents of the southern portion of the county to make the trip to Salt Lake City to pay their taxes this year, as Treasurer John A. Groesbeck has made arrangements whereby taxes may be paid to W. W. Wilson at Sandy or to Leo Winder at Murray. These gentlemen were named as deputy county treasurers to collect taxes at Sandy and Murray by Mr. Groesbeck and were confirmed at the meeting of the county commissioners held Friday. Both men work in banks in the towns named and are to serve without pay.

Overflow on Sidewalk—M. R. Stewart, city health commissioner, in a letter to the city council objects to the flow of sompsonds and water over the sidewalk in the front and at the sides of the Royal laundry plant on South State street. The laundry was given a permit by the city some time ago to pump its sewage water north into the sewer at Sixth South street until it could connect with the State street sewer. Dr. Stewart now says this is impracticable and asks the council to change its order to get rid of the soapy water now poured on the sidewalk.

First Social of Season—The first of the Thursday night socials given by the local lodge of Elks during the fall and winter, took place last evening and was a most delightful affair. These socials will be held the second and last Thursdays of each month. There was a large and happy throng present last evening and those present had a royal good time. The floor was in excellent shape and the music good. During the evening delicious punch was served. The socials promise to become more popular than ever and it is expected the clubhouse will be taxed to its capacity on the last Thursday of this month.

New Home Opera Company Will Render "The Serenade"

During the past few weeks a number of leading amateur singers and actors of Salt Lake have been organizing a new home opera company, which will take the name of "The Salt Lakers," and will make its first appearance Thanksgiving Day, rendering the opera of "The Serenade." Nearly every one of the members of the new company was associated with the old Salt Lake Opera company, the proprietors of which are Prof. J. J. McClellan, John D. Spencer and George D. Pyper, but when it was learned that this company proposed to do nothing the present season, the new singers took up the idea of an organization with a vim and brought together a strong chorus, obtained the rights to "The Serenade" from the Witmarks of New York, and are now actively rehearsing. Those concerned are, Spencer Clawson, Jr., musical director, Alex Campbell, business manager, who will also have the comedy role, Hugh W. Dougall and J. Wesley Clawson, who will alternate in the difficult baritone part, Fred C. Graham, tenor, J. W. Summerhays, who will understudy Mr. Graham, Horace S. Ensign, who will do the comedy part, and Fred Smith the basso. Hazel Taylor Peery, well remembered for her work in "Robin Hood" will have the soprano part, and her understudy will be Miss Irene Kelly. The difficult contralto role, Dolores, is not yet cast, but several local singers are being considered.

The chorus numbers 35 voices, many of whom were members of the chorus which contributed so largely to the Salt Lake Opera company's success. With such an array of names, there ought to be no question as to the reception the company will meet with in Salt Lake and the out of town points it will visit.

AMUSEMENTS.

Lucia's Strong Success—Salt Lake apparently woke up last night to the fact that she has been entertaining an operatic angel unawares, for business at the Colonial experienced a boom, and there were but few seats vacant on the capacious lower floor, though there was room for improvement in the attendance in the upper sections.

The bill was the undying "Lucia," by the immortal Donizetti, and while it has been rendered in Salt Lake so many times before that it might be thought to be almost hackneyed, yet the enthusiasm which marked the climaxes last night, showed that its popularity is undiminished. As for the rendition by the International company, while it has been excelled by some of the great companies which visited us years ago, nothing in recent seasons has surpassed it.

The undoubted star of the cast was Mme. Norelli, described as "The Swedish Nightingale," and her preeminence was such that she totally eclipsed all the supporting artists. While she has not the youthful face and figure which one connects in his fancy with the ideal Lucia, youth seems to be out of the question when a soprano is obtained able to cope with the difficult music assigned to Lucia. The mad scene alone requires ripeness experience and vocal attainments impossible for anyone but a singer of mature years. It was in this scene that Norelli, last night, rose to her greatest heights, and for her work she was given a number of hearty recalls. In other parts of the opera her voice had an effect of being worn or weary in places, but it never failed her in the great bursts of passion and feeling. Her trills were admirably executed, and her ability to take such notes at C D and E flat above, showed that she is mistress of the coloratura style.

Second to her was the tenor of Mr. Bari, who in spite of an unromantic figure and an occasional shrilliness of tone, won his way so heartily that he was rewarded with some strong applause. He took the place of Colombini, who it is promised will sing this afternoon in "Carmen." The baritone of the evening, Zara, did capable work and has a fine stage presence. The others in the cast were acceptable, without being brilliant, and the same may be said of the chorus, which dresses well and acts well, but is somewhat light in volume. The famous sextette had the usual stormy encore, which was more due to its superb finish than its perfection throughout.

In the orchestra, the harp solo and the flute obligato in the mad scene were especially exquisite. The one feature which ought to be modified is the prominence of the prompter, who put himself much in evidence last night by loud talking and rapping on the chair which crosses the stage in front of the foot lights, keeping it in a constant vibration that distracted the attention of the audience from the performance.

"Carmen" will be the bill this afternoon, followed by "La Traviata" this evening; in the former, the accomplished artist Mme. Herry, has the title role. Colombini is Don Jose and Arcangeli the Toreador.

"La Traviata," which is a musical arrangement of the famous play of "Camille," will introduce Norelli in the title role and the new tenor Giacomo as Alfred. The program also puts the tenor Bari in the part of the baritone but the programs are so steadily deviated from during this engagement that it is hard to say whether or not the "Traviata" cast is correct.

OF INTEREST TO MOTHERS.

There is one subject which always interests the mothers of young children, and that is how to treat their coughs and colds, or to ward off a threatened attack of croup. For this purpose we can recommend Chamberlains' Cough Remedy. It always proves beneficial. In case of croup it should be given as soon as the croupy cough appears, so as to prevent the attack. Keep it at hand ready for instant use. Many mothers do so, and it saves them much uneasiness. For sale by all druggists.

LECTURES ON GENEALOGY.

The first of a series of 12 lessons on genealogy was given at the missionary class of the L. D. S. university Thursday evening. Mrs. Susa Y. Gates, after outlining the scope of these lessons, spoke of genealogy as a science. Elder Anthony W. Ivins of the council of the twelve, referred to the interest taken in genealogy throughout the world, and of the large libraries and genealogical societies. The speaker said: "Men are spending time and money in compiling family genealogies and we have the benefit of their work. We as a people, do not take the interest we should." He urged all to avail themselves of this opportunity and join the class. Duncan M. McAllister emphasized the importance of system and accuracy in genealogical research, and said: "The board of the Genealogical society, realizing the necessity of this, has given those interested this opportunity of getting the necessary information."

Prof. Done invited all interested in the study of Genealogy to attend these lessons. The next lecture, "Genealogy among the Jews," will be given at Room 30 B. Y. Memorial building, Wednesday evening, Oct. 27, at 7:30.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

This afternoon Mrs. Elizabeth Bonnemort and Mrs. Joseph Young are hostesses at a luncheon at the Knutsford, given in honor of Mrs. William Spry and Mrs. John Bransford, the table being laid in the form of a U and having a large centerpiece of American beauty roses and ferns, with white chrysanthemums and ferns at each end. Between these are baskets of ferns, and sprays of smilax are strewn about the cloth. The place cards are hand-painted American Beauty roses. Covers are laid for 55 guests, and assisting the hostess and guests of honor are Mrs. M. Bennion, Mrs. T. S. Keogh, Mrs. H. C. Hoffman of this city, and Mrs. T. D. Ryan and Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald of Ogden. The Hawaiian Troubadors furnish a program of delightful music. The event is the first of a series which Mrs. Bonnemort and Mrs. Young will give.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Stephens entertained at dinner last evening, the decorations being in autumn flowers and covers laid for about a dozen.

* * *

The managers of the Orpheum theater have generously pledged the receipts of next Friday's matinee performance for the benefit of the working room for the blind recently established in the grounds north of the Lion House. The regular Orpheum program will be given, and Salt Lake citizens should make it a banner day in box office receipts. The price of the ticket is a donation which will be rewarded with a most excellent entertainment, to say nothing of the satisfaction of contributing to the benefit of Utah's blind.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Paul have returned from an extended eastern trip including the larger cities between Salt Lake and New York.

* * *

The date of the marriage of Miss Genevieve McCornick and Walker Salisbury is set for Nov. 17.

Miss Erma Read is guest of honor this afternoon at a parcel shower party given by Mrs. Dan Coulam. Next Monday Mrs. Walter Wallace gives an afternoon affair in honor of Miss Read.

* * *

The junior class of the university gave an afternoon party yesterday in the Museum hall and the usual delightful time was spent. The decorations were in autumn leaves and white chrysanthemums, punch being served in an arbor formed of maple leaves. About 200 were present.

* * *

The Jewish girls of this city have organized a new club and have named it "Interalia." The members were entertained at the home of Miss Esther Landau, 159 Third avenue, last Tuesday evening and a most enjoyable time was spent. The evening was passed in music and guessing games. Miss Marie Rogawsky won the prize in the guessing contest. The rooms were prettily decorated in the colors of the club, green and gold, streamers of these colors being extended from the chandeliers to the tables. A large framed picture with the words "Interalia Welcome," "Success to Our Club," was hung across the entrance to the dining-room. Miss Ethel Landau was elected president of the club. A series of entertainments have been planned the girls drawing lots for their turn.

* * *

Mrs. Elias Smith entertained last night at a dinner at her home in honor of her guests, Mrs. Meyrick and Mrs. Bentel of Los Angeles, the table being decorated in pink asters and covers laid for 10 guests. An Orpheum party followed.

* * *

Mrs. Russell Schulder will entertain at a dinner on next Tuesday for Miss Ione Morrison.

* * *

The home of Mrs. P. A. H. Franklin was the scene of a pretty wedding on Thursday night, when her daughter Catherine and Carl B. Ferrin were married, the ceremony being performed at 7 o'clock with Rev. H. I. Hanson officiating in the presence of the relatives and a few intimate friends. Mr. and Mrs. Ferrin will make their home here.

* * *

One of the pretty luncheons of the week was that given by Mrs. L. Dunsche yesterday, the table having a cut glass bowl filled with nasturtiums for a centerpiece, and autumn leaves strewn about the cloth. The parlors were also beautifully decorated in autumn leaves and cosmos, and the hostess was assisted by her sister, Miss Alice Sutton, and Miss Mame Smith. Covers were laid for 15.

* * *

Miss Gertrude Kelly, whose marriage to Mr. Will White takes place next week, was guest of honor at a delightful Kensington on Thursday, given by Miss Irene White.
