"MORMONISM," IRRIGATION AND THE DISTRICT SCHOOLS.

THE Christian Union of January 10th, has two articles touching on the subject of "Mormonism." The first admits that "legal prohibitions, enforced somtimes bythe military and sometimes by the mob" have been tried "ever since Mormonism was a mere speck,' and that they have failed while it has constantly grown. A different treatment is suggested, and it is declared

"The power of the hierarchy must be broken; that requires law, directed, however, not against polygamy, but against the despotic power which the polygamous hierarchy exercises over its subjects, chiefly by controlling the system of irrigation, on which their food depends."

up the hierarchy, by destroying the power to control irrigation, and the dissipation of ignorance by planting a school-house in every village. If this is done, the Union thinks, "polygamy can be left to take care of itself."

What a pity it is that writers for the Christian Union and other papers, religious and secular, do not spend a little time in obtaining information on the subject of "Mormonism." If they have not taste for this they ought not to write about it. Most of their lucubrations are predicated upon grave mistakes. As a natural consequence they spend their time and fill up valuable space with articles that do no good, but only help to mislead the public, already in gross error on the question at

For the information of the Union, we law and not by the "Mormon" Church, We must also repeat the statement that the Church has no control whatever over the system of irrigation in this Territory. The Church does not of any person either within or without its limits. It does not control their individual property. Its presiding officers are "chosen by the body," and sustained in their position by the vote, faith and fellowship of the members of the Church of both sexes. The strength and unity of the Church are not maintained by any species of force, but by the powerful influence of an active and ever-present spirit which guides into all truth and inspires the

The imagined ignorance and absence of schools in Utah are misconceptions The people understand much more than they are credited with. They are not as a rule from the highly educated classes, but they are common sense folk gathered from the industrial classes of the world, and are able to give good reasons for the faith that is in them. And they are governed, so far as the Church is concerned, by their own will and consent. Their children have ample opportunities for acquiring a good have any valid excuse for remaining away from school. The schools are mainly supported by taxation, and where tuition fees are required, the amount is small and means are provided in the various Wards for the tuition of children whose parents are too poor to pay for it. The idea that "polygamy can take care of itself," is a sensible one. Rational people are beginning to see that it is no "problem" at all. That it is a matter which does not concern the nation half as much as they thought it did. That "Mormon" society is a great deal better than society where certain Puritans are clamoring for the suppression of a marriage system which they do not understand. And that it really has no proper bearing upon politics, but is a matter, of purely domestic concern, affecting only those who are engaged in its practice.

This being the ease, the suggestions of the Christian Union about a different treatment of the "Mormon" question amount to nothing at all.

The second article in the Union is devoted to the consideration of a letter from some person in this city described as "a well informed correspon-dent." That writer states that while the schools here are under the regulation of "a board of trustees regularly chosen," "the bishop is the real man-ager of school matters in every case;" lso that "The Book of Mormon and the Book of Doctrine and Covenants (the latter containing Smith's revelations including the one on polygamy) hold an honored place in the currien

If the correspondent is well informed, he or she is not fit to write for a religious paper, for the remarks which we have quoted are false if every particular. We are familiar with the school law and its workings in this Territory, and also with the a operations of the Church, and we have no hesitation in saying that the school hold and exercise their office as the iaw directs, independent of any other authority. And we do not know of a district school in the Territory-there is certainly not one in this city—where the books named are used as textbooks, or enter into the course of in-struction given. The books in use are similar to those adopted in the best schools of the various States, and the Union correspondent has, no doubt, own imposed upon by some person as reckless of the truth at the present Executive of the Territory, who has had the hardihood to assert something very similar in his message to the Leg-islature. The statement that "sectaature. The statement that "sectarian tenets are taught in the dist

THURSDAY'S SUICIDE.

It is curious to note the character of ne causes which operate upon the minds of people who commit suicide and apparently influence them in the commission of so terrible an act. The mind must be in an abnormal con-In with and in that state impressed with some circumstance or condition which is brooded over until the mental depression becomes so great that life appears to the unfortunate being utterly unbearable.

In this connection we have been in ned of some interesting circum-nees associated with the late Thomas Morris, which explains the reason why he rashly took his own life. The deceased lived in a little house on a strip of land in which Brother

gham Young-had kindly given him a life possessory interest. He had worked in earlier times as gardener for Brother Young and the latter, from pure benevolence, took a lively and practical interest in his welfare. As has been stated he sustained himself and wife by peddling bottled horse-radish. He purchased a large quantity of the root last season from a Bountiful farmer, the value of the supply being about $120, the entire amount of his working capital. His store of material, which was in good condition when received, became heated and was almost a total loss.

This incident weighed upon a mind already weakened by the natural operations of time, until he reached a condition of chronic despondency, causing the poor old man to frequently give vent to his feelings in tears. Efforts were made to encourage him and the Teachers of the Church visited him and took care that he did not want for the necessaries of life.but all! that his mind was apparently capable of grasping for months was the fact of his loss. The case is one into which the pathetic largely enters. Although the weight of misery which led the old gentleman will state that there is not a village in to take his own life was apparently Utah without a schoolhouse, and that trivial, the effect on him was as heavy the schools are regulated by secular as if the fate of a would had been involved in it.

> OUR CHICAGO LETTER. SPECIAL TOPICS INTELLIGENTLY

count of Senstor Culiom's thunder at Washington, and further on the account of the arrivallof Governor Murray at Salt Lake City. And as if the fates willed it to render the dispelling of my illusion entirely complete, to use a pleonasm, a friend of mine placed in my hand a local weekly which contained a remarkable production from the pen of some trate Hibernian of Cottonwood. Under other circumstances, this last production would evoke scarcely more than a passing glance, but to-day and coupled with present associations it made me feel really serious. It appears me feel really serious. It appears the Sait Lake Herald commented, huusly perhaps, on a Mr. Ryan who voluntarily disfranchised himself in New York city. As to Mr. Ryan's folly or wisdom we have nothing to do, even if he committed suicide, physical as well as political. But the Cottonwood correspondent is even more foolish. The letter he writes to-day might be compared with the hundreds written twenty years ago against his own religion and his own people. And if Romanism were substituted for Mormonism, his letter would present a fine specimen of know-nothing literature. The clergymen of his church were treated just the same as the Morwere treated just the same as the Mormon Elders are now; the practices of his religion were styled fanaticism and superstition; the monks, nuns and clergy were all classed as lecherous carnalists, and the convents were put down as hotbeds of prostitution, free-love and general viclousness. It was in the State of Kentucky that this feeling raged wildest and most determined.

Senator Cullom is a native of Kentucky, and at the time of the religious hatred above mentioned, he must have been a young man impressionable and plastic. This goes to show that his antipathy to Mormonism is not the result of pure conviction as to its simulness, nor of calm deliberation as to its falsity. His feeling is the result of early teaching and training. He was educated in religious strife, and he will continue in this to the end of the chapter. If the cry to-day were the same continue in this to the end of the chapter. If the cry to-day were the same as 25 years ago, he would be found on the destroying side. An old Celtic resident of Padgeah, Ky., told me one time, that for the killing of one of his race, a fine of five dollars would be imposed, but if the fined person would bring the head of some noxious animal that infested the State, the fine would be remitted. If it were not for the democratic party at the time, the freedom of religion in the United States was scaled forever. And it is significant now that Senator Brown, of Georgia, an ardent democrat, is the first to raise his voice for the preservation of personal rights and constitutional equity. There is not a religion to-day, in existence, that something objectionable in it cannot be pointed out by some party or faction. Aye, even all religion is vigorously assailed, and by a strong following too.

PROGRESSIVE FORCES OF "MOB-MONISM." Any person who understands the fact that Mormonism colony of these people, the humblest ranks, and the organize a better municipally colony taken from the higher lonal establishments of the hood so extensive and so admirably or-ganised that mostly all the people in some way partake in it.

THE PROPER TREATMENT.

in the East, in fact he was considered a very small potato indeed here. What has he done? Any man can get on top of a barrel and shout, down with Mor-monism, and that is all the Governor of Utah has done.

CABLE CAR SYSTEM. Our city is fast becoming a metropolitan centre. We have here at present a party of gentlemen from New York City investigating the cable car system. This branch of street railroading has been brought to a very successful standard in Chicago, and that is the reason the Gothamites came to learn of us. They adopted our public patrol system a short time ago. This has revolutionized all police routine duty, instead of dragging a drunken brute through the streets, followed by a gaping crowd, he is now whisked off as fast as a first-class team can travel.

MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS. We have had so many fires recently and seme under such suspicious circumstances that the fire marshal has issued an order calling attention to legislation on the matter. The number of bankruptcies seems to be on the increase, though there is nothing like a panic apparent? We are likely to have an improvement in this city, which will be not alone an embellishment but a very useful structure.

The railroad companies have offered $800,000 for a plot of land on the lake front for depot purposes. It is to be hoped they will succeed in getting it, as they propose to put up a depot that will be the first of its kind on this side of the Atlantic. The aldermen talk of pulling down the Exposition building, because of some rent complications. This would be a shame, and it is an act that would not be at all relished by the citizens. This building has become so identified, with fat stock shows, concerts, political conventions, fairs and exhibitions, that its commercial importance alone to the city is a large consideration. We are also having some new ideas promulgated on the license question, and it is likely we will have a lively year all around in Chicago.

BODY SNATCHING DENOUNCED. We have had so many fires recently

BODY SNATCHING DENOUNCED. Even the bones of the dead are not permitted to rest in peace. The vile hands of the body-snatcher invade the sanctity of the grave, and the remains of the loved one which were so fondly and tenderly and tearfully lowered into the silent clay, are ruthlessly resurrected. It is conceded on all sides that we have among us the meanest specimen of humanity to be found to-day on this planet, in the shape of a medical student, who followed the remains of his sweetheart to the grave, and the same night resurected her body for use on the dissecting table. Though the State law amply provides for the supply of subjects to the schools of medicine, yet somehow its provisions are defeated. It is an easy matter to trace the cause of this. It is only a few months since an awful cry was raised about the dispute of the pauper dead. Speeches and editorials denounced the heartless disposition made of the unfriended and unmourned pauper. The county undertaker Even the bones of the dead are not ed pauper. The county undertaker was charged with trading in deceased own the land or the water. Title to the soil is vested in the individual owners thereof as in other parts of the country, and rights to the use of water for irrigation are held in a similar manner. It is all regulated by law and not by any hierarchy or ecclesiastical power.

Breaking up the hierarchy would not affect irrigation. The "despotic power" which we hear so much about is a myth. The organization of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints is remarkable, compact and complete. But it is not a despotism. It does not interfere with the liberty of any person either within or WESTERN FLOATS. ARRANGEMENTS were effected on the 11th, between the Oregon Rallway and Navigation Company and the Oregon Construction Company (private contractors), by which work will be continued on the Baker City branch to intersect the Oregon Short Line. Connection will be made by the end of summer. Private advices show that matters thave been so arranged in New York that there will be no interruption in the prosecution of the work upon part of the Oregon railroad systems or its cognate enterprises. The Oregon Construction Company has done all the geading on the line beyond Pendleton, on which work was stopped last week.

The California orange crop of the present year is about one-third below the average, and as a natural consequence the prices will be high, the more so as a species of corner in the fruit exists. Several reasons for the partial fallure of the crop are advanced, the most plausible being that this was an off year, last year's crop having been an unusually heavy one. It was also asserted that the weather was cold at the time the fruit was forming, which also contributed in a measure to reduce the supply. The lime crop of California is also short, and the fruit is of inferior quality. The lemon crop is considered the average.

On the evening of the 15th, Joseph Rich, pawnbroker, of Butte City, Montana, left his premises and went to his his return he found the door opened the family are invited. without the use of his key, and going going in he discovered that some party or parties had paid his room a visit during his absence. In the show case he had left a tray containing fourteen gold watches, valued at $2,000. One of the watches alone would bring $450 in any market. A closer examination showed that the burglars had also taken $30 in sliver, which was stacked In one corner of the case, and "two gold chains, a large number of sliver watches, gold rings, watch chains, pistois, etc. No clue,

At Victoria, B. C., on the 11th, in the House branch of the Legislature a spirited debate was had on a bill to clude Chinese from the coal mines The leader of the opposition warmly supported the proposition. The Pro-vincial Secretary retorted that the last speaker employed Chinese in clearing a town-site he owns. The leader of the opposition said the statement was and would say something about the tion declining to submit his charges, the Provincial Secretary said he was a longer address as an honorable gentleman.
