How A Wyoming Woman Saved a Railway Train.

UNKNOWN BOY'S BODY FOUND.

Struck in Jail and Remained in Prison—Death of a Woman—An Air in Jail.

Little Child, aged two and one-half years, only child of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Childers, was struck and killed by a train on the Denver and North Platte railway, near the town of Childers, Wyo., last week. The child was about three years old, and when she was struck she was running across the tracks. It was found that the child had been playing on the tracks for some time, and when the train came she was struck and killed. The body was found in the water several days.

On the night of the 12th of the month a fire broke out at the residence of J. H. Childers, near the town of Childers, Wyo., last week. The fire was caused by a gas stove, and it was found that the child had been playing on the tracks for some time, and when the train came she was struck and killed. The body was found in the water several days.
