in him, but even the suggestion of this improper motion is not a satisfactory answer to the questions. There are also some discrepancies between the statements of Pomeroy and Page, such as whether it was before or after the election of the committee, and whether it was before or after the election of the committee. The committee, some of whom were absent on other duty from time to time as the evidence was being taken, did not receive the printed testimony until the morning of Saturday, the 1st instant, and have given the evidence as it was given, as in the press of business, they have been able to do, which has been by no means as thorough as desirable. The committee, bearing in mind that the whole transaction is the result of a plot to defraud Pomeroy, and remembering that the burden of proof is on the party making the accusation, have come to the conclusion that York has not sustained his charge by sufficient proof. Thurman, briefly dissenting from the conclusions of the majority and asserting his belief that the testimony proves the truth of both Simpson's and York's charges, refused Pomeroy's explanation of the payment of $7,000 to York as inconsistent with Page's testimony, and as opposed to the usual circumstances attending business transactions as to be altogether improbable. Vickers says briefly that he has not been able to arrive at a decided conclusion that the charges are sustained by the testimony. Eve, on motion of Schurz the Senate insisted on its amendments to the Japanese indemnity bill, and a committee of conference was ordered. Schurz presented the memorial of Wm. McMillan, announcing his election as Senator from Louisiana, and announcing that his credentials are on the way, and asking the Senate to take notice of his election. The consideration of the deficiency bill was resumed. Edmunds, from the committee on the Geneva award bill, reported that the committee were unable to agree as to the class of losses to be paid, and as to the war premium, and they therefore recommend the investment of the money in five per cent. registered bonds of the United States, to be held to await the future action of Congress. The report was concurred in. The proposition for the increase of salaries, making that of the members $7,500 was passed. The Patterson expulsion resolution was tabled. Both Houses were in session at two.
