Correspondence.

Concluded from yesterday.

After an hour's intermission, the meeting was called to order by President Brigham Young. Singing. Prayer by Prest. Heber C. Kimball. Elder Geo. G. Bywater occupied some time, and was followed by Elder Wilford Woodruff, who said: We are in a great school, and the principles which we may learn are as numerous as they are important. As a people, we should prize our liberty, our privileges, the gospel of life and salvation, the holy priesthood, the living oracles, the written word, and the promise of eternal life. We have time upon time, counsel after counsel, a continuation of daily guidance by the Holy Spirit through His servant Brigham and his brethren. We have been tried and have not yet got through; the devil is not yet dead, and our trials will continue; the warfare will last as long as we live, and while we live we should labor to do good and build up the kingdom of God until we have overcome the world, the flesh and the devil. The more a man has of the Spirit of God, the more he is like Him in his operations to save mankind. He has a desire to live so himself, and to see his brethren live so that confidence may be restored and oneness established. We are under obligation before the Lord to live so as to possess enough of the Holy Spirit to keep His commands and the counsel given to us by His servants. The more of the Spirit of the Lord we possess, the more kind we shall be to all with whom we have to do, and the greater will be the salvation we shall be able to accomplish in our administrations during our life time.

President H. C. Kimball said:—We ought to be full of light and knowledge, that they may be in us like a well of water. When the seed of the word falls to produce righteousness, it is because it is not received and nourished by the people. The Book of Mormon should be read by the Saints, and they should pray to the Father in the name of Jesus, for His Spirit, that they may understand its contents; and before they get through reading it they will be filled with the power of the Holy Ghost. Again, here is the book of revelations given to us. What do they read them, they should read slowly and with a contemplative mind, praying to the Father in the name of Jesus for the Spirit of revelation. It is written in the book of revelations, that the people in Jackson County were under condemnation because they neglected the new and everlasting covenant, even the Book of Mormon, and the former revelations. Shall we be excused if we neglect reading the Bible, the Book of Mormon and the Book of Doctrine and Covenants? These books should be read that we may be able to give a reason of the hope that is within us. Not a single word of any of the revelations which have been given to us in these last days, will fall to any man who lives them; and every woman who will do the same, will be blessed with all the blessings of the holy women that have lived in days of old. That which we sow we must reap, and that which we measure to others will be measured to us again.

Bishop A. O. Smoot briefly reviewed the history of the settling of this country. Meeting was dismissed by Elder W. Woodruff.

American Fork, Monday 10th, 1868.

I visited the Court House in Provo this morning, and found a crowd of citizens casting their votes for city officers; all seemed interested and eager to enjoy their privilege of letting their choice be known at the polls.

The President and company left Provo about 2 p.m., and arrived in American Fork about 4 o'clock. At 6 o'clock we met with the Saints in this place, who crowded their meeting house to its utmost capacity. Presidents Brigham Young and Heber C. Kimball, Elders John Taylor, Joseph A. Young, Brigham Young, Jun., John W. Young, L. Farr and H. W. Lawrence were on the stand, Mayor Smoot, Elders W. Woodruff and Joseph F. Smith, with several more of the company, will not leave Provo until to-morrow. The meeting was called to order by Bishop L. E. Harrington; excellent singing; prayer by Elder John W. Young.

Elder Joseph A. Young said:—We are here to reflect and gain intelligence for the upbuilding of the kingdom of our God. When a man stands before the people filled with the Spirit of God, although he may say nothing new, the people will gain fresh strength, a brightening of ideas, and fresh vigor in their religion. It seems to me that the Lord is calling upon us to be more faithful, more intelligent, and to do a little more for the upbuilding of His kingdom; and we have plenty to perform, hurry as we may. We are gathered out here that we may grow and increase and live by the law which proceeds from the Lord Almighty. The Lord is telling us to remember our brethren and sisters among the nations, to give of our substance to gather those whom the gospel has brought to the knowledge of God and His ways.

Elder Brigham Young, Jun., said:—The principles of truth have a greater hold upon the minds of the Saints to-day than at any former period of the history of this kingdom. The faith that was once delivered to the Saints is growing among the people. The speaker referred to incidents in the history of the travels of this people, to prove by comparison that the faith and union of the people to-day are greater than at any previous time. If we live the principles which we have embraced, we have an assurance that God is our friend, and all things are His.

Elder John W. Young remarked, that we live in an important age. He regarded the present time as the most important to the people of these mountains of any former period. Referring to the present visit to Provo, he said that he believed the people there would feel better for it. After two or three days instruction from the servants of God, the people always get warmed up, and the light of the Spirit begins to show them the great things of the kingdom of God. We are willing to go to the nations of the earth when called upon, yet often some little duty seems harder for us to perform than to take a long foreign mission. We should feel that God is at the helm; and we should know that His servants are instructed in what is for our best good. All we have comes from Him, and He has power to take from us all that is dear in life. The Word of Wisdom, the speaker viewed as a commandment which contains some of the greatest promises that God ever made to man, and which will be ours if we obey it. We owe abedience to these inspired words, not only for our own sakes, but for the sake of our children.

Pres. Heber C. Kimball said:—with all the preaching they have previously had at Provo, the people there have not before felt so much of the power of the Holy Ghost as they have at the meeting at our recent visit. The Lord says that He will gather out a people from among this people who will serve Him. It will not answer for this people to steal, to lie, to speak evil of one another, to bear false witness against their neighbors. By keeping your covenants, there is a promise for you and your children after you, from generation to generation. So will the curse of God be upon the wicked from generation to generation. Abraham withheld nothing from the Lord, neither should we, if we, as the children of Abraham, would enjoy the blessings of Abraham. "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor anything that is thy neighbor's." We of all people, should be the most faithful; and the man who does not pray daily and devote himself to God cannot stand. When a man of God is injured in his feelings, he goes and prays that the Spirit of his Father may touch him, and he can then come out of his closet and bless the man who has injured him. We have next to watch and pray, for there are thousands of wicked spirits striving to lead us away from God. The Gospel in this day is, as it was in former days, like a net cast into the sea, which gathers good and bad; and God will choose from among this people those who will serve Him. Turn unto the Lord, O ye Latter-day Saints, for the time is past that we shall be permitted to sin with impunity. We are depending upon doctors to heal our sick, and our children are dying all around us. We should have faith before God, that our sick may be healed by the laying on of hands and anointing with oil in the name of the Lord. We have power to rebuke diseases in ourselves and in our families, and it is given to us of God, not only for ourselves and families but for this people.

President B. Young spoke at some length, and the meeting was dismissed by Elder John Taylor.

Tuesday, Feb. 11.
This morning the President and that portion of the company who left Provo with him yesterday, started from American Fork between nine and ten o'clock, and arrived in the city at a quarter to two p.m.

This visit has been fraught with much good to the people of Provo, and I think I never felt a better spirit in any meeting than prevailed in the meetings we held there. All yielded a ready and united response to the changes and measures suggested. May God bless His people in that favored district, in the prayer of Your brother in Christ,

G. D. WARR.
