Last Night's Dispatches.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 21.—During the discussion of the Osage land bill, Edmunds said he did not wonder from the way things went on that the country had trouble with the Indians. It had come to be an axiom with the Indians that the pale face carried a forked tongue, and he did not wonder that the Indians sometimes kicked out of the traces and behaved according to the very little light they had in a very rough way.

The committee on military affairs reported adversely on the petition of the citizens of Oregon, which asked that the Fort Dallas military reservation be donated for a military asylum, and reported a bill authorizing the transfer of that reservation from the War Department to the Interior Department, and providing for its sale.

Eaton got the floor and made an extended political speech in answer to Sherman, defending the democratic party and Samuel J. Tilden, at the conclusion of which the Senate returned to the question of the recommitment of the river and harbor appropriation bill.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 21. — After the transaction of some unimportant business, the bill confirming certain land claims in the State of Missouri came up. After discussion the enacting clause was struck out, and the bill was so reported to the House, which confirmed the action of the committee, and so the bill was defeated.

EASTERN.

The Silver Question.

NEW YORK, 21.—The silver depreciation is forcibly considered by the London Economist. It refers particularly to the great loss which results to the Indian government from the depreciation of silver, in which that government receives the whole of its revenue; and to the British merchants who have large remittances to make from that country, and discusses the remedies proposed. These are the adoption of a double standard for India and demonetization of silver there. It shows that the double standard would not help the government or individuals; that debtors would pay in cheaper legal tender, and the bad money would drive out the good. The attempt to demonetize silver would involve enormous losses to its subjects or to the Indian government.

Wool Market.

Michigan, Indiana and western fine 29 @ 30, coarse 30 @ 31; combing, washed 42½, unwashed 34; Canada, combing 47½, fine unwashed 20 @ 22, coarse and medium unwashed 23 @ 27, tub washed 33 @ 37; Colorado, washed 18 @ 20, unwashed 14 @ 17; extra and merino pulled 28 @ 30; Texas, fine and medium 16 @ 20, coarse 14 @ 16; California, fine and medium 18 @ 20, coarse 14 @ 16.

Pleasure Party Drowned.

DAVENPORT, Ia., 21.—A special from Hopkinton, Iowa, says a pleasure party of six went sailing on the Maquata river late last night, and had gone but a little way when the boat upset, and only two young men were saved. Those drowned were Mrs. West, Miss Billings, Miss Hydeneight, and a young child. The bodies of Miss Billings and of the child were recovered.

Wool Market.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., 21.—Wool is in good demand, the supply light, but sufficient for all wants; prices steady. Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia XX and above, 33½ @ 36, X 33½ @ 34, medium 34 @ 35, coarse 30 @ 32.

Damage by High Waters.

SHREVEPORT, La., 21. — Many plantations on the west side of the old river are overflowed, and fears are entertained that all on that side will be submerged. Heavy rain here has alarmed the planters along the river immediately below here. The upper river at Fulton fell thirteen inches. The impression here is that every plantation between Fulton and head of the raft is under water, though no word has been heard from any of them since the high water cut them off from the hills.

Government and the Corliss Engine Company, etc.

WASHINGTON, 21.—The Supreme Court, in the case of the Government against the Corliss Engine Company, decides that where the Secretary of the Navy possesses power under the legislation of Congress, and the orders of the President to enter into contracts for work connected with the construction, armament or equipment of vessels of war, he can suspend the work contracted for when, from any cause, the public interest may require, and where such suspension is ordered he is authorized to settle with the contractor upon the compensation to be paid for the partial performance of the contracts. When the settlement in such a case is made upon the full knowledge of all the facts without concealment, misrepresentation or fraud, it is equally binding upon the government as upon the contractor.

The case of Jay Cooke against the Government involved the question whether the redemption of treasury notes by an assistant treasurer can be accepted as such completed act of the Government as will saddle it with the loss of such notes, when the Secretary of the Treasury promptly pronounces them forged. Cooke insisted that if he honestly believed the notes in question were genuine, and so believing, in good faith passed them to the assistant treasurer, and he, under a like belief, and with like good faith received and paid for them, there can be no recovery, even though they may have been counterfeit. The court holds that all claims against the United States are to be settled in the Treasury Department. The assistant treasurer is simply the custodian of the public money to be paid or transferred upon the order of the department, but he has no authority to settle and adjust or determine upon the validity of any claim, therefore his failure to identify the notes as forged, when received, did not constitute agent's laches, which could only be charged after the secretary himself had reasonable time to decide upon the character of the notes; hence the notes in question were not retired by the action of the assistant treasurer.

In the United States against Eugene Dickelman, a Prussian subject, claimed damages for the detention of the ship Essex by the military authorities at New Orleans during the war in September, 1862, clearance being refused unless the first landed certain articles believed to be intended for the aid of the enemy. The court decides that under the general law of nations, when the Essex entered the port she assented to the conditions imposed by the President's proclamation opening it to commercial intercourse, except as to persons, things and information contraband of war, and she cannot complain of detention on account of the necessity for forcing here the obligations thus assumed. The place was under martial law, and she became subject to it. The treaty with Prussia contained nothing interfering with the right, under the law of nations, to withhold the clearance as a means of enforcing the port regulations.

Confirmation.

The Senate confirmed the nomination of James S. Delano, of Illinois, as Deputy Second Comptroller of the Treasury.

Nomination.

The President has nominated Samuel Hooper, of Iowa, United States Consul to Glasgow.

A Horrible Murder.

DETROIT, 21.—A woman named Mary Evanet, living in East Saginaw, was literally cut to pieces by her husband to-night, her left arm being nearly severed from her body, and her back, neck and side frightfully gashed. Jealousy is the probable cause.

Crook's Courier Not Yet Arrived.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., 21.—The courier who left Gen. Crook's camp on the evening of the 16th has not yet reached Fetterman; as in a former instance, his horse may have given out.

Seven companies of Gen. Merritt's Fifth cavalry arrived at Fort Laramie to-day, and will leave for Fetterman to-morrow or the day following, together with three additional companies of the same regiment, ten in all.

A Strong Lobby Influence Against Lawrence's Railroad Bill.

CHICAGO, 21. — The Journal's Washington special says a very strong lobby influence is at work here endeavoring to prevent any action by the Senate this session on Lawrence's Pacific Railroad sinking fund bill. An old officer of the Senate said, to-day, that in many years he has never known so many influential lobbyists hovering around the chamber and seeking interviews with senators as at the present time. The railroads interested are making a desperate fight against the bill, and are using money freely.

Gen. Terry's Movements.

The Inter-Ocean's Bismarck special says: Col. Hughes, aid-de-camp to General Terry, moved on the steamer Josephine this morning, with official telegrams from Terry. He left the mouth of Powder River on the 18th inst. He will remain a few days attending the shipment of supplies. The base of supplies has been changed from the mouth of Powder River to the Big Horn or Rosebud. General Terry has succeeded in obtaining a battery of heavy artillery, which Col. Hughes will probably take back with him. Forty-six Crow Indians joined the command lately, and report the Sioux in the Big Horn mountains preparing for another collision. Terry attempted on the 5th to get communication with Crook, but the courier was driven in immediately, and again on the 7th with the same result. On the 9th he sent scouts by way of the Rosebud route, with an escort some distance up Tullock's Fork, the couriers striking out from the escort after dark. They are probably the same whom Crook mentions in his latest dispatches. All evidence goes to show that the rumor of Sitting Bull being killed in battle is untrue. Thirty-nine Black Hills teams arrived to-day and will reload and return immediately.

WESTERN.

The Savage Mine Gone into Other Hands.

SAN FRANCISCO, 21.—The election of the Savage Mining Company yesterday resulted in the defeat of Flood & O'Brien and the success of the party headed by James R. Keene. The latter, in an interview to-day, says he intends to institute an honest, economical management, and hopes to have the new machinery in working order by August 1st. He will then soon conquer the water. He says when the mine was flooded there were the best indications in the twenty-two hundred foot level. The borings from the Hale & Norcross revealed good ore in the south end, and the new management will direct its efforts to get at it. A dispatch from Virginia reports J. G. Fair as saying in effect, with reference to the change in the control of the Savage, that there was no use in controlling an unproductive mine.

CANADA.

$50,000 Fire.

LACHINE, 21,—The large building used by Mr. St. Ouge, for boat-building, was burned last night with the boats of the Lachine Boating Club, and several steam and sailing yachts. The child of the proprietor perished in the flames, and two workmen, in endeavoring to save their tools, were so badly burned that they died this morning; loss $50,000.

Absconded.

MONTREAL, 21.—E. G. Mellor, jeweller of this city, absconded with $50,000 worth of jewelry.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Mysterious Death.

LONDON, 21. — The mysterious death of Bravo, a barrister, known as the Balham mystery, continues to occupy the public attention. The Manchester Guardian's London correspondent says that an extraordinary report is gaining currency that the Government has thought it expedient to apply for the exhumation of the body of the late Captain Ricado. The remains are in Brompton Cemetery, and are to be subjected to examination should it be deemed necessary. Captain Ricardo, to whom the Guardian's correspondent alludes, was Mrs. Bravo's first husband. He died at Cologne in 1871. The new investigation into Bravo's death has been proceeding for several days. The testimony thus far has developed no feature of importance.

The Whitehall Review of to-day says the chemist who sold the antimony which caused Bravo's death has been discovered, and that the identity of the medical practitioner to whom it was sold will be established in to-day's evidence.

TURKEY.

The Turks Again Repulsed.

BELGRADE, 21.—The Turks are everywhere assuming the offensive. It is officially announced that the Turks entrenched at Beljire attacked Gen. Olympics on Thursday with ten battalions, chiefly irregulars. They attempted to drive the Servians across the Drina, but after six hours' fighting they were repulsed and pursued to Beljire with heavy loss. The ground was covered with the Turkish dead. A rain storm stopped the pursuit, but the Servian artillery made great havoc in the Turkish ranks.

The Turks attacked Col. Mirkovic on Wednesday at Gramada, east of Alexinatz. There was ten hours indecisive fighting. The Turks were reinforced and resumed the attack on Thursday, but were repulsed.

The Standard's Belgrade special says the repulse of the attack on Gramada is the most important strategic advantage the Servians have yet gained. Gramada commands the road from Nisch to Saitchar, and bars access to the heart of Servia.

FRANCE.

Destructive Fire.

PARIS, 21.—A portion of the town of Garray near Cherbourg, has been burned, and one hundred houses destroyed, and 400 families left homeless.

Our Country Contemporaries.

Beaver Enterprise, July 18—

Major Low reports the grain crop good between Beaver and Salt Lake.

While the East is being devoured by heat, we are having the coolest season in Southern Utah we have seen for a half dozen years.

A number of the farmers of Minersville are preparing to remove to Red Lake east of the Sevier where there is an abundance of water. The falling Beaver has alarmed them and while a large portion of the community are bent on procuring the precious metals, these disgusted farmers will try to secure an unfailing supply of aqua pura.

Ogden Junction, July 21—

For an experiment the thermometer was placed on the west wall of the building (Junction office) at 2 p.m., when the mercury ran up suddenly to 108 degrees, when, fearing that it would soon burst the top off the tube, the "devil" took it down.

Logan, July 19.—Mr. Jas. Clark's son, about five or six years old, fell into Bear river and was drowned, yesterday, and has not been found yet. Last night Moses Thatcher's horse ran away with his buggy and children, throwing them out, mashing up the buggy, but not injuring the children much.

P. CRANNY.

THE CENTENNIAL FOURTH IN THE COUNTRY.

WALLSBURH.

WALLSBURGH, Wasatch Co.

The glorious Fourth in connection with the great centennial of our nation's birth, was duly remembered in our little burgh. At sunrise a volley was fired by the infantry under command of Capt. C. Gardner, in honor of our nation's flag.

At nine o'clock the procession was formed, consisting of school children, citizens and visitors, marching through the principal streets, and assembled at our spacious bowery.

At ten o'clock the marshal of the day, Daniel Bigelow, Esq., called the assembly to order. Singing by the choir; prayer by the chaplain, Wm. E Nuttall; the Battle Hymn of the Republic was sung by R. C. Camp and company; Declaration of Independence read by Francis Kerby, Sen.; oration by R. C. Camp, which was well rendered; toasts and sentiments, both comic and sentimental; patriotic speech by Prest. W. E. Nuttall.

The people assembled again at two o'clock, when racing, swinging, and various amusements until four o'clock were indulged in, when the juveniles enjoyed themselves in the dance until six o'clock.

In the evening the adults stepped the light fantastic, and broke up at a reasonable hour, all feeling that they had enjoyed themselves to their hearts' content, and all passed off in harmony and peace. Great credit is due to the committee of arrangements.

R. C. Camp, C. Gardner, D. Bigelow, R. Allred, Robert Cook, committee.
