

DEATH WARRANT OF CHRIST.

The Court of the State of Utah, in and for the County of Salt Lake, do hereby certify that the following is a true and correct copy of the death warrant of Christ, as the same appears in the records of the Court.

"SENTENCE"

"Rendered by Pontius Pilate, doing Governor of Lower Galilee, that Jesus of Nazareth shall suffer death on the cross."

In the year seventeen of the Empire of Tiberius Caesar, and the 4th of March, the city of the holy Jerusalem: Annas and Caiaphas being high priests, and the people of God, I, Pontius Pilate, Governor of the Frætorio, condemn Jesus of Nazareth to die on the cross between two thieves—the great and notorious evidence of the people saying—

1. He is a seducer.
2. He is a blasphemer.
3. He is the enemy of the law.
4. He calls himself, falsely, the son of God.
5. He calls himself King of Israel.
6. He entered into the temple, followed by a multitude bearing palm branches in their hands.

Order the centurion, Quintus Cornelius, to lead him to the place of execution, to lead him to the place of execution.

Forbidden, any person, whomever, poor or rich, to oppose the death of Jesus.

The witnesses that signed the death of Jesus are:

1. Daniel Robam, a Pharisee.
2. Janas Horobable.
3. Capet, a citizen.

Jesus shall go out of the city by the gate "Sireneous."

The above sentences are engraved on a copper plate, on one side of which is written these words:

"A similar plate is sent to each of these tribes."

It was found in an antique vase of white marble, while excavating in the city of Aquila, in the Kingdom of Naples, in the year 1826, and was discovered by the Commissariat of Arts, attached to the French armies. At the expedition of Naples it was found enclosed in a box of ebony, in the sacristy of Caurem.

The French translation was made by the members of the Commission of Arts. The children requested earnestly that the plate might not be taken away from them. The request was granted; as a reward for the army, Mr. Dennon, one of the savans, caused a plate to be made of the model, on which he had engraved the above sentence. At the sale of his collection of curiosities, it was bought by Lord Howard for 5,884 francs.

PROTECTING CURRANT BUSHES.—A good many of our readers know that the best way to prevent the currant worm from destroying the foliage of the currant, and thus preventing the growth of the fruit, is to feed the insects with that excellent and wholesome medicine, the white hellebore. They never need to take a second dose. It kills and cures at one operation—kills the insect and cures the bushes. A very thin dusting over the leaves, through a fine dredging-box, will give enough to every worm that feeds on them. It is the easiest way to destroy insect-depredators by the wholesale, that we know of. But there is one condition that is quite essential to success. It must be applied promptly, before much harm is done, and the bushes must be watched for a second, third, or fourth appearance. Some fail because they are careless in this respect. They often wait till the leaves are all stripped off, the crop for the season destroyed, and the growth of the bushes checked and badly injured by the defoliation. Then, again, others are very careful, and watchful at first, but allow a second appearance to pass unnoticed and unchecked. The poison should not be breathed by allowing the dust to come in contact with the nose, or it will produce some sneezing or considerable irritation. It is therefore best to attach the dredging-box to the end of a stick as long as a common cane, or keep on the windward side and apply the powdered hellebore only by the leaf, but little breeze. Although it adheres to the leaves, the slightest rain or dew will carry it off from the glossy skin of the fruit; and as the currants ripen some care is necessary, or damage to be feared. It is best, however, always to wash the fruit before using, to remove any possible dust which might remain upon it.—Country Gentleman.

RUSSIA'S MOVE ON CONSTANTINOPLE.—The report is current in Europe that the Emperor Alexander has decreed the removal of the capital of the Russian Empire from St. Petersburg to Kiev, on the river Dnieper. A palace is now building for him at the latter place, and the Emperor has purchased a large estate there.

If this report be true, it is one of the most important movements Russia has made for years. Not only is it a formal advance upon the grand system of policy devised and commenced by Peter the Great for civilizing his empire and incorporating it into the family of European nations, but it is an announcement to the world that the designs of Russia on Turkey are henceforth to be steadily and unrelentingly pursued. Kiev is 670 miles nearer Constantinople than St. Petersburg; it is within three hundred miles of the port of Odessa, on the Black Sea, and by the aid of the railroad built and soon to be built, it is a point upon which the strongest species of cannon the whole military force of Russia can be concentrated ready to march immediately upon either the Balkan or Hungarian frontiers. Of course it will speedily be made an important base of military stores, and as the seat of a military and civil government.—N. Y. Sun.
