Denver, Colo., Oct. 2 .- E. A. Bell, who is said to have a number of aliases, was arrested here today charged with stealing a mail bag and forging the endorsements on a number of drafts taken from it. He is alleged to have opened an account with a bank at Lincoln, Neb., where he cashed the drafts, securing about $2,500. Bell was ill at the county hospital here when the authorities first located him, but was not arrested until he was discharged from the institution.

HAS A FEMALE CONFEDERATE. New York, Oct. 2 .- Word was received here tonight that F. H. Crosby, alias A. E. Bell, alias Hammond, alias Crawford, had been arrested in Denver, accused of stealing a mail pouch containin $500,000 worth of negotiable bank pain $500,000 worth of negotiable bank pa-per at Philadelphia on the night of Sept. 8, and with several crimes, including swindling and forgery. It is alleged that Crosby arrived in this country from Crewe, England, last summer, and went to Asbury Park, N. J., where he posed as a fruit speculator. His wife mingled in good society there, and in-troduced her husband to prominent bus-iness men and at the banks there, where he made deposits, declaring to the offi-

PRICE BAKING POWDER CO., CHICAGO. FAILED TO CLIMB MOUNT M'KINLEY

New York, Oct. 3 .- An attempt made by Dr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn, the well known explorer, to scale the Mount McKinley in Alaska, has failed. Dr. Cook, accompanied by two or three other men, among them a Columbian university student, left this city several months ago, and no news tty several months ago, and no news of the expedition had been received un-til today when the following cable-gram, signed by the leader of the par-ty, was received by the Associated Press: Valdez, Alaska, Oct. 2.—The assault upon Mount McKinley resulted in our making an altitude of 11,000 feet on the southwestern side. At this point we were stopped by an impaisable gran-ite slope, which extended 5,000 feet above us. We searched the entire west-er side of the mountsin for a pould ern side of the mountain for a route to the summit which might offer a to the summit which might offer a prospect of success, but no opportunity was found and the ascent from the western slope seems practically impos-fible. On Sept. 4 signs of winter al-ready were far advanced and although we should have liked to search the northwestern ridge as well as Muldrew glader, the rapidly advancing season forced us on to a point where we could forced us on to a point where we could get out of the country without our horses. Therefore, it was decided to cross the McKinley range at the first northly break in the mountain.

vey expedition under Brooks last year, but now we traveled over unknown ter-ritory, marching about 45 miles north-ward and swinging eastward in the ward and swinging eastward in the mountains at every available opportun-ity. We crossed the divide Sept. 9 over a new pass at an elevation of 6,000 feet and camped in the valley of Chulitna. Our aim was to reach the eastern slope of Mount McKinley and, on our way out, if the season permitted, to make another attack from that side.

another attack from that side. A forced march was made down the Chulitna, it being necessary to ford and swim the river many times; but we were compelled to abandon our horses and build rafts 20 miles north of a great glacier. The latter afford-ed the first easterly route to the great mountain peak. We explored it and made a rapid examination of the east-ern slope, but the rapidly approaching winter would not permit of another at-tempt to climb the mountain and with much regret we were forced to take to our rafts Sept. 21, and to seek the head-waters of Cook inlet, which lay 150 milles to the south. Before us was a journey of 60 miles down the Chulitna river, of which nothing was known as to the possibility of navigation on a raft. Considerable apprehension was felt on this score, but the river proved navigable and the expedition reached Tyonek in sit days. The net result of the expedition was a march of 600 miles with horses, near-ly 400 miles voyage in boats and rafts, the exploration of a good deal of new territory, the discovery of several mountains, glaciers and rivers. The summit of Mount McKinley was not possible for us, but the members of the expedition feel that we did all possible in the short working season of an Alas-kan summer. Every member of the formatory, from which he was released in 1897. Through an agreement with the post-office department Crosby will be surren-dered to the St. Louis authorities to stand trial on the charge of swindling. Crosby is said to have been arrested in this city in company of Kid Foster, a Peoria pickpocket, while they were at-tempting to cash a draft for $425 with Marcus & Co., the Broadway jewelers. It was afterward learned that the draft offered by Crosby had been stolen from a mail pouch in the New York Central station at Buffalo. For this crime he was sentenced to five years in Auburn prison. Foster getting off with three years. Crosby also served a three years' term in the Jefferson City, Mo., peni-tentiary for a similar offense.

Plot to Blow Up a Mill.

Colorado Springs, Oct. 2 .- Sheriff Gilbert received a phone message today from the head officials of the Western Federation of Miners at Denver, ad-vising him that a plot had been formu-lated to blow up an unused part of a mill at Colorado City, owned by the U. S. Refining & Reduction company. The dynamiting, it is claimed by the federation leaders, was to be done by agents employed by interests who are seeking to disrupt the federation of miners

In case the plot was successfully con-summated reports were to have been sent broadcast that the dynamiters and firebugs were members of the fed-eration or men hired by that organization.

Sheriff Gilbert gave his personal pledge to the federation leaders to in-vestigate the report and protect the abandoned mill.

Suffer from Sabre Cuts.

Berlin, Oct. 2.—Thirty persons suf-fering from sabre cuts have applied at the Red Cross station, to have their wounds dressed after a riot between omnibus drivers and non-unionists here last night. The police on foot charged the rioters with drawn swords and finally mounted police cleared the streets. The police charged the rioters several times and used their sabres ruthlessly. The strikers and their sympathizers stoned the police, injuring some of them badly. The strikers aver that several hundred persons were wounded. Nu-merous arrests have been made and the hadly police now occupy the omnibus termi-nals in force.
