Jury Declared Him Innocent of Participation in Murder of Gov. Steunenberg.

WAS IMMEDIATELY RELEASED.

Jurors Took Twenty-One Hours in Which to Arrive at a Verdict.

GOV. GOODING WAS SURPRISED.

Moyer and Pettlbone, Adams and Simpkins, He Declares, Are to be Vigorously Prosecuted.

Boise, Ida., July 28 .- Into the bright sunlight of a beautiful Sabbath morning, into the stillness of a city drowsy with the lazy slumber of a summer Sunday, William D. Haywood, defendant in one of the most noted trials involving conspiracy and murder that the country has ever known, walked today a free man, acquitted of the murder of former Gov. Frank Steunenberg. The probability of a verdict of acquittal in the case of the secretarytreasurer and acknowledged leader of the Western Federation of Miners, had been freely predicted since yesterday when Judge Fremond Wood read his charge, which was regarded as strongly favoring the defense in its interpretation of the law of conspiracy, circumstantial evidence and the corroboration of an accomplice who confesses,

It was also freely predicted that in the event of Haywood's acquittal the state would abandon the prosecution of his associates, Charles H. Moyer, the president of the federation, and George A. Pettibone of Denver. Statements from counsel and from Gov. Gooding issued today dispel this view of the situation. Gov. Gooding said:

GOV. GOODING SURPRISED. "The verdict is a great surprise to me, and I believe to all citizens of Idaho who have heard or read the evidence in the case, "I have done my duty. I have no regret as to any action I have taken, and my conscience is clear. As long as God gives me strength I shall continue my efforts for government by law and for organized society.

"The state will continue a vigorous prosecution of Moyer and Pettibone and Adams and Simpkins when apprehended. There will be neither hesitation nor retreat." Application will be made to Judge Wood tomorrow morning to a er and Pettibone to bail, and it was said tonight that in the case of Moyer, against whom the state is admitted to have its weakest case, a favorble consideration would not be unexpected. Not the least interesting of the comments made upon the verdict today was that of Harry Orchard, the self-confessed murderer of Gov. Steunenberg fessed murderer of Gov. Steunenberg and the witness upon whom the state chiefly relied to prove its claim of a sinister conspiracy against the Western Federation of Miners. When told at the state penitentiary that Haywood had been acquitted, Orchard said:

"Well, I have done my duty. I have told the truth. I could do no more. I am ready to take any punishment that may be meted out to me for my crime, and the sooner it comes the better."

crime, and the sooner it coulds ster."

It was after being out for 21 hours that the jury which at first had been divided 8 to 4 and then seemed deadlocked at 10 to 2, finally came to an agreement, shortly after the first faint streaks of the coming day showed gray above the giant hills which wall Boise to the north and east. The weary, snow-bearded old bailiff who had kept an all-night vigil before the door of the juryroom was startled into action by an imperative knock from within. Events moved rapidly enough after this, and when at last the principal actors in the trial had been gathered into the courtroom at a few moments before 8 o'clock the white envelope handed by the foreman to the judge was torn open and the verdict read.

HAYWOOD MUCH MOVED.

HAYWOOD MUCH MOVED.

It came as an electric thrill to the prisoner, to his counsel, to the attorneys for the state and to the small group of heavy-eyed newspaper men and court officials who had been summoned from beds but lately sought or from offices where sleepless waiting had marked the night. Tears welled to the eyes of the man who during the 80 days of his trial had sat with stolid indifference written upon his every feature—at last the loy armor he had thrown about himself with the first day of jury-selection had been pierced, and whatever of pent-up feeling had been contained within was loosed. Haywood's attorneys were fairly lifted from their seats and Judge Wood made no effort to restrain them as they surrounded him to shake his hands and shout aloud their congratulations. James H. Hawley, leading counsel for the state, and O. M. Vanduyn, the prosecuting attorney of the county in which former Gov. Steunenberg was assasshanted, sat gloomy and unspeaking in their places. Senator Borah. which former Gov. Steunenberg was assassinated, sat gloomy and unspeaking in their places. Senator Borah, who made the closing plea for conviction, was not present. Of the prisoner's counsel, those in the courtroom were Clarence Darrow of Chicago, E. E. Richardson of Denver and John F. Nugeat of Boise. The absentees from the defendant's table included Edgar Wilson, the former law partner of the defendant's table included Edgar Wilson, the former law partner of Judge Wood, who presided at the trial. No member of the prigner's family, nor any of his friends among the Socialist writers and the so-called "labor jury" who had been attending the trial was in the courtroom at the early hour the verdet was returned. The spectators' benches were empty, but in the doorway stood Gov, Frank Gooding, who has taken an active part in pressing the prosecution of Haywood and his associates. There we no demonstration other than that made by the attorneys for the defense and the court proceedings were over, the prisoner had been discharged and the fury discontinued on page seven.

SIX UTAHNS WHO MISSED THE BOAT

Trip Owing to Misunderstanding.

THEY ARRIVE IN SALT LAKE.

Miss Hettie White and Miss Reynolds Of Provo Bring Further Details From San Francisco.

That the ill-fated Columbia, which was wrecked off the Pacific coast a week ago, did not carry at least an additional half dozen Utah passengers was wholly due to a misunderstanding between applicants for transportation and the railroad company. The tourists in question had been led to believe that their tickets could be changed so that they could go from San Francisco to Portland, but they had been misin-request was denied. The six persons

The young ladies were much disappointed at the turn of affairs that prevented them from going up the coast to the Oregon city, but now they feel that Providence held a guiding hand over them, for had the journey been taken it might have been their last.
Miss Blanche Musser and her cousin, Miss Winona White, made such arrangements when they purchased their tickets at Milford that a trip to Portland was made possible. When they applied for places on the Columbia unity two bertils remained, and these were in opposite ends of the boat from each other. It was only, by strenuous effort that the staterooms were obtained, and the boat was reached by the girls not a minute before the gangplank was frawn. plank was drawn.

SAVED BY PEEVISH LADY.

Miss White had the stateroom at the front of the vessel and Miss Musser secured the one at the rear. Next to Miss White's room was a lady very seasick and the two Utah girls were with her much of the time during the evening of the terrible fatality. When bedtime came, there was an unclaimed berth hearby, and it was suggested to Miss Musser that she take possession of it. About that time the owner of the room, a woman, put in an appearance, and she was politely asked if she would not exchange apartments so that the cousins might be close together. She peevishly and spitefully refused to consider the proposition, and Miss Musser went to her own room. To that fact she owes her life, for the bow of the boat was submerged a moment after the Columbia had been struck.

Miss Hettie White, who sought for a place upon the Columbia and who met with refusal, is a cousin to Miss Winona White, as also to Miss Musser. She ona white, as also to miss anusser, she spent anxious days and nights after the news came that the Columbia had gone to the bottom. Early and late she was in quest of news concerning her cousin. The man who had charge of the lifelocal which picked up the party of which Miss Musser was a member, after they had drifted on the frail raft, was the quartermaster of the Columbia, and to his experience was due the fact that those survivors were so quickly placed upon land. When daylight came and the officer gazed upon the wet and cold men and women huddling in the boat, he remarked, in a way intended to bring a ray of good cheer, "No wonder we are so lucky;
there are three of you with red hair."

that color, and she said in reply, "Oh, but I thought it would be white by this time."

Miss Musser's foot was terribly cut in some way and bled profusely, but she did not notice it until her attention was called to it by a fellow passenger. All were so cold that seemingly no sense of feeling was left in their bodies. This state of affairs, however, did not appear to their souls, for it is said that the spirit of unselfishness that pervaded that little band, especially those who belonged to the ship's crew, was most admirable. It is stated that Miss Musser will not leave San Francisco for home until her coustn, Miss Winona White, is found, or at least until it is deemed found, or at least until it is deemed probable that she may not be living. Two lifeboats and one raft are still unaccounted for and the hope is held out that Miss White may yet be rescued, though as the days pass the probability lessens in the minds of her anxious relatives and frier.

AUTO SMASHUP ON SOUTH TEMPLE

Careless Chauffeur Endangers The Lives of Two Ladies This Afternoon.

What threatened to be a serious automobile accident happened at 12:10 p. m., today, at Third West and South Temple streets. A large car from the White-Savage Auto company on State street, came hurrying down South Temple street, driven by a chauffeur from the company's garage, with two ladies, one of whom was a Miss Sanders, while the name of the other is unknown. There is a wire rope stretched across the street at that point to keep vehicles from crossing the tracks which are torn up beyond, and where the street is impassable by reason of the improvements being made. The chauffeur in making a turn here, evidently was going at too rapid a gait, for his wheels skidded as he turned and the car ran straight against the wire rope with great force. The car had a glass shield, which was immediately shattered. The flying glass blew right in the faces of the occupants of the car, cutting the driver badly in the face, and making a long gash in his forehead. Both ladies were also cut in the face, and making a long gash in his forehead. Both ladies were also cut in the face, and about the arms. The blood was flowing pretty freely, when the car was brought to a stop. But the driver seemed to have presence of mind enough to secure a hack, in which the ladies were quickly conveyed to their homes. The White-Savage Auto company was 'phoned from the 'News' office later for their version of the accident, but the party in charge there curtly informed the 'News' that the company did not desire any account of the accident to appear in print, and refused to give any information whatever.

CHIEF SHEETS IS READY TO RESIGN

Sentiment Set Too Hard Against Him.

Enough "American" Members Are Ready to Act to Illuminate the Handwriting On the Wall.

The statement was made this morning semi-officially, with a degree of positiveness that amounts to a practical certainty, that Chief of Police Sheets will not send his resignition to the city council-tonight. Also, he will not be removed-tonight. That the plan was, early last week, to remove Sheets tonight, there is ano doubt but it did not originate with the "American" members of the council, but was a political play suggeted by certain of the city committee of the so-called "reform" party. They imagine that, by removing Chief Sheets all will be smooth sailing for the "Americans," but, so says the "News" informant, they are liable to run up against a snag, is fact several snags before they get through. There promises to be some sensational revelations ere long and when they come certain leaders of the "reform" crowd will receive a jolt that will make their back teeth rattle.

The mills that grind exceedingly slow, but also exceedingly fine, are about to grind Sait Lake's chief-of-police out of his office while the fel-ony charge under which he is awaiting trial has a chance to go on its way to the jury.

ony charge under which he is awaiting trial has a chance to go on its way to the jury.

Once before Sheets nearly reached the end of his rope. It was when the McWhirters were first telling their story to Judge Armstrong, and it came out with a directness, force and vividness of detail which threw constarnation into the ranks of even the attorneys for Sheets, and Mr. Varian time after time stopped lines of cross-examination with a flushed face as the telling blows came back from the men whom the Tribune was villifying as "suckers from Scotland."

During that trial there was a period when American party leaders flocked to the trial with Honest George Sheets, and listened to the evidence. Then there was a Friday when no one came with him, no one sat with him, and no one shook his hand at the close of the day's hearing. On the next Sunday there was a meeting of "American" party chiefs in the Tribune office, and the subject of "ditching" Sheets was all that was discussed. This was two days before the verdict failing to hold him for trial, a verdict for which those who had attended the hearing were hardly prepared, and the new hope that dawned with 'that verdict led to the second lease on life which the chief received.

CASE WOULD NOT DOWN.

But the McWhirter case would not down, and the chief's defenders were kept busy hopping from pillar to post in order to find new grounds on which to support him. The original which to support him. The original McWhirter story was told in simple home-spun Scotch, and while the Tribune was originating Mormon detective stories, and "Scotland Yard" tales, and turning the full force of its mud machine onto the sheriff's office, the prosecuting officials, and all who had to do with an attempt to get the accused police officers before 12 plain citizens to be judged of their innocence and guilt, the McWhirter brothers were taking the $1,600 returned to them, and opening a little bake shop where their hope had been to use their $10,000 to open a large one.

Then came the capture of Parrent, and his confession, which supported and his confession, which supported all the story's details, and added much new light, including the fact that it was Raleigh who came to the that it was Raleigh who came to the gang and notified them that they must get out of town, because the sheriff would be after them. The mystery of the gang's sudden disappearance, knowing they had police protection, was thus explained for the McWhirters, on their return from Los Angeles, had made another call on Chief Sheets, and acquainted him of their presence in town to locate some of their stolen money. their stolen money.

DESERTED BY FRIENDS.

And while the chief was able to fight his way on strained technicalities for a time, and has still evaded facing the 12 plain men, American sentiment demands shall settle such questions as his guilt or innocence, Bell was captured, and came back to confess as had become adding more corroborating. rured, and came back to confess as had Parrent, adding more corroborating evidence, but in no way breaking down the original McWhirter testimony or altering its fundamental declarations. Then Jim Donaldson, who had proudly worn his "American" party badge in convention, was the recipient of a righteous verdiet at the hands of the jury, and this brought him rapidly to the front with a confession, and helped to break down the last straws of the Sheets defense. The "stalwart backing" died away, the friends have deserted, the Tribune has ceased it laudatory defense. Sheets will now he surrendered to his peers who number an even dozen in plain clothes, and the "party" will try to wage its campaign disowning rather than defending him. WHAT WILL SHEETS DO.

store on Chrystie street, started the fire which swept through the Italian tenement and destroyed the lives of a score of people and injured 15 others. The noise of the explosion caused a panic in the densely populated district. The police say that many perished in the flames, fearing to escape to the streets, where they believed death awaited them from the dreaded black hand. A second explosion from a kerosene tank followed and the whole lower floor was a mass of flames. The fire shot up the stairways, cutting off all escape from those in the bedrooms above.

Many rushed to the fire escapes, which became clogged with frightened people. The house was filled with dense smoke and the flames rushing upstairs, drove the half-crazed people toward the roof. The flames killed many as they were about to be rescued from the roof, while others were overcome by smoke. There were many heroic rescues by firemen.

The bodies of the dead were found in all manner of places. Four women were discovered dead in a closet where they had rushed to hide from the flames, which found them out. The body of one woman was lying over a child as though she had tried to protect it from the flames. Five bodies were found crowded around one doorway upon the top floor showing that they had been struck down while trying to escape.

He was in the act of picking up a cent which had rolled out of the reach of Gunda's trunk when the animal flew into a rage, grabbed him and dragged him into the cage. By clinging to the elephant's tusks the keeper managed to keep himself from being trodden to death. Other keepers prodded the animal with pitch forks until Hoffman could get out of the cage. When he did so he fainted. A doctor found the man was badly bruised, and had a crushed rib and a bruised liver. He is in a serious way. The man is Otto Hoffman, a keep-

NEW UNDESTRABLE CITIZEN. New York, July 29.- "President Roosevelt, not William D. Haywood, is now the 'undesirable citizen,'" said Alexander Jopes, Socialist leader and editor of the Volks Zejtung, when asked how he regarded the acquirtal asked how he regarded the acquittal of Haywood.

His reply was perhaps the most pronounced of many opinions by local Socialists and organized labor leaders, but jubilation was the key-note of them all. Moses Oppenheimer, the organizer of the Moyer-Haywood conference, in speaking of the meeting of the Central Federated union, in which Socialist and non-Socialist unions are represented, said:

"I have been a great many years in the labor movement, and in all my memory this is the first time the working class has exerted itself in the sameway as it has done in behalf of these men," meaning Haywood. Moyer and Pettibone. Efforts will be made to persuade Haywood to come here next week to attend a Socialist parade and mass meeting in his honor, to be held in Madison Square Gardens. It is expected that 50,000 persons will be in the parade. The New York socialists claim to have been the first to come to the financial aid of Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone.

SOCIALIST SECY, BARNS, SOCIALIST SECY. BARNS.

Chicago, July 29.—National secretary of the Socialist party, J. Mahlon Barns, last night sent the following telegram to William D. Haywood, who was yesterday set free at Boise, Idaho; "Greetings and congratulations. Your vindication brings inexpressable joy to your comrades and fellow workers everywhere. The verdet is a complete route for the conspirators and a signal victory for the working class. Greetings to your companions, the 'undestrable citizens," Moyer and Petitiones. It was reported during the day that Haywood would go to Duluth, Minn., for the purpose of taking charge of the strike of the iron ore miners, many of whom are members of the Workers Parket Party of the Society of the Soc

ENGLISH VIEWS. London, July 29.—Commenting upon the result of the trial of Wm. D. Hay-wood at Boise, the Chronicle says to-wood at Bolse, the Chronicle says to-day:

"The state of society revealed by the trial is more terrible than any civil war, because it is more treacherous and is likely to be more lasting. From begin-ning to end it reveals a condition of brutal repacity, confronted with sav-age, despairing violence, a condition that gives America's boasted civiliza-tion a very dubtous look.

that gives America's boasted civiliza-tion a very dubious look.

"From the outest the question has been complicated by the flerce preju-drees of a kind of smoldering class war. The whole movement both in the relations of the trial and its accom-paniments in public excitement has il-lustrated the insecurity of authority in America and the profound skepticism concerning the identity of law and jus-tice."

Both articles refer to President Roosevelt's undesirable citizen statement. The News calls it one of his frequent public indiscretions and the Chronicle predicts that it will both him dear

GEN. J. PICKETT DYING.

He Will Go to His Grave Technically a Military Prisoner.

Worcester, Mass., July 22.—Gen. Josiah Pickett, 85 years of age, and a veteran of the Civil war, is said to be dying here, technically a military prisoner. He has been under afrest, it is said, ever since the battle of Cold Haubor, and has declared that he will die under arrest, ickett was colonel of the Twenty-fifth Massachusetts during the fighting at Cold Haubor, and in a fit of anger, in the heat of the fight, replied roughly to Gen. Stannard, his superior. The latter placed him under arrest and took his aword. Later Pickett was commended by Stannard for gallantry in the Cold Harbor battle while heading a charge, but the record of arrest was never changed and Gen. Pickett has been officially under arrest over 40 years.

HAYWOOD TO HAVE SPECIAL TRAIN TO DENVER.

Denver, July 29.—"We will hive from the train in which Bill Haywood was taken to Boise after being kidnaped, and in this train we will bring him back to Denver." declared James Kirwan, acting secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners today, "This great victory for the good name of the federation will be rollowed by the immediate engagement of enough organizers to donote the membership of the Western Federation of Miners in the next three months. We will not have any more secret meetings of the various local unions, because there is nothing to hide. Then there will be no work for the detectives who have been getting money from the mine owners to spy upon our meetings."

RUSSO-JAPANESE TREATY.

Parts, July 29.—M. Kurino, the Japanese minister to France, is the authority for the following information concerning the Ruseo-Japanese treaty on commerce and navigation, which was staned yesterday at St. Petereburg. The treaty embraces five subjects—commercial relations, fighery rights, the junction of the Manchurjan railroads, the delimitation of frontiers and political relations. The clause dealing with this last name in the subject is brief, and is practically a duplicate of the France-Japanese arrangement for the maintenance of the status quo. M. Kurino dentes the report that Japan has ordered two dirigible balloons in Germany.
