

Mr. McIntyre reported the mine looking well and when seen later in the day he said in answer to a question, that the company will pay a dividend as soon as the ore in transit is mar-keted. The company will aim to pay one of 5 cents per share or $20,000 on the sth instant. It may be delayed a day or two longer, but in any case Mr. Mc-Intyre says if a dividend is not paid this week it will be handed out early MINING NOTES.

Mayberry, of the United States, came in from Bing-ham last evening after spending yes-terday in examining the Ben Butler which has shot into such prominence within the past three weeks. Mr. Mayberry says an inspection of the property will convince any one that it is all that is claimed for it. Between three and four feet of shipping ore is now ex-posed in the drift in addition to several feet of milling ore and it has every ap-pearance of being permanent and turning out a very important strike. Mr. Mayberry looks for some greater sur-prises at the property in the near future Cheerful news is also brought to town from the Silver Shield where a change has just occurred on the lowest level. The ore pinched in the drift last week but it has since widened out to between 12 and 14 inches of high grade ore, well.

l Tonight opens a busy week at both theaters, and both are looking for strong patronage in view of the attrac. tions they have to offer. At the Theater the "Prisoner of Zenda" opens an engagement of three nights and a matinee, The version is that used by Daniel Frohman's company on its visit here, and the players are all said to be of a high grade of excellence. Mr. Percy Sage, manager of the company, is here in person.

. . . At the Grand the widely advertised "Little Minister" opens the week. There is the utmost curiosity to see Miss Hall in the role of Babbie and Mr. Cummings in that of Gavin. The eight performances this week are expected to break the record of the house since the Cummings Stock company began its season.

. . . The sale for Sousa's concerts began at the Daynes' Music Store this morning. There was no great crush, but a good steady demand. People will doubt-less take their own time to make their purchases as everyone knows there are enough good seats in the house to satisfy all who will wish to attend.

The advance sale for Seabrooke in "The Rounders" begins at the Theater box-office tomorrow morning. The Boston Lyric Opera company's engagement is now ancient history as far as Salt Lake is concerned, and but few people will find any interest in a review of its final performance of "Il Trovatore" Saturday night. Some fea. tures of the performance and of the engagement, however, were so extraclub. rdinary that it would hardly be propto pass them by in silence. Not the least of the features was the remark of one of the morning papers the effect that the chorus in tore" quite redeemed itself. This peculiarly distressing. The cold vatore" fact is that a few things ever heard within the walls of the Theater have been more nerve racki g that the chorus work in the "Miserere" scene, where it should have been at its very best. Musicians who were admiring the charming work of little Miss Davis, the so prano, and the tenor solo of Russo, were angry enough to break into hisses when the chorus chanted the whole "Miserere" at least a quarter of a note off the key. It was simply butchery, and It was the more exasperating when one remembers that Mr. Stephens could have furnished any number of singers on an hour's notice for the invisible work, who would have rendered it to perfection. Collamarini was superb. In some respects her gypsy was more strongly rendered than it has ever been in Salt Lake, notably the dramatic would be closed. parts, Russo's work was uneven. At times he was excellent, and at times he sang ridiculously away from the key. sang ridiculously away from the key. Allessandroni, much to the general dis-appointment of the audience, could hardly sing a note. It is much to his credit that he walked through the part at all as his hoarscness was of the kind cific. that would have caused most artists to refuse to step upon the stage. The or-chestra struggled valiantly with its part and occasionally did good work, though Last night burglars made an unsue cessful attempt to break into Byron'l saloon on State and Third South streets The intruders got into the cellar all tried to force their way into the so-loon, but were frightened off befor accomplishing their purpose. on the whole it was a prolonged violin solo with plano accompaniment by Mr. Weihe and the leader.

Wright and Daniel Hamer, comm the committee appointed by the Weber After the visiting railroad men had shaken hands all round they were escorted to the carriages, which were in waiting and taken a drive throughout the city and up Ogden canyon. Before Mr. Hays left the depot he stated to a "News" representative that the present trip was somewhat in the nature of a tour of inspection in order to examine the physical condition of the road to which he had recently been appointed. He proceeded to state that it was in fair condition, and that in the course of the next few months there would be striking changes inaugurated on the system in the form of cut-ons and the reduction of grades and curves. In regard to the Harriman-Syn deal whereby the Union Pacific has secured the controlling interest in the Southern Pacific, Mr. Hays stated that consolidation would not materially interfere with the railroads in western America. For the present, he said, he d'd not anticipate any reduction in the forces of the general agencies of his company and that he had not the remotest idea that the Ogden gateway

Here the management has drifted some 70 feet and some stoping has also been done. A five-foot body of ore is showing in the face of the drift on this level. A winze has lately been sunk about forty feet and the bottom shows four feet of ore, of which a number of assays have been taken all of which show over one ounce gold per ton. The company is now driving to tap the vein 150 feet deeper. About 150 feet of this work has been done and there is still about 150 farther to go. The ore in the bottom of the winze leads the management to expect great things when the lower tunnel taps the vein.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS

House bill No. 80 by Axton providing that there shall be no change in the rate of interes, paid on tax sales after assignment

House bill No. 81, by Axton, changing the rate of interest on tax sales from 18 per cent to 6 per cent per annum. House bill No. 82, by Axton, pro-viding that members of the State board of equalization shall be ineligible for -appointment as their own successors House bill No. 87, by Axton, which has for its aim the abolishment of the board of public works. House bill No. 88, by McGregor, for an act to provide for the incorporation, operation and management of co-opera. tive associations, making five persons a sufficient number to form such an association, and all persons above the age of 18 years eligible. SALARIES OF STATE OFFICERS. The committee on fees and salaries reported on House bill No. 7, regarding the raising of the salaries of certain State officers, with amendments as al. ready "eported in the "News." A further amendment by Representative Homer of Utah to change the state treasurer's salary from $1,500 to $2,000 was lost. An amendment by the same member decreasing the salary of the attorney general to $2,000 carried. Representative Bench moved that the salary of the Governor should be $3,000 and that of the secretary of State $2,-500. Mr. Hatch moved that the state treasurer get $1,800. These amend-ments were ruled out of order. This somewhat complicated matters, A mo. tion by Mr. Davis to refer the bill to the committee was seconded, but did not carry. Mr. Holzheimer offered as a substitute that the original amendments as made by the committee be adopted, Mr. Axton claimed that th substitute was no substitute and the chair ruled the point well taken. The vote on the bill as amended by the com-mittee and with the change of the attorney general's salaary to $2,000 re-suited in a vote of 21 to 19. This not being a majority of the members elect. ed another vote will be taken tomor
