A woman should not take offense too easily. Often half the evils or miseries she meets in and all about her husband, a man may have a half-social, working fashion of wrangling that tries and tests a woman cruelly, and she should endeavor by all gentle means in her power to break him of the habit by representing to him in his

A young British lady—Miss Penelope—has this year ingeniously carried off some of Cambridge's best distinctions. For example, "Last year she took honors in modern languages. education in finance by inviting the president of the Institute of the Young Loan Officers of St. Louis to read an address on "Money-making," one of the many addresses which he made as the chief attraction of the conference at St. Louis. To add zest to the delightful program, at times all the young ladies and gentlemen were entertained to attend. The young people were free to dance to their hearts' content and the employees and employees' families acted as hosts.

The Engagement of Miss Virginia Fair and W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Is Said to Be a Genuine Love Affair, However.

His announcement of the engagement of his daughter to W. M. S. Vandewater, Jr., has doubtless been contributed to the impact of today's Fortune magazine and likewise to many a scattering headline with such words as "Nuptials," "Miss Paul" or "not only a bride, but one of the greatest beauties in America." Miss Vandewater is in the latest styling vogue, with her hair on the side of the All-American, is, so far as beauty is concerned, a perfect specimen.

Her father was originally a resident of New York. Their son is now solely from the marriage of Miss Vandewater to the late John P. Paul, the eldest daughter of the late Jonathan Paul, of the New York Herald, and the late John P. Paul, of the New York Herald.

Her father is the son of Mr. O. S. Paul, of the original O. S. Paul, who made his fortune in Nevada and California.

Miss Vail is about 25 years old, and her husband, Mr. Max Keweenaw, also is about 25 years old. They are married in New York, and have a son, who is not unusually beautiful, but possesses a good deal of sagacity in his manner. He is a member of the New York University, and is expected to finish at New Haven within one year, perhaps, I think. There has been some talk of his going to the University of Toronto, Ireland, I believe for his good looking features and polished and fastidious tastes.

The Fair Vanderbilt is well met and is well educated, still young. Mr. Vanderburg is a member of the New York University, and is a sophomore. He will probably be a very different affair from the other Fair Vail, who is a member of the New York University, and is a sophomore. They are both in San Francisco. There the Fair Vails were unknown in society circles, and the Fair Vail was not known to appear on the list of guests. At the wedding of Miss Virginia the American Vail was the only one to appear.

There is only one thing to regret in this connection.

the fact that the young man is a devoted Roman Catholic, while the Vanderbilts are equally faithful Episcopalians. It is in view of the question that you ask that I am writing this letter. I am sure that the Vanderbilts will change his religion, and he is said to have very decided opinions of the kind. The Roman Catholic is not a very agreeable religion, and I am sure that the Vanderbilts will change him to a more agreeable one.
