

CORRIGAN GETS READY FOR WAR.

Gaining Control of New Orleans
Club Arouses Much Discussion.

TROUBLE WITH JOHN CONDON.

Big Turfman is Meeting Him Move for Move—History of Their Rivalry
Of Long Standing.

The latest move of Edward Corrigan in gaining control of the management of the New Orleans Jockey club has aroused more discussion than any other development of the game take it as but another indication that the big turfman is meeting him move for move, and to support this idea they recount the history of the rivalry between these two leaders.

It is pointed out that Corrigan's interest in the new racing establishment at the mouth of the Mississippi was aroused only after Condon had gained control of the Oaklawn Park track at Hot Springs, Ark. The more southerly venture was started before Dan Stuart began building Oaklawn, but Corrigan evinced little concern in the progress of Panama Park until Stuart announced, first, that he had bought a controlling interest in the plant, and then that he had transferred all of his holdings to John Condon.

It was soon after this transaction became public property that the "Master of Haythorne's" name began to be mentioned whenever the New Orleans establishment was up for discussion. The fact that Dave Barnes, Corrigan's manager, was awarded the contract for constructing the new plant has been cited as an instance of Corrigan's ability to "plant an ace in the hole." From this beginning the part that the uncle was playing in the new venture gradually came to light.

Corrigan's action in meeting Condon's move at Hot Springs by gaining control of a naturally rival track is in line with his tactics ever since the two broke out in open rivalry. Beginning with Harbison and Hawthorne at Chicago, the turfmen have increased their holdings in all directions until now they are the individual powers of the western turf, and exercise an influence on the sport in all parts of the country. And always their influences are opposed to each other. Condon began to set the tone in the race for supremacy soon after the contest began. Building Harlem in opposition to Hawthorne, which was dependent on Corrigan's support, Condon boldly engaged in an desperate race track war as the turf world has ever witnessed. It was more or less of a drawn battle, but the effects of it are still being felt.

There were strenuous times at the league bowling alley last evening when the Independents and the Brilliant lined up for battle. The fallenders felt encouraged and believed they would be able to take a fall out of the Brillants. The routiers were with the Independents and encouraged them in every possible way, but the Brillants were there with a determination to win, and win they did, taking two out of three games played. Capt. A. Smith of the Brillants got high score, one point below 30. The scores follow:

One More Shamrock.

New York, Jan. 5.—Bringing the news that Sir Thomas Linton is looking for a match to build another Shamrock to compete with America's cup, Sir Thomas Dewar, M. P., arrived today on the ship. Sir Thomas comes to attend the Florida automobile races, of which he has been appointed honorary referee.

"PENNY" GOSSIP.

It is now reported that President Lucas and "Honest" John McCloskey are working hard to organize the Pacific National league. Fans need not worry, we will have baseball all right.

Indiana, on the Rio Grande Western, in where the rabbit hunters will converge on Sunday next, and it is expected the slaughter of bunnies will be something terrific. A cash prize of $5 for high run, a pair of military brushes for second, and a silver mounted rabbit foot for low run has been offered by McDonagh, the jeweler.

The running track in the new Y. M. C. A. gymnasium will have no equal between the river and the coast. It is the Roberts' patent concrete track, the right to use the same being secured from the Narragansett Machine company of Providence, R. I. A peculiarity of this track is its being conceived so that the runner strikes an angle that depends on the speed with which he is moving, and the sloping supporting rods. The track is in the nature of a gallery, as it is hung above the main floor of the gymnasium.

The Mt. Pleasant (inn club) is extremely anxious for a match rabbit foot with any Salt Lake club, or any other club in the state. Capt. Charles Everett of the club says he is willing that the contesting teams should in any fair and square manner, it makes little difference to him the rules are just as they are as fair to one as the other. Here's a chance for a good time.

The Jockey club has intended Richard Croker from training his horses on Newmarket track. No reason is given. Three of Mr. Croker's yearlings recently arrived at Newmarket to be trained by the Australian J. F. Breemer.

The match between Joe Gans and Jimmy Gardner, scheduled to take place in San Francisco on Jan. 27, has been declared off. Gardner wired his refusal to appear, saying he had a fight on in Denver on the 25th.

At a substitute for this event Frankie Neil of this city and Tommy Murphy of Philadelphia have agreed to meet at banquet weights.

Following are the most important fights of the year:

Aug. 26—Jim Jeffries defended the heavyweight championship by defeating Munroe in the second round at San Francisco.

April 22—Jack Johnson defeated the colored heavyweight champion by knocking out Sam McVey in the twentieth round at New York.

Jan. 27—Tommy Ryan and Jack O'Brien fought a six-round draw at Philadelphia. Feb. 26—Mettin Duffy defended the white welterweight title, defeating "Rube" Ferns after twenty rounds at Hot Springs.

April 23—Billy Melrose knocked out Martin Duffy in the fourth round at Chicago. May 1—Joe Gans defended the light-weight title by winning a foul from Jimmy Britt at San Francisco in the fifth round.

Dec. 20—Jimmy Britt defeated Battling Nelson at San Francisco after twenty rounds.

June 17—Frankie Neil knocked out Harry Forbes at Chicago in the third round, defending the bantam weight championship.

Oct. 17—Joe Fowler won the bantam-weight championship by defeating Frankie Neil in twenty rounds at London.

In Milwaukee the German roster predominates and many good tales are told of the excitable Germans. Darwin tells the following tale: "I was in a particularly bad humor one day when the Kansas City club," said he, "Milwaukee had them down here. I had the misfortune to send in both the tying and winning runs with wild pitches, and to save the Germans went home holding murder would be a pretty mild. The following day, in a street car on my way to the ball game, a friend of mine performed the deed of the day previous. I took his kidding good naturedly, until a big loud mouthed German, wearing up in front of the car, took a few verbal shots at me that were anything but complimentary. I for a moment got angry and said: 'How did you butt in on this, you fat-headed fellow?' 'Quick as a flash the German replied: 'You, on one of dem wild pitches you made in de ninth inning yesterday.' 'At another time, on a frosty morning, an attaché of the Milwaukee club was at the gate handing out rain checks, when a large, officious-looking Teuton brushed by him.

Here, sir," said the gatekeeper, "you have forgotten to take a rain check. 'On to 'all mit your rain check,' replied the wise fan. 'I've got an umbrella.'"

PRESIDENTIAL TERM.

Proposed Amendment to Make It Six Years.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Senator Bailey today submitted to the senate a proposed amendment to the Constitution fixing terms for the president at six years; and making him ineligible for re-election. The text of the amendment follows: "The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States who shall hold his office during a term of six years, and together with the vice president chosen for the same term, be elected as provided in article II of the amendments to the Constitution. The president shall forever be ineligible to a re-election, nor shall any person be eligible to an election to the presidency who has served as president under any succession provided for in the Constitution or in the laws, made in pursuance thereof."

Earthquake in Mexico.

Mexico City, Jan. 5.—A slight earthquake was felt at the remote districts of the state of Oaxaca this morning. At Ometepe the shock was severe.

Looks Like a Ship Was Lost.

St. Johns, N. F., Jan. 5.—Two life buoys marked "Edith and Mary Glasgow" have been found off Cape St. Marys. They belong to the iron bark of that name which left Annapolis Sept. 1 for St. Johns, and has now 13 days unreported. It is feared she was lost on Cape Marys with her whole crew, probably 10 men.

THE ISLE OF PINES QUESTION.

Delegate Rodey Wants Congressmen to Tell Where Their Election

Special Correspondence.

Washington, Jan. 4.—Naturally the Anglo-Saxon is a land grabber, and wherever he has lived he has tried individualism, and as a nation, to acquire land, but it is very doubtful whether the United States is so hungry for land that she will insist that the Isle of Pines is separate territory from the island of Cuba. It is true that the Isle of Pines was specifically excepted in the cession of Cuba to the Cuban people by Spain and left for later negotiation, but the Isle of Pines is and always has been a part of Cuba as Nantucket and Long Island are a part of the continent. When the senate finally agreed to the treaty which gave the islands around to the treaty will be ratified, and the Americans who have gone down there and taken up large tracts of sugar lands will find themselves Cuban property owners. If the Isle of Pines should be declared United States territory these speculators would secure free entry for their products, but that is not going to happen.

HELPING THE SPEAKER.

While Speaker Cannon has been spending the Christmas holidays in Illinois some of his friends have been helping him to organize the next house and will do about the committee in the next Congress. Meanwhile he enjoys the suggestions which he has been receiving so freely.

THEY TAUGHT ANTI-SUBSIDY.

The attempt to pass another subsidy bill in Congress recalled to mind that when the last bill was under consideration quite an active campaign was inaugurated against it by various people. One opponent of the measure prepared a pamphlet against subsidy, which he circulated broadcast over the country, sending copies to schoolteachers as well as to business men. In some localities where the teachers were strongly anti-subsidy they used the circulars as a text book and actually taught the children that such a thing was perversion of the rights conferred upon Congress by the Constitution.

WANTS THE FACTS.

Evidently Delegate Rodey thinks some one has been spending money in New Mexico for politics. He has introduced a bill designed to build an other Shamrock to compete with America's cup, Sir Thomas Dewar, M. P., arrived today on the ship. Sir Thomas comes to attend the Florida automobile races, of which he has been appointed honorary referee.

TO CONSUME TIME.

To hear some of the senate leaders talk you would believe that one great object they have is to consume time so that there will be no legislation, save the appropriation bills, at this session. They evidently believe that great good would be accomplished if all the various bills of importance were passed for passage should fail. I heard one of the most experienced men counting up the days that would be consumed between now and the 1st of March, and he seemed to be highly pleased. He pointed out that a day would be given for counting the presidential vote, two days for elections for the late Senators Quay and Hoar, a day to accept a statue of John J. Ingalls, which, together with the appropriation bills, would leave little time for anything but the session. He then enumerated the several measures which are struggling for light of way and to which there is a great deal of opposition and checked it as he said: "Of course if there is no debate on these measures or any of them they cannot be passed. I am sure you know that all of them would be debated to death."

SCHOOLMA'AMS' HOLIDAY.

The Capitol building would be almost deserted during the holiday recess if the school teachers did not do numerous. These visitors are largely made up of schoolteachers, who come in large numbers and are considered by the great building and shown all the sights. It is an interesting experience for them, and
