SUNDAY IN THE CITY CHURCHES.

Rev. McClain Davis Delivers Striking Sermon on American Patriotism.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO THE FLAG.

Civic Righteousness the Theme Dwelt Upon by Rev. Helmick—Peril Of the Church.

Rev. McClain Davis of the Westminster Presbyterian church preached on "American Patriotism" Sunday evening, in which he said:

"The Presbyterian church might have been the state church of this country had its members so desired. But, much as I love the dear old church I am glad that it did not, for I believe that America is a much grander nation today than it would have been with the Presbyterian as the state church. And if this country is to continue to its course of progress in the future as it has in the past, church and state must ever be kept separate and distinct.

"You will recollect that in the early history of our country when there were few newspapers the church wielded a powerful influence. It was the ministers from the pulpit that argued the revolution, and so great a part did the ministers of the Presbyterian church take in urging the blow for liberty that the Revolutionary war has often been referred to as the Presbyterian war. In doing this the church did a valuable work, but had it gone further evil must have resulted. And so tonight let me urge all of you who value liberty and the right of free speech to constantly and firmly oppose all efforts at the union of church and state."

In making special reference to the flag, Mr. Davis said: "This is a flag of countless victories, but I don't want you to get the idea that it is always the best patriotism that dies for the flag on the field of battle. That quality of patriotism is good, but the patriotism that lives for the flag is better. War is a terrible thing and the time will come when it will be considered barbaric and atrocious. It doesn't bring justice. It does not settle principles of right and wrong. I hope and long for the day when we will have peace not by war, but by some more honorable method. And whatever you do, boys, love the old flag. Try and keep it the flag without a stain."

The church auditorium was tastefully decorated with national colors, and the music was suitable to the occasion.

CIVIC RIGHTEOUSNESS.

Rev. D. A. Helmick of the Iliff Methodist church preached yesterday morning, on "Civic Righteousness." In the course of his remarks, the speaker said:

"As we approach the anniversary of our nation's birth, it is but right and proper that the minister of the Gospel direct the attention of his people to the relation they sustain to the government and other citizens of the same government. There probably was never a time in the history of the world when the government was as bitterly hated by the governed as was the Roman government hated by the Jews and the Jewish Christians at the time of Paul's writing. And if ever there was a people who thought, from their teachings for the centuries past, that they were justified in hating a government, it was the Jewish people. And yet Paul tells not only them but every soul to be subject to the higher powers.

Anarchy reigned until government was instituted. The effect of anarchy was seen in the first family, where the elder brother rose up and slew the younger. Governments are instituted for the benefit of the governed and rulers are for the enforcement of laws enacted for the good of the people. Revolutions and rebellions are never supposed to be justifiable so long as rulers do not transcend the powers granted unto them by the government wherein they rule.

Civic righteousness contemplates the duty one owes to organized government, to its rulers, the other citizens of the government and the relations sustained by individuals in society. So long as I am obedient to the laws of my country the president of these United States is bound to protect me from all danger. The same can be said concerning the government of this state of Utah and the mayor of Salt Lake City. Summing it up thus, the president of the United States is my president, whoever he may be; the governor of Utah is my governor, whatever his name, and the mayor of this city is my mayor. According to civic righteousness I have no right to speak evil of magistrates nor rulers. I can find no place where God requires man to violate any of the above relationships, nor where he exculpates an individual for their violation.

"Civic righteousness as it contemplates the relation of individuals the one to the other in society, precludes the placing of anything injurious in the way of another. For "love worketh no ill to his neighbor," "Love is the fulfilling of the law." According to this, no man has a right to place anything in my way that will lead me astray or that will tempt by boy to ruin. Nor have I a right to demand of my neighbor anything that will afflict him or his family, so long as he is not himself in the transgression.

"We are approaching the anniversary of our nation's birth. We expect to celebrate. We expect to make a noise. Boys enjoy making a noise. Boys enjoy it as much as the smaller ones. But a man has no right to make a louder noise than a boy has. And neither man nor boy has a right to make a noise that will injure his neighbor's peace or comfort.

PERIL OF THE CHURCH.

In his sermon yesterday morning, in the First Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Wishard said:

"Absolute self-sacrifice is another element in the conquering power of the kingdom of God. The peril of the church today is its love of ease, of pleasure and the things of the world. A self-sacrificing church would turn the world up side down. Let that be ours, to lay ourself and all that this world calls great upon the altar of Him who loves us and gave Himself for us."

MEANING OF SACRAMENT.

Rev. Dr. D. D. Thompson, editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate of Chicago, preached yesterday morning in the First Methodist church, his theme being the meaning of the Sacrament. He said it meant first of all the manifestation of the divine love, and it is the duty of every Christian to follow after the Master.

Several Methodist ministers from the west were in town yesterday, en route to Denver to attend the annual convention of the Epworth league. Rev. Benjamin Young of the First church in this city, and Alexander Eberhart leave this evening for Denver, and Mr. Young will make an address next Saturday before the convention.

THE CHRISTIAN WARRIOR.

Rev. W. A. Crouch of Missouri, father-in-law of Rev. D. A. Brown of the First Baptist church of this city, is in town on a visit, and preached yesterday in Mr. Brown's pulpit. He made a stirring address last evening before the young people's meeting at the Baptist church on the Christian warrior, and said no Christian ought to appear in the next world without being able to show scars and wounds sustained in life's conflict with the devil.

NATION'S FIVE PERIODS.

In his discourse yesterday, in the Central Christian church, Rev. Dr. Pinkerton said that the five distinct periods of the nation were the struggle with nature; the struggle with the first inhabitants of this country; the conflict of religion; the conflict of democracy with aristocracy, and the conflict of commercialism. The last named is the conflict of the laboring man with the capitalist, which is the present period of conflict of this nation.

CATALOGUE ISSUED.

L. D. S. University Announces Additional Courses for Next Year.

Bulletin No. 1. of the Latter-day Saints university, from the press of the Deseret News, has been issued. It is the general catalogue, containing details of the work announced, and the force of teachers engaged for next year, with a list of students for the year just closed. The courses that show essential modification are the kindergarten and the domestic science. The former offers a more generous range of electives than formerly, mathematics being among the optional subjects of this course—this being a departure from the requirements of all the other courses. The latter now has sewing, dressmaking, etc., in the first two years, with cooking, household economics, hygiene for women, and domestic science, in the third and fourth years. The scientific, classical, and commercial courses remain substantially as before, except that a semester of economics has been added in the fourth year to each course and psychology has been eliminated. The normal course shows the addition of certain industrial work in the arts and industries, and of nature study and reviews of curriculum of the main common school subjects in part of the fourth year. One entirely new course, the English, has been added, its subjects leading to graduation with or without a foreign language. The list of teachers is considerably increased over that of last year.

TIME TO SPRAY.

Should be Done at Once as a Protection From Codling Moths.

Now is the time to spray for the second time this season, if the orchards are to be protected from codling moths and worms. The moths have been specially active in Salt Lake county this season, and true inspectors have been instructed to see that the law is rigidly enforced in regard to spraying and removing dead wood from orchards. At a meeting of the county board of horticulture to be held July 15 a report will be made from inspectors as to their work between now and that time. Saturday a report was made on the work of the season up to now, at a meeting held in the city and county building. The meeting was presided over by Vice President L. Hemingway, who discussed the inroads being made on the orchards, and the deputies were instructed to advise that all trees showing blight be removed, that dead wood be cut out, and that the second spraying for the season be given at once.

The place for recreation and pleasure on July 4th is Saltair.

In the party are President G. B. Johnson of the American surgical association, Dr. Collins Warren, Dr. Morris H. Richardson, Dr. Fred Shattuck, Dr. Dwight Warren and Dr. John Warren of the medical faculty of Harvard university; and Drs. Christopher Thompson and Louis C. Rosher of the Medical College of Virginia.

A PERSUASIVE WEAPON.

"Bob" Smith Gets Sawed-Off Shot Gun With Which to Collect Bill.

R. W. Smith, better known as "Bob" Smith, a waiter who is well known in police circles, is in jail for carrying a sawed-off shot gun and threatening to blow the Poodle Dog cafe off the face of the earth. Smith also threatened to make the anatomy of Joseph Popper, the owner of the cafe, look like unto a sieve.

The trouble occurred because Smith claimed Popper owed him a day's wages, and Popper said he didn't and refused to pay the amount demanded by "Bob." The latter then got drunk and also a shot gun with which to collect the pay alleged to be due him. While he was brandishing the weapon, Officer Olsen hove in sight and took Smith and gun to police headquarters. Smith claimes he worked for Popper. The latter says he found Smith drunk and discharged him, but claims to have paid him his wages in full.

IN THE THROES OF AN ELECTION.

Boise Preparing to Elect City Officers on Party Lines.

PINNEY AND HAYS FOR MAYOR.

Republicans and Democrats Name These Candidates Respectively—The Platform.

Special Correspondence.

Boise, Idaho, July 1.—For a week past the people of this city have been worked up to a high pitch over the election of its municipal officers. The city is divided on party lines and each faction is in the field with its own candidates and platform.

In the Republican primaries of the four wards, James A. Pinney and John M. Haines represented the choice of the people of that party, at least for the mayoralty; while the Democrats threw their support around Samuel H. Hays. In convention Thursday evening, the Republicans nominated by a vote of 48 to 31, James A. Pinney for mayor and Ben Q. Pettingall for treasurer. The convention adopted the following platform:

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The Republican party of Boise, in convention assembled, presents for consideration by the electors of said city the following declaration of principals:

First—We believe the affairs of the city can best be run by men pledged to the principles of honor, of honesty and sound common sense upon which the Republican party is founded and who are zealous in maintaining those principles for the public good.

Second—We pledge the nominees of this convention, if elected, to maintain the same standard of honesty in the conduct of city affairs that good men observe in the conduct of their private business affairs.

Third—We pledge the application of the proceeds of all special assessments for local improvements solely to the cost of such improvements and the return of any surplus to those paying such assessments.

Fourth—We pledge the party to strict economy and the lowest rate of taxation consistent with the conduct of the affairs of the city on a strictly business basis.

Fifth—We favor, when practicable, submitting the question of the necessity for local improvements to the owners of the property affected and if two-thirds of the owners shall oppose such improvements the same shall not be made.

Sixth—We pledge the nominees of this convention, if elected, to a faithful, steady and uniform enforcement of all the provisions of the state laws and of the city charter and the ordinances enacted thereunder.

Seventh—We pledge the nominees of this convention, if elected, to administer the affairs of the city within its income.

Eighth—We pledge to incoming city administration, if Republican, to regard equally the rights of all citizens, to favor home industries and home labor, to equalize the burdens of taxation and the cost of local improvements, to uphold the fair name and fame of our beautiful city and in all the relations of the city with its citizens to the principle of a "square deal."

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

The Democratic convention convened last evening and Samual H. Hays was nominated for the position of mayor by a unanimous vote. Much interest was awakened when Ex-Gov. Hunt, chairman of the platform committee, arose to read the report. Immediately upon the conclusion of the reading, a debate ensued over a provision of the platform advocating "the closing of saloons on the Sabbath day." After a futile attempt by Mr. Joseph Pence to introduce a substitute, the platform was adopted. It reads as follows:

"We, the representatives of the Democratic party in Boise, in convention assembled, hereby declare the following platform of principles:

"That the Democratic party is the advocate of the interests of no class but stands for equal rights to all, and in the present contest in the city of Boise recognizes that the issue is clean-cut, and we declare for

"The strict and impartial enforcement of all laws upon the statute book, without fear or favor, and especially for the enforcement of the anti-gambling law.

"We advocate such regulation of the liquor traffic as will be most conducive to public morality and favor immediately the closing of saloons on the Sabbath day.

"We demand the better regulation of the red light district and if necessary its absolute removal from the heart of the city.

"We believe in a progressive system of public improvements in the business portion of the city, but are opposed to burdensome special assessments in the residence district unless advocated by a majority of the property owners therein.

"We favor the ownership by the city of light and water and other public utilities to the end that the citizens of the municipality may get the cheapest rates and the best service.

"We favor economy in public expenditures compatible with the growth of the city, and we believe in putting the finances of the city upon a cash basis, to the end that taxation may be reduced, and the people receive the benefit of the taxes paid.

"We pledge our candidates, if elected, to a practical application of the principles herein contained."

Much anxiety is exhibited by the people of Boise as to what the outcome will be. It would certainly be difficult to determine at this date.

IN COLONEL'S TOWN.

Things Happen.

"From the home of the famous 'Keyhanel Keeyartiah of Carterseville,' away down South, comes an enthusiastic letter about Postum.

"I was in very delicate health, suffering from indigestion and a nervous trouble so severe that I could hardly sleep. The doctor ordered me to discontinue the use of the old kind of coffee, which was like poison to me, producing such extreme disturbance that I could not control myself. But such was my love for it that I could not get my own consent to give it up for some time, and continued to suffer, till my father one day brought home a package of Postum Food Coffee.

"I had the new food drink carefully prepared according to directions, and gave it a fair trial. It proved to have a rich flavor and made a healthy, wholesome and delightful drink. To my taste the addition of cream greatly improves it.

"My health began to improve as soon as the drug effect of the old coffee was removed and the Postum Coffee had time to make its influence felt. My nervous troubles were speedily relieved and the sleep which the old coffee drove from my pillow always came to soothe and strengthen me after I had drunk Postum—in a very short time I began to sleep better than I had for years before. I have now used Postum Coffee for several years and like it better and find it more beneficial than when I first began. It is an unspeakable joy to be relieved of the old distress and sickness." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason.

BAD RESIDENCE BLAZE.

Home of D. E. Kelly Nearly Destroyed While Family Was in Ogden.

The residence of D. Elliot Kelly, manager of the Telegram, located at 933 Second street, was badly damaged by fire early yesterday morning, the cause of the blaze being unknown. There is a suspicion, however, that the blaze was of incendiary origin, although there are apparently no clues as to the identity of the guilty person.

At the time of the fire Mr. Kelly and family were in Ogden, and the place was unoccupied. The house is a two-story frame building, and the entire roof and second story were completely destroyed. Considerable furniture was saved by the firemen from station No. 4, who responded to the alarm. It is estimated that the damage done will reach more than $1,000.

The whole roof was enveloped in flames when the fire was discovered and an alarm sent in. The apparatus responded promptly and two streams of water were quickly turned into the flames while the firemen began carrying out furniture. While this was going on the roof fell in.

Mr. Kelly was located in Ogden by telephone, and returned to this city as quickly as possible. Mr. Kelly and Chief Bywater made an investigation, but were unable to determine the cause of the fire.

MR. BEANE OF IDAHO.

Denies That His Wife is Entitled to a Divorce—Tells Reason Why.

Frank W. Beane, the Idaho attorney whose wife, Minnie Beane, is suing him for divorce in this county, has filed an answer to her complaint in which he denies all of the principal allegations upon which the action is based. He denies emphatically that his wife has lived in this county one year, as the law requires before she can legally sue for divorce, and states that she has lived here only one month.

He also denies that he has failed or refused to support his wife or that he has been guilty of habitual drunkenness or that he has been under the influence of liquor except occasionally. The answer denies that defendant is a practising attorney or that he is capable of earning $2,500 per year or any sum in excess of $1,500. Defendant therefore asks that his wife's complaint be dismissed.

ESTATES OF TWO M'COYS.

Kentucky Relatives Write to Sec. of State Tingey for Information.

A letter has been received by Secy. of State Tingey from Pleasant, Ky., inquiring in regard to the estates of Walter and Ezekiel McCoy, who are believed by their relatives in the Blue Grass state, to be dead.

The writer of the letter states that the two McCoys came west a number of years ago, and that it was reported they had died in this state. As they had no children, their brothers and sisters are desirous of obtaining information concerning their estates. Any person knowing of the two men or their estates may communicate with Secy. of State Tingey and the information will be forwarded to Kentucky.

AT THE RESORTS.

The "hello" girls of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company returned to their desks this morning with the feeling which only comes after the outing of the season, and the stories they had to tell were of the wonderful sights of the baseball game and a pugilist in training at the Lagoon. The Z. C. M. I. baseball team was walloped for the edification of the telephone girls to the tune of 14 to 10, and the evening of Saturday was spent in dancing at the Lagoon pavilion till the last car came home.

Wednesday, July 19, is Mutual Improvement day at Saltair, the Liberty, Pioneer, Salt Lake and Ensign stakes joining in an outing at that time. Committees are now at work preparing a special program for the occasion, and it is hoped to make the excursion one of the biggest and best of the present season.

On Monday next, July 10, the Fifth and Twenty-sixth ward Sunday schools will spend the day at Lagoon.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL JUBILEE.

Eleventh Ward Sunday School Holds One Under Auspicious Circumstances.

Yesterday the Sunday school of the Eleventh ward celebrated its fiftieth anniversary, the exercises covering two sessions, commencing at 10 o'clock in the morning and 6 o'clock in the evening, and both being eminently successful. As it was the Sabbath nearest the Fourth of July, the exercises were commemorative of the nation's natal day as well as a Sunday school jubilee. A committee of students was stationed at the door and pinned a miniature American flag on each person entering the building, and among the decorations, which were elaborate and artistic, the Stars and Stripes held a prominent place. Superintendent Cameron and his assistants, George Coulam, Jr., and E. A. Child, presided, and there were present Bishop Robert Morris and counselors, members of the presidency of Ensign stake, of the general Sunday school board, Sunday school superintendency of the Ensign stake, members of the stake board and many other prominent people interested in the Sunday school cause.

Fifty years ago, on the first day of July, 1855, the Eleventh ward Sunday school was organized by Elder William Athol McMaster, with a membership of 25; the enrollment at present is nearly 600, and is still increasing in a gratifying manner.

The scene presented in the assembly hall at 10 o'clock, when the school was called to order, was a most inspiring one. The flowers, the presence everywhere of Old Glory, the beautiful costumes of the children, and the happy, eager faces of the latter, formed a picture not soon to be forgotten.

Elder Henry Coulam, probably the only one present who was a member of the original organization, offered the opening prayer, and a program showing the work being done in the lower grades was carried out in a most intelligent manner, displaying the careful work of competent teachers. A very interesting number was a sketch of the life of "Our First Superintendent," by his little granddaughter, Frances McMaster.

At the evening session every seat in the hall was occupied. Prayer was offered by Elder William Taylor, one of the original 25, after which a program showing the work of the higher grades was most creditably presented. Remarks were made by Bishop Robert Morris, Elder Ure of the general Sunday School board, Asst. Supt. Smith, and President John M. Knight. All dwelt on the excellent progress being made by the school and congratulated Superintendent Cameron and his aids on the high standard of their work.

TO PROTECT BUYERS.

County Commissioners to Require Good Bonds from Abstractors.

For the better protection of purchasers of real estate in this county, the county commissioners today took steps to have the bonds of all abstract companies doing business in the county investigated as to their sufficiency. A motion was made and carried instructing County Clerk Eldredge to carefully investigate the bonds and ascertain whether or not they are sufficient. If any are believed to be insufficient additional bonds will be required by the commissioners.

County Auditor Fisher submitted the following appointments of extra clerks to compute the tax rolls for this year, which were confirmed by the board at the wage of $3 per day: C. R. Mabey, C. H. Stevenson, Percy Taylor, F. L. DeArmond, William Groesbeck, Fred Taylor, Theodore Raybould and E. M. Bennett.

NOTHING DOING.

Schettler Bankruptcy Case is Continued For One Week.

A hearing of the Schettler bankruptcy case was set for this morning at 10 o'clock but there was no business to transact at that time, and consequently the case was adjourned for one week. The only object in continuing the case is to allow Trustee Blakely to report on any sales of assets which he may have a chance to close. The next hearing is set for 10 o'clock July 10. No sales have been made since the last meeting, although negotiations are on for several small pieces.

AGAINST HACK DRIVERS.

Jehus Must Keep Out of O. S. L. Depot.

Judge Morse today handed down a decision in the injunction suit brought by the Oregon Short Line Railroad company against F. T. Davidson and a large number of hackdrivers in which he found the issues for plaintiff, and made permanent the injunction issued in the case restraining defendants from entering the enclosed district at the depot yards for the purpose of soliciting patronage.

The quaint philosopher who advertised: "LOST—one rubber boot; will buy or sell," exemplified the American spirit of barter which finds its outlet in the "For Sale and Exchange" columns.

KIND PUBLIC.

Mr. Anderson, the well known blind man, who was in the great explosion at Price some years ago, and now a newsboy in this city, is trying his uttermost to make a living for his wife and family by selling papers, but it seems at present to be a complete failure on account of the rumors circulating among the public regarding his wealth, which has absolutely no foundation. His object is to get enough to start his wife (who has very poor health) in a little business in a town out of this county.

He is usually at the "busy corner," Second South and Main, except in the heat of the afternoon, near the old clock corner.

Kindly remember him to this end when you want a paper.

FIRST TOYS OF PRINCE ALEXIS OF RUSSIA.

The curious group of manikins herewith depicted illustrates one manner in which the baby heir to the Russian throne is amused. The cut represents eight figures, but they may be reduced to one, after the fashion of multiplying eggs and nests of boxes. These toys are in great vogue in Russia, and the peasants are very ingenious in constructing them. All kinds of animals and human figures are reduplicated in this progressive series, and the toy stores of Europe are beginning to make a specialty of these attractive wares.

THE PRESIDENT'S GUIDE AND HIS WONDERFUL DOG.

The cut is from a recent picture of John Goff, President Roosevelt's trusty guide on his recent hunting trip, and his intelligent tree climbing dog. Goff has piloted the president on several of his hunts for big game, and his dog has contributed his share to the success of many of the executive's most memorable expeditions. This well trained and unusually bright canine has been taught by his master to climb trees, and he performs the feat with remarkable agility. He shows no hesitation when he is sent to dislodge a hissing wildcat or even a growling bear.
