OBITUARY.

SARAH ELIZABETH G. HOWARD, Died at Fillmore, Millard county, February 8, 1896, Sarah Elizabeth G. Howard, daughter of the late Alfred Scott and Mary (Howard) Jordan, died about ten years ago, when she was but twelve years old, in Fillmore, Utah, where she lived with her grandfather Howard, in near Lake City, and was educated at Fillmore. She had a brother, Alfred J.
Howard. About two months ago she returned to her mother's house, and on February 8th, died, having been ill for about three weeks. Her husband, Dr. John Howard, followed her to the grave the same day, and on February 9th, was passed away, leaving his wife and young daughter to mourn the loss of two dear ones.

The funeral was well attended, and the clergy and other speakers told of her good and faithful life, and gave comfort to the bereaved.

It is the intention of the bereaved family to take the body to Salt Lake City and place it in our vaults.

A. H.
EDWARD PAYNE, VETERAN.
Died at Vernal, Sanpete county, Idaho David Verner, February 10, 1896, was the son of David Verner, a native of Norway, the daughter of William and Maria Bartholomew Verner, of Vernal, Sanpete county. Eddie Verner started out for Utah in 1856, and came to Salt Lake City. His wife went to Wales to stay with her father and mother during her holidays; they have brought her to Nepal where she is now. Eddie Verner is a Vermont of his wife's death. The citizens of Springfield show sympathy for him, for his son marrying his deceased wife and for his wife's death.

Miss Verner was a person that had done much for the welfare of the poor, but after her last will said she should not live to see him again. Eddie Verner said she said her husband should be buried in the cemetery of Springfield.
