theory of every orthodox "Christlan" denomination. It is a doctrine of devils.

If "the devil leads" in heathendom he leads in "Christendom." The trail of the serpent is over all. The Prince of this world rules in earthly kingdoms and God is excluded from civil governments. Right here in "Christian" America, it is counted a crime to practically regard divine law as superior to human law. Tais is not only declared in the courts, but it is enunciated from the putpit and published through the press. "There is and can be no law above the laws of man," is proclaimed as an axiom to deny which is criminal. We regard this as diabolism. "The devil leads" in all such sentiments and doings. The religion of Jesus; which is the blossom of the bud of previous revealments, makes nature redolent with the perfume of the coming kingdom, when the will of God shall be "done on earth as it is done is heaven," and "the kingdom of this world ishall become the kingdom of God and his Christ." The very essence of that religiou is the supremacy of God. "Thy will be done," is the sum of the true Christian creed, and it is to 387 be p aced first in the heart and life of web the followers of Jesus. "I came not to do my own will but the will of Him that sent me," was His declaration of intentions, and"We ought to obey God rather than man," was the edict of His authorized Apostles.

Satan claimed of old dominion over all the kingdoms of the world. He gained his power through man's disobedience to the Supreme Ruler. He can only retain it by the same means. He leads because the world follows. Perfect submission to the will and law of God means casting off allegiance to the devil and threatens his dethronement. Those who have eyes to see can discorn his presence and power in Christendom as in heathendom. War with its horrors, civil and religious feuds with their bitterness and barbarities, persecutions for purported heresies, murder, malice, lying, whoredoms, oppression, plun der and the varied evils that prevall in civilized as well as heathen nations, flourish under the shadow of his per sonality and spread misery beneath his unholy influence. "The devil leads." The spirit of Carist tends to unity; the Saints. the spirit of the Adversary breeds division. The contentions and strifes of the modern sects make spiritual weakness in "Christendom," and it carries division into heathen lands wherever it THE recent sudden death of this disgoes. The earth is under the curse that came through rebellion against the King, the Lord of all. Satan is him-self a rebel and he fosters the splift of his own treason. Christ's work is of his own treason. Christ's work is claimed that they were too dilatory in
