After attending to some tax matters, the board adjourned until Saturday at 10 o'clock a. m.

SUNDAY RECEPTION.

A heavy rain set in about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and for an hour and a half the water fell in torrents and everything indicated that the reception to Admiral Schley would be a failure, but by 6:30 the rain ceased and the people began to congregate at the depot and Twenty-fifth street, which was densely packed with a living mass of humanity when the admiral and his party were driven through town. Cannon boomed, the band played and the people shouted and waved the adopted was compelled to show himself and make a little talk to the people. He said he was pleased to be saying that he would carry back home with him a settled heart rather than a divided one. Admiral Schley made a felicitous little speech, complimenting Admiral Sotter, the army and the navy—the soldiers and sailors who fought in Cuba and those who are now doing duty in the Philippines, including the Utah boys.

From the Porter residence the party were driven up to the mouth of Ogden canyon to see and admire the beautiful waterfall, thence back to town by way of the power house. Dinner was served at the Hotel Terry, after which the party attended a very pleasant entertainment at the Grand opera house, given by the ladies of the Eighth ward chapter. Their arrival was the occasion of a great patriotic demonstration, which the admiral acknowledged in a stately bow. After witnessing the two numbers of the program, the admiral was introduced as the greatest sailor of America. The admiral responded briefly, saying that he did not recognize himself by the title whereupon several voices cried out, "We do!" "You're all right!" Ex-Senator Maxwell was called for and made a few pleasant remarks, and the admiral and his party left for the train and took their departure for Omaha.

Elder Joseph F. Smith, late secretary of the Northern States mission, and Elder Joseph W. Summerhays, also a recently returned missionary, were the speakers at the tabernacle yesterday.

DEATH OF MRS. ANDERSON.

Mrs. Louisa H. Anderson, wife of Edward Anthon Anderson, died this afternoon, after suffering for over four weeks with heart trouble. The deceased is but a young woman and is a daughter-in-law of Mayor Anderson. She possessed a sweet disposition, and died full in the faith of the Gospel. Two children and her husband mourn her loss.

PETTY THIVIALITY.

James A. Anderson, a prominent resident of Collins was arrested today upon complaint of Joey Allen, a sheepherder employed by Thomas Stuart Jr., of this city, and was charged with grand larceny, alleged to have been committed by appropriating three sheep owned by Stuart. Anderson, however, says that the sheep wandered into his yard and that he had no intention of detaining them longer than each time as the owner might call for them. The preliminary examination, which should have occurred this afternoon, has been postponed until Thursday, by which time it is expected that a compromise will have been effected and the complaint withdrawn.

Jos. H. White and Samuel McMurdie today instituted suit in the district court against Jos. H. Miles of Paradise. White and McMurdie claimed timber land to Miles with the understanding that he was to pay $1.50 per thousand for saw timber, 75 cents per load for dry pine, and 15 cents per load for peeling logs taken therefrom. It is alleged that Miles has not paid for timber taken away and an accounting is demanded and an injunction restraining him from cutting more timber is sued for.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Another sensation occurred in this city tonight. Ira Brown, a young married man, living in the fifth ward, attempted to commit suicide, selecting the strychnine route of leaving this world. Prompt medical attention, however, frustrated his efforts. From statements made by the unfortunate young man and members of his family, it appears that dependency caused by adversity and his failure to conquer a habit for drink, was the real cause of his act. He formerly drank a great deal, but about six weeks ago took a course of treatment and the cravings for liquor disappeared. Of late, however, he has had it back in his blood. He started in the business of raising poultry, being too badly crippled to perform manual labor, and the first thing knew he was at the bottom of a whiskey barrel. This discouraged him and after going into the Fifth ward and getting into a quarrel over some matter of business he returned to town, got nearly drunk on beer, then went home and took the strychnine. After taking it he went to the house of Mr. Burt Harris, his neighbor, and after exchanging a few words retired to a vacant lot. After writhing for two members of the program, the admiral was introduced as the greatest sailor in America. The admiral responded briefly, saying that he did not recognize himself by the title, whereupon several voices cried out, "We do! You're all right." Ex-Senator Maxwell was called for and made a few pleasant remarks, and the admiral and his party left for the train and took their departure for Omaha.

PRICE.

Williams Charged Coal Mines—Counterfeit Quarters—Teachers Examinations.

Price, Utah, May 29.—Second Class Private Brown, who has been in charge of the government telegraph office at Fort Duchesne, will be in Price in a few days on his way to Cuba, where he is assigned for duty in the signal corps service. He has been relieved to a second class sergeant with double his present pay. Corporal Brown will be sent to Fort Duchesne to relieve Sergeant Thornton of the Price station, who has been in the service for thirty-four years.

PROSPECTING FOR COAL.

The Pleasant Valley Coal company has some difficult rock at work drawing the water out of the mine at Winter's Door, and which are to be opened up the present season. This force will be increased from time to time as development progresses. A tunnel is now being driven on the main vein in the hope that when the fault is reached at a point about a hundred feet further a body of coal, already encountered, will have been reached sufficient to serve for the purposes of the town that will be built up. As shown are now George C. Whitmore, the Nephi Baker, owns a big ranch south of the proposed townsite and has a right to sell lots for the public. If home is to be had from the mines the company will have to do a great deal more than it has done in the past. The general land office at Salt Lake has ordered a survey of the townsite of Castle Gate. This development is now going on and upon completion of the survey the Pleasant Valley Coal company will receive patent into title of the lands, some 5,000 acres, where the finest grade of coking coal in all this western country is known to exist. A town of several thousand inhabitants will be built up there and the present output of the P. V. company for years will come from there. The cake oven at Castle Gate has been abandoned, the gold and new improvements never before seen to coal mining inaugurated at Castle Gate. The Rio Grande Western are railroad has a party of surveyors on the ground and it is believed a branch will be built to Castle Gate, connected to the new camp by the 10 mile canyon. The proposed line will be twenty miles, if built, and will take out from the station put down on the map as Parsham or the Mouth, which is a point on the road at Illaskie between R. A. Ryker and George V. Hallett's ranch and the Halliday siding. Hallett owns the land upon which the Halliday siding is located, but has sold out to the Pleasant Valley company and it is understood that a deed will take place between Ryker and the company, whereby the company will gain possession of the new townsite. The place is already fairly well developed, will make home for some four or five hundred miners, and as the mines open up and the people are fruit growers and others of the little Castle Valley a market for all products of the farm will be found. All these people have their best market at Castle Gate.

County Attorney Hoffmann is back from Winfield, where he was called to look into a case of counterfeiting. It appears that some evidence at hand to make out a case against an Italian coal miner, who is now in custody, has been given. Merchants there and the policemen of Winfield in the town have lately been on the lookout for a number of specimens counterfeit quarters, and considerable loss has resulted. They are all of the Italian nation and hard to detect from the genuine.

County Superintendent of Schools Jones has arranged another special examination for teachers will be held at Orangeville, June 24th and 25th. Within the association in Emery county, those who take it will be given the preference when teachers are hired, over those who do not. The Castle Gate county examination was concluded at Castle Gate, Saturday last. There were over twenty teachers in attendance.

The Sunday school teachers of Emery county have arranged an entertainment to be given at Castle Gate Tuesday, October at Castle Gate. There will be recitations, addresses, speechmaking, with a picnic at John Jensen's grove.

The Price Sunday school will this afternoon have a very fine and excellent piece of scenery being put in the town hall, and from which they will derive considerable revenue. This is done by the Hutchinson firm, lately connected with the Salt Lake Theatre. The expense has been several hundred dollars.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

MONTPELIER, IDAHO.

Canada Mustangers—Advent of Spring—Closing of Schools.

Special Correspondence.

Montpelier, Ida., May 27.—"Are you going to Canada?" seems to be the common greeting since Elders Kimball and Jacobs met with the people of this city last Tuesday evening. Among those called to go are Alfred Danks, Wm. Taucher, Henry Hillier, Ernest Schaffer, Albert Kline, Marion Perkins, John Kimball, Mark Jacobs, many of whom are preparing to make their exodus in the near future. Paris and other settlements in Bear River valley will yield up their quota of pioneers.

The long-season for spring is here; the trees are putting forth their leaves and the farmers are made glad with the refreshing showers. Everything bids fair for a bountiful harvest.

The schools of this city closed on Friday last, after a term of about nine months. The attendance in the high school is being multiplied to the edge of the school rapidly, the little ones. The last day of school was observed by a social party among the kids for the children.

Mr. W. E. Sisker, who has been acting as principal teacher in the district school, has left with his family for Logan, where he will engage in the business of Mr. Sisker's brother, who is a bookkeeper. On account of his rapidly growing business Mr. Hutchinson has commenced the building of a new store. The new structure will be fire-proof—built of rock, quite large and commodious, an ornament and a credit to our city. The basement is already nearly to completion and the owner expects to be in his new building for his fall trade.

PRESTON, IDAHO.

Quarterly Conference—Fine Singing—Good Crop Prospects.

Special Correspondence.

Yesterday and today quarterly conference was held in Preston, Idaho, and a time of refreshing was had. We had with us Apostles Teasdale, Lund and Merrill. The meeting house was filled to its utmost capacity with appreciative listeners. An interesting feature of the conference was the beautiful singing of the Preston choir under the leadership of Prof. Edwards. The writer is a stranger in this part of the country and has heard all the noted artist can say it is the best trained choir and finest singing I have heard in all my travels. The people are musical and united in brotherly love. The hearty handshaking all round was a reminder of earlier days in Utah when the people all knew each other better than now.

Last night Prof. Hickman delivered a very interesting lecture on the "Expulsion of the Mormons," and the people stood by our land in attentive and fervor and listened to with many a moistened eye.

FINE CROP PROSPECTS.

Generally the crops look like there would be a bumper harvest, but many of the farmers have the "dumps" over the backward, cold season. The snow completely all over the Snake River valley.

TIDE OF EMIGRATION.

There is a steady tide of emigration to the north, and this beautiful fertile country is getting a portion of our new settlers, while the Great Snake River valley is fast developing into an empire of cities and farms.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within the body, and that when the fit of attack of acute or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the infection is demonic enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost.

A FUNERAL POEM

On the Obsequies of President Brigham Young, Aug. 29, 1877.

The birthday of President Brigham Young will be celebrated as future on June 1, with appropriate ceremonies. Some of those who are engaged in preparing for the event, have expressed a wish that the poem written by the late Elder H. Snow on the occasion of his funeral should be republished, and at their request we have reproduce it as follows:

That morning dawned as bright and beautiful
As wending our dismal. The sun rose clouds
Yet may we glorious, for, Eve night
The sound of grief was heard in all the central
The Church had lost a leader, humanly
As the All-wise—Mankind, all think
Is a [illegible]

From news till morn the body lay in state
And thousands came a tribute of respect
To pay, and take, last—a parting view
Of the illustrious dead.

The funeral rites
Were on the Sabbath day, at 2 o'clock noon.
The spacious Tabernacle became dead,
Thousands assembled, and the ceremonies without;
Within our capital Gate—a mourning
Covered in form of solemn prayer!

The "Tenth Ward Band" commenced the Sacred
Their lofty and hymn sweetly sung and played;
Which in the most appreciation
Its longer dismal.

Decked with rare white flowers,
Hallowed with tear-drops from the eyes of
Whose silent beads, prompted by feeling
In wreaths entwined them; these the coffin
Covering
Covering the cold form of him, which been
Attractive wisdom and his cheering voice
Has led the Church, and guided its affairs
The sense to view, contented and cool the
Of the grave, and the mortal
And to sending an entire consciousness,
Of the Church of Christ, and the Kingdom
And left a name—an all-pervasive name,
But just of God were there—men who had
Who
With him, the best and hardest of the day,
Prophets, Proposals, Revelations, there,
Where, with the Church, and the Kingdom of never Ceased.

Where shall we fear when times were perilous,
But now, when standing of their leader's
Tomb,
Their hearts are free—their loss, and Zion's loss,
Has been in gaining long the day of grief,
Beneath the tomb gaining of Zion's loss
Wept!

But when duty thoughts reached upward
And the right
Of the Almighty's agents beyond upon
Their sustaining hearts, to find the unlucky
They can expector to the morrow for week,
They know the work that Brigham Young
Left
With nearly aided and skill had planned,
Was that, that the Church, and the Kingdom
Established with power and wisdom, and His Will
Would have rather upon, and that then off
Triumphantly.

Then the field commences
Of toils, when crowned with night and
Morrow
Found Zion built, has to that end sustained,
And the triple relative of mankind,
Anointed to beauty are the sound of grief,
And rays of joy mingling, toward heals,
Restored to fullness divine,
Wrapped in the future, now forget to weep.

The Tabernacle service closed—Amen
The grand procession formed in order, and
Moved slowly onward to the waiting tomb.

At least now moments, but the cortege
Was formed in a square, accompanying
Of time, by one and nine—the, the
Their hearts were stricken, and, and desolate,
As they moved onward to the burial
Of him, the husband—father, friend, and all
Of mortal—the person of their lives
Whose presence formed the sunshine of their Hearts.

Now was a father hope affectionate
Of the dear departed, and the sorrow
Of the bereaved—the sunshine of their Hearts.

Through the vale full of years, their soul
Hopes cover
Their sorrow—of life the more years to Come.

Now, the grave suddenly and suddenly
To them their sunlight, when forever a cloud
Has fallen, and the sunshine of their
Is sunset to them the when is of Time closed
Forever.

And every pulse of sorrowed to cease.

On, slowly on, the great procession moved
To the repository of the dead
Where the mortal remains of the
Elder Brigham Young, the leader
Of the Church, now in a resting place to other
To us is a new, a new, and superior
Is gone—the Church, and the Kingdom, was
Left
The "Old" stood beside the tomb, and
Sang
A beautiful hymn of the departed one,
Dear to Apostles, to Israel, prayer
Of the Church, and the Kingdom, and
Ask for the safe and unfettered repose
Of all, now sleeping—all that their shall
Be
The application—the rolls and its sacred
Trust
The ground, and its enclosure round about,

There charge the every flesh, and sons in
Of
Which be, the mode—rules of the are
Conformed with the, the great rules of Life, Heaven and Earth.

He loved his people—Their high destiny
Will be a monument to BRIGHAM YOUNG

Look Around

and see the women who are using Pearline. It's easy to pick them out. They're brighter, fresher, more cheerful than the women who have spent twice as much time in the rub, rub, rub, of the old way. Why shouldn't they be? Washing with Pearline is easy.

And look at the clothes that are washed with Pearline. They're brighter, and fresher, too. They haven't been rubbed to pieces on the washboard. They may be old, but they don't show it. For clothes washed with Pearline last longer.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." It's FALSE—Pearline is never peddled. If your grocer sends you Pearline, insist on your money back. 311 JAMES PYLE, New York.
