

SAD DEATH OF A YOUNG MISSIONARY

Elder George F. Newland Jr. Succumbs to Diphtheria After a Week's Illness.

RETURNED HOME 10 DAYS AGO.

Was a Young Man of Excellent Character, With Many Friends—Interment in City Cemetery Today.

An unusually sad death occurred in Sugar ward last night, when George F. Newland, Jr., fell a victim to diphtheria, after an illness of one week. The young man returned from a mission to California 10 days ago, and a day or two later was taken suddenly ill, an illness which culminated in his death at 3 o'clock last night, at his temporary residence, 1033 Cleveland avenue. He leaves a wife and one child, the latter 15 months old, and born after he had left home for the mission field.

The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Newland, the former well known butcher of this city. He was 23 years of age and all his life had resided in the Seventh ward. A week ago last Sunday Elder Newland spoke in the ward assembly rooms, reporting his experience in the mission field and expressing thankfulness for the health and strength he had enjoyed while absent. The next day he was seized with a severe cold, which later developed into diphtheria, which took him off. He was a young man of excellent character and had many friends, who will grieve to hear of his demise.

The funeral was held today, with interment in the city cemetery.

DUBOIS'S "IF"

Idaho Paper Points Out He Might Carry It Still Farther.

Senator Fred T. Dubois has figured quite prominently in the politics of Idaho for many years, and has figured with figures, but the late lamented election in Idaho and its result, results have been in his mathematical bump, and he recklessly throws figures together and apart and proves to his own entire satisfaction by doing violence to mathematical accuracy, that the "Mormons" are responsible for the overwhelming result. He was recently interviewed and made the startling statement that the Republican majority on the state ticket was the "Mormon" vote of about 20,000. He avers that if the "Mormons" had voted the Democratic ticket (and here we will add that if they had they would be good, patriotic citizens), the Democratic ticket would have been elected by 20,000. If the "Mormons" had divided evenly, he would have been elected and the balance of the ticket would have been defeated by small majorities. The senator figures that 6,000 Gentile Republicans supported the Democratic ticket and 10,000 Republicans supported Heitfeld. The six "Mormon" counties gave the Republican ticket 10,000 majority and the non-"Mormon" counties gave it 12,500. There was but very little difference in the Republican majorities in "Mormon" and non-"Mormon" counties in proportion to the votes cast. Dubois may figure and figure, add and subtract, and reach results that might have been if they hadn't been otherwise, but the returns are against him. He may jumble and scramble and mix up the figures with airy suppositions and gauzy theories, but they will with mathematical and measured steps walk back in regular order to their right positions, and again their long standing reputation of disimulation to lie, even though their manipulators may be able to err, or designedly call out "prevarication in the center and all hands round," for a time appear to mix up the figures, but they will get around to their proper places and mutely but eloquently sustain the old time declarations that "truth is mighty and will prevail," and that "figures will not lie."

The senator has been associating figures with "ifs" and arrived at the mistaken conclusion that if the "Mormons" had not voted or had divided evenly, Heitfeld would have been elected. It cannot be considered impertinent "if" this process of reasoning is carried a little further. "If" the Republicans had divided evenly or had not voted at all, the result would have been different, or "if" the Democrats had all voted the Republican ticket, just imagine the usefulness of the result!

A reasonable supposition would be that if the "Mormons" had not voted, that are known as the "Mormon" counties would have gone as did the other counties of the state—all gone wrong from the senator's point of view. The fact is that the Republican wave swept over all the counties of the state, and was as impartial as the rain that falls like upon the just and the unjust.

That is just all there was to it, and the senator can figure and figure, with or without his additions, subtractions, and "ifs," and try to reach results of what would have been, should have been or might have been if it could have been otherwise than it really was. The fact stands out boldly that it is as was evidently destined to be, and should be just as it is. "Mormons" or no "Mormons"—Idaho City World.

SILAS SMITH'S DEFENSE.

Says Soldiers Were Trying to Kill Him When He Shot Back.

Silas Smith, the teamster at Fort Douglas who shot Private Hackett of the Twenty-ninth Infantry Friday midnight, in a street car at the Post terminus, is in the county jail awaiting trial by the civil authorities. He is a hard looking citizen with his head all cut and bruised and bandaged up from the injuries he received in the scrap with the two infantrymen. He claims that both Riley and Hackett jumped on him and were "pounding the life out of him" before he unlimbered his artillery and went into action; also that had he not defended himself, they would have done him up. Smith was honorably discharged from one of the batteries a few days ago, and was employed by the quartermaster as a teamster.

Hackett will be buried in the Post cemetery, unless his folks in New York write to have the body sent east, which is not considered likely. Sergeant Riley, the wounded man who escaped with his life, is doing well.

Cured Paralysis.

W. S. Bally, P. O. True, Texas, writes: "My wife had been suffering five years with paralysis in her arm, when I was persuaded to use Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured her all right. Burt and W. S. Whitney; delegates to Utah Federation of Labor, W. S. Casey, Edward Hagerty, J. T. Lavery, W. S. Whitney and C. F. Burt.

BACK TO WASHINGTON.

J. W. Struck Will Have to Stand Trial For Grand Larceny.

J. W. Struck, the man arrested here several days ago by Detective Shannon at the request of the officials at Spokane, Wash., has been turned over to Sheriff W. H. Butler of Spokane and the two are now on their way to that city where Struck will have to stand trial for grand larceny. The prisoner consented to return to Spokane without waiting to secure regulation papers. He is charged with having stolen a draft for $150 from a guest at the Victoria hotel and with forging the name of its owner and cashing it at a Spokane bank. Struck says that he found the draft and claims that he can establish his innocence.

Amusements

"A plot is not without honor save in a comic opera," says the perverted proverb of the funny paper. "Grimes' Cellar Door" which opened at the Grand theater last night, is hardly a comic opera, but its plot was lost before the play got well started. The company consisted of 12 people, six of them men and six of them women who were once girls. All of them shuffled. The play

The Great Falls, Mont., Commercial club is planning a fête to last several days, including the Fourth of July next, to celebrate the centennial of Lewis and Clark expedition. The Lewis and Clark party spent the Fourth in 1805 near Great Falls.

The project of a camping ground to be located on the hills behind the Lewis and Clark exposition is being agitated. Those favoring the project, argue that half dozen young girls assisted in serving refreshments and a large number of guests were present to enjoy the brilliant affair.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

The event of yesterday was the large reception given at the McCormick home by Mrs. A. H. Bird and Miss McCormick. The rooms were beautifully decorated in American Beauty roses, holly and mistletoe, and an orchestra rendered delightful music during the afternoon. A half dozen young girls assisted in serving refreshments and a large number of guests were present to enjoy the brilliant affair.

On last Thursday a reception was given by the training school of the L. D. S. university, which is in charge of Miss Rachel Edwards. The decorations and luncheon which was served were the work of the pupils, and reflected high credit upon the department. The front room, in which the guests were received was bright with holly and Christmas bells, while each of the small tables at which refreshments were served, had its spray of red and green. In a rear room various articles of needlework and the manual training school were exhibited, and showed the skill and dexterity of the pupils who are studying in the department. The culture showing, as well as the social part of the entertainment are worthy of genuine congratulation.

The United Commercial Travelers will give their annual ball next Thursday evening in Christensen's hall, with D. W. McAllister, George Goddard, F. G. Brooks, Church Castel and J. B. Lewis as the reception committee. Each member of the order in the grand march will wear a shipping tag bearing the name of the firm he represents.
