INSTANTLY KILLED.

Head Accident on the Union Pacific Near Cheyenne.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN CRUSHED

A Story Too Horrible for Them and Both Helpless to Prevent the Collision.

CHEYENNE, May 22.—A special to the Sun from Cheyenne, Wyoming says: The most horrible wreck known in the west occurred at Hillsdale, 30 miles south of this city, on the Union Pacific railroad, at 1:30 this morning. Engineer Angus and Fireman Ole Tuber were instantly killed, the latter being literally cut to pieces by being wedged between the tank and the cab. Engineer Angus was terribly scalded by escaping steam, and died in terrible agony. Both men were well known and highly respected. Their remains will be taken to Denver this afternoon. The accident was caused by a broken rail. The engine and tender left the track and turned completely over. Engineer Angus was in the cab with Tuber, and was thrown out by the force of the collision. Both engines were completely demolished. The mail and express cars were badly damaged, but the passenger coaches escaped with slight injuries. The wreck is a mile and a half long. Traffic is delayed.

Fatal Collision.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 22.—A collision occurred on the Colorado Central railroad, a number of miles north of this city, this morning, between a passenger train and a freight train, resulting in the death of Engineer Tuber and Fireman Angus, both of this city. The bodies of the dead men were brought to this city. The passenger train was in charge of Conductor Wilson.

Engineer Angus' Funeral.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 22.—The funeral of Engineer Angus, who was killed in the wreck at Hillsdale yesterday morning, will be held from the late residence of the deceased, 1600 Carey avenue, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Dr. Hemphill will officiate. The remains will be interred in Lakeview cemetery. The funeral of Fireman Tuber will be held from the undertaking rooms at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Rev. Dr. Hemphill will officiate. The remains will be interred in Riverside cemetery.

Condition Worse Yesterday.

NEW YORK, May 22.—A special dispatch to the Herald from Washington says: The condition of Secretary Gresham was worse yesterday than at any time since he was stricken with paralysis. Dr. Hamilton, the attending physician, was with the secretary all day, and remained at the house last night. Mrs. Gresham and her daughter, Mrs. Otis, were also in attendance. The secretary's condition is critical.

California Fruit in New York.

NEW YORK, May 22.—There will be about 40 carloads of California fruit arrive in this city tomorrow. The cars are loaded with peaches, pears, plums and apricots. They will be sold at auction by the commission merchants to whom they are consigned. The fruit is in excellent condition, and the prices realized will be watched with interest by the fruit growers of California.
