Local and Other Matters.

THERMOMETER 74 degrees F. in the shade at 1 p. m. to-day. Fine.

Messages.—There are messages at the Western Union Telegraph Office for J. S. Wallace, W. Clayton and Elena Johnson.

Going to Logan.—President B. Young will probably leave on a visit to Logan, Cache County, to-morrow.

On Tuesday.—Messrs. George M. Ottiger and C. R. Savage expect to leave for Philadelphia on Tuesday next.

Accident.—Yesterday a woman stumbled over one of the circus guy ropes, on Washington Square, causing her to fall and break her arm.

From Provo.—We received a call to-day from R. G. Slater, Esq., of the Utah County Enquirer.

Delightful.—More delightful weather could scarcely be than we have had for the last few days. A mild temperature in the day time, and refreshingly cool of nights.

Good Order.—One good thing in Cooper, Bailey & Co.'s circus is the good order that is maintained, no standing up among the audience being allowed, which is an excellent arrangement.

Closed on Tuesday.—It will be seen by notice, published in another column, by Superintendent Clawson, that the various departments of Z. C. M. I. will be closed next Tuesday, on account of stock taking.

Disappointed.—Hundreds of people who had gathered upon the streets to-day to witness the parade of the cavalcade of Cooper, Bailey & Co.'s show were much disappointed, as the procession did not make its appearance.

A Good Sign.—There is but little business in the police court now-a-days. Evidently a large proportion of the frequent visitors to that institution have gone to the Black Hills, or somewhere else. They are not wanted here any more.

Ice in August.—By special dispatch from Logan, to-day, we learn that there was a sharp frost there about last night, ice covering standing water to about the thickness of a silver dollar. Considerable damage was done to vegetation.

White Savages.—The papers for a long time have been loaded with the atrocious nature and practices of the Indians, especially since the inauguration of the present war with a portion of that race. But what about the barbarous practices of numbers of white men upon the Indians, such as scalping the latter and sending the disgusting trophies to newspaper offices? And there have been instances of late of white men severing the heads of red men from their bodies, and parading them around for display. Indians could not well exhibit much more intense ferocity, brutalization and savagery than is indicated by such debasing practices.

It is pleasing to note that there are a few journals and many intelligent, gifted men who take a proper and humane view of the present Indian difficulties, and who have the manliness to condemn the perpetration of outrages upon their rights, whether done by the government or otherwise, and who sustain the Indians so far as their cause is just, notwithstanding they are the weaker party in the present contest.

The International Show.—Cooper, Bailey & Co.'s "Great International Show" is an affair of huge proportions, and the audience attracted to witness the entertainment last night was something tremendous, the whole of the available sitting room under the large canvas being occupied. The performances in the arena were, taken as a whole, superior to those of any other company that has visited Utah, some of the specialties being almost marvellous, such as the bare-back horsemanship feats of Mr. James Robinson, who performs with wonderful dexterity, and yet with an easy grace that stamped him a master in the line. The three Segist boys do some astonishing feats, the most notable of which is when they form an erect column and the middle one stands on the shoulders of the other two, and the top little fellow turns a revolution in the air and alights on the position just vacated by the middle one, on the shoulders of the bottom one. It is unnecessary to enumerate in detail, as everything that was seen was executed with the grace, the ground and lofty tumbling, the trained dog antics, etc.

In the menagerie there are numerous specimens of wild and tame animals, which attracted a great deal of attention, especially was this the case with the hippopotamus, being the only specimen of the animal ever seen here.

The show gave another performance this afternoon, at one o'clock, and will be open again to-night, and will conclude its career in this city with a couple of exhibitions to-morrow, afternoon and evening.

Our Country Contemporaries.

Ogden Junction, Aug. 23.—

Ogden had a close call last night, and but for a more accident Fifth and Main Streets might have presented a sad spectacle to-day. What will people learn to be careful with hot ashes, we wonder? Having attended the circus last night, Mr. A. W. Brown and a friend returned to his store on Fifth Street, after the performance was over, when previous to retiring to bed one of the young men happened to look out in the rear of the store, discovered a nice little fire just kindling into a blaze, which, however, by the efforts of the two young gentlemen, was shortly extinguished. The fire evidently proceeded from some ashes which had been deposited against a plank fence in the rear vicinity. This practice of putting hot ashes out among combustible materials should be stopped at once, it is dangerous in the extreme.

Beaver Enterprise, Aug. 19.—

A few days ago, C. J. Swift, Esq., filed his bonds for the office of County Attorney and received his certificate of election, having received a total of nine votes in the county. Emboldened by the attorney's success, Postmaster Poole has filed his bonds as Justice of the Peace of Beaver, and having received either one or two votes, and the prospect is that he will get his certificate of election likewise. In the first instance, the clerk failed to advertise the County Attorney's office as being vacant, and friend Swift got in by being sharp enough to detect the unpurported. In the second case, the county court did not consider the justice's office vacant. S. A. Kenner, Esq., was the former incumbent, and though he had removed to Salt Lake City, had announced his intention of returning to Beaver, and serving out his unexpired term. Owing to his having been away over thirty days, at the election, it is claimed that the office was vacant by statutory enactment. And the Post-office it would seem to become a justice's office as well. There's nothing like being smart. But how is it on the other side?

An Important Report on Disinfectants.

The sixth of the new series of Reports of the Medical Officers of the Privy Council and Local Government Board contains an article on the study of disinfectants, by Dr. Baxter. A great number of very valuable experiments have been made with a view to test the disinfecting properties of the so-called disinfectants commonly used. Evidence is adduced to show that the carbolic acid, sulphur, permanganate of potash, and chlorine are all endowed with true disinfectant properties, though in very varying degrees. The effectual disinfectant operation of chlorine and permanganate of potash appears to depend far more on the nature of the medium through which the particles of the infective matter are distributed than on the specific character of the particles themselves. Carbolic acid liquid can not be regarded as certainly and completely disinfecting by sulphur unless it has been rendered permanently and thoroughly so. No virulent liquid can be considered disinfecting by carbolic acid unless it contains at least two per centum by weight of the pure acid.

When disinfectants are mixed with a liquid it is very important to be sure that they are thoroughly incorporated with it, and that no solid matters capable of shielding contagion from immediate contact with the destroyer are overlooked. Disinfection, as commonly practised in the sick-room, is either useless or positively injurious, owing to the false sense of security it is calculated to produce. To make the air of a room small strongly of carbolic acid by scattering carbolic powder about the floor, or of chlorine by placing a tray of chloride of lime in a corner, is so far as the destruction of the infective contagion is concerned, an utterly futile proceeding. The practical result of these experiments goes to prove (1) that dry heat, when it can be applied, is probably the most efficient of all disinfectants; (2) that the old plan of steaming up the sick-room, and saturating with sulphur and charcoal, is more efficacious than any other proceeding with more modern disinfectants; and (3) that the use of carbolic vapor for disinfecting purposes should be abandoned, owing to the relative feebleness and uncertainty of its action.—London Times.

Who Is To Blame?

A correspondent who is troubled with that rare incumbrance, a scrupulous conscience and a sentimental disposition, writes us, asking, "Who is to blame for the present Indian war?" He desires to know whether the Sioux or the United States government are to be held in right and justice on their side in the existing struggle. The inquiry in the present situation of affairs, unprofitable and unpractical. The war has been precipitated, and it must be fought out to a bloody and decisive issue. To go into the details of the controversy, the correspondent would involve a long and tedious story. If the Indians had been fairly and firmly and honestly dealt with by the government; if our administration of Indian affairs had been just and honest; if there had been no greedy and dishonest Indian agents; if we had always faithfully observed our treaties with the aboriginal tribes, as we observe them with powerful nations; if the nations of the west presented a constant temptation to absorb the lands from time to time as the line of their encroachment was extended, and if the government had been so far as to say that in almost every Indian war of which we knew anything, the whites have been the first aggressors. The fact that the Canadian government, dealing with tribes as warlike as any of our own and possessing the same characteristics, have been able to get along with-out wars, goes far to confirm this view of the matter. There can be no doubt that through the inefficiency of our Indian system, the bad character of the majority of Indian agents, and the prevalent doctrine among our frontier population that the red man has no rights which a white man is bound to respect, and the accepted maxim that "dead Indians are good Indians"—the aborigines have been subjected to much injustice and to many outrages. But the march of events, and the inability of giving full effect to purely equitable considerations where conflicting interests are involved between the weak and the strong, render all inquiries of this kind idle for any practical purpose. It is the manifest destiny of the white pioneer to settle to possess the continent, and it is the inevitable doom of the savage to perish before their irresistible advance.—San Francisco Chronicle.
