bright and cool with every prospect of pleasant weather throughout. Trains with excursion parties are arriving at the depots every hour of the day and every train is crowded to its utmost capacity with Knights and other visitors. The streets present a scene of unusual animation, especially along the line of march where ornamentations is profuse. In the vicinity of the lake front, where tents are pitched and arches erected the rush has been continuous since yesterday morning, except for a few hours after midnight. Here the

NEW YORK, 18 .- The Commer cial Bulletin says of the removal by China of trade restrictions: Unless we are mistaken as to the score of this change, it will prove to be one of the most significant events to the commerce of the 19th century. The peration of the new conditions may be slow, but cannot ultimately be a matter of small moment to the commercial nations, in that 350,000,000 of people, whose external commerce is now limited to $250,000,000 imports and exports, are now as free to cultivate external trade as any other nation. One important result will to that the foreign trade will no longer be confined to the five treaty ports. The natives at any of the numerous populous cities on the vast seaboard of the empire will hencetorth be at liberty to transact business with any country. There is value in this event to foreign mer. M., to the effect that there is much chants, who will ultimately find their way of doing business through their way of doing business through the natives at the ports which they are now excluded through the absence of treaty amangaments.
