

NATIONAL GUARD IS IN READINESS.

husband's clothes so that he should not go to work. The belief prevails at the coal camps that Gen. Cannon will recommend that troops be sent to Castle Gate and Sunnyside, and that martial law will be proclaimed.

Governor Wells said last evening: "I have had no information today, and things stand as they did yesterday. Until Gen. Cannon's report comes in I shall not act, and unless conditions are much worse than at present reported, I doubt if I shall send the troops."

"I have had no specific information of violence by anyone, except that I did hear of a few striking miners who fired pistols at the feet of some of the non-union men. This is not official, and outside of the arrest of the six men at Castle Gate I know of no violent action by the coal company's guards."

"Today I heard from the company and they said that everything at the mines was quiet and that there were no threatnings of violence. I hope it will not be necessary to send troops, but if the situation needs them they will have to go."

Adjutant General Burton is in command of the Guard while the brigade commander is away, and says that there are about 400 men available and ready to take the field in two hours. The tents, camp cooking utensils and other accessories are all in order, ready for shipment, and the men attained proficiency in making and breaking camp last summer at the state encampment. F. company of Manti is nearest the mining camps and would arrive first.

Officers of the Guard were at the armory yesterday, eagerly speculating on the chances of being ordered into the field. The cavalry will go as infantry, and if artillery is not needed, the battery command will also go as infantry. The men are all ready to respond to the governor's call. Everything is in readiness as to equipment.

The coal officials are inclined to minimize the prospect of actual warfare, and Mr. Myers said yesterday: "We have received no reports of any trouble at the mines. I was there right before last myself and left Castle Gate yesterday morning at 9:30. During my stay at the mines I saw nothing that indicated any approaching trouble, and certainly the place could not have been quieter than it appeared to me. There was no large crowd on the streets, no noise, and, as far as I heard, no threats of trouble."

In the meantime, the fuel company's output is considerably reduced. The total output of 7,000 tons has been cut down to 4,000 tons a day. At Castle Gate, where ordinarily 500 men are employed, there were yesterday 85 men at work. Sunnyside is given a normal output of 450 tons. The exact number now working there is not given. Schofield and Winter Quarters employ about 450 men and are said to be so far unaffected by the strike.

SITUATION SERIOUS.

Acts of Lawlessness Are of Daily Occurrence at the Various Camps

Dispatches from Castle Gate Saturday afternoon state that the strikers were paid off in full, to the amount of $15,000. Good order was reported, and no saloons were open. Unless the men return to work, the Castle Gate mines will be closed, and the men willing to work sent to operate other properties. The Castle Gate mines are dry, and can therefore be left unoperated indefinitely without deterioration, and the coke ovens there are now not being worked. Sunnyside dispatches seem to indicate that the strikers are on a rampage there. The 14 Frenchmen who signed the fuel company's iron-clad agreement recently failed to show up Saturday for work and the strike leaders explain this by claiming that these men are members of the union and propose to stand by the organization. The fuel company does not propose to negotiate with the strikers and the union men will be required to vacate the company's houses and housekeepers on a strike must move their houses from company grounds.

The Castle Gate strikers indulged in a parade Saturday afternoon, headed by a brass band, and with 300 men and boys and transients in line. The company has brought all the tools of the strikers out of the mines, and stacked them where their owners can find them.

In behalf of the strikers Demott, Price and Delpaz say M. P. Bruffet, the company's attorney, is the spokesman for the citizens. Notwithstanding the company claims to have the signature of every miner in both camps pledging

White pepper is black with its coat off; different flavor, of course. There is little demand for it; costs too much. There is only one mill in the world; Schilling's Best is its finest product. [There's another way of getting the coat off; rotting it off. That's cheaper. Need we mention it?]

loyalty to the company, one of their deputies, an Italian known as "Big George," was held up at Schofield, in the center of the business district, early last night by three miners and his revolver taken from him. The offenders were located and arrested by Marshal Price with a charge of highway robbery against them. Nearly every man in Schofield carries a gun and the chances for trouble there seem more promising than at any of the other camps.

The delicacy of the situation was emphasized by the mistaking of County Treasurer Looftbourrow for a spy of the coal company, as he visited Sunnyside to collect the taxes of the Weeter Lumber company. An Italian striker followed the official into the company store and was on the point of drawing a revolver to do Mr. Looftbourrow up, when a fellow striker less murderously inclined quickly disarmed the would-be assassin. Saturday night, a box car was burned at Sunnyside, the incendiaries eluding the bullets of the guards. Later six guards were driven from their posts at Mine No. 1 by strikers, but after reinforcement, returned to their duty, and scattered the strikers. Local authorities contend that the strikers are growing more and more vicious every day, and that the present guards are unable to cope with them. The ranks of the strikers are being increased daily, and further incendiaryism is feared. Outlawry is prevalent both at Sunnyside and at Castle Gate. Notwithstanding the closing of the saloons, liquor is brought into the camp and sold and men's passions are being inflamed thereby.

The guards declare that the situation

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic.

"I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicines of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly hear, taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since." EUGENE FORBES, Lebanon, Kan.

"I had catarrh in the head and throat. Had a bad cough and raised blood. My husband persuaded me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has done me so much good I advise all to take it. When I began its use I could scarcely walk and had headaches. It has cured and built me up so I can do all my own housework." Mrs. HELEN RENOIR, West Lincumb, N. S.

is becoming almost unbearable, as the miners are each day more aggressive, and taunts and insults are frequent. The agitators were en route yesterday, to Schofield to try and stir up a walk out there also.

DO NOT WANT STRIKE.

Schofield Miners Are Not Anxious To Get in Sympathetic Walkout Special Correspondence.

Schofield, Nov. 21.—All of the miners here after meeting have decided not to strike. They also express themselves as not wanting to have anything to do with the agitators. The men have appointed a delegation to head off any agitators who may seek entry into the camp. This delegation is made up of miners and citizens of Schofield and Winter Quarters. On Friday the noon train brought some union organizers. The delegation promptly met the men on the train and asked them to go back as they were not wanted here. After considerable talk the agitators were taken back to Cotton by the train crew. This act created considerable excitement here, as the men state that they will come back, no matter how much the people try to stop them. The general sentiment here is that the men have no grievance and they do not wish to walk out on a sympathetic strike. In fact, they want to be let alone. The last strike here is still fresh in their minds; in fact, although it happened three years ago next January, some of the men here have not got their affairs straightened out even yet in consequence. They also remembered what sympathy they got from the other camps at that time and feel that now is the time to talk back and tell the other fellows to look after their own troubles.

AGED WOMAN FROZEN TO DEATH

(Special to the "News.") Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 23.—The dead body of Mrs. Maggie Kelly, aged 72 years, was found in a coal shed in the rear of her residence in south Cheyenne last night. She was frozen to death a week ago.

Amusements

At the Theater tonight, the widely advertised rural play, "The Dairy Farm," fresh from its long San Francisco run, opens an engagement.

At the Grand tonight the farce comedy, "Mr. Jolly of Joliet," opens its season.

The concert at the Grand by Held's band last night scored a heavy success. Besides the band, the soloists of the evening, Mrs. Bessie Browning and Mr. Mackey, saxophonist, were highly received. Mrs. Browning sang "Waiting," and responded to an encore with "Bonnie Sweet Bessie."

For her recital next Monday evening at the Tabernacle, Miss Arvilla Clark has engaged the young tenor, Mr. Oscar Kirkham, lately returned from European study, to sing three numbers. This will be his "debut" in this city. Several leading musicians heard the young man last week and are enthusiastic over his handling of the voice and his beautiful tone. He is said to have a rich, true tenor quality, and a fine temperament. Miss Clark will render several very difficult numbers, and will include in her rare program some well known songs. The Tabernacle choir and Organist McClellan will assist.

The society event of Tuesday, Dec. 1, will be the musical and scenic performance of "Cinderella," or "A Dress Rehearsal," at the Theatre.

SHOWERS PREDICTED.

Cloudy, unsettled and showery, is the prediction for the next 24 hours. The temperature is rising again, and at only one place on the map was it below zero, at Winnipeg, 10 degrees below zero. The highest thermometer was at Yuma and Phoenix, 82 above.

THE HORSE BOILED.

A fractious animal hitched to a light buggy, the outfit belonging to the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine company, took it into its head to run away this morning, and ran. The horse dashed up First South street, and did not stop until it collided with a telephone pole, in front of the Theater pharmacy. The buggy was slightly damaged, but the horse escaped uninjured.

YOUNG BURGLARS.

Broke Into Twentieth Ward Store and Stole Candy and Tobacco.

The Twentieth ward store was broken into last night, presumably by a gang of tough youngsters bent on revenge for some real or fancied wrong. They stole a quantity of candy and tobacco, and then sprinkled red pepper over the candy they did not steal. The police were notified this morning and are investigating the affair.

FORGERY CHARGED.

J. W. Watson and Roy B. Johnson Enter Pleas of Not Guilty.

J. W. Watson, alias E. A. Sheppard, was arraigned before Judge Marshall in the Federal court today, charged with forgery, it being alleged that he unlawfully attached the signature of another to a certain money order with fraudulent intent. Watson pleaded guilty, explaining as he did so that he affixed the name of E. A. Sheppard to the order, on the authority of the man whose name he used. On this showing the court recommended that he withdraw his plea and enter one of not guilty, which he did. Roy B. Johnson, a trooper at Fort Douglas, entered a similar plea to the same charge. The cases were not set for hearing.

Robert Bragg was arraigned on the charge of having counterfeited coins in his possession. He entered a plea of not guilty.

Wilkinson et al. Win Case.

The jury in the case of E. J. Wilkinson et al. vs. the Anderson, Taylor company et al. which was tried in Judge Morse's court on Saturday, this morning returned a sealed verdict in favor of plaintiffs, and assessing their damages at the total sum of $451.51.
