

OGDEN DEPARTMENT

E. A. Larkins.
Manager.
24th St.
Telephone 128-K.

The Daily and Saturday News delivered by carrier. Any complaints as to service will be promptly rectified by the circulation.

OGDEN, UTAH - MAY 11, 1904.

HEROIC RESCUE FROM DROWNING.

Lorenzo Jarman and Two Young Boys Have Narrow Escape In Ogden River.

MEETING OF STATE MEDICOS.

Switckman George Cook Injured—Verdict in Van Why Inquest—Recital Program—Weddings.

Lorenzo Jarman, teamster for Boyle Furniture company, and two young boys named William Power and Willard Williams had a miraculous escape late yesterday afternoon from death in the Ogden river.

Mr. Jarman had been out delivering a load of furniture and was returning to the store when he decided to give his wagon a wash in the river, as he had done hundreds of times before.

He drove the team out into the stream which is very high and runs very rapidly just a few rods east of the Ogden river bridge. Not intending to go out into the stream, where it was deep, he drove the horses out a short distance when, he says, they became stubborn and he could not turn them from the rushing current. The animals seemed to be determined to go out into the water, and when Mr. Jarman realized that he was in great danger he called to the two boys who had climbed back of the wagon, to be careful, as the team was going down.

Fortunately just below where the team was, there was a large patch of willows and small trees out in the stream, and the team and wagon were floated toward the shore. Mr. Jarman and the boys were fortunate in getting to the willows. The boys climbed upon a large bush and held there, but Mr. Jarman did not get down. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

A young German named Leon Aufhammer, who is an expert swimmer, performed a brave feat, but he was almost suffocated by the water. He was rescued by a man named Wm. Cortez and Ed. Morris, who saw the perilous situation Mr. Jarman was in and rushed to his rescue with a rope which was thrown out to him. He was unable to throw out his hand, but took hold of it with both hands and the men on the bank of the river pulled him through the raging waters to the shore. Their attention was then directed to rescuing the little boys.

JUNE 2—Pleasant Grove City vs Artemus Holman (2 cases).

FURNACE SERVICES.

The funeral services over the remains of Miss Dora Nelson held in the Sixth ward meetinghouse Sunday were well attended by relatives and friends.

The following speakers addressed the congregation: Elder J. P. R. Johnson, George A. Startup, Bishop Ralph Poulton and Elder Brigham Johnson.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. E. P. Bee, of this city, who died yesterday in Salt Lake City, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. W. Irvine, will be held here Thursday, at 10 o'clock, in the Congregational church.

Mrs. Bee was highly esteemed by a large circle of relatives and friends in this city, to whom her death came as a great surprise, and whose kind sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

GARDEN CITY NOTES.

W. E. Harding has received a letter from his brother, John, in Raymond, Alberta, Canada, which states that his brother Earl is very ill with typhoid fever.

The Dr. Y. U. band and orchestra will give a grand ball in Payson Thursday evening. An excursion train will be run from the north for the occasion.

Peik Rheinboldt, Perley A. Hill and Dr. C. M. Benedict, comprising the state board of examiners of barbers, visited Provo yesterday, and inspected the tonsorial parlors in the city for the purpose of determining how closely the law is complied with by the wielders of the razor.

Scratch, scratch, scratch; unable to attend school yesterday, a day of sleep during the night. Itching, itches, horrible plague, Doan's Ointment cures. Never fails. At any drug store, 50 cents.

BATTENBERG LINEN THREAD.

In Cream, White and Ecru, always in a spool, at the LACE HOUSE tomorrow, 1 to 4 p. m. 2 for 5c.

LEHI.

CLOSING OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Surveying Utah Lake—Splendid Stand of Beets—Taking Up Pipe Line.

Special Correspondence.

Lehi, Utah, May 10.—The closing exercises of the public schools of this city occupied last Thursday and Friday. Nearly 300 certificates were given out in the different classes.

The track meet Friday between the Lehi and Provo teams was won by the seventh grade by a margin of two points. During this meet the smaller children of the city were given a most interesting and profitable day.

The school exhibit was visited Thursday afternoon by nearly 1000 people, who expressed themselves as being well pleased with the excellent educational work accomplished and appreciated the future of manual training in our schools.

Prof. Byron Cummings, Jr., of Eastmond, J. S. Brown, of Provo, and last Saturday in selecting articles from the school exhibit to go to the St. Louis exposition, which will be held in the Utah Educational exhibit at the fair, expressed surprise and pleasure when witnessing what had been accomplished.

Many of the graduates of the schools here to the number of 30 will give an excellent program in the meetinghouse.

Mr. Henry Servis has commenced suit against Otto Hudson for $500 for supplies, etc.

Wm. E. Evans has been installed as second assistant in the Second ward Sunday school.

On Sunday the small son of N. C. Christensen fell from a horse and broke his arm. Dr. Stoeney was called and the young man will soon be able to get out again.

Clark has removed his family to Safford, Arizona, and will take charge of the resort there for the Utah Sugar company during the summer.

The pumps started up at the mouth of Jordan last week with W. A. Knight and G. M. Griffin in charge, and are now working at about 100 feet above the lake to the farms of Salt Lake county.

Prof. Swenson, who has charge of the school of irrigation, has been started out of the Jordan river, and has started two corps of surveyors at work, one to the Jordan river and the other to the mouth of the river.

They are busy now making banks, stakes, etc., and will take exhaustive soundings of the lake.

On June 2 two expert beet seed men and their families will come out from Safford to take charge of the single acre seed work here.

We are having lovely weather now. The birds have started singing, and have made such an even stand as they have this year, and prospects are very encouraging.

The Utah Sugar company is now busy taking up the pipe line from Lehi to Bingham Junction and relaying it from Lehi to the new pumping station at Leand.

Impossible to foresee an accident. Not impossible to be prepared for it. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil—Monarch over pain.

GLOVES. The best $1.25 Dress Kid Glove on the market, 1 to 4 p. m. tomorrow, at the LACE HOUSE, 33c.

MANTI.

SEVENTH DISTRICT COURT.

Cases Continued—J. D. Bohne to be Tried May 12 for Murder.

Special Correspondence.

Manti, Sanpete Co., May 10.—The regular May term of the Seventh district court opened here yesterday, Hon. Jacob Johnson on the bench.

The case of the State vs. Jorgen Jorgensen, charged with adultery, was continued for the term. The case against E. P. Bosen for compounding a felony was also continued. The same action was taken in the case of the State of Utah vs. John Edmunds, charged with grand larceny.

This morning Joseph Livingston came into court for sentence having pleaded guilty to the charge of criminal relations with one Ella Ivory. Livingston is only 25 years old, the young lady was two years older.

It was dwelt upon by the attorney for the defendant, and the court now has the case under consideration in passing sentence. He was fined $50.

There is but one case on the criminal calendar at this term of any particular importance, that of the State of Utah vs. Joseph D. Bohne charged with murder. The case was transferred from Grand county, and will come up on the morning of May 12. Bohne was the town marshal of Moab, who, on Jan. 12 last, shot and killed one Arza, or "Sandy" Empey.

Two million Americans suffer the torturing pangs of dyspepsia. No need to Burdock Blood Bitters cures. At any drug store.

EMBROIDERY MEDALIONS, many styles in these pretty trimmings, 15c to 30c a yard, at the LACE HOUSE tomorrow, 1 to 4 p. m. 14c a yard.

VERNAL.

SAD CASE OF MAN'S PERFDY.

Sheep Shearing Nearly Completed—Splendid Clip—Peace Disturbances.

Special Correspondence.

Verma, Uintah Co., May 7.—Sheep shearing at the pens in the south end of the county is well advanced.

There are several herds yet to be shorn on the mountain when done will complete the season. The clip from this year. The clip from his entire herd, including wool of the sheep, and it was exceptionally clean, fine wool, too.

If you want
A good friend—
One on whom you can
Lean in time of Need, take

HUSLER'S FLOUR

If it disappoints you—
You can
Have your money back

The wool clip has been moving out to Price pretty rapidly. Considerable has already been sold at prices ranging between 25 and 40 cents per pound.

Thirty-six students of the Uintah State academy and six of the grade schools are taking the final examination this week, and the prospects are fair for nearly that many graduates this year.

One of the veterans who was arrested on the reservation a short time ago for selling whisky to the Indians, was sentenced to 60 days in jail and to pay a fine of $100.

Peik Rheinboldt, Perley A. Hill and Alvie Anderson with disturbing the peace were arrested yesterday in Mill Ward, Monday night. Wednesday they were arraigned, Davis and Anderson pleaded guilty before Judge W. Wilson and were assessed respectively $15 and $20. Wall's trial is set for today.

SAD EXAMPLE OF MAN'S PERFDY.

The hearing of Elmer Woodward on a charge of adultery came up before Judge Johnson yesterday, and resulted in his being held to appear for trial in the morning of the 6th, with a dance in the afternoon, and an excellent program was rendered in the evening, which was gotten up by the pastor, Miss Ray Farber.

The hotel at Peterson, which is being built by Mr. Swortz, is being pushed to completion.

From 70 to 80 carloads of gravel have been taken from the gravel pit to ballast the Union Pacific road, here and there. The approach to our depot is nicely graded.

The weather is wet and cold, with frosty nights; vegetation makes slow progress.

EMBROIDERY MEDALIONS, many styles in these pretty trimmings, 15c to 30c a yard, at the LACE HOUSE tomorrow, 1 to 4 p. m. 14c a yard.

EXCURSION RATES

Via Oregon Short Line.

St. Louis and return $42.50
Chicago and return $47.50
Chicago and return via St. Louis, $50.00
Limit 60 days. Transit limit ten days in each direction.

Tickets on sale Tuesdays and Fridays each week. Stop overs allowed.

KEEP YOUR EYE ON CASTILLA.

SANTAQUIN.

CLOSING SCHOOL EXERCISES.

Successful Educational Year—May Day Festivities Galore.

Special Correspondence.

Santaquin, Utah, May 6.—The public schools close today after a very successful year.

Through the lateness in opening school the pupils were deprived of 10 weeks' tuition and it required extra effort on the part of all to perform the allotted year's work. Now that the schoolhouse is completed, with ample room for all, the schools will hereafter commence on schedule time.

Closing exercises were held last evening and at the exercises Prof. Hickman of the B. Y. University, Provo, County Supt. Brown also made a pleasing address.

May day is now being celebrated under the auspices of the schools, a splendid program is in progress to be followed by a baseball game, a dance for the little ones this afternoon and a grand ball to this evening for the larger students.

FOREST RESERVE GRIEVANCE.

We have a grievance, however, in the conditions connected with the operation of the Uintah forest reserve, lying immediately to the north of us, and upon which we have a right to be considered, and very necessary commodities. Our people generally are in favor of the forest reserve idea, and in sympathy with the efforts to preserve the forests and the water supply for the benefit of the several communities adjacent, but we desire to register an objection to the present management of the administration of such rules and regulations, and under such management as will deprive the people for months at a time of some of the most abundant within our immediate neighborhood and almost within our hands reach. We make no complaint of our local officials, all of whom have shown the willingness to do all in their power for the accommodation of the people, but when such rules and regulations obtain as require that each settler must be supplied with fuel before another can be considered, and when the consideration of an application, together with the necessary correspondence, requires that each settler must wait to consummate a permit, the people feel that they have just cause for complaint.

There is practically no lumber to be had in this country, with four or five mile away miles, although the owners have been trying for months to get permits to saw, with no immediate prospects of relief. We are not on the one side. The stringent regulations and technicalities connected with the matter are so many and so varied, and owing to the distance and time required for communication with the various offices and departments, our mill men are getting pretty much discouraged.

It is proposed to allow their mills to remain idle, notwithstanding the urgent demand for lumber.

The largest part of the Uintah forest reserve is in this county, and shut off as we are from Kamas, the Utah executive office of the reserve, by such great distances and such great mountain ranges, it would seem that the remedy would lie either in the establishment of the administrative office in Vernal, or in the segregation of the reserve and making all that is to be retained within this county into a separate reserve, with headquarters here where we could be in a position to communicate direct with the proper officials at Washington. There are very many good reasons why such a course should be taken, and the maintenance of mass meetings, the circulation of petitions, and other means are being considered, all looking to the end that our people shall not be harassed and delayed in the legitimate and proper use of the natural utilities of our country.

SALINA.

DEATH OF PROMISING YOUTH.

Edward Mattson Succumbs to Heart Trouble—Politic Straws.

Special Correspondence.

Salina, Beaver Co., Utah, May 7.—After lingering sickness of two months Edward Mattson, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Mattson, died yesterday morning of heart failure.

Funeral services were held in the L. D. S. meetinghouse this afternoon. Elder H. S. Anderson presiding. Elders Geo. D. Castro and Jas. H. Jensen were the speakers, paying tribute to the character of the young man, whose life was cut short ere the bud of youth had ripened into manhood. A beautiful service was given by James C. Jensen and a baritone solo by Prof. Jno. Hood, contributed to the spirit of the occasion. Interment was in the new cemetery.

POLITICAL STAFFS.

At the Republican caucus held in the city hall last night, Jno. W. Phillips, J. M. Coombs and P. C. Scoville were appointed delegates to attend the sixth annual convention, which meets at Marysville May 16, 1904.

BENEFICENT RAINS.

A government weather gauge has been installed in the town, and H. T. Wright appointed local observer. His report shows a precipitation this week of 1.72 inch rainfall. In virtue of this excessive moisture coming so opportunely, the farmers are feeling jubilant.

EMBROIDERY MEDALIONS, many styles in these pretty trimmings, 15c to 30c a yard, at the LACE HOUSE tomorrow, 1 to 4 p. m. 14c a yard.

PETERSON.

CLOSE OF PRIMARY SCHOOL.

Improvement of Roadway—Cool Weather Retards Vegetation.

Special Correspondence.

Peterson, Morgan Co., May 8.—The closing exercises of the primary department of the Peterson school were held on the morning of the 6th, with a dance in the afternoon, and an excellent program was rendered in the evening, which was gotten up by the pastor, Miss Ray Farber.

The hotel at Peterson, which is being built by Mr. Swortz, is being pushed to completion.

From 70 to 80 carloads of gravel have been taken from the gravel pit to ballast the Union Pacific road, here and there. The approach to our depot is nicely graded.

The weather is wet and cold, with frosty nights; vegetation makes slow progress.

EXCURSION RATES

Via Oregon Short Line.

St. Louis and return $42.50
Chicago and return $47.50
Chicago and return via St. Louis, $50.00
Limit 60 days. Transit limit ten days in each direction.

Tickets on sale Tuesdays and Fridays each week. Stop overs allowed.

KEEP YOUR EYE ON CASTILLA.

SANTAQUIN.

CLOSING SCHOOL EXERCISES.

Successful Educational Year—May Day Festivities Galore.

Special Correspondence.

Santaquin, Utah, May 6.—The public schools close today after a very successful year.

Through the lateness in opening school the pupils were deprived of 10 weeks' tuition and it required extra effort on the part of all to perform the allotted year's work. Now that the schoolhouse is completed, with ample room for all, the schools will hereafter commence on schedule time.

Closing exercises were held last evening and at the exercises Prof. Hickman of the B. Y. University, Provo, County Supt. Brown also made a pleasing address.

May day is now being celebrated under the auspices of the schools, a splendid program is in progress to be followed by a baseball game, a dance for the little ones this afternoon and a grand ball to this evening for the larger students.

FOREST RESERVE GRIEVANCE.

We