He then proceeded to anticipate the arguments of Judge-Porist, and to point out to the jury the failacy of the arguments which he predicted Judge Porist would advance to support the theory of the prosecution, and to secure the hanging of Guiteau. In conclusion he said:

It has often been said that our jury trials are farces, and I have in my practice frequently heard it said that the jury system ought to be abolished, because they are influenced by the eloquence of advocates; because they are influenced by the eloquence of advocates; because they are influenced by the eloquence of advocates; because they are influenced by the eloquence of advocates; because they are influenced by the eloquence of advocates; because they are influenced by the eloquence of advocates; because they are influenced by the eloquence of advocates; because they are influenced by the eloquence of advocates; because they are influenced by the first state of the fail o

Dishonost Telegrapher. It does not require that you should have read Kent or Blackstone; it requires that you should have honest hearts and clear heads, and above all, that you should be fearless to find for the right, regardless of whether your fellow men may approve or not. This is what I shall expect of you, gentlemen. I leave it with you, gentlemen, thanking you for your kind attention.

Corkhill stated that in behalf of the prosecution he would withdraw all objection to Guiteau addressing the jury; that this trial had been long and expensive, and he did not desire to give any opportunity for desire to give any opportunity for graph Co., and retained his position an objection upon which to form a even after the company was notified even after the company was notified of his being a defaulter. One day while the superintendent in the Mexican office was sick, Thomson stole $500 from the safe, and cutting the wires fled to a seaport town and embarked for New York. A detachment of soldiers were sent to Goatzacoalcas, where the vessel boarded by the colorit was to ston. But by the culprit was to stop. But they arrived too late, for Thomson had re embarked on the brig Mary to allow the prisoner to speak.

Sherman's Bill.

It is to-day believed in the best informed senatorial circles that Sherman's 3 per cent. funding bill is doomed to certain defeat. The debate this week has developed unexpectedly strong opposition to the measure in its present form, and for fear of the adoption of obnoxious amendments, either in the Senate or in the House, a motion to lay it on the table early next week will doubtless be made.

The House committee on banking and currency to-day heard Representative Buckner in opposition to Dingley's resolution, advocating a continuance of the national banking system, after which a vote on the resolution we ademanded resulting in the adoption, 9 against 2. Sceville then went on to say that laws were framed for the punishment of sane people, not the insane. When a man has overstepped the boundary line of sanity and has committed a crime, he should not be punished as ahould be a sane man. If you find reasonable doubt as the law mercifully declares, of his sanity, you shall give him the benefit of it. The object of human punishment is not for revenge.

Scoville discussed also at length the demoralizing influence of the scaffold, and expressed the opinion scaffold, and expressed the opinion that crimes would be diminished

Brentz, Delegate from Washing ton Territory, has just introduced a bill and got it referred to the subcommittee of the House on Territories, for the admission into the Union of the State of Washington, to be composed of Washington Territory and three counties of Northern Idaho. Ainale, Delegate from Idaho, is fighting the bill, because it takes in part of his Territory, and he is backed by other Territorial Representatives, who do not like the precedent this bill would establish. They fear, should this bill pass, that other Territories wanting to become States might endeavor to capture portions of adjoining Terri capture portions of adjoining Territories in order to increase their population; hence a determined fight will be made against Brentz' iiil, which has been referred to a subcommittee consisting of Aldrich, Van Voorhis and Richardson, two
