Ira, after having been authorized to do so by Dr. Lapponi, upened the windows of the whole apartment, including that of the sick room, the pontiff having previously been carefuly covered with extra blankets. After remaining open for a short time, the windows were closed, with the exception of the window in the sick room, Dr. Lapponi having decided that the balmy, fresh air could only do the patient good. The opening and the shutting of the windows was watched from the plazza by the people who had gathered there to hear the latest news, and some of them interpreted it as meaning that the pontiff was dead, which necessitated a prompt official depial.

THE POPE PRAYED.

The pope prayed for half an hour and then had breakfast, partaking of the yolk of an egg beaten up with sugar, hot coffee and a light biscuit. The pontiff then attended to his toilet, but he did not shave. He then received his private secretary, Mgr. Angeli, who was I gree in 1824. again surprised at the pope's brightness | 'THAT HAPPY PERIOD OF MY

The monsignor add-ed that the pontiff referred to several fifferent matters, recalling especially the most minute details and remembering facts, figures and dates with man velous promptness, and all this to the accompaniment of snuff taking. The same impressions were formed by

IN THE SICK ROOM.

Rome, July 10 .- The doctors who entered the pope's sickroom at 8:30 o'clock this morning were still there at 10:15 and it was supposed that a new operation had become necessary. Nothing was known at the latter hour further than that when they entered the chamber the doctors found the con iltion of the pope not much changed. His temperature was a little above 35 degrees centigrade and his pulse was osciliating between 85 and 80. The ponliff questioned the doctors about his condition, saying:

"DO NOT DECEIVE ME."

"Do not deceive me, doctors, nothing more can affect me." He asked if the re-gathering of the serum in the pleural cavity means that the disease growing seriously worse, and the foctors fenced, saying it was one of the phases which generally re-occurs several times during an attack.

Rome, July 10 .- The following bulletin regarding the condition of the pope was posted at 10:30 o'clock this morning: The august patient passed the dirst part of the night fairly peaceful-ty, but afterwards the difficulty in his breathing became more marked, coupled with discomfort and increase of the feeling of oppression. Prof. Rossoni said that the state of Prof. Rossoni said that the state of the pontiff was very serious. There was little danger of an immediate elimax, although it was constantly present. The pope was making a brave struggle, but, the doctor continued, "his weapons of defense are weak. Even the finest tempered steel becomes blunt-ed office on more prove of more blunted after so many years of use. A re-newal of the pleuric phenomena is always dangerous, even in a young, strong organism. Therefore, how much more dangerous is it in an old. For-tunately, there are only a few more serious complications. The defective respiration has had a bad influence on the circulation and we find an alarm-ing depression in the heart's action. Perhaps this second withdrawal of the liquid deposit may restore the circula-tion, but the great question is, 'Can this relief be sufficient and permanent?' Unfortunately, there are many rea-sons for doubt, both concerning the restored circulation and the clearing o the respiratory passages." The doctor declined to say whether, in his judgment, the pope would have a peaceful end. He concluded the interview by saying:

"The pope is very seriously ill and is very low. All the rest is smoke." LUNCHES AND RESTS.

Later in the day, the pope had lunch and then took a long rest. At 3:15 p. m., he was still enjoying a restful repose and showing no ill ef-forts from the operation. The neighborhood vatican was tranguil.

At 4:20 p. m. all was still quiet at the valican. No change of any sort was reported. Cardinal Rampolla did not venture into the sick chamber, but nviously inquired frequently as to the ondition of the patient. Dr. Mazzoni had an examination made by a microscopist of the pope's pleura to ascertain if it contained any specific microbe, Some doubt had arisen as to whether the original attack of pneumonia had been provoked by some specific agency such as, for instance tuberculosis or cancer. The examina tion showed no such microbe and the
